THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

There is no doubt a much more hopeful feeling prevalent here, and we think too it is much more widely prevalent than has been the case for many months. We attribute the change primarily to the short address of Secretary Gage at the reunion in Cincinnati of the commercial clubs of Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati last Friday (May 28) night, and to the other reassuring remarks he has made since his return to Washington. The great body of business men—men who supply the enterprise, energy and capital that furnish the force which keeps the vast commerce of this country in motion—thoroughly believe (shall we not say know?) that a condition precedent to lasting prosperity is currency reform. Until that corrective is under way we are living, engaged in our multiform employments, over a dormant volcano which may become active at any moment. The first six months of every calendar year is a period of special danger. No conservative merchant can make engagements even during the second six months when exports are so abundant, except by taking counsel of his fears and providing not alone for wants that he can foresee, but likewise for the wants which all the possibilities to be apprehended during the year may make necessary. In other words, to-day business is carried on and all enterprises taken up under a constant solicitude because of this impending eruption.

The foregoing presents accurately the industrial situation at this moment from the business man's point of view. That being true it is hardly necessary to describe the warm feeling of revived hope with which Mr. Gage's words have been received. We may add likewise that the classes referred to, with the thrifty in every branch of trade and agriculture, are the classes that will always control in the long run the financial policy of the United States. They are the busy, active ones; and since for that reason they cannot in a country like ours be forever on the alert watching Government affairs, legislation often falls into error under the influence of the less occupied and thriftless—a class easily led by the noisy clatter of a long tongue in an empty head.

To meet this situation Mr. Gage's address at Cincinnati was just the tonic needed. It was likewise especially fortunate in the matter of time. In that respect it could not have been more opportune. Confidence in the determination of the administration to remodel the currency was on the wane. We were not among the number whose faith had weakened, for we have felt ever since President McKinley chose for Secretary of the Treasury one who was prominent in his profession, with well known, positive and aggressive views on currency reform, that the work of reform was looked upon as a vital matter and would receive serious attention without unnecessary delay. But for well known reasons the public was growing anxious and needed the stimulant it received. At the moment also it looks—in case the disposition to act exists as Mr. Gage says it does—as if action might soon be possible, since tariff legislation is at present making rapid progress. A decided advantage would no doubt be gained if a commission bill could be passed before Congress adjourns. It appears that Mr. Gage on his return to Washington expressed views favoring the appointment of a commission as soon as practicable in order that a plan might be formulated for presentation at the December session of Congress. That course would meet the popular wish and be reckoned and relied upon as a long step towards reform.

A further encouraging circumstance has been the rapidity with which tariff legislation is being advanced. Work on the bill had not progressed far enough last week to more than strengthen the hope that there would be no prolonged delays. Each day of this week has ended with a considerable portion of the measure disposed of, not without discussion, but without any such friction as was the feature in 1894. Of course estimates of time when the work will be done are at the moment abundant and short. They need not be inserted here, for they will be subject to many and perhaps important revisions. The material fact, however, is that general opinion at present fixes an early date when the Customs law will be perfected; and that belief goes a long way towards helping on the better feeling now so evident not only on Wall Street but in all business circles. Every one, and with reason, believes that with this piece of legislation disposed of, a very substantial hindrance to the revival of business would be removed. Should, in addition to that, the measure above referred to for the appointment of a currency commission be passed and the commission appointed, there can be no doubt of the buoyant effect on all industrial affairs that would ensue. Merchants and bankers and all the thrifty enterprising classes would take heart again. We are of the opinion that it will be an easier problem to relieve our currency embarrassment when Congress once addresses itself to the work than the many now believe.

Another feature which has had a more general influence than would at first thought be anticipated has been the passage by the Illinois Legislature of the Chicago gas consolidation bill. This measure passed the Senate last week; on Monday of this week it passed the House, and on Thursday it was reported that it had been signed by the Governor. This latter announcement subsequently proved premature, though friends of the bill feel confident that the Governor will give it his approval. The general influence the action has had arises out of the fact that it is in the line of giving capital fair play. Moreover, in that respect it has produced the greater effect in strengthening confidence, because it is the first legislative action, and therefore the more striking, anywhere perfected for a long time, that has appeared as designed to have that tendency. The almost constant inclination of the law-maker of late years has been to destroy vested rights, not to conserve them. Of course the more immediate and special effect of the statute will be in permitting the Chicago gas companies to complete the adjustment of their differences and to put that property in the way of realizing whatever fair return the capital so invested is entitled to. Chicago Gas hitherto has been a demoralizing speculative football, and according to general report a prey for every succeeding common council and legislature. Each body, it is said, has had its turn at it one or more times every year. Now it will be possible to complete the consolidation long since begun and exchange the certificates at present dealt in on the Exchange into stock. We hope the Street and the State of Illinois can now say good riddance to an old source of evil influence and good speed to an investment property, which is always a strengthening and wholesome influence in any city.

As far as the records of bank clearings furnish any guide, the indications of any improvement in business are as yet very faint. We give on the page preceding this article our usual detailed statement of the clearings for the month of May, and on page 1073 we print the tabulated summaries formerly given in this article, including the four-year comparison of the clearings at the leading cities. In the grand aggregates the showing is a little better than for most of the preceding months, the falling of from 1896 being only 1.6 per cent with New York included, and 2.2 per cent outside of New York. But there is really little significance in that fact, as comparison is with figures last year which had shown an exceptionally heavy decrease, our return for May 1896 having recorded 13 per cent loss.

Still, the exhibits are not without encouraging features, particularly in the fact that at a number of leading points—among others Boston, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Louisville, Minneapolis and Omaha—there are gains over the figures of last year, in some cases very decided gains. This is an indication that the tendency is gradually changing, and that at many places an improvement has already begun. It is interesting to note too that while the clearings for the country as a whole show a falling off, several of the geographical divisions nevertheless show an increase. This is notably true of the New England group of places, where the improvement amounts to over 6 per cent, four of the ten cities, namely Boston, Providence, Hartford and New Haven, having contributed to it. Again there is an increase of 6 per cent in the Southern group, and an increase of 2.7 per cent in the Far Western group. In the Pacific group the change from last year is small in the aggregate, but Spokane attracts attention by an augmentation of nearly 30 per cent. It is in the Middle States and the Middle Western that the results are least favorable, there being a contraction in the one case of 2.3 per cent and in the other of 7.9 per cent. In this latter instance Chicago, with a decrease of 10.4 per cent, controls the final total; Cincinnati and Milwaukee in the same group, as already stated, have materially enlarged the volume of their clearings.

The general conclusion, then, from this analysis would seem to be that outside of the leading financial centres business is getting better. This view is also borne out by reports from other sources. For instance, President C. P. Huntington of the Southern Pacific, who has just returned from a prolonged tour in California and the West, is quoted in the "Mail and Express" as saying that all through the West and Far West business is "picking up." There is a general lifting of the depression in trade, he thinks, and it seems to him that the outlook is decidedly encouraging. In San Francisco he finds fewer houses to rent than two years ago. The railway situation in the West is improving, too, he states, and although there has been much agrarian legislation, people are beginning to awaken to the fact that the railroads should be protected. There remains some opposition to the railroad industry in different localities, but Mr. Huntington is confident that it will eventually disappear.

To the same effect are the statements of Mr. E. V. Smalley, as contained in a letter addressed to the "Evening Post" of this city. We refer to this letter because it confirms our own advices of a growing improvement in the section which may be termed the Pacific Northwest—Washington, Oregon, etc. The change there is the more noteworthy because that section was the first to reflect, several years ago, the depression in trade, which since then has spread all over the country. Mr. Smalley has recently returned from a journey from Chicago to Portland, Oregon, and gives it as his opinion that trade is everywhere improving—not much, but to a noticeable extent. The railroads report a gain in receipts from freight, but none worth mentioning as yet in passenger earnings. Bank deposits are increasing. Collections are easier. People are paying a little on their old debts carried along from the "boom" times. There has everywhere been a great deal of liquidation. Mr. Smalley states that in Spokane fourteen of the largest business blocks have passed into the ownership of a Holland mortgage company. Yet he also says that Spokane is now showing considerable new life, and the increase of 30 per cent noted above in the May clearings at that point is very convincing evidence of the fact. The reason for Spokane's special advantage is the speculative activity which has developed in the new mining region of British Columbia, where Mr. Smalley says about $10,000,000 of gold, silver and copper have been dug out of the mountain sides during the past year. Spokane is profiting as the supply point for the new mines. The Canadian cities, Mr. Smalley points out, are too far off to control this trade, so Spokane gets most of it in spite of the Dominion tariff.

He directs attention to another favoring element. In the grazing regions sheep have nearly doubled in price since last year, and wool has gone up sixty per cent. Cattle brings good figures. Many thousands have been shipped to Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska farms, to be fattened on cheap corn. The farmers have found out that their corn, which brings only from seven to ten cents a bushel, nets them forty cents when put into beef. The lumber business on Puget Sound and the Columbia River is improving by reason of the demand from South Africa. Crop prospects, he asserts, in the entire spring-wheat belt are remarkably good, and if there are no hot winds in July the harvest in Minnesota and the Dakotas will be extraordinary. The general feeling among the people, hence, is that they are slowly climbing out of the deep rut of depression by their own efforts, and that times will soon be much better.

In addition to the returns of railroad net earnings for April, reviewed by us last week, quite a number of others have come to hand this week, and while they are not all favorable, some of them are decidedly encouraging. Thus the Burlington & Quincy is able to report an addition of $164,065 to its gross earnings and an addition of $117,782 to its net earnings. The Canadian Pacific reports $161,953 increase in gross, $135,887 increase in net; the Louisville & Nashville $35,217 increase in gross, $27,854 increase in net; the Minneapolis St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie $27,728 increase in gross, $18,940 increase in net, and the Southern Pacific Company $125,625 increase in gross and $218,971 increase in net. The Denver & Rio Grande though losing $27,279 in gross, gains $27,260 in net, and the Lehigh Valley with $174,702 decrease in gross (on the combined operations of the Railroad and the Coal company) has $98,403 increase in net.

The New York Ontario & Western has enlarged its gross by $9,069 and its net by $1,571.

Among the smaller roads, the St. Joseph & Grand Island, though showing gross of $70,095 for April 1897, against $53,244 for April 1896, reports net of only $8,204, against $13,835. In explanation it should be said that expenses this year include $8,054 charged for repairs of road-bed and track, against only $2,546 for the same month last year, and $5,096 for renewals of ties, against only $717, besides which many other items of repair and renewal expenditures have been greatly increased. Furthermore the net result this year is after deducting $8,250 for taxes, against nothing deducted for that purpose last year. The practice of the receiver was to take the taxes out at the end of the year. The company has adopted the policy of charging up each month one-twelfth of the required annual payment and has in addition made an allowance for the taxes which accrued prior to the time when it took possession of the property. This change in the method of distributing the expenses will prevent the making of fair comparisons between the net results this year and those under the receivership. The large increase in the gross, however, indicates the improvement which is taking place. The new company assumed control March 1, and for the two months to May 1 gross was $169,385 in 1897 against $100,800 in 1896. President Bull reports that the crop conditions along the line of the road are promising.

The Pennsylvania Railroad statement for April shows no important change from the exhibits from the months preceding. In the iron and coal districts evidently business during that month still continued unsatisfactory. The company reports $120,300 loss in gross with $174,500 gain in net on the Eastern lines, and $381,400 loss in gross and $277,900 loss in net on the Western lines. The following is a six-year comparison for the Eastern lines:

For the four months to April 30, it will be observed, the net for the Eastern lines has increased $454,600 over last year. On the Western lines, however, there has been a decrease of $170,200.

The money and exchange markets are without conspicuous feature this week. We hear of a negotiation of some certificates at 2½ per cent issued by a Massachusetts city in anticipation of taxes in November: the certificates are payable in gold, which will in part account for the low rate. Commercial paper continues in good demand, and brokers report an increased business doing. Some very choice sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable have sold this week at 3½ per cent and first-class six months' single names at 3½ per cent. Gold shipments for the week have reached $1,150,000. They attract very little notice. No doubt they will continue in a small way so long as merchandise imports are abnormally large, but when the new tariff bill has become a law, and the inducement to bring in sugar, wool, etc., etc., to obtain advantage of the provisions of the 1891 law no longer exists, the trade situation will soon be changed and the gold exports cease. It was announced on Saturday the Secretary of the Treasury had directed that hereafter Assay Office checks drawn against deposits of bullion shall be stamped payable within ten days at the New York Sub-Treasury, and thereafter at the Department at Washington. This is done to prevent the withholding or hoarding of such checks beyond a reasonable time, for the purpose of procuring either new gold coin or fine bars for export.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned at the Stock Exchange this week at 1½ and at 1 percent, the lower rate being recorded on Thursday, and as very little money has been placed at 1½ the average for the week was about 1½. Banks and trust companies continue to loan at the current Stock Exchange rate. Some time loans have been made this week at 3 per cent for six months. The offerings are liberal and the demand is chiefly for long periods, and quotations are 2 per cent for sixty days, 2½ per cent for 90 days to four months, and 3 per cent for five to seven months on good Stock Exchange collateral. About $100,000 of Worcester, Mass., tax certificates, issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes in November, have been placed in this market during the week at 2½ per cent, and it is reported that they commanded this low rate because they were made payable in gold, though why payment in this metal should be stipulated is not clear, for Eastern tax certificates are regarded as very choice collateral. There is an excellent demand for commercial paper, and the offerings are fair, chiefly from dry goods houses. Rates are lower at 3@3½ per cent for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable; 3½@4 per cent for first-class, and 4@5 per cent for good four to six months' single names. One feature of the week has been the withdrawal from the Sub-Treasury of $300,000 gold by the Bank of New Amsterdam and its deposit in the Clearing House vaults, and the Park Bank also deposited $900,000 gold in that receptacle on Thursday. So far as the first-named bank is concerned, the explanation given is that the institution has recently been admitted to the Clearing House and it was deemed advisable that its gold holdings, through Clearing-House gold certificates, should be increased. The gold in the Clearing-House vaults now amounts to $54,510,000. Banks having large out-of-town correspondence report continued inquiry from the South preparatory to applications to be made later on for re-discounts, but as yet little money is moving. The demand for re-discounts from the West is small.

The armistice between Turkey and Greece has been extended for fifteen days beyond the time previously agreed upon, and peace negotiations were opened at Constantinople on Thursday between the ambassadors of the Powers and the Turkish Minister for Foreign Affairs. There has been a cabinet crisis in Spain, but this has had little effect upon the European markets. The feature in London this week has been increased interest taken in American securities, stimulated by the speech of Secretary Gage at Cincinnati last Friday evening, and the feature on the Continent is a better demand for gold, which is reflected in low rates for sterling exchange at Paris and Berlin. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 2 per cent. The cable reports discounts of 60 to 90-day bank bills in London ½ of 1 to 1 per cent. The open market rate at Paris is 1½ per cent at Berlin it is 2½ per cent and at Frankfurt 2½ per cent. According to our special cable from London the Bank of England lost £505,518 bullion during the week and held £36,026,231 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due to the export of £381,000 (of which £150,000 were to Russia, £181,000 were gold sold in the open market and £50,000 miscellaneous), to shipments to the interior of Great Britain of £439,000 net, and to the import of £314,000, of which £235,000 were from the Cape, £50,000 from New Zealand and £29,000 from China and Australia.

The foreign exchange market was easy on Tuesday until the afternoon, when it grew firmer, thereafter remaining steady until Thursday, when it again became easier, though not quotably lower. On Thursday Lazard Freres shipped $500,000 and Heidelberg, Ickelheimer & Co. $150,000 gold to the Continent, of which only $300,000 was taken from the Sub-Treasury. So far as the last-named shipment is concerned, it is stated that it went forward in response to a cable order, and instructions were also given for the shipment of $500,000 more by the steamer sailing on Saturday, but it was said on Thursday that no other shipment would be made on that day, and this statement has proved correct. The range for posted rates during the week has been from 4 86½ to 4 87 for sixty day and from 4 88 to 4 88½ for sight and the only bankers posting the higher rate for the latter were Baring, Magoun & Co. On Tuesday rates for actual business in short sterling and cable transfers were advanced one-quarter of a cent compared with those at the close of Friday of last week, to 4 87@4 87½ for the former and to 4 87½@4 87½ for the latter, but no change was made in rates for long sterling, which remained at 4 85½@4 86. There was no alteration in the figures thereafter. The market has been fairly well supplied with bills, which, however, have generally been absorbed, and the easier tone on Thursday was due to some offering of gold drafts. The following shows the daily posted rates for exchange by some of the leading drawers.

SECRETARY GAGE ON THE CURRENCY REFORM OUTLOOK.

We doubt if the Secretary of the Treasury could have chosen a better means of forecasting the purposes of the Administration than that which he adopted last week Friday. His speech on that occasion, at the banquet of the Commercial Club of Cincinnati, gave him the opportunity of saying what was necessary without saying too much. A political address, to a political audience, is sure to be formal in its character; a newspaper interview is subject both to the embarrassment of cross-questioning and to the possibilities of misquotation. An after-dinner speech, on the other hand, may be brief and pithy without becoming trivial; it may partake more of the nature of a personal conversation than any other form of statement for the benefit of the general public; and therefore it may say what could not easily or conveniently be said to a different gathering. It is for this reason, as we take it, that responsible statesmen, in the English ministries especially, make so important an occasion of addresses of this kind. The speech for the cabinet at the Lord Mayor's annual dinner is neither as formal nor as full of detail as a speech in Parliament by the Chancellor of the Exchequer or the leader of the House; yet it is anticipated with far more eager curiosity, and discussed, at home and abroad, with much greater interest.

The great importance of Secretary Gage's speech to the Cincinnati Commercial Club is its explicit statement that the Administration has in view definite action to reform the currency. This assurance was in all respects most timely. The attitude of Mr. Gage himself on this vital question was very well understood; it was both hoped and believed that the President shared the Secretary's views. But there was at the same time not a little misgiving as to the attitude which the Administration would take in bringing this question before Congress. Mr. McKinley's reference to this part of his official policy in his inaugural address was framed, perhaps inevitably, in general terms; it recommended the appointment of a currency commission, but even this recommendation was not pressed on the immediate attention of Congress in such manner as to require prompt discussion. Therefore the community of business men, while hoping that affirmative action of some vigor was favored by the Administration, had to rest most of its belief on faith. So long as this doubt existed, the danger necessarily remained which has repeatedly beset our currency reformers—the danger that by awaiting a convenient season, by trying whether a small and unimportant change will not do as well as actual uprooting of the evil, the chance for real achievement may slip by.

Mr. Gage, we think, disposes of such misgivings by his frank statement at Cincinnati, and he has emphasized his promise by his further promise made on Thursday to the Maryland Bankers' Association. He does not, to be sure, outline a plan of currency reform. He does not even say whether the project of an investigating commission is to be revived or whether the Administration will have its own specific to propose. But he does set at rest the suspicion that the reconstruction of the currency may be allowed to go by default. These are his words: "If any of you harbor the suspicion that the Administration, but just now installed into the responsibilities of high office, has forgotten or is likely to forget the mandate of the people, whose voice in behalf of honest money and sound finances rang out loud and clear in November last, put that suspicion aside. It is unjust and unfounded. In good time and in proper order the affirmative evidences of my declaration will appear."

We take this statement to be an official pledge that the question of currency reform will be made the leading theme of the President's message and the Treasury report when the regular session of Congress opens. We assume this to be true, largely because Mr. Gage has already made plain his own conception of what is involved in remembering the mandate of the people in behalf of honest money. There has been some idle newspaper talk of late to the effect that when a revenue surplus has been at length restored, the currency question will take care of itself. No one knows better than Mr. Gage, by observation and experience, that this is wholly untrue. In common with all intelligent business men who have passed through the vicissitudes of the last seven years, he is aware, and has shown himself to be aware, that the nation's whole financial structure rests on a basis which may serve temporarily in time of high prosperity, but which will collapse like a rotten plank the moment that a serious strain begins. Since his selection for the Cabinet he has testified publicly, in his Chicago speech of February 12, that "there are real mistakes to be corrected"; that "we have violated natural laws, which govern in the realm of economics, with the same force and power as in the physical realm." The two speeches must be read in the light of one another; they mean, if words have any meaning, that the Administration will take up this vexatious problem in a spirit of genuine reform.

The Secretary's speech showed plainly enough his knowledge of the public disappointment over the long delay in beginning this necessary work. The business community had argued, very justly, that since reconstruction of our currency system was sure to be a slow and tedious process, the new Administration and the new Congress could not begin the work too soon. Supposing that a currency commission was to be first appointed, as suggested in the President's inaugural, some time must be consumed in the simple naming of the commissioners and arrangement of their duties. The commission must then be allowed at least several months in which to complete its inquiry and frame its formal report. The Tariff Commission of 1882, the nature of whose work was somewhat similar to what the projected currency commission would undertake, had exactly this experience. The bill to authorize such a commission was proposed in Congress on the 20th of March; it did not pass and receive the President's approval until May 15; and all the subsequent seven months were needed to enable the Commissioners to pursue their task and submit their report by the stipulated date, the first Monday in December. A bill in accordance with the Commission's recommendations was at once introduced, but did not pass until March 3 1883. In short, notwithstanding the utmost expedition, it was nearly a year after the commission bill was first submitted that the legislation which was the end in view was finally achieved. Judged by this precedent, a currency commission bill proposed at once in the recent extra session would not have reached its end before next March, whereas a similar bill submitted at the opening of the regular session next December would be very likely not to result in positive legislation before the early months of 1899.

We have no doubt that Secretary Gage would be the first to acknowledge that the postponement of the currency commission bill to next winter's session would be most unfortunate. It is still barely possible that such long postponement may be avoided. The "Journal of Commerce" published yesterday an interesting statement from its Washington correspondent, to the effect that a special message on the currency will be sent to Congress as soon as the Tariff bill is passed, and that an effort will be made to have a currency commission named at once, so that its members may report to Congress at next session's opening. Of course such a programme may turn out to be impracticable. Still, it has been the judgment of the Administration that to introduce at once a tariff bill and a currency reform bill would jeopardize the prospects of both measures, and that as between the two ends in view, the need of providing adequate revenue for the Government was the more imperative. This was at least a reasonable position. People closely familiar with the eccentricities of our present Senate had advised this line of policy, and it was adopted. The methods originally chosen in the House of Representatives to make good the deficit in revenue have been criticized, not only by opponents of the party in power, but by that party's representatives in the Senate Finance Committee. But the end in view was proper, and if the party leaders were right in their judgment, it was a virtual impossibility to secure support in Congress to a currency bill until the revenue question should be settled. Assuming this to be the actual situation, the blame for the delay must rest, not on the Administration, but on Congress.

Much will undoubtedly depend on the manner in which this currency question, at the appointed time, is laid by the Administration before Congress. Much will depend, too, on outside conditions not under control of the Administration. Secretary Gage, in his Cincinnati speech, expresses confidence that the long-expected trade revival is at hand. If industrial recovery were to be plainly under way next autumn, the hands of the President and his Cabinet would be immensely strengthened. If they then should have the foresight, as Mr. Gage's utterances lead us to believe they would, to reject the futile and dangerous advice to "let well enough alone", the movement for the reconstruction of the currency would move forward with comparative ease. We believe that a precious opportunity was lost in the later months of 1879 and 1880, when the great success of specie resumption made possible the success of almost any sound financial policy. Party majorities in Congress are more favorable to the Administration now than they were in the resumption years; with a return of trade activity the task of genuine currency reform would be proportionately easier.

If, on the other hand, the hopes of trade revival are again to be disappointed, the course of the sound-money advocates is equally marked out. Delay in readjustment of the currency is itself the most formidable obstacle in the way of permanent restoration of that business confidence for which Mr. Gage in his Cincinnati speech appeals. This fact must be made plain to Congress and the people, and the best means of impressing such convictions on the public mind is through the reports and messages of the President and his official counsellors. Therefore, whatever good or bad fortune in the way of industrial prosperity may be in store for us this year, Mr. Gage's promise of Executive action is a much-needed factor of encouragement. It pledges at least the beginning of a definite movement which must be carried out before our financial future can be made in any sense secure.

It is somewhat reassuring, also, to observe that the relations between the Administration and Congress continue of such nature that an Administration measure will be helped decidedly towards enactment by the fact of the President's support. The late Administration was handicapped by the fact that it had been brought into collision with elements in Congress which would normally have been reckoned among the President's own supporters. These conflicts, under existing circumstances, were inevitable, and they were creditable, rather than otherwise, to the Administration. But they resulted in defeating almost wholly the influence of the President over Congressional legislation. The opposition to an Administration measure after 1893 was made up very largely from nominal adherents of the Administration party. The present Administration has moved with much adroitness to avoid all possibility of such a situation. The friendly defense of Congress against its very numerous outside critics to which Mr. Gage resorted in his Cincinnati speech was an instance of the policy adopted, no doubt with deliberation, by the entire Executive. It may be that we shall see some useful fruits of this diplomacy when the time comes to apply actual pressure from the White House.

THE ROCK ISLAND REPORT.

The report of the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Railway for the fiscal year ending March 31 1897, issued this week, has been very favorably received, and it certainly makes a very gratifying showing considering the adverse conditions which prevailed. There was no recovery in the gross earnings. On the contrary the total, after having fallen from $21,039,073 in 1893-4 to $17,359,653 in 1895-6, further declined in 1896-7 to $17,146,653. The significant fact is that net earnings were slightly increased over 1895-6 notwithstanding this renewed contraction in the business and revenues of the road. It follows, of course, that expenses were reduced, and as there had been a noteworthy saving in the years immediately preceding, this serves to direct attention anew to the increasing economy with which the property is being operated.

A reduction in expenses may be the result of real economies in operation or a falling off in business, or it may be the result simply of the deferring to some more propitious time of outlays which the condition of things does not permit now, thus placing upon the future a burden which the present ought to bear. In the Rock Island case there is nothing to indicate that the reduction has been of the latter character, while analysis of the expense accounts and study of the traffic statistics reveal many particulars in which a decrease has been effected through the practice of genuine economy or through other legitimate causes. Comparing the total of the expenses for the last three years, we find that from $12,682,261 in 1895 there was a decrease to $11,866,594 in 1896, and then to $11,612,827 in 1897. But while there was this diminution in aggregate expenditures, the repair and renewal expenditures on plant and equipment have actually been rising during these two years. Thus for repairs of roadway and structures $2,498,324 was spent in 1895, $2,510,823 in 1896 and $2,709,691 in 1897, and for repairs of equipment $1,268,107 in 1895, $1,451,907 in 1896 and $1,424,713 in 1897. On the other hand, in the cost of conducting transportation there has been a decrease from $8,915,830 in 1895 to $7,903,863 in 1896 and to $7,478,423 in 1897. In other words, the whole of the saving in expenses, and more—in fact almost 1½ million dollars altogether—has been in the class of expenditures which admit of a reduction without detriment to the property.

If we extend the comparison a year further back, the result is equally striking. Here we have to deal of course with still larger figures of decreases, the expenses for 1897, at $11,612,827, comparing with a total of $14,977,479 for 1894, making a contraction in three years of over 3½ million dollars. Of this decrease less than $700,000 occurred in the expenditures for maintenance and over 2½ million dollars occurred in the cost of moving the traffic and in the various miscellaneous items of expense. In brief, the outlays for repairs and renewals were $4,134,405 in 1897 against $4,833,997 for 1894, while the other class of expenditures aggregated $7,478,422 for 1897 against $10,143,482. In the following we furnish a tabular comparison, covering each of the last four years, and also showing separately the different items of the maintenance expenditures as given in the company's annual reports.

It will be observed that while the several items of maintenance expenditures have varied more or less in the different years, the most of them are larger for 1897 than for 1896 and 1895, but below the amounts for 1894. In this last-mentioned year the outlays were, we may suppose, more than ordinarily liberal, and this has to be taken into consideration in judging of the reduced outlays for this purpose in 1897. Some other facts also require to be taken into account. Thus as the volume of business was much smaller in 1897 than in 1894, the requirements for repairs would naturally also be to some extent less. Again, prices of materials and supplies are lower in a good many instances, and where that is true the expenditure of a lesser amount of money now may represent the same extent of repairs as in the earlier year. On this point we may note that in 1894 the company used 696,476 ties and paid an average of 43 cents a piece for them, while in 1897 it used over a million (1,006,839), but bought them at an average of only a little over 35 cents apiece. In this case, clearly therefore, the same amount of money now will go much further than a few years ago. On the whole we may conclude, (judging from these comparisons), that the property has not been allowed to deteriorate, notwithstanding the hard times through which the country has passed.

But how has the company been able to effect such a great saving in the other class of expenditures, namely the cost of conducting transportation, etc.? The answer to this question affords an interesting insight into the policy pursued by the management in trying to overcome as far as possible the effects of the adverse conditions with which the whole railroad industry has had to contend in recent years. Of course, with a diminished amount of business to transport the cost attending its movement would necessarily be reduced. But that will account for only a small part of the diminution in expenses. The company has been steadily gaining in efficiency of operations in recent years. We referred in our review a year ago to the increase which had been established in the road's freight train loads, but during 1896-7 this became a still more striking feature. The ton movement one mile in the late year was 1,175 millions, against 1,078 millions, yet the company actually did the additional work and at the same time slightly decreased its freight train mileage. To show the progress made in this direction during the last few years we present the following table.

1896.....	7,510,857	1,078,846,776	143
1895.....	8,866,103	1,071,763,263	121
1894.....	10,898,552	1,288,576,685	118

This shows, all things considered, quite remarkable results. Freight train mileage has been decreased in the three years since 1894 from 10,898,552 to only 7,437,841, or fully thirty per cent, while the falling off in traffic during the same three years has been only about 9 per cent, raising [the average train load from 118 tons per train to 158 tons. This latter figure is even now small as compared with many Eastern roads, but the conditions are different in important respects out West and it is not possible to apply Eastern standards there. As a consequence of the heavier lading of the trains, the freight train earnings per mile have been expanding notwithstanding steady declines in the rates received. In 1893-4 the trains earned only $1 18 per mile run, in 1896-7 they earned $1 51, though the rate realized per ton per mile in the interval fell off 4 per cent. As showing another way in which improved results from operating have been obtained, we may note that the cost of fuel per locomotive mile run was only 5.74 cents in 1897 against 6.41 cents in 1894.

That these efforts at increased economy were quite essential is evident from the great falling off in revenues which has occurred. We have shown above that gross earnings further declined in the late year. It is proper to say that this followed from a heavy shrinkage in the passenger receipts. In the freight revenues there was an increase, but hardly large enough to merit notice, the comparison being $11,229,175 for 1897 against $11,159,100 for 1896 and very much larger amounts in the years preceding. The passenger earnings were only $4,072,127, against $4,445,953 in 1896. This is a heavy decline after a trifling recovery in 1896 following very heavy decreases in the previous year, and serves to emphasize the great depression prevailing. The freight statistics when analyzed also serve to disclose this depression. In the items of freight dependent upon the state of trade there have been heavy losses. The small gain shown in the totals has followed from the larger movement of grain and live stock. Here is a table which brings out clearly the distinction between the course of the agricultural tonnage and the other classes of freight.

It will be observed that the agricultural tonnage as represented by the five leading items contained in our table, has made a very substantial gain during the last two years, having risen from 1,179,186 in 1895 to 1,706,783 tons, at which it approaches very closely the exceptional totals of 1894 and 1893. The other group of tonnage, however, comprising leading articles of merchandise and general freight, records a very heavy and an almost continuous falling off, the aggregate of the seven articles included being only 3,116,225 tons for 1897 against 4,272,815 tons for 1893. The two groups comprise nearly 75 per cent of the company's entire tonnage. In addition to the loss in the industrial tonnage, the road has had to contend with declines in both passenger and freight rates, the latter being now down to only 96 hundredths of a cent per ton per mile, which is a trifle above the average for 1887-88, but is, with that exception, the lowest in the company's history.

The good showing made by the company then may be said to be due to the circumstances of a larger agricultural tonnage, this serving to an extent to offset the effects of the depression in trade, and to the increased efficiency established in the operation of the road. From the income account it appears that the company earned the 2 per cent dividends paid, and had left besides a surplus of $520,480 on the operations of the twelve months. In other words, earnings were equal to over 3 per cent on the stock—not a bad showing for such a trying period.

The finances of the company are in excellent shape. The balance sheet does not give accrued liabilities for interest and rentals, but the ordinary accounts payable April 1 were only $536,991, and against this the company held $778,259 of accounts receivable and $3,485,601 of cash and cash assets. The new capital expenditures, as in previous years, were small, reaching only $660,985. The company's method of apportioning expenditures between revenue and capital accounts is conservative. For instance, its payment on account of the new bridge across the Mississippi between Rock Island and Davenport was $305,732. Of this sum only $148,232 (representing the additional value of a double-track structure) was charged to capital account; the balance, $157,500, representing the amount it would have been necessary to spend to replace the old single-track bridge with a new single-track structure, was charged against earnings.

CO-OPERATION BETWEEN CARRIERS AND RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

At the annual convention in St. Louis last month of the Boards of State Railway Commissioners, President Edward T. Jeffery, of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad Company, made an earnest plea for co-operation between railroad managers and the various Commissioners, State and National, charged with the duty of supervising the roads. Incidentally also he advanced strong arguments in favor of limiting the construction of unnecessary new mileage. Mr. Jeffery is a vigorous writer and a clear thinker, and he has a way of bringing out his facts which ensures instant attention for anything he has to say. Years ago when he was connected with the Illinois Central, his views and opinions often found public expression. Latterly it seems to us his public utterances have not been so frequent. At all events, the present address is a bright and welcome contribution to the discussions of the day, all the more meritorious because it deals with the subject in a sensible, rational way.

Mr. Jeffery does not by any means hold the roads free from blame. On the contrary, he admits that they have by some of their acts helped to bring about the present complicated situation, and he condemns unsparingly some of their practices in the past. Indeed, it seems to us that his strictures in this regard are severer than the circumstances warrant, and we are not sure that we should like to subscribe to all that he says on this phase of the question. However, the fact that he does not speak from the standpoint of a mere partisan of the roads, but from the higher standpoint of public duty considered in its relation to the welfare of the people and the roads alike, gives additional value to his observations.

Within the limits of a newspaper article we cannot hope to furnish a complete synopsis of the address, but we shall undertake to indicate some of his leading lines of thought. After pointing out that the roads have in the past done many things that they ought not to have done, he asks how, under the circumstances, it could have been otherwise. They sprang from nothing to 185,000 miles in less than two generations; from nothing to 700,000,000 tons of freight annually; from nothing to over 500,000,000 passengers annually; from nothing to nearly 1,000,000 employes; from nothing to over ten thousand million dollars capital. They felt their way quickly, because they had to; they had no precedents, no text books, nothing in the way of a landmark to guide them. Railroad managers faced new and vital questions and carried greater responsibility than they realized.

The growth of the United States in population, agriculture, mining, manufacturing, commerce and wealth during the period mentioned, says Mr. Jeffery, is evidence that in the main these men did their work well. Rates, classifications and regulations were gradually formulated for the continuous carriage of thousands of things over thousands of routes in all directions. Sections widely separated competed in remote markets. Cities vied with each other in securing trade, and water ways were vigorous in controlling commerce against the rail carriers. Manufacturers at times made active war upon each other. Foreign nations competed in our markets with home industries. These peculiar, far-reaching and potent factors brought the carriers into frequent struggles among themselves. While as a rule desiring to be reasonable and just, and aiming to conserve as best they could the general interests dependent upon them as well as those especially entrusted to them, railway managers at times failed in both objects and were condemned equally by both interests; the commercial, which they sought to aid, and the financial, which they were expected to reward with a reasonable return upon investment. To accentuate the difficulties, parallel and competing lines were in some important instances constructed without the slightest public necessity and solely for the pecuniary profit of the projectors. These divided the traffic with older lines, and in doing so reduced rates so that the revenue derived by two carriers from the carriage of a given volume of traffic was less than when it was carried by one.

After noting that American rail carriers sell transportation at lower prices and move freight at less cost per mile than the rail carriers of any other country, Mr. Jeffery points out that we have reached a level now below which it is not possible to go even to a moderate extent in cost of carriage, and consequently in price of transportation, unless the prices paid for labor throughout the land are materially reduced. He then shows how largely labor enters into everything the roads use. The rails, ties, bridges, roadway, buildings, equipment and transportation expenses are all mainly labor in one form and another. The difference in value between the ore in the ground and the steel rail in the track is mostly labor. The difference between the coal in the earth and in the locomotive furnace is largely labor. The enhanced value of timber in the bridge, car or cross-tie over what it was in the forest tree is labor. So it is obvious that labor cannot remain unaffected if transportation prices are to be materially reduced, for maintenance and operation expenditures must fall proportionately, and labor constitutes by far the greater part of them, either directly or in an indirect manner.

Although the railways are generally in fair physical condition, there must be heavy expenditures upon them in future years to make them meet in a satisfactory manner the growing requirements of the public. There must be thousands of miles of second main track constructed, terminal facilities in leading trade centres must be enlarged, station facilities in growing communities must be added to, locomotives and cars must be increased in number, and larger ones substituted for nearly one-half those now in use. Bridges of steel and masonry must replace wooden structures, tracks must be raised or lowered, as the case may be, in cities of importance, so that streets shall pass above or below them, and public highways must be carried over or under tracks outside of towns and cities. These and other necessary works will require very large expenditures. How shall they be met? If paid for out of earnings rates must be advanced slightly above the present averages, or tonnage and travel must greatly increase in volume at the prevailing rates. If sales of new issues of stocks are to provide the money, the outstanding issues must first be made valuable before attempting additional ones. If more mortgage bonds are to be placed, the credit and standing of those heretofore marketed under more auspicious conditions must be improved or else the new ones must be sold at a large discount.

In Mr. Jeffery's opinion, the "relentless wars of capital against capital" have done much to bring about present conditions. "A parallel and competing line of railway is not built by demagogues, it is not constructed by hostile legislation, it is not conceived by boards of railway commissioners. It is deliberately planned and constructed by capital." Why, asks Mr. Jeffery, ought new, unnecessary and parallel lines of transportation be permitted? Why ought the public to grant them charters? Why should any railway be allowed to come into existence unless it be shown before a lawful and duly constituted board that it is a public necessity? The public is better served between given points by one or two first class lines than by several poor ones. Why should traffic be burdened with the additional fixed expenses of new and unnecessary railways? Why should the wages of masses of workmen dependent upon existing lines and the aggregations of money invested in them be jeopardized when public necessity does not require nor even suggest their existence?

Referring next to the difficulties and perplexities attending the efforts on the part of both the railroads and the Government to make suitable and satisfactory rates, Mr. Jeffery shows how unique and peculiar is the general railroad situation at present. "The people assert that all charges shall be reasonable and just; in their National Legislature they enact a law requiring them to be reasonable and just; commissioners appointed in pursuance of law insist that they shall be reasonable and just; the courts decide that under the law they must be reasonable and just; the railway corporations, through their managers, affirm that they desire to make them reasonable and just; but a Supreme Court decision says that it is unlawful for the carriers to agree between themselves to maintain what the people demand, Congress has enacted, commissioners insist upon and the carriers themselves desire." Mr. Jeffery then suggests that joint conferences be held between commissioners and railway managers for the purpose of determining how they shall unite in presenting to the people reasonable, just and stable transportation charges, without discrimination, as contemplated by law. How the people and the law-abiding carriers shall be protected against law-breaking ones. How violators of the transportation law can be speedily brought to the bar. What legislation, if any, is necessary to accomplish these ends.

Mr. Jeffery does not venture to indicate what additional legislation is desirable beyond stating that it seems clear to him that agreements between carriers for maintaining reasonable and just rates under the approval of the commissions should be legalized, and when entered into the people and the carriers who may be injured by violations of the agreements should be able to sue and recover damages in courts of law. Perhaps also the incorporation, he thinks, of joint traffic bureaus or associations, or clearing houses, should be authorized, and persons who manage them be held directly responsible to commissions and amenable to law as recognized agents of carriers so associated together. Mr. Jeffery well says that there are large areas of our country to be opened up to settlement, and transportation facilities will be their leading necessity. Capital must be enlisted in this behalf or else we shall stand still as a nation. For these enterprises and for all other material development, capital and labor are the factors, and to succeed they must work in close co-operation under laws equally just to each and inspiring to both. The sentiment or legislation that cripples either will injure both.

Clearings by Telegraph.—Sales of Stocks, Bonds, &c.—Stock Exchange Clearing-House Transactions.—The subjoined statement, covering the clearings for the current week, is usually given on the first page of the CHRONICLE, but on account of the length of the other tables is crowded out once a month. The figures are received by telegraph from the leading cities. It will be observed that as compared with the corresponding week of 1896 there is a decrease in the aggregate of 19.6 per cent. So far as the individual cities are concerned New York exhibits a decline of 24.1 per cent, and the losses at other points are: Boston 22.5 per cent, Philadelphia 9.8 per cent, Chicago 30.8 per cent, Baltimore 25.4 per cent and New Orleans 23.8 per cent. St. Louis records a gain of 5.3 per cent. The occurrence of Decoration day in the week this year accounts in part for the large percentage of decrease shown.

Monetary & Commercial English News

LONDON, SATURDAY, May 22, 1897.

[From our own correspondent.]

In the quiet and concealed struggle that has been going on between Russia and Germany for some time past for predominant influence in Turkey, the Czar has won a decided victory, for the time being, at all events. This country, France and Italy had been putting pressure upon the Sultan to agree to an armistice with Greece, but they were opposed by Germany, and for a while it was thought that Russia likewise was holding aloof. Suddenly the Czar pleaded personally with the Sultan in an exceedingly friendly communication requesting as a favor an immediate cessation of hostilities. The Sultan, almost without a moment's delay, telegraphed back that he had much pleasure in acceding to the wish of his Imperial friend, and at the same time issued orders to all his Generals to cease hostilities at once.

The Czar, no doubt, earnestly desires to prevent useless bloodshed, and it is reasonable to assume that his mother's influence weighed much with him, the King of Greece being her brother. But the main motive at all events of his Ministers was to counteract the influence of Germany. Why Germany has been egging on the Sultan is not so easy to understand. Doubtless it hoped for large concessions from the Turkish Government for German capitalists, and as the Emperor has given important assistance to the Sultan by the loan of his officers, he hoped probably to be able to negative Russian predominance. For the moment at all events he has received a check. The war is at an end and the general belief is that Greece will not be deprived of any portion of her territory. Barren portions, useful only for merely military purposes may be handed back, but no Greek population will be surrendered. It is thought likely also that the Greek fleet will not be surrendered.

The chief difficulty perhaps will be as to the amount of the indemnity Greece is to pay to Turkey. An interesting calculation is published by a semi-official journal in Vienna, showing that the total expenditure of Turkey during the war and the loss inflicted by Greek ships cannot exceed a million and a-half sterling, from which it would seem to follow that in Austrian official circles the opinion is that Turkey ought to be satisfied with an indemnity of from one and a-half to two millions sterling. Here and in France and Italy everything will unquestionably be done to prevent too great a burden being imposed upon Greece. Russia, it is reasonable to assume, will cordially support Greece, for the King is uncle of the Czar, and besides, Russia, while wishing to prevent Greece from being so aggrandized as to be a dangerous obstacle in her own path, yet must be anxious to prove to the Russian people that she is not sacrificing a Christian nationality. The only doubtful factor then is Germany.

Furthermore, there seems every reason to hope now that a friendly settlement will be arrived at soon between this country and the Transvaal. It had previously been arranged that a debate on Transvaal affairs should take place last evening, but on Tuesday Mr. Balfour, on behalf of the Government, said that important negotiations were going on, and that it was not desirable, therefore, to discuss South African matters. Sir William Harcourt, as leader of the Liberal party, cordially agreed. The general inference is that the Government hopes for a satisfactory settlement. It would hardly have refused to discuss the matter unless, at all events, it believed that the Transvaal Government is sincere.

There is thus every prospect that the political dangers which seemed so grave a little while ago are about to pass away, and consequently there has been a very marked improvement upon the Stock Exchange this week. It began about three weeks ago, but up to Saturday last it was mainly confined to members of the Stock Exchange and outside operators. This week there has undoubtedly been a good deal of real investment. The South African market led and there has been another very material rise in prices, but all departments have shared more or less.

The general public is still holding aloof from the American department, partly because of the utter uncertainty respecting the action of the Senate with regard to the Tariff bill and partly because of the new effort being made by the advocates of Cuban belligerency to urge the President to intervention.

The South American department is also neglected. There are many failures occurring in Buenos Ayres and other large towns in Argentina caused by the inability of importing merchants to obtain payment from dealers in the interior. The losses because of the failure of the crops are very heavy. In Uruguay the struggle between the Government and the insurgents is still going on. The Government claims to have gained a decisive victory this week, but little credence is attached to the telegram in London. There is also a revolutionary movement, as well as a financial crisis, in Venezuela, and reports from both Brazil and Chili are not very favorable.

The plague in Bombay is abating, but unfortunately it is spreading in the interior, and every day telegrams arrive in the city stating that the drought in Australia is growing worse and worse. The lambs have been almost all killed in Victoria, New South Wales and Southern Queensland, and there are fears of grave mortality among the sheep.

Money is growing cheaper every day. As peace seems to be assured the gold demand for the Continent has greatly fallen off. The Bank of England has received about a quarter of a million of the metal this week, and it is expected that further sums will be sent in. The funds in the market are likely, therefore, to increase for some months to come. Trade, no doubt, is very good, but there is not, as yet, such a demand for banking accommodation as is likely to materially affect the money market; and though speculation is once more growing up, it will be some time before it is likely to raise rates. It is true, on the other hand, that Japan is about to raise a loan for the express purpose of introducing a gold currency. But then Japan's borrowing power is not large enough to have any material effect upon this market.

The Indian Government has just borrowed 8½ millions sterling at 2½ per cent, but that loan is rendered necessary by the famine and plague in India. The Government has to spend such immense sums in relief that it is not in a position to meet very large sales by the India Council, and the Council therefore has borrowed here to complete its payments. But that money, of course, remains in the country, and except for a day or two will not affect rates. By and by, no doubt, there will be large borrowing for other countries, and if politics smooth down there will unquestionably be large issues of companies for all sorts of purposes. Some time must pass, however, before even new issues can raise rates materially.

As one illustration of the extraordinary cheapness and abundance of money just now, and the unwillingness of the public to invest outside certain limits, it may be observed that the London County Council offered for tender this week £600,000 in the form of six months' bills, and that the applications amounted to very nearly 4 millions sterling. The average price was £99 8s. 9d., so that the rate of discount was barely 1¼ per cent per annum.

The silver market continues weak, and the India Council has not sold its drafts well this week. It offered for tender 35 lacs and sold a trifle over 20 lacs. The average price for the bills was 1s. 2¾d., and for the transfers a trifle higher. Apparently the exchange banks are limiting the accommodation they give in India, and are not at all eager to obtain Council drafts. The reserve of the Bank of Bombay has fallen almost as low as it was when the directors put up their rate of discount from 8 to 10 per cent, from which it would seem that the Government has been compelled to draw upon its deposits very largely or that the difficulty of carrying stocks on borrowed money is becoming serious. At all events it is clear that the exchange banks are taking precautions in every way. It is reasonable to assume that there must be a considerable number of commercial failures, for it is certain that owing to the plague and the famine native merchants in the interior are not able to pay for goods delivered to them, and in very large numbers have refused to carry out contracts they had entered into.

WALL STREET, FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1897—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The more favorable sentiment which was referred to last week as prevailing in Wall Street has been augmented by recent public utterances of the Secretary of the Treasury affirming that at the proper time the currency question will have official attention. We recall no single event since the election which has so much encouraged the hope of future activity and prosperity as these words of Secretary Gage. They have also made a favorable impression abroad, and it is reported that American securities are receiving more attention in London as a consequence. To this must be added as a helpful factor the progress which is being made with the tariff bill in the Senate.

There are a few additional cases of what are called favorable railway earnings, but it should be remembered that comparisons are being made with reports which were exceptionally light, and are therefore liable to be misleading. As a matter of fact present earnings are generally below the average for a series of years. Rains in the Northwest this week have improved the prospects of the spring-wheat crop, which, according to reports from all sources, are now most excellent.

The gold export movement is limited to $1,150,000 for the week, including $500,000 which has been engaged for to-morrow, and is without significance. The money market remains almost stagnant, and rates have been at about the lowest of the season.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1 to 1½ per cent. To-day's rates on call were 1 to 1½ per cent. Prime commercial paper is quoted at 8 to 4 per cent.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £505,518 and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 50.55, against 51.54 last week; the discount rate remains unchanged at 3 per cent. The Bank of France shows an increase of 12,575,000 francs in gold and 1,375,000 francs in silver.

The New York City Clearing-House banks in their statement of May 29 showed an increase in the reserve held of $1,484,300 and a surplus over the required reserve of $46,616,100, against $45,998,950 the previous week.

Foreign Exchange.—The foreign exchange market has remained steady through the week and is unchanged in general features.

To-day's actual rates of exchange were as follows: Bankers, sixty days' sterling, 485¼@486; demand, 487@487½; cables, 487½@487¾.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $3,000 Tennessee settlement 3s at 83 and $3,000 Alabama Class B at 107¾.

The railway bond market has felt the effect of increased traffic reported from some parts of the country, together with the better prospects and more hopeful feeling which is manifest in nearly all departments of activity. The volume of business has been steadily increasing through the week, and in most cases there has been an advance in quotations. This advance amounts to 1 per cent or more in the Atchison issues, Chesapeake & Ohio gen. 4½s, Central of New Jersey 5s, Erie general lien 3s, Fort Worth & Denver City 1sts, Missouri Kansas & Texas 1sts and 2ds, Reading, Wabash 1sts, and other less active issues. In addition to the above transactions have been relatively heavy in Erie prior 4s, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Rock Island, Northern Pacific, St. Louis & San Francisco, San Antonio & Aransas Pass and Southern Railway bonds.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The more hopeful tone which characterized the stock market last week has increased, for reasons mentioned above. As a consequence the outside public are taking a little more interest in Wall Street operations and there has been some good buying of securities which removes them from the market. The railway list has responded to these favorable influences by an advance which averages nearly 3 per cent in the granger group and is especially pronounced in Burlington & Quincy, which has been the most active stock on the list and gained 3½ points; Illinois Central, Lake Shore, Reading 1st preferred, Atchison preferred, Central of New Jersey, Delaware & Hudson, Louisville & Nashville and Southern Railway preferred. Union Pacific has been unusually active and gained nearly a point. Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis and the coal stocks were the principal weak features, the former on the question of future dividends and the latter simply continued the movement which has been in progress for several weeks past. To-day, however, there has been a change; Central of New Jersey advanced 2 points and Delaware & Hudson about 1 point. The internationally listed shares have been in demand to some extent for foreign account, and St. Paul, Louisville & Nashville, Southern Railway, Union Pacific and Atchison have been stimulated by this feature.

The miscellaneous list has been neglected because of the increased interest in railway shares, Chicago Gas being the exception. This stock advanced sharply when it was reported on Thursday that the Consolidation Bill had become a law, and its future seemed likely to be less precarious than its past has been. American Tobacco, Tenn. Coal, Iron & Railway and National Lead have substantially advanced. The sharp 2½-point decline in United States Rubber common stock and the 6-point break in the preferred on Thursday was due to the formal announcement that the directors had reduced the rate of the dividend on the preferred stock to 2 per cent semi-annually, as against 4 per cent paid since the opening of 1894. Reduction in price of the company's goods and general trade depression are officially assigned as the cause.

STREET RAILWAYS AND TRACTION COMPANIES.

The following table shows the gross earnings for the latest period of all STREET railways from which we are able to obtain weekly or monthly returns. The arrangement of the table is the same as that for the steam roads—that is, the first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the calendar year from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—The following table gives the returns of STREET railway gross and net earnings received this week. In reporting these net earnings for the street railways, we adopt the same plan as that for the steam roads—that is, we print each week all the returns received that week, but once a month (on the third or the fourth Saturday) we bring together all the roads furnishing returns, and the latest statement of this kind will be found in the CHRONICLE of May 22, 1897. The next will appear in the issue of June 19, 1897.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway.

(Report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1896.)

The present company did not assume possession of the old Railroad Company, which was sold in foreclosure, until August 1, 1896, but the report contains a statement of earnings for the full year as given further below.

President McCrea says in part:

Property Received.—On taking possession of the property your company received 433.24 miles of main track, including spurs, 3.10 miles of second track and 123.26 miles of sidings.

Equipment.—The equipment transferred was as follows: Locomotives, 92; passenger cars, etc., 88; freight cars, 3,046 (of which 1,221 are 137, gondola 184, box 923, furniture 403, miscellaneous 154, cabooses 52), work cars, 22.

Of the freight cars received, 132 flat, 93 ore, 26 coal, 9 box and 2 tool cars were twenty eight feet long and of light capacity. Independently of their size and capacity, their age, which averages about twenty-six years, will compel their early retirement. As this will take place under the rules of the freight car repair pool, in which this company has become a member, the direct charge will be very moderate. They are therefore included in the inventory.

Securities Received.—Your Company also took from the purchaser the following stocks and property at the prices named, but charged them in the general account as being of but nominal value: 866 2-3 shares stock and interest in Mackinac Transportation Co., par value, $126,000; 425 shares stock in Mackinac Hotel Co., par value, $12,500; 200 shares stock (5% assessment paid) Muskegon J. R. & I. R.R., par value, $1,000; 1,000 shares stock (appraised) Big Rapids & Western R.R., par value, $25,000; Resort (grounded at Reine City, Ind., par value $10,000); Mackinac branch (appraised), par value, $50,000.

At the date your Company took the property there was owing by the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Company, in current account for traffic balances, labor pay rolls, vouchers, etc., $399,493 21, all of which has been paid.

Old Leases Not Assumed.—Prior to taking possession, your company gave formal notice to the Cincinnati Richmond & Fort Wayne, the Muskegon Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad and the Traverse City R.R. that it would not assume the obligations and conditions in the several contracts and leases between those companies and the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad, but would operate as before those lines, and account for the net earnings of each and apply the same towards the interest on bonds of the several companies.

Five Months' Earnings of New Co.—Notwithstanding continued business depression, and consequent decrease in earnings, a small surplus was earned for the period named, the actual figures for the last five months of 1896 on the 433 miles being as follows: Aug. 1 to Dec. 31, 1896—Gross earnings, $757,202; net earnings, $144,035; accrued interest on funded debt, $135,452; accrued interest on real estate mortgages, $5,573; balance, surplus, $3,010.

Cleveland & Marietta Railway.

President William A. Baldwin in the report says in part:

At the close of the month of October, 1896, the tons of freight moved and ton mileage thereof were from 10 to 15 per cent, respectively, in excess of that of the previous year, the net earnings for that period showing a surplus of $20,473, but owing to strikes at coal mines tributary to our road from Nov. 3, 1896, to Dec. 15, 1896, the operations for the year 1896 show a loss in tons moved and in ton mileage, as compared with the totals for 1895, and net earnings of but $126. The bituminous coal tonnage, excluding "shifting", aggregates 652,634 tons in 1896 against 669,374 tons in 1895. The increase of 8.89 per cent in cost of operations resulted from increased outlays for maintenance and extraordinary expenses.

The main line, by the construction of a new line around Liberty Hill, was increased in length (6.08 miles) from 104.70 to a total of 110.78 miles. This new line cost $110,873 in 1896 and was paid for out of the proceeds of the new 4½ per cent loan of 1895, leaving cash on hand from said loan Jan. 1, 1897, $23,313.

Keokuk &amp; Western Railroad.

(Report for the year ending December 31, 1896.)

President F. T. Hughes says in part:

General Results.—Notwithstanding the general depression in the country the earnings continued to be satisfactory for the year, the net receipts being somewhat in advance of 1895.

Des Moines & Kansas City.—"No financial plan has been determined upon by the Des Moines & Kansas City Road for repaying to the Keokuk & Western Road the advances it has made, for the reason that the Board deemed it wiser to wait until the gauge had been entirely widened and the capabilities tested." The gauge between Des Moines and Van Wert, 72 miles, has been widened during the year at a cost of $150,000, and temporary financial arrangements have been made for widening the gauge from Des Moines to Cainsville, 40 miles. "For this reason the directors do not submit a balance sheet of the Des Moines & Kansas City Railroad, because it is impossible while the road is in its present state of transition to prepare any satisfactory financial statement."

Traffic.—It is stated that the road depends almost entirely on farm products for tonnage and revenue, and that the average price of corn during the twelve months was about 10 cents per bushel on the line of the road.

No train accidents occurred during the year.

Statistics.—Operations, earnings, expenses and charges have been:

Albany (Street) Railway.—New Bonds Authorized.—On June 1 the stockholders authorized a new mortgage for $750,000 of 5 per cent fifty-year gold bonds. See V. 64, p. 1040.

Baltimore & Ohio RR.—Proposed Application for Additional Receivers' Certificates.—The receivers propose to apply for authority to issue $680,000 additional certificates to be turned over to the Carnegie Steel Company of Pittsburg in payment for the forty thousand tons of steel rails recently purchased. It is understood that the application will be opposed by the bondholders.

The receivers' certificates now outstanding are $5,000,000 authorized in May, 1896, and which are a first lien on the main line, subject only to the two mortgages of 1853 aggregating $2,071,000; certificates for $950,000 authorized in November, 1896, to finish the Baltimore Belt and secured by the assets of the Maryland Construction Co.; $650,000 certificates have been issued on the Pittsburg & Connellsville and $56,000 were issued this year to pay for car floats. In addition to these certificates there were also issued in June, 1896, $3,400,000 B. & O. Equipment Co. car trust obligations guaranteed by the receivers and by the B. & O. Railroad.

Gold Fives of 1935.—A majority of these bonds has been deposited with Speyer & Co., who announce that they will buy the coupons maturing August 1, 1897, on bonds deposited before July 15, 1897, in case the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company should make default in paying the same when due. Speyer & Co.'s receipts for these bonds were listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange in November, 1896. See advertisement in another column.—V. 64, p. 1040.

Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Ry.—Extension of Ohio & Mississippi Firsts.—The friendly suit of the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company, trustee of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern consolidated mortgage, brought to determine the right of the railway company to extend the $6,613,000 Ohio & Mississippi firsts maturing Jan. 1, 1898, was decided May 28, permitting the fifty-year extension at 4 per cent.

The B. & O. S. W. consolidated mortgage requires the payment of all underlying bonds as they mature, but the company not being in a position to retire the maturing bonds with console as originally contemplated, the action was brought to legalize the extension. The saving in interest charges will be about $200,000 per annum.—V. 64, p. 609.

Baltimore Traction—City & Suburban Ry.—Meeting Adjourned.—The adjourned meeting of Baltimore Traction stockholders called for May 29 to act on the proposed consolidation with the City & Suburban was again adjourned until June 15.—V. 64, p. 951.

Brooklyn Elevated RR.—Quarterly.—This road was placed in the hands of a receiver on March 25, and the following earnings for the quarter and the nine months ending March 31 include one week's operation (in 1897) by the receiver, but the charges for this one week do not include interest on bonds (about $14,000), which should be added to the deficit to obtain a correct comparison with the previous year on the basis of the old fixed charges.

3 months ending Mar 31.	Gross earnings.	Net earnings.	Other income.	Interest, taxes, etc.	Balance, deficit.
9 months—
1897.....	$1,237,870	$470,549		$653,135	$182,586
1896.....	1,418,485	579,878	$7,660	650,812	63,274

Fixed charges of the proposed new company under the plan of reorganization (see V. 64, p. 609) are estimated at $583,600 per annum, and for nine months would be $437,700 against which are net earnings for 1896-7, as above, of $470,549.—V. 64, p. 1060.

Brooklyn Street Railways—Assessed Value for Taxes Reduced.—The referee has decided that the assessments on the street railways of Brooklyn, N. Y., be reduced in the sum of $1,715,465. The Brooklyn Heights System, including Queens County & Suburban, secures a reduction of $1,091,105, the Nassau System, including the Atlantic Avenue, a reduction of $379,300 and the South Brooklyn Central, $45,000. The saving to the roads is estimated at about $49,000.

Calumet Electric Street Ry. (Chicago)—Receiver's Certificates Authorized.—Judge Showalter has authorized Receiver McKeon to issue $200,000 of 6 per cent receiver's certificates, to be redeemable upon notice at any time.—V. 64, p. 887.

Capital Traction (Washington, D. C.)—Listing of Stock.—From the application, noted last week, for listing this company's $12,000,000 capital stock on the New York Exchange, the following facts are taken:

Length of Lines and Motive Power.—Cable double track, 10.75 miles; electric, overhead and underground trolley, double track, 7.23 miles—total mileage, all lines, fully completed and in operation, double track, 17.98 miles. No extensions contemplated.

Gauge, 4 feet 8½ inches. Rails—City lines: Steel grooved girder, 83 lbs. to the yard; county line: steel "T," 50 lbs. to the yard.

Chicago & Eastern Illinois RR.—General Consolidated Mortgage Limited in Issue.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders at Chicago this week, action was taken limiting the amount of bonds that may be issued under the general consolidated and first mortgage of 1887 to $30,000,000. A sufficient amount of bonds are reserved to retire all prior liens, including Chicago & Indiana Coal. This leaves about $9,000,000 bonds that may be issued under the mortgage at the rate of $18,000 a mile for single track, $8,000 a mile for double track and $7,000 a mile for equipment.—V. 64, p. 516.

Chicago Gas.—Illinois Gas Bills.—The two bills, known as the Gas Frontage bill and the Gas Consolidation bill, have been passed by both houses of the Illinois Legislature and have gone to the Governor for signature. The report on Thursday that the bills were signed was premature.

The Frontage bill compels any new gas company to get the consent of a majority of property owners on each mile of its proposed route and permits objecting property holders to get out injunctions without the intervention of the Attorney-General. The Consolidation bill provides that any gas company may lease or sell out to another company and that existing companies may consolidate into a single corporation.—V. 64, p. 1060.

Columbia & Maryland RR.—New Mortgages.—This company has recorded two mortgages, a first mortgage securing $2,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds maturing Dec. 1, 1941, and a second mortgage for $8,000,000 of 5s due June 1, 1947. The old first mortgage bonds, of which only $2,350,000 were issued, will be retired by the new records, the holders having agreed to the exchange. The new firsts will be used to finish the trolley road between Baltimore and Washington, and to pay the indebtedness of the Catonsville Construction Company, which abandoned the work last year.—V. 64, p. 610.

Columbus Hocking Valley & Toledo Ry.—General 6s of 1904.—Holders of C. H. V. & T. Ry. and Hocking Coal & RR. 6 per cent gold bonds dated 1884 and maturing 1904, are requested to send their names and the amount of their holdings to the Knickerbocker Trust Co., New York.—V. 64, p. 1041.

Columbus Sandusky & Hocking RR.—Receiver Appointed.—At Cincinnati, on June 1, Judge Taft appointed Samuel M. Felton receiver of this road on application of the Mercantile Trust Co. of New York, trustee of the first mortgage. The action was taken at the instance of the Reorganization Committee, of which General Louis Fitzgerald is chairman. Mr. Felton, the receiver, is also President and Receiver of the Cincinnati New Orleans & Texas Pacific.—V. 64, p. 663.

Diamond Match.—New English Company—Regarding the sale of the Liverpool plant to the English Company, the "Chicago Herald" recently published the following:

The Diamond Match Company, limited, of London, the company organized to take over the Liverpool plant of the Diamond Match Company of Illinois, has a capitalization as follows: Preference shares 6 per cent cumulative, of $1 each, authorized issue, $180,000; ordinary shares of $1 each, $400,000; total, $580,000.

The preference shares are non-voting. Of the total authorized issue about $100,000 will go to the Diamond Match Company of Illinois and $40,000 to Coates, Son & Co. The remaining $40,000 will be retained in the treasury for the time being. A feature not hitherto understood is that Coates, Son & Co. will pay to the Diamond Match Co. of Illinois about $175,000 in cash, being the amount of working capital now invested by the Illinois corporation in the Liverpool business.

Of the common stock the Illinois corporation gets 51 per cent. The preferred stock held in the treasury will be retained to meet future expenditures as the business enlarges. Although the American company will control a majority of the common stock of the English company, it is considered best to let the foreigners have a majority in the board of directors.

Concerning the option which Coates, Son & Co. have on the 40,000 shares of local Diamond Match stock, the Englishmen have until next November either to take up or decline to take up the shares. If they take the stock they agree to do so at 165, which, with the 10 per cent dividends now being paid, would place their holdings on a 5½ per cent dividend basis. At this time they are understood to incline very favorably toward taking the 40,000 shares.—V. 64, p. 952.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Ry.—Pennsylvania RR.—Extension of Grand Rapids 7s.—The Pennsylvania RR. gives notice that the time for extending Grand Rapids first mortgage 7s, due October 1, 1899, until July 1, 1941, at 4½ per cent, without charge, will terminate June 30, after which date a payment of $30 per bond will be required.—V. 63, p. 754; V. 64, p. 1043.

Illinois Street Railway Bill.—Allen Bill Amended.—The Allen bill, as amended in the State Senate, is reported to have been passed by that body and by the House.

The amended bill gives to a street railroad corporation the right to consolidate its stock, property and franchises with any other like corporation, provided that no such corporation shall consolidate with any other corporation running a parallel or competing line. It permits municipal authorities to grant street car franchises for fifty years upon petition of a majority of property owners or extend present franchises without petition. Nothing is said of compensation, that being left apparently to the municipal authorities. Where franchises are extended the fare is to be five cents for the first twenty years and the municipal authorities may fix it after that period.

Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry.—New Bonds Ready.—Speyer & Co. announce that the new Lake Shore 3½ per cent hundred-year gold bonds are now ready for delivery in exchange for their receipts and also that the time for receiving the old bonds in exchange for the new issue has been extended to June 23. See advertisement in another column.—V. 64, p. 1042.

Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co.—Sixes for $1,842,500 Extended at 4 per cent.—Of the $4,652,500 gold 6s due Dec. 15, 1897, the entire lot of $1,842,500 offered the privilege of extension by Brown Bros. & Co. of Philadelphia have been so extended at 4 per cent to June 15, 1914. The balance of the loan will be paid at maturity.—V. 64, p. 1001.

Memphis & Charleston RR.—Application to Pay Overdue Interest.—The receivers have made application to Judge Lorton at Cincinnati to pay the January 1, 1895, interest on all claims of the 7 per cent bonds and to expend $40,000 in equipping the freight cars with air brakes. The application will be heard on Monday, and it is expected it will be granted.—V. 64, p. 799.

Mobile & Ohio RR.—Stockholders Suit to Enjoin Montgomery Extension Withdrawn.—The suit brought in the New York Supreme Court by Reuben Leland, a holder of Mobile & Ohio Railroad stock, to enjoin the execution of the contract to build the Montgomery extension, has been discontinued on the application of Messrs. Davies, Stone & Auerbach, the plaintiff's attorneys. Construction work is being pushed over the entire length of the line and it is expected to have the road in operation early in 1898.—V. 64, p. 707.

National Wall Paper.—Decision in Favor of Company.—The United States Court of Appeals has given a decision in favor of this company in the suit brought by Cresswell & Washburn (whose business was bought out by the National Company) for an injunction to restrain the company from paying interest on its $8,000,000 debenture stock. The legality of the entire common stock of $30,000,000 was questioned. The Court decides that good will is property for which stock may be issued.—V. 62, p. 1139.

New York & New Jersey Bridge.—Annual Meeting.—At the annual meeting June 1 Secretary Swan stated that the extension of the pier-head lines recently approved by the Secretary of War will shorten the main span of the bridge from 3,110 to 2,710 feet, thereby reducing the cost of construction from $25,000,000 to $17,000,000. He also announced that "a plan for raising the money for construction is under the consideration of representative men, but it is advisable to await an improvement in the financial condition of the country before completing any definite financial operation." Regarding statements that the company had forfeited its charter because of failure to begin work within a year from March 13, 1896. Colonel James McNaught, General Counsel of the company, is quoted as follows:

"Sections 3 and 7 of the act of Congress relating to the New York & New Jersey Bridge Company require the company to begin work within one year after the location of the bridge and after all the plans have been approved by the Secretary of War. The location of the bridge was approved March 13, 1896, and part of the plans have not yet been approved. Notwithstanding this, the company began its work of construction in December last, and under General Wilson's interpretation of the company's charter it would have one year from December last within which to expend the sum of $250,000 upon construction. It is very probable that General Wilson, at the time of making his report, did not know that the company had begun work within the time required by said act."—V. 63, p. 1010.

Norfolk & Western Ry.—Clinch Valley and Adjustment Bonds Paid.—The Clinch Valley bonds and Norfolk & Western adjustment bonds which did not come into the reorganization (paid to amount to less than $10,000 of both issues) were paid off at par and interest on June 1.—V. 64, p. 376.

Northwestern Elevated RR. (Chicago).—Loan.—This company some time ago negotiated a loan of $300,000 at 6 per cent, secured by bonds of the company. The proceeds were used for construction purposes. About three miles of structure are now completed.—V. 64, p. 181.

Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain RR.—Central Vermont RR.—Interest Payment.—Judge Wheeler has ordered the receivers of the Central Vermont to pay to the O. & L. C. bondholders from the net earnings of that road in their hands, the amount of one semi-annual instalment of interest, amounting to $105,000.

It is stated that when the O. & L. C. was turned over to the present receiver there were only 17 locomotives in service out of 34 on the road when the Central Vermont leased it (in 1886), 12 of the 34 having disappeared entirely, along with one-third of the passenger equipment and 700 freight cars, which were destroyed during the time the lessees held possession of the road.—V. 64, p. 567, 952.

Omaha Minneapolis & Buffalo RR.—No Connection with Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf.—Regarding the statement that a mortgage for $15,000,000 had been filed on a proposed road from Omaha to Buffalo (as noted in our columns last week), said road to be a northern connection of the Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf RR, the Missouri Kansas & Texas Trust Co. makes the following official statement:

"The Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf Railroad has its northern terminus at Kansas City and its southern terminus at Port Arthur on the Gulf, and the entire attention of its officers and directors will be directed toward developing this property. The proposed road, if such is really contemplated, we have no connection with. We were asked by some foreign capitalists if we would consent to act as trustee for the bondholders, and a reply was given that we would consent so to do. This is all there is in the proposed road so far as the Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf Railroad or the Missouri Kansas & Texas Trust Co. are concerned."—V. 64, p. 1042.

Oregon Short Line RR.—Exclusive Traffic Arrangements With Union Pacific Discontinued.—On June 1 the Eastern terminus of the Oregon Short Line at Ogden was thrown open to all roads. In view of this action on the part of the Oregon Short Line management, the Union Pacific receivers will discontinue the concession of constructive mileage on the basis of one and three-quarter miles for each actual mile heretofore allowed the Short Line in return for the exclusive interchange of traffic. The new arrangement opens up the North Pacific coast territory via the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western to the Rock Island, Burlington, Santa Fe and all other lines connecting with the Rio Grande roads on same terms as to Union Pacific.—V. 64, p. 1042.

Savannah Traction.—Savannah Thunderbolt & Isle of Hope Ry.—Consolidation.—On Saturday the property of the Savannah Traction Co. was conveyed to the Savannah Thunderbolt & Isle of Hope Railway Company, under whose charter, when amended, the roads will be operated. The City & Suburban RR., it is stated, will be operated for the present under its own charter, and whether it will enter the consolidation is not known. Both companies are controlled, however, by George Parsons of N. Y. It has not been decided what new securities will be issued.—V. 64, p. 755.

St. Louis & San Francisco RR.—First Dividend of Reorganized Co.—The net earnings for the ten months from July 1, 1896, to May 1, 1897, show a surplus of about $370,000 over interest charges, taxes, rentals, etc. The company is reported to hold a large cash surplus, with no floating debt, and in view of this position the directors on Thursday declared a dividend of 2 per cent on the $5,000,000 of first preferred stock. The net earnings for the ten months show that the full 4 per cent was earned on the first preferred, besides a substantial surplus for the second preferred stock.—V. 64, p. 1041, 1043.

Pennsylvania Company.—Earnings.—Annual Meeting.—This company operates the lines of the Pennsylvania RR. west of Pittsburg and Erie. For the year ending December 31, 1896, on the 1,225 miles directly operated, earnings were as follows:

	Gross earnings.	Net earnings.	Interest, rentals, etc.	Balance, surplus.

At the annual meeting on June 1, the following directors were elected: Frank Thomson, James McCrea, J. T. Brooks, John E. Davidson, Joseph Woods, John P. Green, William H. Barnes, N. P. Shorridge, Charles E. Pugh, Samuel Rea, George Wood, C. Stuart Patterson and William Stuart. George Wood succeeds Henry D. Welsh, deceased; C. Stuart Patterson succeeds George B. Roberts, deceased, and William Stewart succeeds Amos R. Little, resigned.—V. 63, p. 73.

Peoria Decatur & Evansville Ry.—First Mortgage Committee Calls for Deposits.—The first mortgage bondholders committee appointed in 1894, and consisting of W. A. White, C. A. Peabody, Jr., E. H. Ladd, Jr., M. S. Paton and W. H. Brown, objects to the terms offered the first mortgage bonds under the reorganization plan of the Scudder Committee (V. 64, p. 1042), and asks the first mortgage bondholders to deposit their bonds with the Atlantic Trust Company, 39 William Street, New York, where receipts will be given and copies of the agreement may be obtained.—V. 64, p. 1042.

Railroad Pooling Bill.—Action by Senate Committee Postponed.—The final consideration of the Railroad Pooling Bill was on Thursday again postponed by the Senate Committee on Inter-State Commerce. Senator Chandler moved a postponement until December 1, but the motion was not voted upon, and a compromise was agreed upon postponing the measure until the next weekly meeting.

At a meeting of the New York Chamber of Commerce on Thursday resolutions were adopted that in view of the recent Supreme Court decision in the Trans-Missouri Freight Association case it is important that the pending pooling bill be passed, so that railroads may exercise the right, which all other corporations and citizens enjoy, to make contracts with each other.

Short Route Ry. Transfer.—Illinois Central RR.—Purchase.—The Illinois Central on June 1 purchased at foreclosure sale the Short Route Railway Transfer for the upset price of $500,000. The Short Route skirts the river front in Louisville, Ky., connecting the roads of the eastern and western parts of the city.—V. 64, p. 331, 952.

United States Rubber.—Preferred Dividend Reduced.—This company has declared a semi-annual dividend, payable July 15, on its preferred stock of 2 per cent instead of the usual 4 per cent semi-annual payment. The preferred is entitled to 8 per cent yearly, but dividends are non-cumulative. On the common stock the first dividend was paid in March, 1895, being 2½ per cent, and in February last a dividend of 2 per cent was paid. The following statement was made: "The company having decided to reduce prices of boots and shoes, and owing to the general depression in business, the directors thought it prudent to declare a smaller dividend than usual at this time. When the next dividend period is reached six months from now the earnings for the year can be better determined."—V. 64, p. 1043.

Wabash RR.—Entrance into Buffalo over Grand Trunk.—The Wabash Co. has arranged with the Grand Trunk to run two of its trains daily over the latter's line into Buffalo.

Eel River Franchise Decision.—At Kokomo, Ind., on May 28, in the Superior Court, Judge Brownlee directed the jury to find a verdict for the State in the suit which has been pending for several years brought to forfeit the Eel River RR. franchise. The road forms part of the Logansport & Detroit division of the Wabash. Judge Brownlee in his charge instructed the jury to find for the State, holding that the Eel River had no right under its charter to lease itself to a competing line; that the life of a corporation ceases to exist when it abandons its property and ceases to exercise direct control of its own affairs; that an organization for the sole purpose of collecting rental does not fulfill the requirements of the franchise. Surrender to a competing company warranted revocation of the charter. An appeal may be taken. The Wabash could dispense with the Eel River road, for which it pays $90,000 a year, by constructing about 30 miles of road from Butler to a point on its main line.—V. 63, p. 459, 490.

—The New York Security & Trust Co. and Messrs. Chas. T. Wing & Co., New York, and J. H. Fisher & Co., Baltimore, offer at 105 and interest the first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds of the Savannah Florida & Western RR. The proceeds from these bonds will be used to pay off the Atlantic & Gulf sevens maturing July 1, when the new bonds become a first mortgage.

—Messrs. A. M. Kidder & Co., 18 Wall Street, offer for sale six per cent Northwestern Telegraph and eight per cent Rensselaer & Saratoga guaranteed stocks. See their advertisement on page viii.

—Mr. F. J. Lisman, 30 Broad Street, advertises in another column that he is prepared to trade in fractional lots of stocks and bonds of such railroads as have issued securities in odd amounts lately.

LAND, LAND DAMAGES.—The more important purchases for this account were for additional yard facilities at La Salle, Ill., Davenport, Iowa, and Topeka, Kan.; for gravel pit at Joliet, Ill., and additional land necessary for change in line on South-Western Division.

MASONRY, BRIDGES AND CULVERTS.—Pile, trestle and wooden span bridges aggregating in length 18,741 feet, or 3 55-100 miles, have been replaced by permanent structures or filled with earth at a cost of $219,910 33, which amount has been charged to operating expenses.

NEW BUILDINGS.—The principal items are: An addition of eighteen stalls to round house and an addition to machine shops 80 feet long at Valley Junction, Iowa. The above structures are built of brick. Elevators of 8,500 bushels capacity each, at Whiting and Holton, Kan.

FENCES, CROSSINGS AND SIGNS.—Interlocking plants have been erected at Carnforth, Iowa, and Grand Junction, Iowa, crossings of the Chicago & North-Western Railway.

ADDITIONAL SECOND TRACK.—Second track has been extended on South-Western Division through Muscatine, Iowa, and across the new Mississippi River Bridge, between Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa.

SIDE TRACKS.—New side tracks aggregating 10 61-100 miles have been constructed on the various divisions of road.

REDUCING GRADE AND CHANGE OF LINE.—On the South-Western Division, between Mercer and Alvord, Mo., and near Centerville, Iowa, extensive changes have been made, whereby the line has been straightened and grades reduced.

NEW MISSISSIPPI RIVER BRIDGE.—The bridge over the Mississippi River, between Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, having become too small to accommodate the increased traffic, both for the railroad and public travel, the United States Government, being joint owner—with this Company of the old bridge, by Act of Congress approved March 2, 1895, decided to erect on the old piers a new double deck bridge of sufficient capacity to allow the Railroad Company to double track the structure. Work was commenced in November, 1895, and completed in December, 1896. The structure is entirely of steel and iron, 1,850 feet long. This Company's proportion of the cost of the new bridge has been $305,732 64; of this amount the additional cost, $148,232 64, due to making a double track structure, was charged Construction Account, and the balance, $157,500, that is, the amount which it would have been necessary to expend to replace the old bridge with a single track structure, has been charged to Repairs of Bridges.

EQUIPMENT.—Eight (8) large Locomotives and Three Hundred and Sixty-nine (369) Box Freight and Coal Cars (capacity 20 to 30 tons) have been purchased or built during the year, to take the place of old and worn-out equipment. The entire cost of same has been charged to Operating Expenses.

TRACK ELEVATION IN CHICAGO.—During the year track elevation was extended from 46th Street to 59th Street. The expense of this work is shared jointly with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway Company. Of the work done during the past year, our proportion of cost has been $254,000 00. The mileage of road in Chicago now covered by track elevation is 3 97-100 miles, leaving 2 64-100 miles yet to be elevated, under the requirements of the City Ordinance dated July 9th, 1894.

The Directors desire to express to the Officers and Employees of the Company, their appreciation of the manner in which the business has been conducted during the past year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. R. CABLE,
President.

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, June 4, 1897.

Although no marked improvement has been reported in trade during the past week, the general business situation has continued to steadily improve. The rapid progress being made by the Senate in its legislation on the tariff bill and the utterances made by Secretary Gage to the effect that the currency question will receive the attention of the Administration has had a generally favorable influence. Early in the week advices from the Northwest reported frosts, but generally weather conditions have been reported favorable for the growing crops, and this, too, has had a beneficial effect upon the business world. The crisis in the Spanish Cabinet has attracted some attention, owing to its bearing upon the Cuban question, which, however, it is thought, will not be materially affected by the outcome.

The following is a comparative statement of stocks of leading articles of merchandise at dates given:

	June 1, 1897.	May 1, 1897.	June 1, 1896.

Speculation in the market for cotton futures has continued sluggish, the trading having been confined almost exclusively to professional operations, and the net changes in prices for the week are unimportant, as neither buyers nor sellers have been aggressive. Saturday there was a slight advance in prices, in response to steadier foreign advices and on a demand from local shorts to cover contracts over the holiday on Monday. The close showed values 1 to 4 points higher for the day. Tuesday the market was slightly weaker during early 'Change, in response to dull and weaker foreign advices. Subsequently, however, the weekly report of the Government's Weather Bureau on the condition of the cotton crop was less favorable than a week ago, some complaint being reported of lack of moisture, and the market turned stronger, prices at the close showing an advance of 1 to 3 points. Wednesday the market opened firmer on foreign advices, which reported a more active business in spot cotton and an advance in futures, stimulating some buying by local shorts to cover contracts. Later in the day, however, prices turned weaker as advices were received from the South reporting the fall of needed rains, and the close was unchanged to 1 point lower for the day. There was a firmer tone to the market on Thursday. Foreign advices were encouraging and brought a few buying orders. Local operators also made a few purchases, and at the close prices showed an advance of 2 to 3 points. To-day the market opened steady on the execution of a few foreign buying orders, then sagged off 2 to 4 points, owing to the absence of speculative interest. Subsequently, however, reports of a stronger market at Manchester and an improved demand in the local spot market from spinners stimulated some buying to cover contracts, and the close was unchanged to 2 points lower for the day. Cotton on the spot has had a limited sale; prices declined 1/2c. on Saturday but recovered the loss on Tuesday. To-day the market was more active and steady, closing at 7 3/4c. for middling uplands. The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 183,500 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 18,737 bales, including 3,129 for export, 3,708 for consumption, — for speculation and 11,900 on contract. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week—May 29 to June 4.

On the basis of the rates on and off middling as established by the Revision Committee, the prices for a few of the grades would be as follows:

The imports into Continental ports the past week have been 68,000 bales.

The above figures indicate a decrease in the cotton in eight to-night of 131,812 bales as compared with the same date of 1896, a falling off of 1,246,218 bales from the corresponding date of 1895 and a decrease of 335,319 bales from 1894.

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since September 1, the shipments for the week and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1895-96—is set out in detail below.

The receipts at all the towns have been 3,524 bales less than same week last year and since Sept. 1 they are 813,534 bales more than for same time in 1895-96.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table indicates the actual movement each week from the plantations. The figures do not include overland receipts nor Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows: 1.—That the total receipts from the plantations since Sept. 1, 1896, are 6,606,509 bales; in 1895-96 were 5,251,220 bales; in 1894-95 were 7,830,317 bales.

2.—That although the receipts at the outports the past week were 9,851 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only — bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the week were 5,148 bales and for 1895 they were 4,622 bales.

OVERLAND MOVEMENT FOR THE WEEK AND SINCE SEPT. 1.—We give below a statement showing the overland movement for the week and since September 1. As the returns reach us by telegraph late Friday night it is impossible to enter so largely into detail as in our regular monthly report, but all the principal matters of interest are given. This weekly publication is of course supplementary to the more extended monthly statements. The results for the week ending June 4 and since Sept. 1 in the last two years are as follows.

* Increase during week. (Less Sept. 1.) It will be seen by the above that there has come into sight during the week 24,154 bales, against 31,894 bales for the same week of 1896, and that the increase in amount in sight to-night as compared with last year is 1,419,433 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—Our telegraphic advices from the South this evening indicate that the development of the plant has been slow in many sections as a result of too low temperature at night. In Texas beneficial rain has fallen, and aside from cool nights the conditions have been favorable. Early cotton is fruiting over the southern and central portions of the State. Some damage from pests is reported. Along the Gulf and Atlantic the rainfall has been light as a rule and moisture is desired. As the week closes there is an improvement in the temperature at night.

Galveston, Texas.—The weather has been comparatively favorable for cotton in Texas, except that the cool weather now prevailing will check growth of the plant to some extent. Rains yesterday and last night were not needed very badly except in a few localities. The crop is late, especially over North Texas, where much replanting has been done; some replanting is yet to be done on account of poor stands. Lice and other cotton pests are damaging the crop in sections, causing some replanting. Early cotton is fruiting over the southern and central portions of the State. We have had rain on one day during the week, to the extent of thirty-five hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 75, the highest being 84 and the lowest 66. May rainfall one inch and twenty-seven hundredths.

Palestine, Texas.—We have had rain on five days of the past week, the precipitation reaching one inch and thirty-nine hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 75, ranging from 62 to 88. May rainfall four inches and twenty-three hundredths.

Huntsville, Texas.—There has been one shower during the week, the precipitation reaching one hundredth of an inch. The thermometer has ranged from 64 to 93, averaging 78. May rainfall one inch and fifty hundredths.

Dallas, Texas.—There has been heavy rain on three days of the past week, the rainfall being two inches and fifty-one hundredths. Average thermometer 73, highest 90, lowest 56. May rainfall four inches and thirteen hundredths.

San Antonio, Texas.—We have had rain on two days of the week, to the extent of one inch and ten hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 75, the highest being 90 and the lowest 60. May rainfall three inches and ten hundredths.

Luling, Texas.—Rain has fallen heavily on two days of the week, the precipitation being two inches and thirty-four hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 80, ranging from 64 to 96. May rainfall three inches and ten hundredths.

Columbia, Texas.—We have had rain on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching sixty-seven hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has ranged from 63 to 88, averaging 76. May rainfall two inches and eighty hundredths.

HIGH WATER IN THE MISSISSIPPI.—A crevasse occurred in the early part of the week in the levee below Baton Rouge, but generally speaking only sugar land was inundated. Most of the land heretofore inundated is now clear of water.

INDIA COTTON MOVEMENT FROM ALL PORTS.—The receipt and shipments of cotton at Bombay have been as follows for the week and year, bringing the figures down to June 4.

The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of September, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

A considerable portion of the Sea Island cotton shipped to foreign ports goes via New York, and some small amounts via Boston and Baltimore. Instead of including this cotton for the week in which it leaves the Southern outports, we follow the same plan as in our regular table of including it when actually exported from New York, &c. The details of the shipments of Sea Island cotton for the week will be found under the head "Shipping News," on a subsequent page.

Prices are unchanged at 5 1/2 c. for 1 1/2 lbs., 5 1/2 c. for 2 lbs. and 6 1/2 c. for standard grades. Car-load lots of standard brands are quoted at 5 1/2 c. for 1 1/2 lbs., 5 1/2 c. for 2 lbs. and 6 1/2 c. for 2 1/2 lbs. f. o. b. at New York. Jute butts have been dull at 1 1/2 c. for paper quality, 1 1/2 c. for mixing and 1 1/2 c. for bagging, all to arrive. From Messrs. Ira A. Kip & Co.'s circular we ascertain that the deliveries of jute butts and rejections at New York and Boston during May were 29,704 bales, against 83,841 bales for the same month last year, and for the five months since January 1 the deliveries have been 170,881 bales, against 351,696 bales last year. Importers and speculators at New York and Boston on May 31 held 15,000 bales, against 4,300 bales at the corresponding date in 1896; and the amount afloat for the United States reaches 137,872 bales, against 52,083 bales last year.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY COTTON REPORT.—Mr. W. L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the following telegraphic reports on the crops in the Southern States for the week ending May 31:

VIRGINIA.—Week too cool for growth and all crops checked; cotton fair.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Early part of week generally unfavorable, being much too cool and dry, making crop growth very slow; some cotton killed. Warm rains end of week caused general improvement.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Nights too cool during middle of week and too dry; cotton shows slight improvement but continues small and is infested with lice.

GEORGIA.—Dry weather, cool nights and abundant sunshine characterized the week to the detriment of all crops; cotton all chopped and suffering for rain and in some sections from lice; late plantings not coming up well.

FLORIDA.—Week unfavorable for best crop growth; cotton small and growth slow, but color good.

ALABAMA.—Cool nights and generally dry week; all crops showing effects of drought; cotton and corn clean and healthy, but growing slowly; cotton nearly all chopped and receiving second working.

MISSISSIPPI.—All crops late and clean, but need rain; cotton and corn still improving; cotton planted on lowlands since overflow doing well.

LOUISIANA.—Showers generally light and badly distributed and all crops and vegetation need rain and warm nights; a slight improvement is shown in cotton and corn; corn tasseling and early cotton showing squares; crevasse below Baton Rouge has widened to 200 feet and will inflict some damage to crops.

TEXAS.—Cool nights latter part of week injured cotton, which is two to three weeks late and very irregular over central and northern portions, where some has been replanted the third time; over southern portion crop not so late, more regular and fruiting nicely; lice and other insects damaging cotton in many localities, but crop generally well cultivated.

ARKANSAS.—Crops well cultivated and farm work well in hand; deficient rainfall has been detrimental to all growing crops; cotton improved slightly, but stand is poor and late planting not coming up; general rain and hot weather needed.

TENNESSEE.—Cool, dry weather retarded healthy growth of crops; beneficial showers east and west sections, but more needed; cotton being chopped out, and, owing to bad stands, much is being plowed up to plant in corn.

MISSOURI.—Good showers in most sections, but some localities still dry; much damage to corn by cutworms and moles; otherwise crops in good condition though backward, owing to cool nights.

OKLAHOMA.—Low temperature with heavy rains; cotton very backward.

The Department summarizes these reports as follows:

The eastern portion of the cotton region is suffering to some extent for rain, but the crop is clean and is generally doing well, although backward. The most unfavorable reports are from North Carolina and Tennessee, and in the last-named State a considerable area will be plowed up and planted in corn. In Central and Northern Texas the crop is reported as from two to three weeks late, very irregular and suffering from cool nights. Over Southern Texas the crop is not so late, and, although being damaged in localities by insects, it is fruiting nicely and is generally well cultivated.

STATE WEEKLY COTTON REPORTS.—We give below summaries of the reports for the week ending May 31 issued by the various States under the auspices of the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, so far as they apply to cotton.

VIRGINIA.—The weather has been generally too cool and dry for the advancement of the crops, checking growth and preventing germination of seed. Cotton varies, but the bulk of this crop is doing fairly well. Warmer weather and seasonable showers are needed.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The past week has been unfavorable, being too cool throughout North Carolina, considerably checking growth of crops. The weather was also dry until the end of the week, excepting light rain, with some hail, in the northern portion on the 24th. The warm rains of Saturday and Sunday were general and will be of immense benefit. Farm work has been well kept up. Cotton and corn continue small; some cotton has died out from cool nights. Crops are in excellent condition to be benefited by suitable seasons, and next week's reports will probably indicate great improvement.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Cotton is sickly in places due to the cool nights, but generally it made satisfactory growth during the week. The plant has not attained an average growth for June 1. Additional reports of stands dying out were this week received from Spartanburg, Georgetown, Clarendon, Newberry, Sumter and Lexington. Bad stands in Williamsburg. Lice infest cotton over portions of Barlow, Abbeville, Hampton, Kershaw and Orangeburg. Fields are generally free of om grass and weeds and chopping to stands is nearing completion except over the extreme northwestern counties. Forms have been seen on cotton in Richland, in the Congaree Valley.

GEORGIA.—No rain, except a few scattered showers, for about three weeks. The dry weather has enabled the farmers to work and clean their crops, and this has been done, but vegetation has suffered seriously for lack of moisture. The ground has become very dry and dusty. The stands of cotton are not at all encouraging, and late planting is not coming up as it should. There is complaint in a number of localities of lice on the plant. Cotton has also suffered from the effects of cool nights.

FLORIDA.—Excepting scattered and insignificant showers, the week was dry and unfavorable for best crop growth. Corn and cotton small, with slow growth, but color good.

ALABAMA.—The week was generally dry throughout this section, but while the days were warm, the nights were cool and all crops are growing very slowly and are badly in need of a good rain and continued warmth. Replies to a special inquiry from this office show that cotton is about all up, and while the stands are poor, averaging not above four inches, it is clean and generally healthy, though lice are reported as damaging in scattered localities. Chopping is practically finished in southern half of the State and being pushed in northern counties; some is receiving a second working.

MISSISSIPPI.—The week was dry with cool nights, and nearly all crops are suffering for rain except those planted on lowlands as the water recedes. All crops are clean and well cultivated and some improvement is reported in cotton and corn. Some cotton has been plowed up and planted in corn. Reports of entomies are decreasing. Stock water is becoming scarce in some localities.

LOUISIANA.—Only light and scattered showers fell during the last two days of the week over the greater portion of the State. Cotton shows an improvement over last week; is growing faster and the older plants are putting on squares. Chopping out has been practically completed. As a general thing, however, the plant is small for the season, and to a certain extent lousy, due to the continued cool nights. The lice are disappearing with the advent of warmer and more seasonable weather. A crevasse occurred at Conrad Point, eight miles below Baton Rouge, early on the morning of the 30th, that will inflict some damage to crops, although Bayou Mauchac will probably carry off considerable of the water.

TEXAS.—Weather during the week generally favorable for farming operations and much farm work was done. Reports as to the condition of cotton show a consensus of opinion among some 200 correspondents that the crop has been damaged by too much cool weather and rains since the crop was planted. The greater portion of the crop is late, owing to the fact that much replanting has been necessary and some have had to replant two and three times over the northern portion of the State. Lice, bugs and other cotton pests appear to be pretty general over the State and are doing much damage to late and small cotton, causing the plant to die and making an irregular stand in many places. It is believed that early cotton where a good stand was secured will recover from the effects of the damage with favorable weather from now on. Some early cotton fruiting nicely in south Texas and is beginning to fruit over Central Texas. The warm weather during the early part of the week was favorable for cotton and started the plant to growing nicely in most sections, but cool weather toward the latter part of the week was not so favorable. Much of the crop has been worked out.

TENNESSEE.—The week was dry and cool, except during the latter part, when warm weather prevailed. Still the conditions were quite unfavorable for the healthy growth of young crops, the cool nights being hurtful to cotton and corn, which have made unsatisfactory progress. In many places the first plantings of cotton have such bad stands that farmers are plowing up the crop and planting the area in corn, but where it has a fair stand the work of chopping out is in progress. Good showers fell in portions of the eastern and western sections on the 29th.

MISSOURI.—In all sections of the State the temperature during the past week averaged considerably below the normal, and light frosts occurred in some localities, though little or no damage is reported. The precipitation was local in character and unevenly distributed. In a few of the northern and a number of the southern and southeastern counties the rainfall was light, and in some localities there was not enough to be of any benefit. The low temperature has been unfavorable to cotton.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE—TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL MEETING.—The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the New York Cotton Exchange was held on Tuesday, June 1. In their joint report President Hopkins and Secretary Robinson took occasion to express their satisfaction at the result shown, and said:

The national election absorbed more than usual attention, and was one of the most exciting in the history of the country. The severe money panic incident to the election aggravated the rapid and sharp fluctuations in the market caused by trade influences, but the failures have been few and unimportant. Under the circumstances we feel that the Exchange has just cause for congratulation. The Presidential election last fall brought prominently before the public the financial question, despite all efforts to make this question a secondary issue. This prominence led finally to the Monetary Convention held in Indianapolis in January, 1897, at which our Exchange was represented by delegates. The result of this convention was a declaration of principles which approved themselves unanimously to the large body of representative business men there assembled, and which commend themselves as reasonable and prudent to all the business men of the country. A permanent committee was also established to represent the bodies there assembled, and it is hoped that the efforts for a reform in our currency and financial system will be successful.

This Exchange was represented at the city of Washington in the National Board of Trade, which organization we joined a little more than a year ago. The National Board of Trade is considering a number of recommendations proposed at this convention, which we trust will be a benefit to our Exchange and the business community generally.

The Executive Committee report that, with few exceptions, all the offices in the building are rented, yielding a gross rental of $59,061, against $63,788 30 last year. In view of the dullness of business generally, especially at a time when arrangements were being made for another year, and the increased number of offices that are offered for rent in our immediate vicinity, we think the committee is to be congratulated.

The Warehouse and Delivery Committee's report is especially gratifying, the quantity of cotton offered for inspection having been largely in excess of last year. The question, therefore, as to the Exchange assuming the responsibility of the running expenses of the Inspection Bureau is happily removed, for the present at least, the balance on hand in the Guarantee Fund being now much greater than it was at the close of the last fiscal year.

The operations of the Inspection Bureau show that from May 1st, 1896, to April 30th, 1897, inclusive, there have been inspected and certificates issued for 246,547 bales; during the same period there were withdrawn 120,866 bales of certificated cotton, leaving certificates outstanding on April 30th, 1897, for 143,249 bales of cotton. The reclamations on the Bureau have amounted to $138 91, and the balance on hand in the Guarantee Fund is $47,037 99, as against $8,748 99 last year.

The transactions in cotton for future delivery for the year have aggregated 44,639,600 bales, against 54,689,600 bales last year and 32,110,100 bales in 1894-95.

The reported sales of spot cotton, as compared with the two previous seasons, are as follows, viz:

Bales.....	486,587	342,712	253,753

During the past year twenty-one memberships have been transferred and twelve new members have been admitted. The total number of certificates of membership outstanding remains at 454.

The report of the trustees of the gratuity fund shows assets of $119,016 77, of which $54,000 is loaned on real estate and $58,523 77 is on deposit with the New York Life Insurance & Trust Company. Assessments due and unpaid, 1,080; accrued interest, $1,408. Total assets, $119,016 77; total liabilities, $37,375; assets over liabilities, $81,641 77.

By reference to the estimates prepared by the Executive Committee it will be seen that there will probably be a surplus for the coming year of $8,061 from the building and $2,325 from the Exchange, based upon dues at $50, making the total profit $10,986.

In consideration of the very favorable condition of the finances the Board recommends that the dues for the coming year be fixed at $50 and that each membership be credited with the sum of $20 from the earnings of the building.

The Finance Committee reports that for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1897, the net profits realized from the building has been $11,395 77.

EGYPTIAN CROP.—The statement of the Alexandria General Produce Association for April 30, furnished to us by Mr. Fr. Jac. Andres of Boston is as follows:

Planting has taken place at the habitual season. It commenced 44 usual in the southern provinces, extending gradually to those of the northern part of the Delta. Nothing exceptional has occurred. The seed has shot up well, and generally speaking less has had to be replanted than last year. The young plant is in a normal condition, but with few exceptions is less advanced than last year, owing to the cool weather during March and April. In some districts there is a slight increase of acreage. Of the various qualities sown, the great bulk is Mit-Afil, but Abassi cotton shows a considerable increase, and both Bamieh and White cotton have been cultivated rather more extensively than in 1896. In Upper Egypt and in the Fayum the development of the crop is satisfactory. In these parts the acreage is about equal to last year, except in the Minieh district, where less has been planted. As usual the Ashmouni quality predominates there. Water is sufficient in Upper Egypt. There were some complaints of deficiency in Lower Egypt; these, however, no longer exist.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.
—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The monthly movements since September 1, 1896, and in previous years, have been as follows:

This statement shows that up to May 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 1,493,198 bales more than in 1895-96 and 1,511,619 bales less than in 1894-95. By adding to the totals to April 30 the daily receipts since that time we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, June 4, 1897.

Only a limited volume of business has been transacted in the market for wheat flour, as buyers have shown a disposition to hold back, owing to the downward tendency to wheat values, and have been bidding lower prices. The sales made have generally been at slight concessions from prices quoted a week ago. The close was quiet and easy. City mills have been quiet and without changes. The demand for rye flour has been slow but prices have held fairly steady. Corn meal has had a moderate sale but at irregular prices, the inferior grades selling at a decline, while choice stock has held steady.

The speculative dealings in the market for wheat futures have been quiet and the course of prices has continued downward, although early in the week reports of frost in the Northwest had a steadying influence. Saturday there was a dull market and the changes in values were unimportant. Tuesday the market was weaker in response to dull and easier foreign advices and under the heavy receipts at the Northwest which prompted liquidation by tired holders. Wednesday the market opened higher on unfavorable crop news, then reacted under realizing sales by longs. Toward the close, however, on reports of large export purchases at the West the market again rallied and the close showed prices up ½¢ for the day. Thursday there was a slight further improvement in prices in response to stronger foreign advices. Late in the day, however, owing to an absence of an export demand there was some pressure to sell and most of the improvement was lost. To-day the market was lower. Foreign advices came weaker, and this prompted general selling, under which prices declined ½¢ for the day. In the spot market exporters have been moderately large buyers, their purchases reported here and at the West amounting to 700,000 bushels. To-day the market was quiet and easier with futures. The sales included No. 1 Northern Duluth at 77½¢ f. o. b. afloat and ungraded spring at 82¢. No. 1 hard Duluth was quoted at 78½¢ f. o. b. afloat, No. 1 New York Northern at 76½¢ f. o. b. afloat, No. 1 hard Manitoba at 77½¢ f. o. b. afloat and No. 2 hard winter at 74½¢ f. o. b. afloat.

There has continued a quiet speculation in the market for Indian corn futures. No changes of importance have occurred in prices, as reports of damage to the newly-planted crop by frosts has been off-set by the free movement of the old crop. In the spot market only a limited volume of business has been transacted for export, the sales for the week here and at out-ports not exceeding 500,000 bushels. To-day the market was quiet but steady. The sales included No. 2 mixed at 29c. in elevator and 30½¢ f. o. b. afloat.

Oats for future delivery have been slightly more active on a demand from shorts to cover contracts, stimulated by the report of frosts early in the week, and prices for the week show an advance of ½¢. To-day the market was dull and a fraction lower, in sympathy with the decline in other grains. The spot market has been fairly active, as both shippers and the home trade have been moderate buyers, and prices have advanced ¼¢. The export sales for the week amount to about 250,000 bushels. To-day the market was steady. The sales included No. 2 mixed at 23c. in elevator and No. 3 white at 25c. in elevator.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., June 4, 1897.

Business during the early part of the week was described as under holiday influence, but as a matter of fact it has made so little progress since then, with the exception of Monday, when the market was entirely closed, that the special interference amounted to very little. There has again been but an indifferent mail demand for any description of merchandise. The sale of seasonable goods is still kept in check by unfavorable weather conditions, and in staple lines buyers are decidedly conservative. Nor are there any indications of near improvement. The month opens with several important Eastern cotton mills curtailing production and with the impression quite general that this is but the beginning of a movement likely to assume important dimensions. But still buyers view the prospect without uneasiness and will undoubtedly do so as long as they can easily fill their requirements on the basis of current prices. There is no pressure to sell on the part of the general run of the mills, but no opportunities are missed to reduce stocks at "reasonable" prices. Both the jobbing and retail trades continue quiet and collections are hardly as satisfactory as of late.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The chief demand for men's wear woollen and worsted fabrics has come from outside markets, but even that has been of indifferent volume. The local demand has been practically at a standstill under influence of the continued strike in the tailoring trades. The reorder business develops very slowly but in it are seen indications of finer grades of worsteds coming more into favor. Uncertainty as to the length of time the tariff bill may be in Congress is a disturbing factor and quite checks attempts to inaugurate business in new light weights. There have been no changes in prices in either staple or fancy goods. Cotton-warp cassimeres, doekin jeans and satinetts are inactive. Cloakings sell fairly in limited quantities, but overcoatings are slow. New business in dress goods is indifferent, but fair deliveries going forward on existing contracts and the market is generally steady. Flannels and blankets are quietly firm.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending May 31 were 3,390 packages, valued at $162,492, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

* From New England mill points direct.

The value of the New York exports for the year to date has been $4,546,947 in 1897 against $4,347,261 in 1896.

In an occasional quarter an improvement in the demand for brown goods for export has been reported, but it has not been important. The home trade demand continues sluggish on all weights of sheetings and drills. Most makes are fairly steady, but buyers occasionally secure some advantage in both Eastern and Southern goods. In coarse colored cottons a generally dull business is reported. Denims continue steady in price, but in other descriptions the market frequently inclines in favor of the buyer. Bleached shirtings are slow sellers, particularly so in the finer grades, but prices are maintained. Wide sheetings in indifferent request, as are cotton flannels and blankets. Kid-finished cambrics inactive and unchanged. White goods dull and irregular. Seasonable printed and printed sheer goods have been in poor request and market irregular. Fancy calicoes for fall now being opened barely maintain last season's prices. Staple ginghams are dull and dress styles generally inactive at irregular prices. There have been no sales of regular print cloths this week, sellers refusing to accept bids of 27-16c. for either spots or contracts. Odd goods in quiet request and easy to buy.

MUNICIPAL BOND SALES IN MAY.

According to our record of municipal bond sales, the total amount of these securities marketed during last month was $8,136,237, not counting $1,756,000 of temporary loans reported. This is to be compared with $10,712,538 for the corresponding month last year and with $13,060,323 for April of the present year.

The decrease in the amount sold during the past month, as shown by this comparison, may be accounted for by the fact that there was only one sale of over $1,000,000, namely the $1,314,000 of Providence, R. I., park and improvement bonds sold to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of that city, the next largest sale being the $500,000 of water and school bonds of the city of Minneapolis. As compared with this, the aggregate the previous month included the New York State Canal loan of $3,000,000 and the Boston loan of $1,275,000, and the aggregate for May 1896 included the New York City loan of $4,039,502 and the Memphis, Tenn., loan of $1,399,000.

While the amount of securities marketed has thus decreased, there has been a marked increase in the number of sales, there being, according to our records, 131 municipalities issuing bonds during the last month, against 113 for April 1897.

In addition to the two principal bond sales of the month, as noted above, the only other sales of any considerable amount were the $400,000 of Brooklyn 3½ per cent consolidated stock and bonds at 103-141 to 104-603; the $347,000 of Scotland County, Mo., 4½s, for which no price was reported; the $300,000 of Newark, N. J., 4s, due in 1927, at 111-819; the $270,000 of Los Angeles, Cal., 4s at 100-53; the $270,000 of Pittsfield, Mass., 4s at 102-639 and 104-157, and the $270,000 of Hartford, Conn., 3½s at 103-219. This covers all sales in excess of $250,000.

In the following table we give the prices which were paid for May loans to the amount of $7,137,543, issued by 100 municipalities. The aggregate of sales for which no price has been reported is $998,694 and the total bond sales for the month $8,136,237. These figures do not include the $500,000 Pawtucket, R. I., loan, because this loan, though reported in May, was actually placed at private sale in April. In the case of each loan reference is made to the page of the CHRONICLE where a full account of the sale is given.

Total bond sales for May, 1897.....$8,136,237

* Notes. † Average. ‡ Not including $1,756,000 of temporary loans reported and which do not belong in this list.

It should be distinctly understood that the foregoing does not include any reports of temporary loans negotiated during the month. These temporary loans obviously do not belong in the list. They are in no sense new bond issues. Nearly all the larger municipalities are borrowing more or less in this way all the time, the loans being for short periods usually, to be repaid just as soon as the money comes in from taxes, assessments and other collections. In other words, the loans do not remain outstanding and can not be treated as an addition to the permanent indebtedness of municipalities or as part of the regular bond sales. For the late month, as stated above, $1,555,000 of such loans were reported. Only a small part of these loans however come to light. They are generally the result of private negotiations with financial institutions having large amounts to invest temporarily at low rates, and hence publicity is rarely given to them. We make this explanation because uninformed parties often fail to recognize the distinctive character of these loans and treat them as if they formed part of the bond sales, thus unduly swelling the totals.

In the CHRONICLE of May 8 1897, page 910, a list of April bond sales amounting to $12,948,227 will be found. Since the publication of that statement we have received the following reports. The Pawtucket loan of $500,000, referred to above, is included in the sales for which no price has been reported.

Philadelphia, Pa.—City Cannot Issue the $11,000,000 of Bonds Without a Vote of the People.—The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania last Monday decided that the City of Philadelphia cannot issue the proposed loans of $8,000,000 and $3,000,000 for public improvements without a vote of the people. The opinion was rendered in the case of David Pepper and others who as taxpayers filed a bill in equity a short time since in Common Pleas Court No. 1, to restrain the Mayor from issuing the bonds. Judge Biddle, before whom the case was argued in the lower court, held, as reported in the CHRONICLE of May 8, 1897, page 911, that the loan bills were valid on the ground that at the time of the adoption of the Constitution the net debt of the city was $43,565,173 17 and that as it is only $31,336,674 41 at the present time it was clearly within the power of the city to maintain an indebtedness at least as great as that at the time of the adoption of the Constitution. This ruling the Supreme Court has now reversed.

Section 9, Article IX of the Constitution of 1874, says:

"The debt of any city, county, borough, township, school district or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed 7 per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to any amount exceeding 2 per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city the debt of which exceeds 7 per centum of such assessed valuation may be authorized by law to increase the same 3 per centum in the aggregate at any one time upon such valuation."

The Supreme Court interprets this section to mean that a city's debt cannot be increased in excess of 2 per cent of the assessed valuation except by a vote of the people. The decision was written by Chief Justice Sterrett, who said that the first clause of Section 8, Article 9, of the Constitution, is a positive prohibition of any municipal indebtedness in excess of seven per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property in the municipality; and the last clause is a temporary provision for those cases in which the indebtedness was greater than the seven per cent limit at the time of the adoption of the Constitution. Continuing Justice Sterrett said:

"* * * By the terms of the clause the limit of the created or increased debt was 2 per cent upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein and no more, unless by a vote of the people." "What then," continues the opinion, "is the limit to which a city may go in creating or increasing its debt? Manifestly 2 per cent, if done by the municipal authorities, and if a greater amount than that is required it must be done by a popular vote. That boundary mark is just as precise and definite as the 7 per cent ultimate limit prescribed by the preceding clause of the section. The amount of the new debt or the increased debt shall not exceed 2 per cent of the valuation."

"If any debt in excess of 2 per cent is required, it can only be obtained in one way, viz.: By the vote of the people. But that mode is out of consideration here, and it was held by the learned Court below that so long as the 7 per cent limit was not reached there might be successive increases which in the aggregate did not exceed that limit. But the vice of that contention is that no such method is authorized by the Constitution. On the contrary, it is prohibited by the words of the Eighth Section above quoted. The amount of the whole debt creation therein authorized is 2 per cent—and not any other per centum—upon the assessed valuation of the taxable property."

"But it is entirely clear that after the 2 per cent limit has been reached there can be no further increase by municipal authority only."

In conclusion the Chief Justice says: "It follows, therefore, that as the 2 per cent limit in the present case has been more than reached by previous additions, though by subsequent reduction the aggregate of the additions is now slightly below the 2 per cent limit, the ordinances authorizing the two loans of $8,000,000 and $3,000,000, respectively, are both invalid, and the plaintiff's bill must be sustained and the injunction prayed for awarded."

Application to Restrain the Issue of County Bonds Not Granted.—The New York Times of last Tuesday contained the following item from Albany under date of June 1:

"Attorney-General Hancock has denied the application of Messrs. Moller & Kneeland to have an action brought to restrain the County of Richmond from issuing bonds in excess of 10 per cent of its assessed valuation, and to compel a correct statement of its bonded debt by the Controller and county authorities.

The application was made some few days ago on the allegation that the county, in bonding itself for the sum of $202,000 for water purposes would have more bonds outstanding than were permitted by law. The Attorney-General bases his denial on the ground that it is not a case in which the law officer of the State should interfere because it is made at the instance of private individuals interested only in securing such advantages to themselves as might grow out of his action."

This attempt on the part of the city to refund its outstanding 6 per cent bonds in advance of their maturity in 1903, is being vigorously opposed by the bondholders in various parts of the country, who contend that the bonds were issued without the privilege of redemption prior to maturity. At St. Louis an advertisement has been published asking the holders of these bonds to communicate with Albert J. Enright & Co. of St. Joseph, or Wernse & Dieckman, Whitaker & Hodgman, William C. An Old Favorite With New Features.
THE LIVING AGE,

Founded by E. Lillitt in 1844.

In 1896 the subscription price of THE LIVING AGE which had been Eight Dollars a year, was reduced to Six Dollars. The effect of this change was to add hundreds of new names to the subscription lists.

Encouraged by this response the publishers now take pleasure in announcing several new features of interest which they propose to introduce. These include

First, the publication of occasional translations from the French, German, Spanish and Italian reviews and magazines.
Second, the addition of a Monthly Supplement containing three departments, namely:

Readings From American Magazines.

Readings From New Books.

A List of Books of the Month.

The proposed Supplement will add about three hundred pages annually to the magazine, without any added cost to the subscribers.

Published weekly at $6.00 a year.

To New Subscribers for the year 1897, remitting before January 1, the weekly numbers of 1896 issued after the receipt of their subscriptions will be sent GRATIS.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

There has been no very essential change in affairs this week. Tariff legislation has moved at a more moderate pace, and yet the action of the Republican caucus, an event of the week, removes every doubt of the passage of the law and may hasten the course of legislation in coming weeks. The rapid progress previously made likewise helps to keep the public in a hopeful frame of mind with reference to the future, notwithstanding the slower movement this week. A notable feature with reference to the measure has been the adoption of a 20 per cent duty on the imports of raw cotton. The action of this tax if it is retained in the bill as passed is somewhat of a problem. Our imports of raw cotton were only 81,970 bales in 1895-6 and will be considerably less this year; they are almost wholly of long staple that comes in competition chiefly with Sea Islands. The total crop of Sea Islands has increased in recent years. Indeed if we compare with 1892-93 the product has considerably more than doubled, the yield being 93,187 bales in 1895-6 and about 102,000 bales in 1896-7, against 45,422 bales in 1892-93. The land suited to the growth of Sea Islands is limited, but no doubt a higher price would further and materially increase the product. But what disposition could be made of the larger crop at a higher price is another question. In 1895-96 prices were better than in some years but only fair with both exports and home consumption large; we exported about 54 per cent of the crop (50,063 bales), and American consumers took about 44 per cent (40,741 bales), so that stocks increased from 405 bales September 1 1895 to 2,999 bales September 1 1896. In other words, the United States has not got rid of either its 1895-6 or 1896-7 crops at the prices ruling in those years. What disposition is it likely to make of a larger crop at a higher price? We have not the space to treat this subject here, but it seems extremely doubtful whether Sea Island producers would realize any advantage from the tax, while it might have an unfavorable effect on other fine staple cottons raised in the Gulf States and elsewhere.

A prominent feature of the week has been the advance in pig iron and billets. This revival was not anticipated. No market has apparently exhibited clearer evidences of stagnation and depression than the iron and steel market. It may be well to recall now though what happened when the prices of those articles dropped to their phenomenally low level in February last; the effect was to stimulate exports and purchases by our railroads. If the reader will look back to the facts we gave at that time he will find a large movement recorded in both directions. In those statements are the basis for the present advance. After the November election our furnaces were put to work in increasing numbers and capacity, and continued all through the winter manufacturing iron in anticipation of a spring demand which was not realized. Consequently the conditions of large stocks and small demand were the influences which produced the marked decline in February, referred to above. What in turn has given strength to the market now is the simple fact that though old stocks, so far as the public record goes, have not decreased, current consumption added to the enlarged export have at the low prices which have existed been absorbing the current product. Now that a slightly better demand seems springing up, a little improvement in prices was wholly natural and justified. Some reports state that the rise is going to be continued and rapid. All we can say is that if that correctly represents the course of the market the upward movement will be short, ending with a new reaction. The iron-producing capacity of this country at the present moment is very large, and a high price before a home demand sets in sufficient in extent to absorb the enlarged product would only end in repeating the conditions the embarrassing character of which the industry is just now getting the better of.

The crop situation is not quite up to the standard we reported two weeks ago. Just after the publication of what we then wrote, and during the closing days of May, occurred the unusual and severe frosts with snow in the Northwest extending East even to Northern New York and to portions of New England. Over a wide section small fruits were totally destroyed; in the upper part of Illinois and to a smaller extent in some other States corn was either injured or killed, making replanting necessary. Since then the temperature has continued unseasonably low everywhere, checking the growth of corn in the higher latitudes, and the weather has been so stormy and cold in a large part of the Atlantic States as to retard the development of cotton. We publish to-day on subsequent pages our Cotton Acreage report. The most important feature disclosed is that the crop is backward in every State; quite in contrast with last year's planting. While this is an unfavorable fact, it is by no means conclusive evidence of the yield; no doubt at the moment the promise is that the crop will be two weeks or more later than the crop of 1896-97, but even if that difference in maturity continues to the end, it is to be remembered that a late crop is not necessarily a short one. Take the country as a whole all agricultural products have made slow progress recently.

These remarks with reference to the adverse crop influences which have recently prevailed find confirmation in the report of the Agricultural Bureau at Washington on the condition of winter and spring wheat. The report was issued on Thursday and purports to show the situation on the 1st of the month. According to the figures furnished, the average of winter wheat (taking the country as a whole) was further reduced during May, and on June 1 was only 78.5, or but a trifle higher than on the corresponding date of the previous year, when the average was 77.9. At the same time the condition of spring wheat is reported only 89.6, against 99.6 in June 1896. Of course, as far as winter wheat is concerned, we are now too near harvest time to permit of any material change for the better. But in the case of spring wheat there is still time for improvement under more favorable weather conditions, and on that point it is well to note that the rains this week in the spring-wheat States are claimed to have been highly beneficial. We furnish a comparison of this year's average for the leading winter-wheat States on page 1145. Recent accounts speak of the probability of a very considerable deficiency in the wheat yield of France. This if confirmed by subsequent advices may have an important influence on prices later on.

Governor Hastings of Pennsylvania in a message to the State Legislature this week gave utterance to some important truths which cannot be too often pressed upon the attention of our legislators, State and national. The Legislature had sent him a resolution requesting him to state whether a deficit will exist in the revenues of the State the present fiscal year, and if so what subjects of taxation he would recommend, to the end that no financial embarrassment may occur. The Governor declines to indicate any subjects for taxation, as that is a legislative function. But he points out that at a time when almost all industries are suffering, when trade is stagnant, and when willing labor can find no employment, economy in the expenditure of public moneys should control the Legislature in its appropriations. After stating that he has steadily withheld his approval from bills increasing the salaries of public officials, but would gladly approve any measure reasonably reducing salaries, he makes a strong plea for economy in expenditures. He says there are two ways for States as well as individuals to successfully meet such exigencies as the present conditions impose. The first is to increase the income to meet the existing outlay. This is practically impossible for State or individual at this time. The other is to reduce expenditures so as to live within the income. This is good housekeeping. Instead of searching therefore through the crippled business interests of the State for new subjects to tax, or calling upon him to point them out, he suggests it will be much easier and more in the line of duty to endeavor to ascertain where the burden of taxation may in some measure be lifted from the shoulders of the people. This is excellent advice, as also is the suggestion that the speedy disposition of the work still remaining before the Legislature, making an early adjournment possible, will meet with the approval of the people.

We think these words of Governor Hastings should be taken to heart, not only by our legislators but also by all classes of the population. The trials and struggles which we have experienced during the last four years will not have been in vain if we learn the lesson of frugality and economy in the conduct of all our affairs. We are glad to see, too, that this subject is beginning to attract attention commensurate with its importance. We notice, for instance, an allusion to it in an interesting paper read this week by Mr. James G. Cannon, the Vice-President of the Fourth National Bank of this city, before the National Association of Credit Men at Kansas City, Mo., the subject being "Individual Credits." Mr. Cannon gives it as his opinion that we have been suffering not alone from the failure of business firms and corporations, but from the straining of individual credit, which he thinks has been responsible in large degree for the prevalent unsatisfactory condition in business affairs. Many people have been living beyond their means, and since the panic especially, he inclines to believe, individual credit has been extended far beyond its normal limits; as a result the whole line of credit has been disturbed, and the slow undermining of the foundation has gradually weakened and finally destroyed many of our noble institutions of trade and commerce. Perhaps Mr. Cannon goes too far when he says we have been passing through an era of extravagance more pronounced than that of any other period in the country's history, but there can be no doubt that both in our business and in our personal affairs we have laid far too little stress upon the necessity for economy as an element contributing to solvency and success. It is pleasing to think that a change in this respect is now in progress.

Some doubts appear to be felt as to whether the Railway Pooling Bill now under consideration by the Senate Committee on Inter-State Commerce will be reported to the Senate at the present session of Congress. There was a meeting of the Committee on Thursday, but an adjournment for a week was taken without action on the bill, and some of the members are opposed to making a report. The bill has been amended in important particulars, some of the provisions of the Foraker bill having been entirely eliminated, and it is open to question whether in its present form the measure would give to railroad interests the relief so much desired. As amended, permission to pool under the proposed law must be obtained from the Inter-State Commerce Commission, and contracts are held in abeyance for 60 days pending action upon them by that body. If objectionable to them, the rates must be modified or withdrawn. In effect, therefore, the rate-making power would be in the hands of the Commission, since the power of approval or disapproval would rest with them. In that case it is conceivable that the last state might be worse than the first for the roads. They would have bartered away the right to protection as regards reasonable rates now accorded them by the courts, in exchange for a privilege to pool which would be worthless. Perhaps after all then it may not be a misfortune if the pooling bill as amended is allowed to slumber in committee.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned generally during the week at 1 per cent at the Stock Exchange. A few loans have been placed at  $1\frac{1}{2}$  and some at  $1\frac{1}{4}$ , but the average for the week has been a fraction below the last-named rate. A feature has been the offering by one of the large trust companies of round amounts on call at 1 per cent on all dividend-paying stocks which have not defaulted in three years, but very little of this money was placed. Banks and trust companies loan at the rates current on the Exchange. There are liberal offerings of time money, but the demand is light, mainly for the reason that commission houses, as a rule, are relying upon the call loan branch of the market. Quotations for time contracts on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral are 2 per cent for sixty days,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for ninety days to four months and 3 per cent for five to seven months. There is a good demand for first-class commercial paper, while the offerings are fair and names do not accumulate. The inquiry will probably continue good until the banks are filled up, when the demand will naturally slacken. Rates are  $3@3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable,  $3\frac{1}{2}@4$  per cent for first-class and  $4@4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for good four to six months' single names. Banks having large correspondence with institutions in the interior report a continued inquiry preparatory to applications for re-discounting, and the letters received speak very encouragingly of the outlook for the employment of money; but as yet very few re-discounts are made. The feeling in mercantile circles uptown is very confident. Many houses report repeated orders for goods, while others say that their business is larger than it has been for five years.

The European political situation is improving, and it was reported on Thursday that the Ottoman officials have become more conciliatory on the subject of Thessaly, and it is believed that Turkey will yield on that point and agree to withdraw her troops. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 2 per cent. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London 15-16 of 1 to 1 per cent. The open market rate at Paris is  $1\frac{1}{2}$  per cent and at Berlin and Frankfort it is  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. According to our special cable from London the Bank of England lost £214,071 bullion during the week and held £35,812,160 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due to the export of £143,000 (of which £83,000 were sold in the open market and £60,000 went to Russia), to shipments of £446,000 net to the interior of Great Britain and to imports of £375,000, of which £225,000 were from the Cape, £94,000 from South America, £50,000 from Australia and £6,000 from Portugal.

The foreign exchange market has been very quiet and steady this week. The supply of bankers' bills from various sources has just about equaled the demand, and the offerings of commercial drafts against provisions, grain and flour have been promptly absorbed. Though the purchases of stocks by the arbitrage houses for Enropean account were large on Wednesday and Thursday, no impression appeared to be made upon the exchange market, which continued dull and steady. No gold was exported on Tuesday or on Thursday, but it was then reported that Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co. would send \$260,000 to the Continent on Saturday, which report was confirmed yesterday by the withdrawal for that purpose of the amount stated. The range for nominal rates for exchange was unchanged at 4 86 $\frac{1}{2}$ @4 87 for sixty day and 4 88@4 88 $\frac{1}{2}$  for sight until Wednesday, when Baring, Magoun & Co. reduced their posted rates to 4 86 $\frac{1}{2}$  for long and 4 88 for short, which made the latter uniform by all the drawers at 4 88. Rates for actual business in sterling have remained unchanged during the week, and indeed there has been no alteration in them since June 1, when they were 4 85 $\frac{1}{2}$ @4 86 for long, 4 87@4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$  for short and 4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$ @4 87 $\frac{1}{2}$  for cable transfers. ### GOVERNOR JONES AND THE DENVER CONVENTION.

A rather ludicrous incident of the week is the refusal of Governor Jones of Arkansas to send delegates to represent that State at the International Gold Mining Convention to be held in Denver early next month, beginning July 7th. A telegram to the daily press states that when asked if he would appoint delegates from the State at large to that convention he said: "I intend to ignore this convention altogether and shall decline to appoint delegates to it. There is no silver in it and I am opposed to anything of this kind that seems inimical to the interests of bimetalism."

Governor Jones' stand is a little amusing on a first reading. It permits of a construction tabooing every industrial gathering of the kind to be held at Denver. His statement is tantamount to saying he would not take part in a convention called to advance the production of any staple article unless in the call silver was coupled with it; for increasing the product of gold is in itself on the surface of things no crime against silver any more than increasing the product of beetroots would be.

We are persuaded though that Mr. Jones did not mean to put himself in that position. To understand the Governor correctly one must empty himself of every thought and conception except silver; in other words he must be a self-absorbed, one-idea silverite. From the 16-to-1 man's point of view, the Arkansas stand becomes thoroughly rational. Remember that Mr. Jones and his party are after the 16-to-1 sort of bimetalism, the go-it-alone kind, the adoption of which he knows full well means an immediate drop to a silver standard.

The Jones idea therefore is that gold could have no place in his system—it would be a source of weakness, not of strength. What use could there be for a metal which would serve to remind the people of what they had lost, the height they had fallen from; surely he could no more want to have brought to his "remembrance from what state he fell" than Satan did after being driven out of Heaven. Besides, to encourage the Denver idea would engender strife and bad feeling among silverites; for Colorado would be furnishing the nabobs with all the currency they wanted, and be getting rich doing it too, while poor Arkansas would be getting poorer yearly, selling its cotton at half price. This interpretation explains in a thoroughly rational way what is meant by the Governor's assertion that the Denver convention "seems inimical to the interests" of the metal he is fighting for. Of course it is inimical.

We should not be at all surprised if some day Mr. Jones should refuse to have a Colorado man in his party. What could be more absurd than the idea that a resident of a State which is seeking to be, if it is not already, the biggest producer in this country of the gold bugs' metal, is to be allowed to hold fellowship with the silver bugs, who are trying to pay their debts with a 50-cent dollar. On the one hand is the Arkansas man who is seeking to make and introduce his new style of yard-stick measuring a foot and a-half, while on the other hand is the Colorado man manufacturing the three foot yard-sticks in limitless quantities and sending them all over the country. Obviously these occupations are "inimical." A mere child could see the antagonism. Mr. Jones is right.

INCREASED MONEY SUPPLY AND IDLE TRADE.

One of the commonest of all delusions on the question of a proper currency is receiving to-day its answer in the financial markets. We have been told by the inflationist during many years, and we had it dinned into our ears last autumn, that the whole root of our recent troubles was the inadequacy of the money supply. It was distinctly with this theory in mind that last July's Chicago platform demanded "the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the present legal ratio of sixteen to one." With still more obvious consistency, the People's Party platform voiced the theory by demanding not only unrestricted silver coinage, but "a national money issued by the General Government only, without the intervention of banks of issue", and a "means of distribution direct to the people."

All of this episode is fresh enough in memory to be vividly recalled; it is worth remembering now, because subsequent circumstances have actually increased the money supply, and thereby in a measure fulfilled the wishes of last year's inflationists. There is therefore some opportunity to study the results. The Treasury issues, at the opening of every month, a bulletin showing the aggregate of this circulation, and the changes during the month preceding. The Government's facilities make possible an accurate statement of the changes in the country's silver and paper circulation, while the changes in the gold coin and bullion in the people's hands from month to month are reckoned readily enough from the statistics of the Mint and of the Treasury. When, therefore, the June bulletin showed an increase in the country's total circulation, outside the Treasury's own holdings, amounting to $138,149,612 since June 1 1896, it is only fair to ask, on the basis of last summer's radical theories, where is the trade activity which such expanded supply of money ought to bring? Certainly trade is dull, exchanges light and industry inactive. More than this, gold has for six weeks past been going out on export. Within this period more than $17,000,000 has thus been taken from the market. Yet so abundant is the currency supply that local discount rates, instead of rising, have declined; this week call money touched a flat one per cent basis. In other words, the supply of money at commercial points is proved to have been actually excessive.

Experience has taught that if governments will refrain from meddling with the currency, the money supply in a given district, or in a given State, will increase as the activity of trade increases, and will decrease with a shrinkage in that activity. Nothing is simpler than the modus operandi of this principle. With the diversification of industry throughout the world, and the varying seasons of the year in which commercial activity develops in the different States, it is impossible that all trade centres should at the same moment be active, or that their inactive seasons should exactly coincide. The instance within our own national borders is familiar. The harvest season in the West and South brings an increase of activity in trade to those sections during the autumn months and the early winter; therefore money moves automatically during those months, an increased supply going to the interior. In the later winter months and in the spring interior trade slackens, while at the same time business at the importing and distributing points enters its active season. Again, automatically, the money shipped to Western and Southern points during the autumn now flows back in quantity to the Eastern cities.

Under normal conditions, the international money movement is exactly similar. Until our national currency was tampered with, the spring gold exports and the autumn imports alternated with the same mechanical precision as the currency movement to and from the harvest districts. As soon as the drain of currency to the interior or the drain of gold to Europe had gone so far that no more could readily be spared from our reserves, the fact was speedily reflected by an advance in local money rates. Such an advance invariably checked the outward movement, and in a very brief space of time the general equilibrium was restored. Familiar with this automatic check on excessive coin withdrawals, the New York City banks, by means of the general clearing system, freely supplied whatever gold was needed for remittances on export. They were perfectly well aware that the local stock of specie could not be depleted, because the discount rate, long before actual shortage of reserves was reached, would rise to such a figure as would command return of gold to us from Europe. With such a safeguard it is not surprising that the gold-exporting houses never thought of resorting to the Treasury's gold supply.

The radical change in this part of our commercial machinery began with 1891; its deplorable results are so familiar that we would not stop to recall them but for the fact that the present situation provides a further illustration of the truth. The wholesale issue of legal tender notes, under the Act of 1890, had precisely the effect which ought to have been, and which in fact was, anticipated by all experienced observers. Trade was already checked in volume through the influence of the London troubles; therefore the country as a whole and the large financial centres in particular actually needed less for the circulating medium than they had needed before. Had the money supply been left without Congressional meddling, it would have solved its own part of the problem. Instead of this, however, upwards of $50,000,000 newly-manufactured legal tender notes were poured out annually into the general circulation. To this was simultaneously added the influence of a heavy deficit in revenue, by means of which the hoarded surplus of the Federal Treasury was emptied on the general money market.

Trade decreased continuously in volume; in 1893 a good share of existing enterprise was wrecked; in 1894 was reached an extremely low level of commercial activity. Yet the nation's total money supply in general circulation, which on July 1 1890 was estimated by the Treasury at $1,429,718,376, had reached by February 1894 the stupendous sum of $1,739,783,511. It had been vaguely argued by the advocates both of the Treasury Note Act of 1890 and of the Revenue Reduction law of the same year, that if the currency could only be thus heavily increased, money would flow into the pockets of the people and trade activity would expand immediately. But what happened? Industry was so slack throughout the interior that the money supply at all such points was already more than adequate for purposes of exchange. Therefore, as fast as the new legal tender notes were issued, and as fast as the Treasury holdings were thrown upon the market, the money thus disbursed was hurried to New York, where it might possibly obtain employment.

There had been, as we have seen, an increase in the country's aggregate supply up to 1894 of $310,065,000, or very nearly ten per cent. But in the same period the money holdings of the New York City banks alone increased $142,150,000. Now if, as had been contended, the interior communities needed such permanently increased supply of money for their local trade, this eastward movement of reserves would have been impossible. The money sent to New York City commanded only 2 per cent at its destination; if there was use for it at home at a reasonable rate and on sound collateral, it certainly would not have been shipped. Even in New York this immensely increased stock of money lay for the most part idle; a fact proved conclusively in 1894 by the increase, even in the reserve beyond requirements, to so huge a sum as $111,623,000. The principle already noticed necessarily began to operate. With an unprecedentedly large supply of money at commercial centres, and with trade almost unprecedentedly inactive, what reason for surprise was there that gold, the only international money of exchange, should have moved out continuously to Europe, with scarcely the interruption of a month? With trade to-day again depressed and idle, what reason is there for surprise that the slightest actual demand for money at the European cities should result in outflow from our present congested city bank reserves?

It is our judgment that the currency question will never be rationally settled until this principle is recognized: that an increasing stock of money does not stimulate genuine trade, but that on the contrary increasing trade attracts the requisite supplies of money. The question will not be settled, even if, as may conceivably occur this year, American industry and trade so far revive as to provide employment for the full supply of currency now in circulation. Such a revival might reach large enough proportions to distribute through interior points our present idle Eastern currency reserve, and to invite gold imports in considerable quantity from Europe. It might conceivably grow large enough to cause embarrassment through lack of ready elasticity in the circulating medium—a lack which bank note issues on a scientific basis would quickly have supplied. But no industrial revival can go on forever. At best the movement would at some future period be interrupted. If the reaction should be protracted and severe—and in this country it is usually both—the same problem would rise again for settlement. Under our present currency system idle interior reserves would be shipped to city banks; the overloaded city money markets would expel our gold, and we should be once more at the mercy either of chance or Congressional manœuvres—which in the last ten years have been synonymous terms.

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF THE NEW YORK ANTI-TRUST LAWS.

In the hearings this week upon the motion to vacate the order for the examination of Mr. Robert M. Olyphant of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company and the presidents of the other anthracite coal companies, the attorneys for the companies made what must be considered very strong arguments in support of the contention that the Anti-Trust law recently enacted in this State is unconstitutional. The plea of Mr. David McClure on behalf of the Lackawanna and the argument of Mr. David Willcox, who appeared for the Delaware & Hudson, are both able papers. Mr. Willcox attacked the law on various grounds, his main contentions being that in declaring the acts specified in the statute to be illegal and void, the Legislature exceeded its constitutional powers, that the procedure sought to be established by the statute is unconstitutional, and that in any event there has been a complete failure to comply with the requirements of the statute in that regard. Mr. McClure and the other attorneys for the companies took much the same ground.

Mr. Willcox begins by pointing out that the law is something more than a mere declaration against monopolies. It goes much further and attempts to prohibit a great variety of acts which have hitherto been every day matters possessing no element of illegality. It stamps as illegal and void every contract, agreement, arrangement or combination whereby competition in this State in the supply or price of any article or commodity of common use is or may be restrained or prevented. It hence covers not merely contracts or arrangements for the purpose of restraining competition or necessarily having that result. Its terms extend to every contract or arrangement, whatever its purpose or character, as to which the courts are able to say that it may possibly have the effect of restraining competition.

Mr. Willcox says it needs no argument to show that the most ordinary and customary arrangements incidentally may restrain or prevent competition, although that may be only remotely, if at all, their object. As examples may be suggested a contract of partnership between two persons previously engaged in the same line of business; the appointment by two producers of the same person to sell their goods on commission; the purchase by one wholesale merchant of the product of two producers; the purchase by a farmer, manufacturer or merchant of an additional farm, manufactory or shop; the withdrawal from business of any farmer, merchant or manufacturer; the cessation of production of any agricultural or manufactured product or the suspension of mining because of the lack of demand; a covenant in a deed restricting the use of real estate. Any one who withdraws from business by that very act will, in some degree, restrain or prevent competition, and equally anyone who enlarges his business by crowding others out, will restrain or prevent competition. Mr. Willcox well says that the right to make such contracts or arrangements has for centuries been a necessary part of the rights of liberty and property. He then cites a long line of cases to show that the Legislature cannot destroy these immemorial rights of liberty and property by setting up as a new criterion of legality the possible effect of their exercise upon competition in business. Both the Federal and State Constitutions guarantee to the citizen the right to transact such business as he sees fit, and to make such contracts and arrangements as may be incidental thereto. These rights, like all constitutional rights, cannot be affected by any legislative declaration that their exercise shall be deemed illegal. The power which the Legislature possesses in the premises is not to prohibit the exercise of these rights generally, as is attempted by the statute under consideration, but to restrain them within such limits as may be required by the welfare of society—in other words, to exercise the police power. And it is for the courts to determine whether or not action by the Legislature limiting these rights of the citizen is in fact a valid exercise of the police power.

Even when the business sought to be regulated is such as is said to be "affected with a public interest", it is well settled that the extent of the legislative power is to impose merely such limitations upon freedom of the right to contract as are reasonable under all the circumstances of the case. In the present instance, however, the limitations imposed upon the right of freedom to contract do not apply merely to business or property "affected with a public interest." They apply without exception to every sort of business or property, even although the same be not devoted to the use of the public in any respect and do not depend in any way upon any grant by the public of privileges or franchises. Mr. Willcox then cites numerous authorities to prove that it is settled that the mere fact that a contract or arrangement may diminish or restrain competition, does not render it injurious to the public or prejudicial to the welfare of society. Of course in any discussion or consideration of this question, the recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in the Trans-Missouri freight cases comes to mind as possibly upsetting previous authorities. But Mr. Willcox contends that the question of the constitutional power of Congress to limit the right of freedom of contract was not decided in those cases. The Court confined itself to discussing the meaning of the terms of the statute under consideration. Even as to that it held, he maintains, that in order to bring a contract within those provisions, it must appear that the restraint of trade or commerce is its necessary effect. That is very different from attempting to enact that a contract or arrangement shall be illegal if restraint or prevention of competition is its possible effect.

The statute is unconstitutional, Mr. Willcox maintains, for the further reason that it attempts to declare illegal contracts or arrangements made outside of the State. Besides this, the provisions upon the subject of procedure are unconstitutional. Section Fourth of the Act provides that for the purpose of determining whether an action or proceeding should be commenced the Attorney-General may examine and procure the testimony of witnesses in the manner prescribed in the Act. Section Fifth provides that whenever the Attorney-General deems it necessary or proper to procure testimony before beginning any action or proceeding he may present to any Justice of the Supreme Court an application in writing for an order directing such persons as the Attorney-General may require to appear before a Justice of the Supreme Court or a referee designated in such order and answer such relevant and material questions as may be put to them concerning any illegal contract, arrangement, agreement or combination in violation of the Act. Mr. Willcox says it is clear that testimony thus taken could not under the provisions of the Constitution of the State be used in any subsequent litigation. It could not be used in any criminal proceeding or proceeding at law because its use would be inconsistent with the constitutional right to trial by jury, which includes the right to have the witnesses produced before the jury. Equally, too, such testimony could not be used in any suit in equity because of the provision of Article 6, Section 3 of the Constitution, that testimony in equity cases shall be taken in like manner as in cases at law.

The examination, therefore, is not for the purpose of procuring testimony to be used in judicial proceedings, but merely (in the words of the statute) "for the purpose of determining whether an action or a proceeding should be commenced hereunder." The Attorney-General states in his petition that he "is desirous of examining said persons under oath for the purpose of determining whether an action or proceeding should be commenced under such acts." The proceeding is not judicial, Mr. Willcox avers, but simply ancillary to the Attorney-General in the performance of his duties—for the purpose of enabling him to determine whether he shall begin an action. "Its ancillary and non-judicial character is clearly evident, too, from the facts that it is not a proceeding in the Supreme Court, or in any court; there are no parties to any proceeding; the justice to whom the application is made performs no functions save either to take the testimony himself or to appoint a referee for that purpose; it leads to no judgment or determination of any court upon any subject; the testimony does not become part of the records of any court but is simply delivered to the Attorney-General." Mr. Willcox contends that the courts do not exist and that the justices do not hold office for the purpose of aiding a possible litigant in determining whether an action should be commenced. A determination of that character by a public officer is a mere administrative act.

The function of the courts is to determine actions and proceedings which have been in fact begun. "Under the present statute, it should be observed, still further, that the Court makes no determination upon any subject. The Attorney-General does that. And in the present case he has not even thought it necessary or 'practicable' to furnish to the court any facts upon which it could base a determination as to taking the testimony. He merely informs the court that he, the Attorney-General, deems it 'necessary and proper' that the court should act." Hence it is manifest that the statute seeks to impose in this regard upon the Justices of the Supreme Court functions which are non-judicial in their character.

Mr. McClure takes an equally pronounced stand against this provision, saying: "It is proposed to use a judge of a court, or somebody appointed by a judge of the Court, giving to him extraordinary powers of inquiry and the right of punishment for contempt, for the purpose of aiding the Attorney-General of the State in performing a duty which is exclusively incident to his office. The Attorney-General is not a member of the Judiciary Department of the Government; he is an executive officer upon whom is conferred the duty of assisting in the enforcement of the laws, entitled to use the courts only as any other attorney is. * * * While the act gives to a referee the express power to punish a witness for contempt, it is silent with reference to the power of the judge to punish. The judge is acting merely as a clerk to the Attorney-General. We submit that it can never be the function of a judge or a court to assist in the taking of testimony for the use of the Attorney-General when no action or proceeding is pending in court, and when such testimony, after being taken, is not subject to any control of the court."

A further objection to the provisions of the statute is urged upon the subject of the practice to be pursued in the premises. On this point Mr. Willcox says: "The act is a novel and dangerous attempt to leap over the limitations of the power of the State as a sovereign and to infringe upon the rights of citizens. It is as essential a part of English and American constitutional law that inquisitorial investigations of alleged crime shall be made only by the grand jury as that an accused person shall be convicted only by a verdict of twelve jurors." It will be seen that a number of novel points have been raised, and whatever the decision of Judge Chester, the final adjudication of the matter on appeal will be awaited with much interest.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS FOR MAY.

It is gratifying to find that railroad earnings are at length beginning to show marked evidences of improvement. For the month of May our tables below, covering 131 roads operating 98,280 miles of line, record $1,942,782 increase, or 5.14 per cent. Moreover, no less than 77 roads out of the 131 have contributed to this increase. The showing is the best for a great many months. In part the better comparison has to be ascribed to the fact that we are comparing with less favorable results a year ago. But in part also it is due to some increase in trade activity in certain parts of the country, added to a larger volume of agricultural tonnage. That no general revival in trade is under way yet, however, is evident from the circumstance that passenger earnings nearly everywhere still record a falling off. The following summarizes the May results for a series of years past.

As far as the crop movements are concerned, the grain-carrying roads had in most cases a distinct advantage in the fact that the grain movement was very much heavier this year than last. Of wheat the receipts at the Western primary markets were 9,873,477 bushels in the four weeks ending May 29 1897, against only 7,588,046 bushels in the corresponding four weeks of 1896; of corn the receipts were 10,935,822 bushels, against 6,511,951 bushels; of oats 14,914,569 bushels, against 9,953,197 bushels. Taking the three cereals mentioned together and adding barley and rye, the aggregate of the receipts this year stands at 37,612,715 bushels, against only 26,090,867 bushels in 1896. The following is the grain movement in detail in our usual form.

It will be observed that Northwestern points particularly were benefited by the large crop movement. For instance, at Minneapolis the receipts of wheat were 3,919,600 bushels, against 2,390,330 bushels, and of oats 1,496,740 bushels, against 685,420 bushels; at Duluth the wheat receipts fell a little behind a year ago, but the oats receipts were 1,085,604 bushels, against 401,002 bushels. At Chicago evidence of an increased movement is not so marked. In this case we have the figures for the even month, as follows.

Live hogs, No.	729,744	606,111	671,844	3,322,09	3,134,171	2,540,577

The foregoing shows a large increase only in the case of oats, making the grand aggregate of the grain receipts for 1897 14,076,464 bushels. This, while nearly two million bushels in excess of the movement for last year, falls a million bushels short of that for 1895. The deliveries of live hogs at the same point were larger than in any recent year, aggregating 729,748 head for 1897, against 660,113 head for 1896, 674,864 head for 1895 and 573,187 head for 1894. It deserves to be stated, however, that the live stock movement as a whole at Chicago did not equal that of last year, the deliveries being 22,899 car-loads for 1897 against 23,327 car-loads for 1896. The St. Paul road, though, brought in 3,731 car-loads against 2,877, and the North Western 4,681 car-loads against 4,513 car-loads; the Quincy brought in only 5,569 car-loads against 6,022, and the Alton 1,299 against 2,051.

As regards the cotton movement in the South, there was a loss in the shipments overland, these amounting to only 51,382 bales for May 1897, against 71,701 for May 1896, but at the Southern outports the receipts were a little heavier than a year ago, though the gain did not extend to all the ports, as will appear by the following.

We have stated above that out of 131 roads or systems contributing returns, 54 report losses; only eight of these losses exceed $30,000 in amount. On the other hand the gains in excess of that figure are quite numerous. They are made up very largely of grain-carrying roads in various parts of the country, but it is noticeable that they also comprise a number of other roads—Mexican lines, for instance, the New York Central, several Southern roads, etc., etc. The following is a detailed list of them.

* For three weeks only.

It will not be considered surprising to hear, in view of the large grain movement in that section of the country that Northwestern roads on the whole present better comparisons than those of any other group, only the Duluth South Shore & Atlantic and three minor roads falling behind. The fact has special significance, however, owing to the circumstance that this group of roads also made a good showing last year. Here is a six-year comparison for some of the leading lines. It will be noticed that the Great Northern, the Chicago Great Western and the Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern all record for 1897 larger earnings than in any previous year.

a Figures here for 1897 and 1896 are simply the totals of the earnings for the four weeks of the month as reported in the weekly returns; the month's earnings usually exceed the weekly estimates quite considerably.

b Including Toledo Valley & New Zealand and Savannah Valley for all the years.

* Figures for May not reported; taken same as last year.

† Figures are approximate, same as for this year; actual earnings were larger.

In the Southwest, outside of the Colorado roads and two minor lines in Texas the returns show improvement. The falling off on the Colorado lines is largely due to the heavy snowfall last winter and the bad condition of the country roads now when the snow is melting.

In the Middle and Middle Western sections where the manufacturing industries abound, the showing is less favorable and the losses largely outnumber the gains. The trunk lines fall in this group and of these the New York Central, the Big Four and the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern are able to report improved totals.

COTTON ACREAGE IN THE UNITED STATES 1897.

In making this season our annual investigations into the condition of the cotton crop, we are confronted by a situation quite in contrast with that of a year ago. Our readers will doubtless remember that as a result of the inquiries made last year we were enabled to draw more definite conclusions as to the outlook than had been the case for a number of years preceding. Freedom from floods and quite a favorable weather record had put the cotton plant by June 1 into such shape that, with reasonably propitious conditions during succeeding months, a good yield was practically assured. The surroundings the current season are different in most essential particulars. Not only has the backward spring been a decided element of uncertainty, but an extensive inundation in the Mississippi Valley, not entirely over yet, has further complicated matters. Latterly the meteorological conditions have been somewhat more favorable, though still less favorable than a year ago.

The overflow this season has, too, been more extensive than in any former year. Had the waters risen no higher than in 1892 and 1893 it is altogether probable that the inundation would have been comparatively unimportant, as the work done upon the levees since the latter year had strengthened them so much at points where the strain has been usually greatest that no serious disasters could in that case have been anticipated. But the gauge readings this spring have surpassed any of which there is record. At Memphis the river touched one and a-half feet above the previous highest mark, and along the Mississippi and Louisiana banks it rose from half a foot to two and a-half feet higher than ever before. As early as March an extremely high mark from Cairo South was seen to be inevitable. Still many believed that the levees would withstand the pressure. For this reason the breaks in Southeastern Missouri did not cause special uneasiness. Not until the Arkansas banks had given way at a number of points was the danger appreciated; thereafter work on the Mississippi and Louisiana line was prosecuted with increased vigor; but the strain was so great the barriers proved insufficient. The following outline map, from a report of the Department of Agriculture, shows in a graphic way the extent of the inundation.

The foregoing needs a few words of explanation before the reader will fully realize how comprehensive the facts are it discloses. It tells us, for instance, that in Southeastern Missouri, where the first inundation involving the cotton-planting area occurred, the lowlands in seven counties were either wholly or in part submerged, the amount flooded being close to half a million acres, of which a little more than one-tenth can be classed as cotton lands. With reference to Tennessee and Arkansas the overflow in the former

State was confined to about four counties and involved about the same amount of cultivated soil as in Missouri, the cotton land approximating nearly 75,000 acres. In Arkansas the entire eastern line of counties was more or less affected, and in addition land in Clay, Green, Craighead, Poinsett, Cross and St. Francis counties lying in what is called the St. Francis basin, was overflowed. Altogether upwards of a million acres were under water in this State, including about a quarter of a million which are generally given to cotton. In Mississippi the inundation was more extensive than in any other State. All the rich bottom lands lying between the Mississippi and the Yazoo rivers, extending from the northern boundary of the State south to Vicksburg and comprising close upon two million acres of farm land were in great part submerged. Of this large area almost one-third is cotton territory, yielding in good years a greater product per acre than almost anywhere else in the South. In the Louisiana levees the first break did not occur until April 16 at a point almost west of Vicksburg, Miss.; but from that break and others which have occurred since then, over one million acres have been inundated, about one-fifth of which are usually devoted to cotton. Hence, to sum up the foregoing facts, this year's flood has affected not far from five million acres of farming land, on nearly one-quarter of which cotton is regularly planted, the yield being approximately from one-half to three-quarters of a million bales. At this date the flood is almost entirely a thing of the past. All the land has not yet been freed of the water, but submerged territory is at present confined almost wholly to Louisiana and to a limited area from which the water is rapidly receding. Planting has been carried on as fast as the land has been uncovered and the loss of cotton acreage as a result of the flood will probably not exceed 10 per cent of the land flooded. Of course at the same time on a large part of this area cotton has a very late start.

The mere question of acreage is consequently involved in less obscurity than any other of the matters included in the scope of this year's investigations. Previous to the beginning of spring work some effort was made to induce farmers to contract the planting, but the financial returns from the crop of 1896-97, while not quite so satisfactory as from the preceding crop, were still sufficiently remunerative to favor giving a larger area to cotton. The fact, too, that the visible supply of the raw material at the principal points of accumulation was appreciably less than in 1895 and 1894 naturally encouraged the idea that a remunerative price was to be anticipated for this year's yield. These matters have been given greater weight in determining the course of planters than have the other facts affecting consumption; which other facts show that the cotton-manufacturing industry is now, pretty much the world over, in not even a fairly prosperous condition; and that the stock of goods in many lines is quite heavy. It is desirable to add that notwithstanding the inclination to increase acreage the tendency in that direction has not been so radical as in 1896; it has been general, almost every State showing some gain over a year ago, but not extreme.

CONCLUSIONS.

In the light of the foregoing, and from the details by States given on subsequent pages, we sum up our conclusions as follows:

FIRST.—Acreage has increased. As already indicated, the tendency throughout the South this year has been to enlarge the cotton planting. The increase has not been so great as in the previous year, when the gain was 13 per cent, but it had been hoped that after last year's important addition the current year's planting would be on an area not materially larger than that of 1896, inasmuch as cotton spinning starts the season in an unpromising way. Circumstances have, however, worked against any efforts toward conservatism in planting. The result is that planters have in many cases put in cotton where last year tobacco, cereals, etc., were produced. The overflow, as already stated, had some effect on acreage, but seed has been and is still being put in the ground only recently submerged. The changes this year, as we have made them up for each State, have been as follows:

* The area of cotton in the Indian Territory and Oklahoma and Virginia has been added to this year, but there has been no change in Missouri. We judge, therefore, that there has been an increase in "other States and Territories" of about 9 per cent.

This shows a net increase compared with 1896 of 5.83 per cent, making the total 22,056,792 acres in 1897, against 20,842,545 acres in 1896. We add the acreage for previous years for comparison, giving at the foot of the table not only the acreage but the total crop for each year, with the percentage of increase or decrease in acreage or production compared with the preceding year, and the product per acre. Since issuing our report last June we have made exhaustive investigation as to acreage for previous years, and such changes as seem to be warranted as a result of our inquiries have been made. Altogether the changes are not important, being confined to Georgia, Texas and the States and Territories combined under the head of "All Others." The figures for 1889-90 in the table are from the Census Report; those for other years are our own compilation.

Second.—As to the maturity, cultivation and condition of the plant, the conclusions we reach are as follows:

(1) As to maturity the crop as a whole must be called a late one. In this particular it is in very sharp contrast with the situation of the plant the first of last year, the start and early development then having been almost uniformly satisfactory. This remark does not apply with equal force to the whole cotton belt. On the contrary, in Texas recent conditions have been more favorable than elsewhere; as a consequence the plant has advanced, until now it is in maturity only a little behind an average season. But elsewhere there is no reason to doubt that development is backward, for while conditions during the day have latterly been about as desired, cold weather at night has much of the time acted as a decided check to growth. In fact, all through the spring there have been complaints of some sort; from most points these have been of cold, dry weather at one time and cold wet weather at another. From other points the rainfall is reported to have been sufficient, but temperature below normal or temperature right with excess or deficiency of rainfall. Of the crop in the flooded sections it is as yet too early to speak of its condition, as much of it has not yet come up, and some of it is only just now being planted.

(2) Cultivation has been carried on very satisfactorily, absence, as a rule, of heavy rainfall in recent weeks affording farmers the opportunity for thoroughly working the fields. Commercial fertilizers have been much more freely used in South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama than heretofore. In Mississippi the takings are reported to have been less, and elsewhere changes have been unimportant.

(3) Condition of the plant, in that portion of the cotton belt recently submerged, is, as already stated, a matter of which we cannot speak at this time. Aside from that, taken as a whole the condition is below the average. In Texas, of course, the situation is better than elsewhere, and with normal conditions during the remainder of the season a pretty full crop in that State should be realized. In Mississippi, outside of the Delta, as well as in Alabama, and to some extent in all the other States, there has been improvement of late, but the plant is not, as a rule, in position to withstand very successfully any severe adverse conditions. With the start here indicated a pretty full crop is possible, but not by any means is such a result as well assured as it was a year ago. The weather, however, during the next two or three months has so much to do with the making of the crop, especially in the overflowed districts, that should all the surroundings be favorable a greater yield than in some years of much brighter early promise may be realized.

Our summaries by States are as follows:

VIRGINIA.—Unfavorable meteorological conditions in the early spring delayed preparations for the new crop, so that planting was not finished until later than in the previous year. Seed came up rather poorly, germination being interfered with by cool weather and the wet condition of the soil. Some replanting was done. Since about the middle of May, however, there has been a more satisfactory development under the influence of fairly favorable weather. Stands, which until recently were irregular, are now fairly good and steadily improving. Acreage is small in this State, but has been materially added to this year by the substitution of cotton for other crops. We should judge from the information at hand that the increase has been 10 per cent. Fertilizers—A moderately greater use of home-made manures is apparent, but the takings of commercial sorts show no appreciable change.

NORTH CAROLINA.—During the month of March and first half of April there was too much rain in the greater part of the State, which served to retard crop preparations. As a result planting was not completed as early as in 1896. The wet weather was succeeded by dry and cold weather, which hindered germination, so that as a rule seed came up poorly. In fact, up to near the middle of May temperature ranged below the normal and rainfall was deficient. During the last half of the month, however, rainfall increased, which brought seed up more rapidly; but up to within the past few days the temperature has continued too low at night. Frost in some instances and rot in others are responsible for the moderate amount of replanting found to be necessary. Stands at this date range from fair to good and the plant is doing fairly well. Fields are quite free of weeds and grass. Acreage—As in 1896 there seems to have been a disposition at most points to increase cotton area; the tendency, however, has not, as then, been radical, the average increase for the whole State being only about 5 per cent. Fertilizers—Commercial sorts have received slightly more attention and a normal use of home-made manures is reported.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—On the average the planting season in South Carolina was later than in 1896. In the upland sections it was fully ten days later, but in Sea Island districts the finish was at an earlier date than a year ago, when drought materially delayed work. Owing to dry weather, and to some extent defective seed, germination was poor on the uplands, but subsequent to May 10, with higher temperature and needed moisture, a decided improvement has been apparent. From the Sea Island districts our advices are that seed came up very well and that conditions at first were propitious, that later cold winds were detrimental to the young plant, but that present weather is quite satisfactory and development favorable. On uplands a considerable amount had to be replanted. Stands on uplands were, at the date of our returns, only fairly good, but improving. In the Sea Islands they were good, but the plant not so strong as it should be at this time of the year. With a continuance of the present satisfactory weather conditions a decided improvement all around is anticipated. Acreage has been increased moderately, not more than 6 per cent, and practically all on uplands. Fertilizers—The takings of commercial varieties exhibit a further large increase, but home-made manures remain about stationary.

GEORGIA.—Planting operations are usually under way in this State by the middle of March, but in the current season, owing to the backward spring, work was hardly begun before the first of April and was not generally completed until about the middle of May, or nearly two weeks later than in 1896. As a result of various unfavorable conditions—deficient moisture and low temperature—the start was as a rule much less satisfactory than last year. In some sections cold and dry weather followed beating rains and caused a crust to form on the surface of the soil through which the plant could not force its way. Under the circumstances replanting became necessary to a greater extent than usual. Since growth began and down to May 10 the temperature ranged too low generally, but latterly improvement in this particular, assisted by beneficial showers, has stimulated development. Stands range from poor to good, and the outlook, owing to the favorable meteorological conditions lately prevailing, is more encouraging than expected only a short time ago. Fields are in good condition—in fact it is remarked that farmers seem so energetic and industrious that it will not be for want of good cultivation that they will fail in making good crops. Acreage—Our advices indicate that the prevailing inclination has been to add to the area under cotton. There are of course some districts in which no change has been made, but the aggregate cotton land of the State has been increased by about 7 per cent. Fertilizers have received decidedly more attention, the takings of commercial sorts in some instances showing a gain of fully 25 per cent as compared with a year ago.

FLORIDA.—Planting began a few days later than in an average year, but was carried on without any special hindrance, and was completed at about the same time as a year ago. Our information with regard to germination is more satisfactory, the replies indicating that seed came up moderately well. Low temperature in April and lack of moisture during the early part of May were adverse influences which checked development, but more favorable weather since has worked an improvement in the plant. As a result of the ravages of cutworms more than the usual amount of replanting was required in the northern part of the State. Stands are good as a rule, in fact are at this date fully up to last season, and the fields are clean and well cultivated. Acreage has been increased in some sections and decreased in others; for the whole State the cotton area is practically the same as last year. Fertilizers are not extensively used, but the takings of commercial varieties are slightly greater than a year ago.

ALABAMA.—The planting season averaged about ten days later than last year in Alabama, beginning in a few localities March 25th to 28th and closing generally about May 20th. In some instances seed came up well, but in general the start was poor, especially of early plantings, in consequence of cool weather and excess of moisture. An unusual amount of replanting has been required. Some early plantings were damaged by flooding rains; cold weather killed others, and the baked condition of the soil at a few points prevented satisfactory germination. Since growth began the weather conditions have not been wholly favorable; too low temperature has been the complaint almost everywhere up to near the 10th of May and over a large section a deficient rainfall. These adverse conditions very naturally served to check growth and retard the germination of replantings. The stand secured varies according to localities, but will not average better than fair. Altogether the early conditions were the reverse of what they were a year ago, but since the beginning of the second week in May there has been much improvement, both as regards temperature and rainfall, with a consequent improvement in the outlook. At night however the weather has been too cool much of the time up to the first of June. The plant is of course late, but is now developing quite fairly. Fields have been well cultivated. Acreage—A tendency to add to acreage was very manifest this year; in some localities the changes have been quite radical, in others decidedly moderate. A careful analysis of our returns seems to warrant an increase of 7 per cent for the State as a whole. Fertilizers of the commercial sorts have been much more freely taken than in 1896, and a slightly increased use of home-made manures is also indicated.

MISSISSIPPI.—The conditions which prevailed in this State during the planting season differed essentially from those in the States we have already reviewed. All the rich bottom lands in the valley of the Mississippi from the northern limits of the State south to Vicksburg and bounded on the east by the Yazoo River, comprising nearly two million acres of farm land, of which about one-third or more is usually devoted to cotton, were overflowed, in whole or in part, from the beginning of April until the close of May. In consequence, seeding, which began in the earlier sections of the State only a little later than in 1896, is just now being completed. No time has been lost in the inundated district, seed being put in as fast as the water receded. Where seed has come up the start has been rather poor, lack of rain and cold weather having retarded development. Of course over a large part of the recently flooded territory the seed is not yet up. Since growth began and until the close of the first week of May conditions were rather unfavorable, but our latest advices indicate that from about May 10 to the present time the weather has been quite uniformly satisfactory with the exception that up to within the past few days temperature at night has been below normal. The floods, cutworms, low temperature, &c., have rendered necessary a very large amount of replanting. Stands In the Yazoo Delta sufficient time has not yet elapsed for a stand to be secured, but elsewhere in the State stands are fairly good and constantly improving, recent good weather having bettered the outlook. Work of cultivation is being energetically prosecuted. Acreage—Despite the inundation the area under cotton has been increased this year, but the addition has been less great than at first expected, averaging for the whole State probably not more than 2 per cent. Fertilizers have been less freely used this season.

LOUISIANA.—While the overflow in Louisiana this year has not been so extensive as in Mississippi it has in other ways been more disastrous. Before the first break in the Louisiana levees occurred the flood had practically reached its height in Mississippi and the further crevasses in the lower line of levees served to accelerate the recession of the waters from the Yazoo Delta lands. Altogether something over a million acres of farm land in Louisiana have been submerged, of which, roughly speaking, about one-quarter has hitherto been devoted to cotton. From some portions of this area the water has not yet run off sufficiently to permit of planting. Elsewhere in the State seeding has been later in 1897 by about one week. Our correspondents report that the start was a poor one, cool weather and excessive precipitation interfering with satisfactory germination. These same conditions rendered necessary a greater amount of replanting than usual, aside from that entailed by the flood. Stands are reported poor in some districts and good in others, low temperature adversely affecting the plant. But since the 10th of May meteorological conditions have been more favorable and the situation has improved. Crops on overflowed territory are not considered in this summary, as planting will hardly be completed there before the middle of June. Acreage—More conservatism in planting is apparent this year in Louisiana than elsewhere in the South, and the extent to which submerged lands will be put in cotton has therefore very much to do in determining the problem of area. In view of the present uncertainty on that point and our returns from other sections, we estimate the area at only 2 per cent greater than last year. Fertilizers—We note a disposition toward a decreased use of commercial sorts this year. Home made manures show a small increase.

ARKANSAS.—This State has been somewhat more favorably situated than either Mississippi or Louisiana in the matter of overflowed cotton land. At the same time the inundation has been a serious one, involving upwards of a million acres of producing soil, including nearly a quarter million acres of cotton land. But the overflow in Arkansas subsided at an earlier date than elsewhere, enabling farmers to get in practically all their seed by the first of June. Speaking generally planting began in the earlier sections of the State shortly after the first of April, or a week later than last year, and, except as above stated, was completed between May 15 and 20. Our replies as to germination vary widely, some reporting well, some very well, and others poorly and very poorly. The weight of evidence is that the start was somewhat unsatisfactory and that development was checked by cold weather. Excess of moisture at times is also complained of. Cutworms, in addition to the other unfavorable features, have been responsible for an unusual amount of replanting. Our latest advices denote that since about the middle of May more satisfactory weather has brought about a change for the better in the plant, but that development is still very backward in consequence of low temperature at night. Stands where obtained are irregular, ranging from poor to good, but are improving under present favorable conditions. Fields are generally in good shape. Acreage has been increased; not to as great an extent as it would have been but for the flood and unfavorable weather conditions; still there has no doubt been an addition to previous area of fully 5 per cent. Fertilizers of home-made sorts have received a little more attention.

TENNESSEE.—Even Tennessee has suffered from the flood this year, but the submerged territory has been confined to four counties and embraces a comparatively small area of cotton lands. In almost the whole cotton-growing region planting was later this season than last, and Tennessee proved to be no exception. Work was not begun until near the 10th of April, and was not finished until near the 25th of May, or nearly two weeks behind 1896. The month of April and the first half of May were too cold and at times rather wet, and in consequence the start was somewhat uneven and unsatisfactory. In cases, however, seed is stated to have come up moderately well. Cutworms are reported to have damaged young plants, and for this reason as well as the unfavorable weather considerable re-seeding had to be done. Meteorological conditions turned more favorable about May 15, and in consequence stands, which at first were very irregular, are now fairly good and steadily improving. Fields are well cultivated. Acreage—The general tendency has been in the direction of a larger area this year, some localities reporting a radical addition. Conservatism in other districts, however, serves to keep the average gain for the State down to about 4 per cent. Fertilizers are not extensively used, but commercial sorts have been more freely availed of this year.

TEXAS.—There was no material difference in the planting season this year and last year, but the conditions since have not been so uniformly satisfactory. As a rule seed came up well—in fact, in a number of instances the start is stated to have been very good. But during April low temperature at night acted as a check to development. There were also complaints of excess of moisture from some localities and lack of it from others, and in South Texas cut and web worms and the Mexican weevil were reported. On the whole, however, there has been much less cause for complaint than elsewhere at the South, and since the beginning of May the conditions have in the main been favorable. Only a small amount of replanting has been found necessary. Stands range from fairly good to very good, and latest telegraphic advices indicate that the outlook is quite satisfactory. Cultivation has been well attended to and the fields are consequently in good condition. Acreage—With much virgin soil being put into crops each year, it is but natural that under normal circumstances cotton should receive a considerable portion of it. This year our replies indicate additions to area ranging all the way from 5 to 20 per cent, and after a careful review of them we are inclined to think that the average for the State is not less than 8 per cent. Fertilizers play an important part in the agriculture of Texas.

INDIAN TERRITORY AND OKLAHOMA.—The planting season in the Territories was a few days later than a year ago. Seed germinated poorly, low temperature acting as a checking influence. Furthermore, excessive rainfall has not been conducive to satisfactory development. These adverse conditions, in addition to working against the best interests of the plant, rendered necessary a much greater amount of replanting than is ordinarily the case—in some instances one-quarter of the crop. Of late the weather has been more favorable, but yet there has at times been too much rain as well as rather too low temperature at night. Stands, notwithstanding the above, are stated to be moderately good, but it is hardly to be expected that the plant is vigorous. Fields are quite clean. Acreage has been further added to, but the increase has not been so great as last year. It reaches, however, approximately 12 per cent. Fertilizers, not being required, are not used.

MISSOURI.—While the cotton section of Missouri is limited, being confined to the southeastern portion of the State, it was to a considerable extent affected by the overflow of the Mississippi River. Every county in which the staple is raised was inundated more or less and planting operations were delayed. On some recently submerged land seed is only just now coming up; but aside from this the start has been fairly satisfactory. Cold and wet weather have adversely affected the plant at times, but subsequent better weather has brought about improvement and development now is fairly satisfactory. About the usual amount of replanting has been required. Stands where secured are good, but much cotton has not yet reached a stand. Acreage has undergone no change. Fertilizers are hardly ever used.

As of interest in connection with the foregoing conclusions and summaries, we append a table showing the approximate yield per acre in each State for a series of years past. The figures are prepared on the basis of our own acreage and crop results, and while not claimed to be accurate are compiled as carefully as the facts attainable will permit.

Monetary and Commercial English News

LONDON, SATURDAY, May 29, 1897.

[From our own correspondent.]

Nothing is yet known regarding the negotiations going on at Constantinople. It is understood that Germany at first objected to certain portions of the collective note proposed to be addressed by the Powers to the Sultan, and that she has now waived her objections, chiefly at the instance of the Czar. The general impression is that the negotiations will be protracted, that the Sultan will try to play off one Power against another, trusting chiefly to the protection of Germany, but that in the long run he will give way. Moreover, he knows that all the Powers are anxious to prevent any further hostilities and he has good reason to believe that Russia is most unwilling to quarrel with him.

On the other hand, the Sultan is aware how easy it would be to stir up religious feeling among the Russian people on behalf of the Greek Christians, and above all he fears assassination more than anything else. Consequently he is exceedingly jealous and suspicious of successful military men, and does not wish to give either Edhem Pasha or Shazi Osman an opportunity further to distinguish themselves. The belief therefore is general throughout Europe that after spinning out negotiations as long as possible he will give way in the end.

As regards Greece there is expected to be some difficulty likewise. This country is bent upon protecting Greece to the utmost, and is exceedingly unwilling to join in any form of coercion. The whole French people equally sympathize with Greece, and so do the Italians. The Greeks are well aware of this, and the fear is that they will trust to their foreign sympathizers to protect them from the consequences and will refuse, at first at all events, the terms settled for them by the Powers. But the belief is general that in the long run Greece also will have to give way. Still, it is feared the negotiations will last a good while.

Respecting the negotiations between this country and the Transvaal, nothing definite is known. It is believed, and there appears to be good authority for it, that the French Government has advised the Transvaal to settle as quickly as it can with this country, for if it refuses all concessions European feeling will be with England. It is also stated on what appears to be good authority that the German Government has plainly intimated to the Transvaal that however strong its sympathies may be, it is not prepared to give material assistance. Further, it is known that President Steyn, of the Orange Free State, openly condemns the Transvaal Government for refusing all concessions, pointing out that in the Free State British and Boers live upon the most amicable terms. The feeling of the Free State Raad is even stronger than that of the President as it has shown by two remarkable votes just given, one refusing to restrict the franchise and the other rejecting the proposed Immigration Bill. These two votes are believed to have made a very strong impression upon President Krüger.

Lastly, the Opposition in the Cape Parliament say that the present Cape Government has undertaken to support the Crown with troops and to pay half the cost of the operations if the Crown judges it necessary to interfere. A motion has been introduced forbidding such an agreement to be made without the approval of Parliament. The general impression is that the demonstrations thus being made by all the self-governing States around him, whether Boer or British, have convinced President Krüger that he has been pursuing a dangerous policy, and that it is time to come to a friendly settlement. Here in London the wish for a friendly arrangement is almost universal. Even Mr. Chamberlain, who is so generally accused of jingo sentiment, is really being urged far beyond what he would like to do by South African pressure.

Owing to all this the feeling in the city is very hopeful, and the expectation that the large crowds which will visit London during the Queen's Jubilee celebration will spend so much money here that the trading classes will be able to invest exceptionally large sums, adds to the optimistic feeling.

There is somewhat more speculation in American securities but the general public is holding aloof. According to all appearances there will be little investment until, at all events, the tariff bill is settled in one way or another. While it is under discussion people argue that trade cannot revive, and that therefore there is plenty of time to look out for good purchases.

In South American securities there is also little doing. Numerous commercial failures are reported from Buenos Ayres and the other large Argentine cities consequent upon the inability of dealers in the interior to pay what they owe to importing merchants. In Uruguay the insurrection still drags on. In Brazil the Fanatic movement has not been put down, and in Chili there is much depression.

The news from Australia, too, is unfavorable, as the colonies are threatened with a third year of drought. And though the monsoon rains have begun in India, which gives rise to the hope that the growing crops will be fairly good, the numbers on the famine relief works are increasing, as they naturally would increase at this season.

The chief activity on the Stock Exchange during the week has been in gold, diamond and copper shares. The Stock Exchange settlement, which began on Monday morning and ended on Thursday evening, shows that the large bear account which existed, especially in South African shares, has been nearly closed during the past fortnight. There is, however, very little bull account open. Here and there, carrying over rates were charged at from 5 to 8 per cent, but brokers in the largest way of business in the market say that the amount to be carried over was very small and that the rates were raised artificially. Indeed, in many cases while rates of 7 per cent were charged in the morning, they fell before the day was over to 3 per cent. At all events the Stock Exchange itself is very confident that the bull account is small and that the industry is in a better state than it ever was before, since the depression of over a year and a-half has compelled directors and managers to economize in every way possible. They argue, therefore, that if President Kruger makes reasonable concessions, we shall see a very great increase of activity in the early future.

Money continues cheap and abundant, although the demand for gold for Russia and Austria has again become large this week. It is believed here that the gold shipped from New York is going for the most part to Austria, while the gold which is being bought in London in the open market is chiefly going to St. Petersburg. The Japanese demand is less than it was, though doubtless it will spring up again when the new loan has been subscribed. There is not much demand either for France or Germany.

The silver market is weak and the India Council is not selling its drafts very well. The Council has to pay every year in London for what is technically called the "Home Charges", between 16 and 17 millions sterling. Last year it endeavored to obtain by sales of its drafts 10½ millions sterling, but actually obtained a million less. This year it recognized that it could not sell all that it required. Therefore it cut down to 13 millions sterling the amount to be realized by sales, and decided upon borrowing 3½ millions sterling in London, which it has successfully done. During the first six weeks of the current financial year it has sold very little more than 30 lacs per week, and now it has decided to reduce the amount offered to 30 lacs next week, which will probably be the maximum offered for the next three or four months. It looks, therefore, as if the Council will have to sell from the beginning of November to the end of March about 50 lacs per week, and probably more, if it is to realize the 13 millions sterling wanted. Those best acquainted with the market doubt very strongly whether it can do so, but of course November is too far away to enable anybody to speak confidently. The probability at present, however, seems to be that the Council will have to borrow again before the end of March.

The "Railway News" of London reports the traffic receipts for the week ending May 23 of 55 railways of the United Kingdom which make weekly returns at £ 663,441, against £1,738,506 in the corresponding week of last year, a decrease of £99,665. For the twenty-one weeks of the current half-year receipts were £32,475,969, an increase of £559,268.

—The seventy-ninth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Montreal was held in Montreal last Monday, and an account of the proceedings is published on other pages of this issue. The Bank of Montreal, with its forty or more agencies, is one of the largest fiscal institutions in Canada, and we note with pleasure that the results of the year have permitted the usual distribution of semi-annual dividends of five per cent on the $12,000,000 of stock. In addition to the surplus of $6,000,000, a balance of $896,909 is carried forward to the credit of profit and loss account. In the absence of Sir Donald A. Smith, the President of the Bank, who has gone to England as the representative of Canada at the Queen's Jubilee, the chair was occupied by Hon. G. O. A. Drummond, the Vice-President. The remarks of Mr. Drummond and of General Manager Mr. Clouston touch on commercial and financial subjects of general interest.

—The Knickerbocker Trust Co. has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent from the net earnings on the capital stock of the company, payable July 1. Transfer books will close June 21 and reopen July 2.

—Mr. F. J. Lisman advertises in another column a very interesting and extensive list of bonds for which he is desirous of obtaining bids.

E. S. CLOUSTON, General Manager.

BANK OF MONTREAL,

THE GENERAL MANAGER.

Mr. Clouston, said: Referring to the balance sheet submitted to you at this meeting, there are several important changes which it may be as well to give some explanation of. In fact, the figures without an explanation would convey a wrong impression. The first change of any importance is an increase of $3,701,000 in deposits not bearing interest. This is nearly all of a temporary character, caused chiefly by Government deposits, and will probably disappear before long. In deposits bearing interest there is a large increase of $3,916,000. Aside from the steady increase in our Savings Bank Deposits, there are some special amounts here which also lack permanency. I cannot say that, however, at present regard with any great degree of pleasure the increase in this item, particularly when they, like ourselves, are obliged to lend it abroad at a nominal rate. Our cash reserves have increased $411,000, a small amount proportionately for the increase in liabilities, but as we are so strong in immediately available resources elsewhere, it is a matter of little moment. There is an increase of $2,610,000 in the amount due us by agents in Great Britain, which is an immediately available asset, though not a very paying one at present rates. The appearance of the item in the statement of Dominion and Provincial Government securities is due chiefly to an operation in the bonds of this province and will very likely not remain there long. Our United States Railway Bonds have increased $887,000. This item constantly changes, as we are active dealers in them, and frequent participants with other banks in bond issues. Our loans have increased $1,956,000, principally from a desire on the part of the business community to pay duties in anticipation of a prospective change in the tariff, partly also from a general expansion in our business. Our debts, secured and unsecured, have increased $135,826, not a very large sum considering the trying year we have just completed. The same remark applies to our profits, which show a falling off of $10,635.

Altogether you will admit we are in an exceptionally strong financial position, but not one in which we can make much profit with the present low value of money in foreign markets. In fact, each succeeding year seems to increase the difficulty of maintaining our profits, and when, in addition, we are obliged to provide for the shrinkage in values naturally resulting from the prolonged depression in business, it is almost a matter of surprise that we are able to appear before you with so good a statement as the present.

It has been said that, like Joseph's kine, bankers have seven fat years and seven lean ones, and it ought to be about time for the lean ones to cease, for, since the Baring crisis in 1890, the world has experienced a succession of financial shocks and disasters without parallel in its history, partly the natural result of business depression through over-trading, over-manufacturing, and other causes, but part of it forced on the financial world by those who should have been the buttresses between it and harm. Whether we are through with them, time only can tell. With the settlement of the European question, which seems probable, at least temporarily, and the adjournment of the legislative bodies here and in the United States, the business community may have a chance of taking breath and commencing another struggle to attain prosperity. In the United States there are signs of the sunshine breaking through the clouds, and a particularly bright gleam was Secretary Gage's statement the other day that the present administration was determined, once the tariff was out of the way, to take up the question of placing the currency of the country on a sound basis. With our large interests in the United States we naturally give them our heartiest sympathies to any effort in that direction.

Canada has fortunately been comparatively free from financial heresies, and to that we owe in a large measure our comparative immunity from the troubles which have agitated the neighboring country during the last few years.

In Canada the future is still shrouded in uncertainty. The past year has been very disappointing, a year of increasing business depression, full of unsettling incidents, and there have been a considerable number of failures. More will have to follow unless some improvement takes place this year. The position, so far as I can read it, is this, and it seems to me a very delicate one:—Any further depression, coming on a community already weakened by a long fight against adverse circumstances will precipitate a very serious state of affairs, worse than anything we have yet had to encounter. On the other hand a settlement of the tariff with a due regard to established interests, a good crop with fair prices, lenient treatment and judicious assistance meantime to those in business, may yet make this year the beginning of a prosperous cycle. The position is not by any means hopeless. Crop prospects are good in the Northwest, fair in Ontario, though backward in Quebec. Mineral development still continues in the West and is adding daily to the wealth of the country. Though our lumber trade with the United States is not in a satisfactory position, our trade with England is good. The manufacture of pulp promises to grow into a most important and valuable industry, for in this country we have unlimited quantities of the finest raw material in the world, with magnificent water power and reasonable labor. The cheese and butter trade promises to be a large one, and we appear to be on the eve of a large development in our bacon and ham trade. Negotiations, judging from the newspapers, are practically completed to build a railway into the British Columbia mining region. This of itself will be almost sufficient to start the hands of the commercial barometer towards fair weather. The position is not by any means hopeless, but requires careful treatment and all the encouragement that can be given.

If there are any questions from the Shareholders, I will have much pleasure in replying to them.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT.

Honorable George A. Drummond, said: I trust that the Shareholders of the Bank of Montreal will agree with the Directors in considering the results of the year's business as satisfactory, and in view of the times as eminently creditable to the General Manager and staff. The stagnation due to the prevailing distrust and uncertainty which we have had to chronicle for several years past still prevails. Doubts as to the character of impending tariff legislation produced an unsatisfactory state of business during the winter months, and anxieties on this score still exist. The victory of the sound money contest in the United States failed to re-establish confidence, as the successful side set itself to a readjustment of the tariff before dealing with the currency. On both sides of the line, therefore, similar causes of an unsettling character exist, and it may without dispute be asserted that no more potent influence is to be found to retard the investment of capital and delay the progress of the country than frequent changes in its fiscal policy. The battle of sound money against heresies of various kinds in the United States, which late events would appear to have settled, we are assured is only postponed. We are even promised a transfer of its malign influence to our own country. Should these prognostications have any solid foundation, the end of our bad times can scarcely be said to be in sight. Every reflective man, must, I think, have arrived at the conclusion that we and our neighbors to the south have too much law-making constantly going on, and the conviction is forced upon me that men of business are far too much disposed to abandon the political duties of every citizen to those less occupied with affairs than themselves, with the result, which might be expected, that they only awake to a feverish period of indignant and anxious remonstrance when they find their interests imperilled by legislation which might have been prevented at an earlier stage. Statesmen of all parties deplore the absence of men of weight and experience in finance, commerce and trade from the ranks of those available as originators of the commercial legislation of the country. It is matter of common experience that a sense of relief is felt in the great centres of the country during the brief intervals when no active law-making is going on. If these things be so, it follows that the business of legislation is every man's business, and that it is false economy to shirk a painstaking participation in the work of legislation.

No law of importance affecting this institution, or banks generally, has been passed, or, as far as I am able to judge, is likely to pass this session. One act concerning interest was introduced, which most certainly would have brought about far-reaching consequences and most inconvenient results, but it has been withdrawn and another bill substituted to which little objection can be offered. I am bound to say that the original bill was an honest attempt to deal with the gross evils of usury by individuals, but its withdrawal is just another example of the difficulty of striking those without disturbing the wholly beneficial operations of regulated banking.

While the Bank of Montreal conducts its affairs with a weighty sense of its responsibility as an institution with which the credit and financial stability of the country is intimately bound up, it at the same time fully recognizes the fact that any policy of finality or lack of enterprise is inseparably and surely one of decay and decadence, and the Shareholders will, I trust, approve the progress made in the extensions of the year. The branch at St. John's, Newfoundland, is solidly established there, and while a valuable branch to the Bank, has received a large measure of popular support and confidence, and is, I trust, of use both to the Government and the commercial community of that province. The great mining district of British Columbia has also received the attention of the Bank, and agencies have been opened at New Denver, Nelson, Rossland and Vernon.

The great mineral wealth of British Columbia has been proved by the discovery and development of many valuable mines. The abundance of fuel, labor and water and the facilities for transport in that Province should enable this portion of the Dominion to compete in the economical production of the precious metals on favorable terms compared with any other known mining district in the world, but I would deprecate in the strongest terms the reckless spirit of gambling which prompts investment in unproved properties. Such properties should not be taken on any other basis of valuation than the chance that they may turn out of no value whatever. Fortunately, the number of proved and valuable properties is already sufficiently great to place the enormous mineral wealth of the Province beyond all question, and the fact must be matter of congratulation to every one.

Last season crops were expected to be only fair. It was known that in Manitoba and Northwest Territories the area sown was less than in 1895, but the crop was harvested in good condition, and, owing to the advance in the price of wheat, probably realized as much as the crop of the preceding year. In Ontario, on the contrary, drought prevailed to the serious detriment of the crops of all kinds. In Quebec and the Maritime Provinces coarse grains and hay were a good crop. For the present year it may be said that in Manitoba and the Northwest things never looked better, and the area under wheat is large. In Ontario everything looks well, though reports of injury to fruit from local frosts come from various quarters, but are evidently not important. In Quebec the scarcity of snow last winter unquestionably killed some pasture, but the copious rains, which appear to retard vegetation now, will unquestionably, if good weather now comes, go far to secure a good yield of the staple productions, hay and coarse grains.

The prospects of the shipping trade are generally fair. Over five million bushels of grain were cleared from this port in May, and freight engagements up to August and September are reported, which is almost unprecedented. It is reported also that rates are as good as last year. In lumber, trade with Great Britain has been in actual shipments and engagements fully 50 per cent in excess of last year, while the dread of advanced Customs duty by the United States has stimulated shipments to that country by rail and water.

The facilities for handling butter and other products by cold storage, both on land and sea, promise to revolutionize the trade, and may, if due care be taken to secure a uniform and good quality in our staple products, be of immense service to this country.

I trust I may be absolved from blame if I make a departure from the strictly business character of our annual meetings. If somewhat exceptional, the circumstances are not less so. I consider my duty would be imperfectly performed if no reference were made to the approaching celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of Her Majesty's accession to the throne. It seems to be a matter of congratulation that Canada will on this occasion be represented in London by a gentleman so intimately connected with this Bank, and so well qualified to do justice to the interests of Canada, as Sir Donald Smith, the High Commissioner. Every member of both political parties will gladly agree that in Mr. Laurier the representation of Canada will not suffer in comparison with any other portion of the Empire, either in character or great qualities. The occasion is one which in the very nature of things is extremely unlikely ever to recur, and may well be celebrated with enthusiasm and rejoicing wherever the name of England is known. Sentiment has no place in the administration of a bank, but sentiment, nevertheless, on occasion given, brushes aside all personal interests, and rules with overpowering force the individual and the nation alike. It sets fleets and armies in motion, and sways the destinies of whole races of men and the mightiest empires. Glorifying as we do in the achievements of the great people of which we form a part, and in their history which is our history, we can approach our beloved sovereign with heartfelt congratulations undiminished by distance in intensity or sincerity. We can recall with just pride that during Her Majesty's reign the population of the British Isles has increased nearly one half, and the Empire, in area and population, more than doubled, while its commerce has more than trebled. These salient facts can escape the observation of no one, but it may not be unfitting to recall features not less important, but like the victories of peace often less regarded. During her beneficent reign, the advances in all that make for the well-being of every class of her subjects have been beyond all precedent in the past. Cruel and unjust laws have been repealed, freedom of speech has disarmed and banished sedition, and the products of every clime have been laid under tribute to minister to the comforts and material enjoyment of the masses. The sick and the wounded poor are systematically tended with zeal and loving care, which is aimed against disease and pain and death by scientific discoveries mightier than all previous ages of the world can parallel. Preventable disease has been grappled with and the span of human life prolonged. The bonds of the slave the world over have fallen, and wherever the British flag flies, there is proclaimed the reign of liberty, of law and settled right. Mighty forces of nature have been impressed into the service of man. Steam and electricity have annihilated time and space, the ocean has been bridged, the desert smoothed and the dark places of the earth are daily growing less. Can we, therefore, hesitate to give our heartfelt and loyal congratulations to our beloved sovereign, with loving admiration for her life and work, for her unwavering devotion to the onerous duties of her station, for her unflinching courage, her steadfast adherence to constitutional rule, her unrivalled personal influence among the sovereigns of Europe, above all for a life given to all that is noble and just and good. God save the Queen.

THE DISCUSSION.

Mr. John Morrison, in rising to speak on the report, referred to the death of Mr. J. H. R. Molson, whom he spoke of as a man of a quiet and retiring disposition, who did not take the part in civic or political life that his abilities eminently fitted him for. They must all feel, even those who were only slightly acquainted with him, that they had lost, in his death, a personal friend.

The chairman moved, seconded by Mr. Hugh McLennan, "That the report of the Directors now read be adopted and printed for distribution among the shareholders."

Mr. John Crawford spoke in favor of the shareholders being made acquainted with the gross profits and gross losses, and stated that the banks in England and some other portions of the British Empire were obliged by their constitution to give the gross receipts. He suggested two ways of increasing the dividends: 1, by economy in the internal management of the bank, if that were possible; 2, by paying smaller interest on the enormous deposits. He advocated the payment of quarterly dividends, and considered that the Banking Act should be amended in regard to the election of bank directors, who should hold office by rotation for a stated term. He desired that the Directors would consider this, and went on to say that the failure of many of our institutions would not have taken place if there had been rotation on the part of the Directors. When gentlemen were elected year after year, they were apt to get into a groove from which it was almost impossible for them to extricate themselves. The rotation system would obviate this, and would be a stimulus to each Director to thoroughly qualify himself for the position of President.

The Chairman—On behalf of the Board I would reply to two or three points on which Mr. Crawford touched. As to our not stating the gross profits and enabling every shareholder to estimate what the losses have been and how they came about, that has been threshed out pretty fully previously and I do not think that I need touch upon it. I have not changed my views on the matter and I see that he has not changed his. With regard to the last point on which he touched, the compulsory retirement of a portion of the Board and rotation of management, I think there is a great distinction to be drawn between the management of such an institution as the Bank of Montreal and some other institutions in which the service is of a more perfunctory character. I admit that in some institutions it has been absolutely requisite to make changes, and I myself have advocated the matter most strenuously, because the institutions, under the continuous control of one class of minds, had got into a condition of dry rot. In some institutions in this city the principle of rotation was introduced to the greatest possible advantage. But in the Bank of Montreal I can certify that the Directors give a painstaking attention to their duties, and after a while the experience they gain makes them more valuable to the Bank and more valuable to the remainder of the Board. This would be lost if their connection with the institution were abruptly terminated at a certain period. In the management of a bank you must have men who are actively engaged in business. If you want really valuable opinion upon current events in the business world, you must have men not only of past experience, but of present contact with business. If you look over the business community in this city you will see that the number of men eligible to the post of management of the Bank of Montreal, and who are at the same time shareholders, is vastly limited. Nearly every one that possesses the requisite capacity is engaged in some other bank, and it is a delicate matter to invite a Director of another Bank to abandon that Bank and come to us. The choice is, therefore, extremely limited, and the suggestion would have to be very carefully considered before it was adopted, at least heartily by myself, for one. I do not know that Mr. Crawford is absolutely right with regard to any large majority of the English Banks declaring their gross profits and losses in their annual statements. On the contrary, I am inclined to think that some of the largest do not. However, that may be, it would be in the highest degree inconvenient for this institution, which possesses over forty agencies between the Atlantic and the Pacific. If such a system were adopted, a large proportion of the results would have to be taken by guess-work, for it takes the great part of a month to receive the reports from the various agencies, and in the final adjustment of accounts for the year and the declaration of a dividend, the last month has to be taken by estimate. This has to be done for two reasons: 1, Our dividend is declared some time in advance; 2, the final examination of the accounts from the various agencies is not to hand. Therefore, if you had quarterly dividends, they would be true as regarded two months out of the three; they would be guessed in the third. I think, apart from any other cause, that it would be a dangerous, if not an impolitic thing to consider quarterly dividends. I can only say that the Directors have strained every effort to conduct the Bank with due regard to economy, and I am satisfied that it is so conducted.

The General Manager, in reply to Mr. Crawford's remark that all the English Banks gave a statement of their working expenses, said that he did not think that the Bank of England did so, and that he had before him a statement of the National Provincial Bank of England, one of the largest Banks in England, which certainly does not give such information.

The motion for the adoption of the report was then agreed to unanimously.

VOTES OF THANKS.

Mr. Hector Mackenzie moved:—

That the thanks of the meeting be presented to the President, Vice-President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Bank.

This was seconded by Mr. F. T. Judah, and adopted.

Mr. W. W. Ogilvie moved:—

That the thanks of the meeting be given to the General Manager, the Inspector, the managers and other officers of the Bank for their services during the past year.

In supplementing the motion, Mr. Ogilvie remarked that he had occasion to meet the officers of the Bank frequently, and he had always admired their loyalty to the institution. He thought that the Bank had reason to be proud of its officers.

Mr. E. B. Greenshields seconded the motion, and added his testimony to what Mr. Ogilvie had said as to the loyalty and ability of the officers of the Bank.

The motion was unanimously concurred in.

The General Manager—I have to thank you, on behalf of the officers, for the very kind way in which you have spoken of their services to the Bank. I have to regret the loss this year of two good men, Mr. Brough, of Toronto, and Mr. Plummer, of Stratford, both very valuable men, whose loss I feel very severely.

Mr. Alex. Mitchell moved:—

That the ballot now open for the election of directors be kept open until three o'clock, unless fifteen minutes elapse without a vote being cast, when it shall be closed, and until that time, and for that purpose only, this meeting be continued.

This was seconded by Mr. F. H. Simms and unanimously carried.

On the motion of Mr. John Morrison, seconded by Mr. John Crawford, a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the chairman.

THE DIRECTORS.

The ballot resulted in the election of the following gentlemen: R. B. Angus, Esq.; Hon. G. A. Drummond; A. F. Gault, Esq.; E. B. Greenshields, Esq.; W. C. McDonald, Esq.; Hugh McLennan, Esq.; W. W. Ogilvie, Esq.; A. F. Paterson, Esq.; Sir D. A. Smith, G. C. M. G.

The President and Vice-President will in the ordinary course of business be elected at to-day's meeting of the Board of Directors.

WALL STREET, FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1897-5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—While almost nothing new has transpired during the week to affect the sentiment which prevails in Wall Street, the trend of affairs having a direct influence upon the future business situation has been chiefly in the right direction. Most prominent of these affairs is the tariff bill, with which a reasonable progress has been made, and the probability of an early passage of the measure has increased.

Next in order, and possibly first in importance in stimulating the optimism which is increasing in financial circles, is the expectation that before the extra session of Congress closes a currency commission will be appointed, and thus the first step towards correcting the greatest hindrance to substantial prosperity will have been taken.

The better feeling referred to is shown in a broadening market and higher prices for securities of all classes at the Stock Exchange. The new Government 4s have sold this week at the highest prices yet recorded for them, and offerings of railroad bonds have been readily absorbed. With the low rates of discount now ruling abroad, investments are receiving more attention there and purchases for the foreign account are increasing in this market. No gold has been exported thus far this week but $260,000 has been engaged for shipment to-morrow.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1 to 1½ per cent. To-day's rates on call were 1 to 1¼ per cent. Prime commercial paper is quoted at 8 to 4 per cent.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £214,071 and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 50.55, the same as last week; the discount rate remains unchanged at 2 per cent. The Bank of France shows an increase of 1,000,000 francs in gold and a decrease of 2,500,000 francs in silver.

The New York City Clearing-House banks in their statement of June 5 showed an increase in the reserve held of $118,500 and a surplus over the required reserve of $15,320,825, against $46,616,160 the previous week.

Foreign Exchange.—Dulness has been the chief feature of the foreign exchange market during this week. It is reported that the supply of grain bills is slightly increasing. Rates are unchanged.

To-day's actual rates of exchange were as follows: Bankers, sixty days' sterling, 4 85½ @ 4 86; demand, 4 87 @ 4 87½; cables, 4 87½ @ 4 87½.

Fixed rates of leading bankers follow:

United States Bonds.—The market for Government bonds has been dull but firm. Sales at the Board were limited to $23,000 4s. reg., 1907, at 110½ to 110¾; $4,000 4s. coup., 1907, at 112½, and $10,000 4s. coup., 1925, at 121½ to 124½. Following are closing quotations:

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $1,000 Alabama Class B at 106½. The market for railway bonds has responded to the evidences of reviving prosperity, which are daily becoming more pronounced, by increased activity, advancing prices and a broadening tendency. The supply of high-grade bonds is not equal to the demand and the market is practically bare of this class of securities. The most marked advance in the active list is noted in Fort Worth & Denver City and Oregon Short Line & Utah Northern issues, which amounts to 3½ and 4 per cent respectively. Central of New Jersey general 5s have made a further advance of 1¼ per cent. Erie prior lien 4s, general lien 3s, Northern Pacific general lien 3s, Oregon Railway & Navigation, Reading general 4s and Texas & Pacific 1sts are on the list of bonds which have advanced 1 per cent or more. In addition to the above the active list includes Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, Erie, Missouri Kansas & Texas, Burlington & Quincy, Rock Island, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Mobile & Ohio, Oregon Short Line, Rio Grande Western, St. Louis & San Francisco, San Antonio & Aransas Pass, St. Paul Minn. & Manitoba, Southern Railway and Wabash bonds, several of which have advanced nearly one per cent.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—An increased activity has developed in the stock market this week, which bears evidence that interest in Stock Exchange transactions is not confined so exclusively to Board Room traders as it has recently been. Stocks of all classes have continued to advance, notwithstanding the vigorous and persistent efforts of the bear element to bring about a reaction, and in some cases, including Burlington & Quincy, Rock Island, Northern Pacific preferred, Reading, American Sugar, Chicago Gas, National Lead and a few less important stocks, the highest prices of the year have been recorded.

First dividends on the reorganized Oregon Railroad & Nav. and St. Louis & San Francisco first preferred shares have given prominence to these heretofore inactive stocks. The course of the coal stocks has changed, as was noted at the close last week. On Thursday Central of New Jersey sold at 80½, a gain of 8 points within a week. At the same time Delaware & Hudson and Lackawanna had advanced 3 and 3½ points respectively and the upward movement has continued to-day. Manhattan Elevated was strengthened by a declaration of the regular dividend.

Some of the internationally listed stocks have been largely dealt in, and Louisville & Nashville, Northern Pacific preferred and Southern Railway preferred have advanced from 1¼ to 4 per cent under the movement.

Of the miscellaneous list American Sugar has been most conspicuous, and advanced over 8 points on an active demand, stimulated by tariff prospects. Western Union gained 3 per cent on the issuance of its favorable quarterly report, and the announcement of the regular dividend. American Tobacco, General Electric, Tenn. Coal & Iron Railway, National Lead and United States Leather preferred have advanced an average of nearly 3 per cent.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

STREET RAILWAYS AND TRACTION COMPANIES.

The following table shows the gross earnings for the latest period of all STREET railways from which we are able to obtain weekly or monthly returns. The arrangement of the table is the same as that for the steam roads—that is, the first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the calendar year from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—The following table gives the returns of STREET railway gross and net earnings received this week. In reporting these net earnings for the street railways, we adopt the same plan as that for the steam roads—that is, we print each week all the returns received that week, but once a month (on the third or the fourth Saturday) we bring together all the roads furnishing returns, and the latest statement of this kind will be found in the CHRONICLE of May 22, 1897. The next will appear in the issue of June 19, 1897.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry.—Sale of Bonds.—The company has sold $3,000,000 of its general mortgage 4 per cent bonds to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. The proceeds will defray the cost of putting the Atlantic & Pacific and other portions of the system in first-class condition.—V. 64, p. 950.

Atchisoa Topeka & Santa Fe Ry.—Southern Pacific Co.—Exchange of Lines.—It is expected that the Sonora Ry., in Mexico, and the New Mexico & Arizona R.R., in Arizona, will be turned over to the Southern Pacific Company in July in exchange for the line from Mojave to the Needles in California. In the CHRONICLE of March 27 particulars were given.—V. 64, p. 950, 1041.

Boston Elevated RR.—Bill Signed.—The bill chartering this company was signed by the Governor of Massachusetts on Thursday. The act provides that the West End Street Railway may be leased, and this lease will include the new subway, now nearing completion. The elevated road must be built within three years (see V. 64, p. 329), upon the locations originally asked for, and thereafter the Aldermen may grant additional locations. The bill provides for an extensive system of free transfers.

The clause prohibiting the reduction of fares during a period of 25 years states that "such toll or fare shall not, without the consent of said corporation, be so reduced as to yield, with all other earnings and income of said corporation except the income of the funds deposited with the Treasurer of the Commonwealth as required by this Act and by the Transit Act of 1894, a net divisible income, after paying all expenses of operation, interest, taxes, rentals and other lawful charges, and after charging off a proper amount for depreciation, of less than 8 per centum on the outstanding capital stock of said corporation actually paid in in cash."—V. 64, p. 329.

Brooklyn Elevated RR.—Deposits under Plan.—The following shows the total issue of the various securities and the amount of each deposited:

Brooklyn Elevated 1st 6s issued, $3,500,000: deposited, $3,262,000; 2d mortgage 5s issued, $1,250,000: deposited, $1,216,000.

Union Elevated 1st 6s issued, $6,150,000; deposited, $5,721,000; 2d mortgage income 5s issued, $3,063,000.

Brooklyn Elevated stock issued, $13,283,600; deposited, $6,867,250.—V. 64, p. 1088.

Brooklyn & Staten Island Ferry Co.—Incorporation.—This company was incorporated at Albany, N. Y., on June 2, with a capital stock of $10,000, to operate a ferry between Brooklyn and the east shore of Staten Island. The Brooklyn "Eagle" says:

Under the better development of the park and boulevard system of the city there are piles of fine roads which converge in the immediate neighborhood of Fort Hamilton. Hundreds of bicyclers make use of these roads every day. It seems that from these two sources there ought to be sufficient patronage to make an economically conducted ferry a profitable investment. In addition there would be the travel from Staten Island to the shopping district of Brooklyn and to the amusement centres.

The directors are Frank T. Brown, William L. Bones, Edward J. Cunningham, Melad E. Stone and Hugh Roberts.

Centralla & Chester RR.—Receiver Appointed.—On Monday, in the U. S. Circuit Court at Springfield, O., Judge Allen appointed C. M. Foreman, of Nashville, Ill., receiver of this road, on application of the Missouri Car & Foundry Company of St. Louis. The road is represented as being insolvent, with unpaid claims and judgments aggregating $135,000, and with no funds with which to pay the semi-annual interest due July 1. The Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., N. Y., is trustee of the mortgage.—V. 62, p. 987.

Central Crosstown RR. (N. Y. City).—Metropolitan Street Ry.—Crosstown Directors Elected.—Control of the Crosstown road was recently acquired in the interest of the Metropolitan, and at the annual meeting this week the following Crosstown directors were elected: W. C. Whitney, Thomas F. Ryan, John D. Crimmins, John D. Crimmins, Jr., Pierre Jay, Thomas Regan, D. H. Shea, H. H. Hollister, George G. Haven, Jr., and J. S. Barnes.—V. 64, p. 1042.

Chicago Gas.—Bills Signed.—The Gas Consolidation bill and the Frontage bill, referred to in these columns last week, have been signed by the Governor of Illinois and go into effect July 1.—V. 64, p. 1,088.

Chicago Terminal Transfer RR.—Chicago & Northern Pacific RR.—New Company Incorporated.—The Chicago Terminal Transfer RR. was incorporated at Springfield, Ill., on June 4, with a capital stock of $9,000,000. This company succeeds to the property of the Chicago & Northern Pacific RR., under the reorganization plan given in the CHRONICLE of May 8, pages 888 and 898.

The company is authorized in its articles of incorporation to acquire or build certain lines of railway, the description of which covers all the present lines of the old Chicago & Northern Pacific and Calumet companies and extensions of these lines to the boundary of the State of Illinois.

The first board of directors is: A. L. Hopkins, Charles H. Coater, Fred. T. Gates, Edward D. Adams, Henry Budge, Alfred S. Heidelberg, Colgate Hoyt, Samuel R. Ainslie, Kemper K. Knapp, Henry S. Hawley, Edward Shearson, Frederick E. Paradis, Edward R. Kuowltow, Mark Breedin, Jr., and William S. Mallette.

Certificates of Proprietary Inter. st Listed.—The Governing Committee of the N. Y. Stock Exchange this week ordered that United States Trust Co. certificates of proprietary interest in the securities of this company to the amount of $31,855,000 be admitted to the list from time to time as issued. The engraved certificates will not be ready for two or three weeks. These certificates are for $1,000 each, and each one represents the ownership of $400 of new first mortgage gold 4s of the Transfer RR., $500 of the preferred stock and $400 of the common stock. The securities themselves are deliverable on December 31, 1897.—V. 61, p. 1000.

Columbus Sandusky & Hocking RR.—Receivers' Certificates.—An application for $200,000 receivers' certificates has been made to take care of the $18,000 monthly requirement for car trust payments, and to meet the interest on the Zanesville and the Columbus terminal bonds and other necessary purposes. The coupon due April 1 on the $690,000 outstanding prior lien bonds was not paid, but bought. There has been no default in the interest due on the two terminal mortgages.—V. 64, p. 1088.

Detroit & Lima Northern Ry.—Lima Northern Ry.—Consolidation.—The Lima Northern Railway has been consolidated with the Detroit & Lima Northern under the name of the latter. The road extends from Lima, Ohio, to Tecumseh, Mich., 104 miles, and has trackage rights into Detroit over the Wabash. The capitalization of the new company is $2,700,000 stock and an authorized issue of five per cent bonds at $15,000 a mile, including equipment, and $300,000 for Detroit terminals. The arrangement with the Wabash will make it unnecessary at present to acquire other terminals at Detroit. The reported acquisition of the Cincinnati Jackson & Mackinaw has not yet been consummated.—V. 64, p. 799.

Galveston Harrisburg & San Antonio Ry.—Houston & Texas Central RR.—Judgment in Favor of State.—The Court of Civil Appeals in Texas has affirmed a judgment for about $1,250,000 in favor of the State of Texas against the Galveston Harrisburg & San Antonio and the Houston & Texas Central. The claim is for moneys borrowed from the State school fund before the war and which the railroad companies say were repaid. The case will be carried to the Supreme Court of Texas.—V. 62, 456; V. 64, p. 707.

Georgia RR. & Banking Co.—Payment of 6s Due July 1.—Notice is given that the $1,000,000 of 6 per cent bonds due July 1 will be paid on and after that date at the Guaranty Trust Co., of New York, 65 Cedar Street. The coupons due July 1 will be paid as usual at the American Exchange National Bank, New York, or at Augusta, Ga. An issue of $1,000,000 of 5 per cent twenty-five-year bonds was sold to refund the amount falling due July 1.—V. 64, p. 517.

Hendersonville & Brevard Ry. Telegraph and Telephone Co.—Sale July 5.—Judge Norwood, in the North Carolina Superior Court for Henderson County, has ordered this road sold on July 5 to satisfy judgments amounting to about $90,000. No upset price was fixed.—V. 64, p. 423.

Hudson River & Berkshire RR.—Incorporation.—The bill to incorporate this company was signed by the Governor of Massachusetts this week. The road will run from Ancram, N. Y., to Springfield, Mass. At Ancram it will connect with the Philadelphia Reading & New England for New York, via Poughkeepsie, and the New York Central, and at Springfield with the Boston & Maine for Boston. It will pass through the towns of Egremont, Great Barrington, Monterey, etc.

Illinois Central RR.—Reported Issue of Stock Denied.—In November, 1895, the authorized capital stock was increased from fifty to sixty million dollars, the $10,000,000 of new stock being authorized, it was supposed, to meet the cost of Chesapeake Ohio & Southwestern securities purchased and for certain improvements on the lake front, etc. Only $2,500,000 of this new stock was issued, however, the balance remaining in the treasury, and the report that this $7,500,000 of treasury stock had been sold is officially denied.—V. 64, p. 1089.

Illinois Street Railway Bill.—Allen Bill Signed.—On Wednesday Governor Tanner signed the Allen bill. Some of the provisions of this bill were noted in the CHRONICLE last week.—V. 64, p. 1088.

Memphis & Charleston RR.—Coupon Payment.—Owing to a death in the family of Judge Lurion the application for the payment of the January 1895 coupons on the 7 per cent bonds was not heard, as expected, this week. It is thought the necessary order will be signed next week.—V. 64, p. 1083.

Metropolitan Street Ry. (of N. Y.).—Bond Issue.—The Metropolitan Street Railway has authorized a general collateral trust mortgage secured by the stocks of the Broadway & Seventh Ave., Columbus & Ninth Ave., Lexington Ave. and Cross Town lines. The company has sold $12,500,000 5 per cent 100-year bonds under this mortgage.—V. 64, p. 1042.

Mexican National Construction Co.—Concessions Reported Forfeited.—A dispatch from the City of Mexico states that all existing concessions for railways granted to this company have been forfeited for non-fulfillment of the terms of the charters. The company has one line operating from Manzanillo, on the Pacific coast, to Colima, and this line remains in the possession of the company. This construction company built the Mexican National Railway and owns a majority of its capital stock and a large amount of the income bonds. President Palmer, it is understood, will endeavor to secure a new concession.—V. 63, p. 1115.

Ohio Valley Ry.—Sale Postponed.—The sale of this road, which was to have taken place on June 3, has been postponed to July 6, at Henderson, Ky., on petition of the minority bondholders. The upset price is $1,050,000, and a deposit of $100,000 will be required from all bidders.—V. 64, p. 954.

Oregon RR. & Navigation.—First Dividend on Preferred.—A dividend of 1 per cent on the preferred stock has been declared, payable July 1. This is the first dividend paid since the reorganization of the old company, in August 1896, and calls for the payment of about $110,000. The dividend will be paid at the Central Trust Co., N. Y., or the Old Colony Trust Co., Boston.

The earnings of the company from July 1 to April 30, 1897, 10 months, have been as follows: Gross, $3,893,230 (against $3,626,453 in 1895-6); operating expenses, not including taxes, $2,262,596; net earnings, $1,630,634.—V. 64, p. 238.

Peoria Decatur & Evansville Ry.—Deposits Received Until July 1.—The Seudder Committee announces that deposits of first and second mortgage bonds and of stock and payment of subscriptions under the plan of reorganization will be received until July 1; depositary is the New York Security & Trust Co., where copies of the plan may be obtained.

First Mortgage Committee Plan.—A plan of reorganization is now being prepared by this committee, as six months' default on Peoria division firsts will have been made on July 1. It will arrange for more money to be put into the property than has been provided for in the second mortgage bondholders' plan, already issued, and an underwriting syndicate is said to have been formed. Interest on the firsts of both divisions is to be continued at 6 per cent. Deposits of bonds with the Atlantic Trust Company are asked. The Central Trust Co., trustee under the Peoria division mortgage, is about to file a foreclosure suit.—V. 64, p. 1089.

Pittsburg Allegheny & Manchester Traction.—Reported Sale.—Control of this road is said to have been purchased by Alexander Brown & Sons, of Baltimore, who offered $25 in cash and $16 in 5 per cent bonds of the Union Traction Co., of Pittsburg, for each share of stock.—V. 64, p. 1001.

Railroad Pooling Bill.—No Action by Senate Committee.—No action on the Pooling bill was taken by the Interstate Commerce Committee of the United States Senate at its weekly meeting on Thursday. Some remarks upon the bill will be found in the article on "The Financial Situation" in our editorial columns.—V. 64, p. 1089.

Rio Grande Sierra Madre & Pacific RR.—Incorporated.—This company has been incorporated at Albany, N. Y., this week, with a capital stock of $3,120,000. The company was organized in Mexico last year and has constructed a road from Ciudad Juarez, in the State of Chihuahua, Mexico, southwesterly to the vicinity of Casas Grandes, 156 miles. Thirty-year 6 per cent bonds are authorized at $20,000 per mile. The road, which has just been completed, has been built in ten months, and opens up an extensive mineral, agricultural and timber section. The New York charter is under a new law just signed by the Governor which permits a New York corporation to acquire and operate properties in foreign countries. The directors are A. Foster Higgins, President; John T. Terry, Edwin D. Morgan, Solon Humphreys, A. Gifford Agnew, George Rowland, Sidell Tilghman, John B. Lawrence, Jr., W. Morton Grinnell and Edward M. Shepard.—V. 64, p. 611.

St. Joseph & Grand Island Ry.—New Securities Listed.—On the New York Stock Exchange this week were listed the new securities of this reorganized company. All the facts regarding the new securities, the terms at which they were exchanged for the old, with earnings, etc., are given at length in President Bull's application for the listing on the Exchange, published in another column. In the reorganization of the St. Joseph & Grand Island, while large concessions were required from the first mortgage bondholders, they received preference securities, which insure to them the first advantages resulting from the prosperity of the new company.—V. 64, p. 954.

Southern Pacific RR. of California.—Additional Consols Listed.—On the New York Stock Exchange this week were listed $693,000 additional consolidated mortgage gold 5s, making the total now listed $19,095,000. The new bonds were issued for new road built.—V. 63, p. 561.

Terminal Ry. of Buffalo.—Construction.—Work on this road is to be begun at once and it is expected to complete the line in about two months. The road will connect the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern at Blaisdell, N. Y., with the New York Central at Depew, N. Y., being about 11 miles long, and will avoid much switching through the Buffalo yards.

Third Avenue RR.—Kings Bridge Franchise Invalid.—The New York Court of Appeals on Tuesday handed down a decision declaring invalid the Kings Bridge franchise granted to the Third Avenue RR. in November, 1895. The Kings Bridge extension was to extend from 162d Street along Kings Bridge Road, across the proposed bridge over the ship canal to Broadway. Considerable work is said to have been done by the company.

The suits were brought by Dorothy Cline and Catherine Beekman to restrain the road from passing their property and a permanent injunction is granted the plaintiffs.

The Court decides that an attempt to build a railroad upon a public highway without authority is a nuisance, and that the city of New York has no inherent right, independent of legislative permission, to grant a franchise for constructing and maintaining a railroad in the public streets, and therefore no sale of a franchise can be valid unless it was proceeded with in the manner prescribed by the Legislature.

Some of the points decided are as follows:

The Common Council of New York City cannot make valid a sale of more than one extension of an existing railroad at the same sale to be struck off upon one bid, when the extensions are separated from each other in such a way that they can only be operated together over the lines of an existing road.

A sale made in this way vested no right in the Third Avenue RR. to build any of the extensions above 162d St., on Kings Bridge Road.

The sale of the franchise to the Third Avenue Railroad was void and vests no right to build such extensions.

Counsel for the Third Avenue, it is stated, have prepared three applications to cover practically the same route as the former single application covered, and presented them to the Railroad Committee of the Board of Aldermen.—V. 64, p. 844.

The St. Joseph & Grand Island Railway Company was formed February 23, 1897, by the consolidation of the St. Joseph Hanover & Western Railway Company of Kansas and the Grand Island Hastings & Southeastern Railroad Company of Nebraska. These companies had acquired the property of the former St. Joseph & Grand Island Railroad Company by purchase under foreclosure December 23, 1896, at Hastings, Nebraska, the purchaser being Frederic P. Olcott, as Chairman of the Reorganization Committee of the St. Joseph & Grand Island Railroad Company. The decree of sale was confirmed January 16, 1897, and the property was formally taken over by the new company on March 1, 1897. The company operates the following road, viz.:

The line of railway formerly owned and operated by the St. Joseph & Grand Island Railroad Company, beginning at a point of intersection for junction with the tracks and property of the St. Joseph Terminal Railroad Company where the tracks constituting the approach to the bridge across the Missouri River, in the city of St. Joseph, Mo., join the railway of said Terminal Railroad Company, beginning at a point at or near the west line of Fourth Street, in the city of St. Joseph, and extending from the city of St. Joseph, in the county of Buchanan and State of Missouri aforesaid, running thence over and across said bridge over the Missouri River, through the counties of Doniphan, Brown, Nemaha, Marshall and Washington, in the State of Kansas, and the counties of Jefferson, Thayer, Nuckolls, Clay, Adams and Hall, to Grand Island, in said county of Hall, in the State of Nebraska, in all about 251.06 miles.

The following is a summary of the securities issued by the old company and those of its successor.

Provision to be made to increase the first mortgage up to $5,000,000. The increase to be devoted to the acquisition or construction of new mileage at not exceeding $6,000 in bonds per mile.

A voting trust has been created, retaining control for the benefit of the first preferred stock for five years unless the first preferred stock pays full dividends for three consecutive years, after which the said trust shall retain control for the benefit of the first and second preferred stocks for three years then next ensuing, after which all stocks shall be entitled to a full and equal vote.

The power of the voting trustees and vote of consent in respect to the shares held under the trust shall expire on the first day of January, 1902, except in the case hereafter mentioned.

In case there shall have been paid on the first preferred stock a 5 per cent dividend in each year for three consecutive years prior to January 1, 1902, then the power of such voting trust shall continue until the expiration of three years next ensuing after the expiration of the third year in which such 5 per cent dividends shall have been paid.

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, June 11, 1897.

For the past fortnight a more settled feeling has been steadily growing among merchants. The advices received from Washington have been such as to enable them to obtain something of a definite idea as to what the tariff bill as finally enacted will be; this and the removal of the doubt that the currency question would not receive the active attention of the present Administration have been the main factors in bringing about a more favorable outlook for business, and in several lines of trade a gradual revival of business activity, as confidence strengthens, has already been perceptible. Advices from the West have reported the prospects for the growing crops as less favorable, owing to cold weather and some talk of frosts, with the result that prices for breadstuffs have strengthened slightly.

Refiners have been limited buyers of prime Western lard on the spot and prices have ruled steady, closing at 3.77½c. Cuba has continued a moderate buyer of prime City lard at about steady prices, closing at 3.37½c. Refined for the Continent has had a slightly better sale, but at easier prices, closing at 4c. The local market for lard futures has been neglected. At the West the feeling has been steadier, owing to smaller receipts of swine, and at the close prices advanced slightly, closing steady.

The demand for cut meats has been less active, so an advance in prices has shut off the export demand, closing at 5¼@5½c. for pickled bellies, 12@10 lbs. average, 5½@5¾c. for pickled shoulders and 9@9¼c. for pickled hams. Beef has been quiet but steady, closing at $7@8 for mess; $7.50@8.50 for packet; $8.50@9.50 for family and $12@14 for extra India mess. Beef hams have advanced to $24.00. Tallow has advanced slightly, closing steady at 3.1-16c. Oleo stearine has been quiet but steady at 4.1-16c. Lard stearine has been dull at 4½c. for city. Cotton seed oil has been quiet but steady at 20c. for prime crude and 23½@23¾c. for prime yellow. Butter has been in large supply and easy, closing at 11@15c. for creamery. Cheese closed steady under an improved export demand, with State factory, full cream, at 7@8¼c. Fresh eggs were held steady for choice, closing at 11c. for Western.

The Brazil growths of coffee have had only a limited sale but offerings have been smaller and prices have advanced slightly, closing steady at 7¼c. for Rio No. 7. There has been no improvement to the demand for the mild grades, but there has been less pressure to sell and prices have been steadier, closing at 14@14¼c. for good Cucuta and 25c. for standard Java. Speculation in the market for contracts has been dull, but owing to a falling off in the Brazilian receipts there has been a slight improvement in values, closing dull. Following were final asking prices:

Refined sugars have had a large sale and prices have been advanced, granulated closing at 4¾c. Teas have been quiet and easier.

Kentucky tobacco has had only a very limited sale, but values have held steady. Sales 100 hhds. Seed-leaf tobacco has been quiet but steady. Lead has been in slightly better demand, closing steady at 3.30c. for domestic. Spelter has been sparingly offered, and the close was firm at 4.25@4.35c. for domestic. Ingot copper has been quiet and unchanged at 9.25@12.00c. for domestic.

Refined petroleum has been unchanged, closing at 6.15c. in bbls., 3.65c. in bulk and 6.60c. in cases; naphtha quiet at 5.50c. Hops have been dull and easy.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has continued dull, and the net changes in prices for the week are unimportant, although early in the week less favorable prospects for the growing crop stimulated some buying, largely from shorts to cover contracts, on which prices advanced a few points. Subsequently, however, realizing sales caused the improvement to be lost. Saturday, in the absence of foreign advices and on limited selling by a few local operators, prices weakened slightly, closing at a decline of 1 to 4 points. Monday, owing to the continuance of the holiday abroad, no foreign advices were received. There was, however, some buying by local shorts to cover contracts, stimulated by less favorable weather advices received from the South, and prices for the day showed an advance of 2 to 4 points. Tuesday, there was a limited amount of activity to the trading, and prices further advanced, particularly for the next crop. Foreign advices were stronger and were accompanied by some buying orders, the result of cable dispatches to the English markets of unfavorable weather conditions at the South for the growing crop. The weekly report of the Government's Weather Bureau reported the growth of the crop as backward, and this also had a strengthening influence upon the market. The close showed prices for this crop 2 to 5 points higher, and for the next crop 7 to 10 points up. Wednesday there was a slight further improvement in prices during early change, in response to stronger advices from abroad and some foreign buying. Subsequently, however, advices from the South reporting improved weather conditions prompted realizing sales and prices declined, closing 1 to 3 points lower for the day. Thursday the market opened slightly higher, and despite the fact that the report by the Government's Agricultural Bureau was considered unfavorable, the market weakened under the improved crop prospects, as reported in the day's advices from the South, and at the close prices were 3 to 5 points lower. To-day the market opened 1 to 4 points lower, and then further declined 1 to 5 points under general selling, prompted by improved weather conditions at the South and weaker foreign advices. Subsequently there was a partial recovery, on buying for English account and a demand from local shorts to cover contracts. The close was quiet at a decline of 2 to 5 points for the day. Cotton on the spot declined 1-16c. on Monday. A moderate volume of business has been transacted, principally with spinners. To-day the market was unchanged and steady at 7 11-16c. for middling uplands. The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 314,100 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 6,280 bales, including 3,177 for export, 4,003 for consumption, — for speculation and 2,110 on contract. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week—June 5 to June 11.

It will be seen by the above that there has come into sight during the week 20,416 bales, against 22,350 bales for the same week of 1896, and that the increase in amount in sight to-night as compared with last year is 1,420,637 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—Advices to us by telegraph from the South this evening are, on the whole, of a more satisfactory character. While the plant is backward generally as a result of low temperature at night, the weather has latterly turned warmer and improvement is reported from many localities. Rain has fallen in most sections during the week, but in some portions of the Gulf States, where the precipitation has been light, moisture is needed. In South Texas, early cotton is said to be fruiting nicely. Some damage by lice and other cotton pests is reported from points in Texas.

Galveston, Texas.—The generally dry weather now prevailing is favorable, as it has enabled farmers to clean the cotton crop of weeds and grass. Some cotton is being replanted over North Texas and some stubble land is being planted. Lice and other cotton pests are still damaging crop in many places. Early cotton is fruiting nicely over the southern portion of the State. The warm weather now is beneficial. Rain has fallen lightly on one day of the week, the precipitation reaching two hundredth of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 78, ranging from 71 to 85.

Palestine, Texas.—We have had rain on one day of the week, the precipitation reaching one inch and sixty four hundredths. The thermometer has ranged from 54 to 98 averaging 71.

Huntsville, Texas.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall being five hundredths of an inch. Average thermometer 76, highest 91, lowest 61.

Little Rock, Arkansas.—We have had rain on two days of the past week, the precipitation reaching thirty-six hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has ranged from 56 to 90, averaging 70.

Helena, Arkansas.—Crops have slightly improved, but worms are still doing some damage and the weather has been rather cool until to-day. There has been light rain on one day during the week, the rainfall being seventeen hundredths of an inch; but there has been more near by. Average thermometer 67.6, highest 86 and lowest 52.

Memphis, Tennessee.—Crops generally are small and backward and suffering for moisture. Rain has fallen on one day of the week, to the extent of thirteen hundredths of an inch, and is now falling. It will do great good. The thermometer has averaged 70.7, the highest being 91 and the lowest 58.

Nashville, Tennessee.—The week's rainfall has been twenty-one hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 70, ranging from 53 to 88.

Charleston, South Carolina.—We have had rain on four days during the week. The thermometer has ranged from 68 to 85, averaging 75.

Stateburg, South Carolina.—A thunderstorm, with heavy rain and high wind, on Friday last did some damage through washing and flooding crops. It has rained on four days of the week, the precipitation being four inches and sixty-four hundredths. Average thermometer 74.5, highest 87, lowest 61.

Greenwood, South Carolina.—Rain has fallen on four days of the week, to the extent of one inch and ninety-seven hundredths. Average thermometer 74, highest 83, lowest 65.

Wilson, North Carolina.—Rain has fallen on three days o the week, the rainfall reaching fifty-one hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has averaged 75, ranging from 64 to 88.

COTTON ACREAGE REPORT.—In our editorial columns will be found to-day our annual cotton acreage report, with an account at length of the condition of the plant in each section of the South. The report has been prepared in circular form and the circulars may be had in quantity with business card printed thereon.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT'S REPORT ON ACREAGE.—The Agricultural Department at Washington issued on the 10th inst. its report on cotton condition and acreage. The following is what it says on the subject of acreage:

The consolidated returns of reports to the Statistical Division of the Department of Agriculture for the month of June show the State percentages of acreage as compared with last year to be as follows: Virginia, 106; North Carolina, 108; South Carolina, 103; Georgia, 102; Florida, 95; Alabama, 102; Mississippi, 97; Louisiana, 100; Texas, 106; Arkansas, 105; Tennessee, 106; Missouri, 107; Indian Territory, 134; Oklahoma, 150; general average, 103.5, making a total acreage of 24,091,394, as compared with 23,271,704 acres last year.

The following is the report of the Department on condition: The average condition of the crop was Virginia, 87; North Carolina, 84; South Carolina, 87; Georgia, 84; Florida, 90; Alabama, 81; Mississippi, 76; Louisiana, 84; Texas, 87; Arkansas, 83; Tennessee, 77; Missouri, 90; Indian Territory, 85; Oklahoma, 72; general average, 83.5, against 97.2, the June condition of last year.

The crop throughout the cotton belt is from one to three weeks late. The weather during the past month has been cold and damp and unfavorable to the growth of the plant. The stands are irregular and poor in many localities and the damage by insects has required much replanting. As a general thing the crop has been well worked and is free from grass. A large number of counties in Texas report the plant in good condition and promising a fair yield. The increase in the use of fertilizers is greater than ever in Alabama and the Atlantic States.

Twenty-six counties in Georgia report a decrease of 31 per cent in the area planted in Sea Island cotton, twenty-four counties in Florida a decrease of 17 per cent, while the South Carolina reports show an increase of 5 per cent in Sea Island acreage.

The above statement of condition, compared with the reports for previous years, is as follows:

VIRGINIA.—Fore part of week too cool for growth, but latter part warm with timely rains, and crop conditions consequently improved, Cotton continues bad stand.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Warm days, frequent showers, favorable, causing rapid growth; cotton small, fresh, good stand, few complaints of lice.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Excellent growing weather, with marked improvement in all crops; cotton small, healthy, good stands, growing fast.

GEORGIA.—Drouth temporarily broken on 3d, and showers have fallen on several days, doing much good, especially in the middle and southern divisions; cotton looking better, and some plants are taking on forms.

FLORIDA.—Excepting a limited section the week was very favorable; copious showers to heavy rains quite general, with sufficient warmth, hastened growth of cotton.

ALABAMA.—Well distributed rain Friday, but more needed for cotton, which continues clean and healthy; cotton about all chopped and averages 6 inches high.

MISSISSIPPI.—Recent rains of great benefit to all crops; cotton small and backward, though in good condition; high winds did some damage; nearly through chopping cotton, which is injured by lice locally; recently overflowed lands nearly all planted.

LOUISIANA.—Beneficial rain fell over all but more southeastern parishes and crops show a corresponding improvement. Cotton growing faster and blooms more common; high winds inflicted some local damage; all vegetation over southeast parishes needs rain.

TEXAS.—Over northern and central portions growth of cotton retarded by cool weather and some replanting continues, while fair growth and development of fruit reported from other portions; in scattered localities heavy rain and hail storms damaged crops; lice and worms continue injuring young cotton in many sections.

ARKANSAS.—Abundant rains very beneficial, but low temperatures detrimental to all crops. Cotton improve slightly, but complaints of lice; stands very imperfect; all crops clean and well cultivated; warmer weather needed.

MISSOURI.—Good showers in southern portion; all crops retarded by low temperature; cotton doing fairly well, but some complaints of lice.

TENNESSEE.—Good rains in eastern section and southern and central portions greatly improving young crops, but much more needed in northern, central and western sections; crops clean and well cultivated. Cotton slow growth; too cool.

OKLAHOMA.—Cotton continues very backward.

The Department summarizes these reports as follows:

The reports generally indicate that cotton has made but slow growth during the week, and that the crop, as a whole, is backward. Some improvement, as compared with its condition in the previous week, is reported from Georgia, Arkansas and Louisiana. In Northern Texas replanting continues and growth has been retarded by cool weather; but in other sections of the State the crop has made fair growth, although damage to some extent in localities by heavy rains.

VIRGINIA. Cotton backward on account of cool weather.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The week ending Monday, June 7, has been generally favorable throughout North Carolina. Although the temperature is still comparatively low, on account of cool nights, the warmer days and frequent showers this week have caused perceptible growth in crops and improved prospects generally. The rainfall averaged about an inch for the State. It is still too dry over a few counties in the northeast and extreme south portions. Cotton, though small, has good stand, is fresh in appearance, and the outlook for that crop is not discouraging.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Cotton has made rapid advance and is generally in fine growing condition, although small for the season. Stands are reported nearly perfect over the entire State, and chopping out has made rapid progress where not previously completed. The plant looks healthy and is but little infested by lice or other harmful insects. Fields are generally clear of grass, with very few contrary reports. Squares, or forms, are noted over the eastern and central counties. Last year cotton was blooming at this time. Sea Island cotton being damaged by worms and dry weather retarded its growth.

GEORGIA.—While there are still some sections that are suffering for rain, the protracted drought was temporarily broken by good showers during the last half of the week, and as a result a general improvement is already noted in all growing crops, especially those on high ground. The soil had become so hard and dry that it was impossible for vegetation to obtain sufficient moisture to more than keep it alive. All fields had been well cleaned and worked, and were in excellent condition when the rain came. The warm nights and showers have greatly improved cotton. There are fewer complaints of lice on the plant this week. More rain is needed, as the ground had become so dry that the good effects of the recent rains will be but temporary unless soon followed by more.

FLORIDA.—Excepting a limited section, the week was very favorable, with copious showers to heavy rains quite general and sufficient warmth to hasten growth of cotton.

ALABAMA.—During the week the conditions were generally favorable for crops over this entire section. The first few nights were warm and the day temperatures high, and while the last few nights were rather cool, they were not so much so as to be injurious. A very general rain which passed over most of the State on the 4th and 5th resulted in an improvement in cotton and corn, although there are a few scattered localities where but little if any rain was received and where crops are about at a standstill. Cotton is unusually clean and healthy, and well cultivated; it is about all chopped and averages about 6 to 8 inches high; very few complaints of vermin.

MISSISSIPPI.—The week gave general rains which were of great benefit to all crops. Cotton and corn are in good condition, but there is considerable complaint that the plants are small, and both crops are backward. Planters have nearly finished chopping cotton, and complaint continues of damage to this crop by lice in many localities. Rapid progress has been made in planting on lowlands which have been overflowed by the late flood as the water has receded.

LOUISIANA.—Beneficial rains fell over all of North and West Louisiana during the week. The temperature conditions, while slightly improved over former weeks, yet show a deficiency in the daily average. The rainfall in the southeastern portion of the State was inadequate to the needs of the growing crops and vegetation, and the continued drouth is assuming a rather threatening aspect in localities away from streams. Crops as a rule show a general improvement over the western and northern parishes. Cotton blooms and squares are more commonly reported, and while the cotton is rather backward and small, the improvement from warmth and from showers will prove highly beneficial. The crop is free from grass, and the lice are disappearing. The stands can not be ceased as other than from fair to good, varying according to locality.

TEXAS.—The showers, with some local rains during the week, caused grass and weeds to grow rapidly, delaying farming operations, and consequently crops are beginning to need work badly in some localities. The warm weather during the early part of the week started cotton to growing nicely, but the cool wave toward the latter part of the week has had a tendency to check the growth of the plant. The crops are generally late and some replanting over the northern portion of the State. Some report from the northwestern portion of the State that farmers are planting out stubble land to cotton. Rice and other cotton pests are still doing considerable damage to late young cotton in some sections. Early cotton is fruiting nicely over the southern portion of the State, but the majority of correspondents over northern sections report that the plant shows no sign of fruiting yet. Much cotton has been worked out, but a great deal of the crop is still needing work, and dry, warm weather would be beneficial to the crop.

MISSISSIPPI—Good rains fell throughout the Eastern Section and throughout the Eastern and Southern portions of the Middle Section, giving renewed vigor to young and growing crops. In the Central Region and in the Western Section, particularly in the Northern counties, very light showers fell—not sufficient to improve conditions to any appreciable extent. The temperature has, for the most part, been below the average for the season, and the cool nights were adverse to the proper and healthy growth of young corn and cotton. The continued dry weather of the past two weeks enabled farmers to get their crops clean and well cultivated, and they are generally in fine condition to receive the benefits of good rains, which, together with warm sunshine, are needed to promote satisfactory growth. Cotton has done but little good on account of the cool weather; "chopping out" is in progress. The area has been reduced by bad stands.

ARKANSAS—The mean temperature for the State has averaged 3.6 deg. below the normal and the rainfall has been 1.11 in the excess of the normal amount. The rainfall has been more excessive over the west portion of the State. Over the eastern half there was but a slight excess. The rain has been favorable to all vegetation and an improvement is noted in the condition of all crops, though the cool weather was detrimental to growth. All crops are clean and well cultivated. Cotton stands have improved but the plants are very small for the season and in places are lousy and diseased. Warmer weather is needed for cotton.

OKLAHOMA AND INDIAN TERRITORY—Light rains have occurred over nearly all the northern, central, southern and western sections, and heavy rains in eastern section. As a rule all crops have done finely, cotton alone excepted. This staple continues about the same as noted in former bulletins, having made but slow growth during the week on account of the cloudy days and remarkably cool nights. The stand of cotton, which is generally the first or second replant, is now fairly good; it is small, however, and has not a good color, but it is thought that with favorable weather from now on it will yet come out all right.

MISSOURI—The past week has been unseasonably cool, and in the northern portion of the State, dry. Good showers have fallen in most of the central and southern counties, however. All crops have been retarded by the low temperature. Cotton is doing fairly well in Stoddard and New Madrid counties, but in portions of Dunklin it is very lousy.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE—AMENDMENTS TO RULES AND BY-LAWS—An amendment to Rule 8 of the New York Cotton Exchange has been adopted by the Board of Managers. The rule governs the offsetting of contracts, and as amended allows any member who holds for the account of his correspondents contracts in the same month which offset each other may offset and settle such contracts and substitute therefor his own name, but in such case he shall be responsible to his principals for the strict fulfillment of such contracts, and shall be liable to them for all damage or loss they may sustain by reason of such substitution. The amendment becomes effective on the 14th inst.

An amendment to Section 67 of the by-laws will be balloted upon by the members of the Exchange on Monday, the 14th inst. It recommends that the following be added as a fifth paragraph:

"Administrators or executors of a deceased member shall have the same right of obtaining a card giving the privilege of the floor on the membership of such deceased member as that given to a member holding more than one membership standing in his own name and upon the same conditions and requirements."

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE—ANNUAL ELECTION—The annual election of officers and managers of the New York Cotton Exchange was held on Monday, June 7. The following ticket, made up in large part of last year's officers and to which there was no objection, was elected: President, Gustavus C. Hopkins; Vice-President, William V. King; Treasurer, Walter T. Miller; Managers, William R. R. Rountree, T. M. Robinson, Isaac B. Froeligh, John L. Bulard, R. P. McDougall, Walter C. Hubbard, J. T. Gwathmey, Edward E. Moore, S. M. Lehman, John C. Latham, Louis G. Schiffer, P. S. Galatte, George A. Chapman and H. H. Meyer; Trustees of Gratuity Fund, Nathan Herrmann; Inspectors of Election, A. G. Munn, Jr., F. B. Guest and Henry H. Royce.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—The demand for jute bagging during the week under review has been light, but prices have apparently been maintained at 5½¢. for 1½ lbs., 5½¢. for 2 lbs., and 6½¢. for standard grades. Car-load lots of standard brands are quoted at 5½¢. for 1½ lbs., 5½¢. for 2 lbs., and 6½¢. for 2½ lbs. f. o. b. at New York. Jute butts have been dull but steady at 1.02¢. for paper quality, 1.25¢. for mixing and 1½¢. for bagging, all to arrive.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, June 11, 1897.

A slightly stronger tone has dominated the market for wheat flour. The volume of business transacted has not been large, as buyers have been reluctant to pay the higher prices asked by sellers as a consequence of the advance in wheat values, and the sales made have been almost exclusively of small lots to supply immediate requirements. The close was quiet but steady, with prices showing little change from those quoted a week ago. Rye flour has had only a very limited sale and prices have weakened slightly, closing at $2.10@2.50. The demand for corn meal has been fairly active and prices have ruled fairly firm in sympathy with the advance in corn values.

There has been increased activity in the speculative dealings in the market for wheat futures, and early in the week prices advanced on the unfavorable crop accounts from the West, and fears of a squeeze in July contracts also caused something of a flurry among shorts, and there was a demand to cover contracts. Subsequently, however, longs sold to realize profits and prices reacted. The net changes in prices for the week showed an advance of  $\frac{1}{8}$ ¢. on the near-by deliveries and a decline of  $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢. on the distant deliveries. Saturday there was a dull and slightly easier market. Monday and Tuesday, on advices from the West of the price to the crop by frosts and stronger foreign advices, prices advanced  $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢. for the distant months and  $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢. for the near-by deliveries, for which there was an especial demand from shorts to cover contracts. Wednesday the market weakened under realizing sales and easier foreign advices. Thursday the market again turned stronger on poor crop accounts and in anticipation of a bullish Government report. To-day, despite the fact that the report issued by the Government's Agricultural Bureau was considered decidedly bullish by the trade, the market turned weaker, as there was free selling by longs to realize profits, and foreigners were also sellers, closing at a decline of  $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢. for the day. Business in the spot market has been limited, as the higher prices asked have checked the demand from shippers. To-day the market was quiet and easier. The sales included No. 1 Northern New York at 77¢. f. o. b. afloat. There was also a small export business reported transacted from outports. No. 1 hard was quoted at 79¢. f. o. b. afloat, No. 1 Northern Duluth at 78¢. f. o. b. afloat and No. 2 hard winter at 75 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢. f. o. b. afloat.

Speculation in the market for Indian corn futures has been slightly more active and for the week prices show a fractional advance. The feature has been the advices received from the West early in the week, which reported damage to the growing crop and stimulated a demand from shorts to cover contracts. At the close there was some selling by longs to realize profits and part of the improvement was lost. Only a limited volume of business has been transacted in the spot market, as the advance has put prices above shippers' limits. To-day the market was quiet. The sales included No. 2 mixed and No. 2 white for export, but the particulars were kept private. No. 2 mixed was quoted nominally at 29 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢. in elevator.

Oats for future delivery have received slightly increased attention, but for the week no changes of importance in prices are to be noted. At one time a fractional advance was to be noted in sympathy with the rise in other grains. To-day the market has been quiet and easy. The volume of business transacted in the spot market has been only moderate and prices weakened slightly to-day, closing with sales of No. 2 mixed at 29 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢. in elevator and No. 2 white at 25 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢. in elevator.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT'S REPORT ON CEREALS, &c. — The report of the Department of Agriculture, showing the condition of the cereal crops on June 1, was issued on the 10th inst., and is as follows:

The report of June 1, consolidated from the returns of township, county and State correspondents of the Department of Agriculture, makes the acreage of winter wheat at present growing, after allowance for abandonments, 94.6 per cent of the area harvested last year, or 89.9 per cent of the area sown in the fall of 1896. This, in round numbers, is 21,562,000 acres.

The percentages of winter-wheat acreages upon the basis indicated of the principal winter-wheat States are as follows: Ohio, 97; Michigan, 94; Indiana, 94; Illinois, 51; Missouri, 90; Kansas, 97; California, 105. In New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee and West Virginia the area sown compared with that harvested last year has been materially increased.

The condition of winter wheat has fallen since report of May 1, being 78.5 per cent against 80.2 on that date—a decline of 1.7 points. The condition on June 1 last year was 77.9. The percentages of the principal States are: Ohio, 88; Michigan, 79; Indiana, 60; Illinois, 38; Missouri, 43; Kansas, 88; California, 73.

The percentage of spring wheat area for the entire country, as compared with that of 1896, has been considerably increased, being 110 per cent of last year's acreage. The total area of spring wheat sown is, therefore, in round numbers, 13,000,000 acres, and the combined winter and spring area is 34,569,000 acres, or 99.9 per cent of that harvested in 1896.

The condition of spring wheat shows an average for the whole country of 89.8 per cent, against 99.9 per cent on June 1, 1896. The condition of all wheat is 82.7, against 87.6 per cent the same date last year.

The conditions of spring wheat for the principal spring wheat States are as follows: Minnesota, 94; Wisconsin, 90; Iowa, 93; Nebraska, 89; South Dakota, 73; North Dakota, 91; Washington, 100; Oregon, 93.

The preliminary report places the acreage of oats at 94.3 per cent of last year's area, and makes the condition 89 per cent, against 93.8 last June. Acreage of rye is 93 per cent of last year's. Condition of rye, 89.9 per cent. Acreage of barley, 92.2 per cent of last year's; condition of same, June 1, 57.4 per cent. Acreage of rice, 103.1 per cent; condition, 98.8 per cent.

Reports from the Consular officers of the United States in Manitoba and Western Ontario indicate good crops of both winter and spring wheat. The spring acreage in the Winnipeg Consular district is about fifteen per cent greater than last year, while crops are about ten days earlier. Reports from Eastern Ontario and Quebec are less favorable.

Inquiries made by the United States Minister to Argentina tend to show that this year's wheat acreage will not exceed last year's, and may be much less.

Fruit throughout Central and Western Europe has been considerably injured by frosts. Wheat growth is generally retarded by the backward season, and in Spain, Italy and Hungary its quality is deteriorated by persistent rains. Condition reported improving in Northern Europe; also in Roumania, Bulgaria, and parts of Russia; but not in Poland or the south-western provinces. Deficiency of the crop in France now estimated from 35,000,000 to 55,000,000 bushels.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., June 11, 1897.

The market has passed through a week of abnormally trying weather influences for the time of year, the temperature ruling low and rainfall excessive. Retail trade has been seriously interfered with and business in seasonable merchandise in both jobbing circles and the primary market has been on a very restricted scale. Merchandise for quick consumption has sold slowly and prices have disclosed considerable irregularity. The influence of this has been seen in the market for staple cotton goods, buyers being reluctant to increase their obligations in these whilst making such poor progress in other directions. Sales have been limited of all staples, and, as is usually the case in a dragging market, buyers have occasionally been able to secure some concessions in prices. It is something of an anomaly that specialities for fall in printed and other lines have nevertheless sold fairly well and that at the close of the week there is, if anything, rather more confidence expressed in the near future of the market. For this the prospects of a quicker dispatch of tariff legislation than lately appeared likely is responsible. With the tariff out of the way it is believed that improved conditions will not be long in asserting themselves all around.

WOOLEN GOODS.—There have been fair recorders reported this week for men's wear woolen and worsted fabrics from a number of outside markets, showing that the clothing trade is still quite indifferent, but there are indications of the strike which has affected it for several weeks past coming to an end and the outlook is regarded more cheerfully. There has been no special feature beyond rather more favor shown towards the better grades of fancy worsteds. Prices are without changes. Manufacturers, in view of an early settlement of the tariff question, are pushing forward with samples of new light weights. Sales of overcoatings have again been on a limited scale, but cloaking continues in fair request, particularly in Kerseys and other lines about $1.25 per yard. Satinets are inactive throughout. Dress goods in both plain and fancy lines are in limited demand. Flannels are inactive and blankets in quiet demand at firm prices. Carpets firm with moderate sales.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending June 7 were 14,763 packages, valued at $541,588, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

* From New England mill points direct

The value of the New York exports for the year to date has been $5,088,535 in 1897 against $4,460,572 in 1896.

There has been but an inactive demand for brown sheetings and drills from the home trade during the week, and buyers for export have operated sparingly. Prices on leading makes continue steady but in some quarters have favored buyers. In grey goods of special construction fair orders have been taken from converters and printers but generally at as low prices as hitherto recorded. Bleached cottons sell slowly in all grades without change in prices. Wide sheetings are inactive at previous prices. Cotton flannels and blankets slow but generally well sold up to date. Denims are steady with moderate sales; other coarse colored cottons inactive and easy to buy. Kid-finished cambrics, white goods and quilts without change in prices and slow sellers. Dark fancy calicoes have been well ordered during the week, but seasonable printed work has ruled very inactive at irregular prices. Sales of staple ginghams have been light and in dress styles the demand has been practically confined to the finer grades. Print cloths have been quiet but closer firmer at 27-10c. plus 1 per cent for contracts of extras. Odd goods quietly firm.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—There has been only a small business done in seasonable lines of any description of foreign merchandise and prices show much irregularity. The orders for fall goods have been on a limited scale also, but the general tone of the market is steady.

Pennsylvania.—Resolution Requesting the Governor to Outline a Revenue Policy Returned to the Legislature Without His Approval.—On June 7, 1897, Governor Hastings returned to the Senate without his approval the resolution requesting him to outline a revenue policy for the State. The resolution as submitted to him was as follows:

"Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That his Excellency the Governor be requested to communicate to the General Assembly whether a deficit will exist at the close of the present fiscal year and whether the estimated revenues for the two ensuing years will be sufficient to meet the deficit if any exist, as well as the ordinary expenses of the State government, and if in his judgment existing laws are not sufficient then what subjects of taxation he may recommend to the consideration of the General Assembly that will sufficiently increase the revenues of the State, to the end that no financial embarrassment may occur."

In giving his reasons for not complying with this request the Governor states that the information asked for was contained in his biennial message submitted on January 5, 1897. He presents the following statement showing the financial condition of the State at the close of business on May 26, 1897:

Estimated total receipts for fiscal year to November 30, 1897.....	$9,768,829 00
Balance in bank May 26, 1897.....	4,468,758 87
	$14,237,587 87
Payments made from November 30, 1896, to May 26, 1897.....	6,921,000 05
	$7,316,587 82
Payments due on account of quarter ending May 31, 1897.....	$1,000,000
Payments due on account of six months to November 30, 1897.....	9,937,182
	10,937,182 00
Deficit.....	$3,620,594 18

"This estimate of $9,768,829 of revenues for each year does not include the revenues which may be derived from the 'direct inheritance tax,' lately become a law, and which is the only revenue measure that has reached me from your honorable bodies. It is believed that the direct inheritance tax law will yield about $1,000,000 in revenue per annum."

"From the above figures it will be seen that the fiscal officers estimate that there will be a deficiency of about $3,630,594 18 on November 30, 1897."

"A word of explanation is necessary as to this deficiency. The fiscal year, so far as it relates to the revenues, by operation of law ends on November 30. The fiscal year, in so far as it relates to appropriations, ends May 31. Thus the period of six months intervening between May 31 and November 30 is liable to cause confusion. If the State were to settle up its accounts on November 30, 1897, in the same manner as a business institution would do, it would be lacking about three and one-half millions of dollars of having money enough to pay all its obligations, and in that sense there would be a deficiency. But the appropriation year ends May 31 and the revenue year ends November 30; therefore the last six months of the revenue year, in the calculations of the fiscal officers, have been anticipated in the appropriation year. If the revenues depended upon to be paid into the treasury during the last six months of the revenue year could all be collected in the first six months, the above deficiency would be somewhat reduced, but to what extent I am unable to say, because the fiscal officers have made extraordinary efforts to collect everything possible in the first six months."

"In the above estimate made by the Auditor-General and State Treasurer and included in the $9,937,182, are two large and important items, the first being $636,000, the estimated cost of the present legislative session; and the other, $5,500, 000 appropriated to the public schools. There being no session of the legislature required by law next year the first item will drop from the account."

"The appropriation for the public schools being more than half of all the appropriations, is difficult to handle. Certain conditions are imposed by law which must be complied with by each school district before it can receive its share of the State appropriation. This has always caused delay and for many years past, perhaps from the beginning of the school system, the appropriation has not been fully paid to the districts until about a year after the close of the appropriation year. For instance, the last general assembly appropriated $5,500,000 for the appropriation year beginning June 1, 1895, and likewise $5,500,000 for the appropriation year beginning June 1, 1896. To day the appropriation for the first of these years is not quite paid in full, while not a dollar of the appropriation for the appropriation year beginning June 1, 1896, has been paid."

"The last General Assembly, wisely recognizing the difficulties under which the fiscal officers labored in this behalf, inserted the following clause in the school appropriation section: 'Provided also that warrants for the above and all other unpaid appropriations for common school purposes shall be issued in amounts designated by the State Treasurer, and whenever he shall notify the Superintendent of Public Instruction in writing that there are sufficient funds in the State Treasury to pay the same.'"

"The question of actual cash deficiency therefore depends upon the rapidity with which the State Treasurer pays out the school appropriation. He has the power at any time to exhaust the treasury by paying out the overdue school appropriation, and he has the power to cripple the State institutions simply by giving preference to the distribution of the school funds."

The Governor further states that there is no duty resting on the Executive to name subjects for taxation, should the existing laws not be sufficient, as that is purely the duty of the Legislature. In closing he says:

"At this time, when almost all industries are suffering, when trade is stagnant, and when willing labor can find no employment, economy in the expenditure of public moneys should control the General Assembly in its appropriations and will certainly control the Executive in the consideration of all such measures. I have steadily withheld my approval from various bills, increasing the salaries of public officials, but I would gladly approve any bill that might be lawfully passed decreasing reasonably existing salaries from the highest to the lowest. When the individual citizen finds it necessary to exercise the most rigid economy in order to support himself and his family, it is certainly a strong admonition to you and to the Executive to see to it that his burdens should not be increased, but so far as possible should be lessened."

Garfield County, Kan.—County Bonds Declared Legal.—Press reports state that the Supreme Court of Kansas has rendered a decision bearing upon the legality of Western Kansas bonds to the amount of more than $1,000,000. Several years ago Garfield County, through its regular county officers, issued a block of bonds, which were purchased in the East. When the bonds fell due payment was refused on the ground that the county was not legally organized, and that the proposition to issue the bonds had not been submitted to a vote of the people. In order to evade payment the county was disorganized and it became a township of Finney County.

The Supreme Court decided the bonds were valid, and directed the officers of that township to make an assessment on the property of the township for their payment. The court held that the county officers issuing the bonds were at least de facto officers of the county, and as such their acts were valid and binding upon the people they represented.

The decision will reinstate other Kansas bonds which were repudiated under like circumstances and have been considered practically worthless.

"We beg to advise you that this is an error, as the bonds are in our office and paid for, and we never had any intention of not taking them. There was no unnecessary delay; we simply waited until we had opinion of our counsel as to legality of issue, which is always our custom."

An Old Favorite With New Features.

THE LIVING AGE,

Founded by E. Littell in 1844.

In 1896 the subscription price of THE LIVING AGE which had been Eight Dollars a year, was reduced to Six Dollars. The effect of this change was to add hundreds of new names to the subscription lists. Encouraged by this response the publishers now take pleasure in announcing several new features of interest which they propose to introduce. These include

First, the publication of occasional translations from the French, German, Spanish and Italian reviews and magazines. Second, the addition of a Monthly Supplement containing three departments, namely:

Readings From American Magazines.

Readings From New Books.

A List of Books of the Month.

The proposed Supplement will add about three hundred pages annually to the magazine, without any added cost to the subscribers. Published weekly at $6.00 a year.

To New Subscribers for the year 1897, remitting before January 1, the weekly numbers of 1896 issued after the receipt of their subscriptions will be sent GRATIS.

The full details of clearings for the week covered by the above statement will be given next Saturday. We cannot, of course, furnish them to-day, bank clearings being made up by the various clearing houses at noon on Saturday, and hence in the above the last twenty-four hours of the week have to be in all cases estimated, as we go to press Friday night.

We present below our usual detailed figures for the previous week, covering the returns for the period ending with Saturday noon, June 12, and the results for the corresponding week in 1896, 1895 and 1894 are also given. Contrasted with the preceding week, there is an increase in the aggregate exchanges of about seventy-eight million dollars, and at New York alone the gain is seventy-two millions. In comparison with the week of 1896 the total for the whole country shows an increase of 7.0 per cent. Compared with the week of 1895 the current returns record a decline of 1.8 per cent, and the excess over 1894 is 21.3 per cent. Outside of New York the gain over 1896 is 1.2 per cent. The decrease from 1895 reaches 3.9 per cent, and making comparison with 1894 the excess is seen to be 8.7 per cent.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The conspicuous event of the week has been the signing of the Hawaiian annexation treaty and its transmission by the President to the Senate. This action has caused great surprise, notwithstanding there have been rumors that it was under consideration. Annexation would seem to be a wide departure from the policy this country has heretofore pursued; that circumstance alone will no doubt secure for the treaty very deliberate consideration before it is acted on, if there is any likelihood of its being ratified. Our people should first be enlightened as to the supposed advantages the United States is expected to derive from the acquisition, and then they ought to face with eyes wide open the responsibilities and risks it will entail, the chief of which are patent to all. The better opinion seems to indicate that the convention will not be passed upon at the extra session of Congress. The announcement consequently has had no effect on Wall Street values or business affairs, though the temporary check the stock markets met with on Wednesday, which was due to an attempt of operators to break the market, was most likely induced in part by a knowledge or belief from the rumors current that the treaty was to be sent to the Senate the day following.

Excepting the treaty proposal, there has been no occurrence that has had any unfavorable influence on affairs. The suicide of Barney Barnato, the South African "Diamond King", was presumably an event of a character to greatly disturb European markets, especially the London market, and thus to have exerted an adverse influence on Stock Exchange values here; but up to this date it has had very little effect anywhere. All other developments seem to have been of a favorable nature. The weather has admirably suited the condition of the crops, and a good growth has followed; accounts as to the situation of spring wheat afford assurance of a prosperous outlook. Corn in the surplus States is doing well; and the cotton plant is in a much better shape than it was on the first of June. Of almost equal importance is the fact that rapid progress has likewise been made with tariff legislation. All the schedules about which the forebodings were most numerous have been agreed upon and passed, and it seems now as if the end was almost in sight. When the finish is reached the relief to industrial interests will be most decided. As it begins to look as if it was nearing, can any one be surprised that general buoyancy should be the prevailing feature?

The Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis this week, as expected, passed the dividend on its preferred stock. In commenting a few weeks ago on the reduction in the dividend of the Chicago & Alton, we referred to the event as striking evidence of the trying conditions with which the railroad industry is having to contend. The passing of the preferred dividend of the "Big Four" is a yet more striking illustration to the same effect. The company is one of the Vanderbilt-Morgan properties, and Mr. M. E. Ingalls is the executive head of the enterprise. The amount of the preferred stock is only $10,000,000, and regular 5 per cent dividends have been paid on it ever since the organization of the present company in 1889. The company, as will be remembered, was a consolidation of the old Cincinnati Indianapolis St. Louis & Chicago and the Cleveland Columbus Cincinnati & Indianapolis. Before the consolidation Mr. Ingalls was the President of the first-named company, and it was in the administration of that property that he gained his high reputation as a railroad manager, he having brought the road up to a point where the stock was regarded as an assured dividend payer. In the consolidation this stock was exchanged for the preferred stock of the present company, and that seemed to strengthen the assurance of continued dividends. For the consolidation made possible the concentration of traffic and the adoption of increased economies in operation, besides opening up new avenues of business. The benefits of the arrangement soon became evident, too, for in 1890 the consolidated company was able to pay 4 per cent dividends on its common stock, now amounting to nearly 28 million dollars, and thereafter 3 per cent was paid on it for several successive years. But dividends on this common stock came to an end in 1893, and now the preferred stock also passes off the list. And yet in face of such a situation, showing so clearly that our railroads are on an unprofitable basis, our lawmakers hesitate about allowing the roads to enter into arrangements, sanctioned by law, for maintaining fair and reasonable rates.

The subject of trusts and combinations appears to be attracting nearly as much attention in Germany as it is in the United States. Mr. Fritz König of Dresden has sent us an extract from one of the German papers giving an outline of a decision of the Reichsgericht in a case involving the legality of contracts for the regulation of prices and production. The decision is of interest in this country as showing the views held by the Judiciary in Germany on this all-important question. The Reichsgericht is the highest tribunal in the Empire, occupying the same position relatively in Germany as the United States Supreme Court in this country. The Reichsgericht holds that trusts, price agreements and other similar combinations are binding. More than that, from the language of the decision it is evident that the Court regards such arrangements as beneficent agencies in modern commerce. When in any industry, the Gericht says, prices drop so low as to jeopardize or make impossible profitable results in that industry, the consequences threatened must be harmful, not alone in that industry, but to the whole community. Obviously, therefore, it is to the public interest that a situation where unduly low prices may permanently obtain shall not be allowed to develop. The Court notes, too, that the lawmakers have often attempted to advance the values of certain products through the adoption of a system of tariff duties. Hence it cannot be regarded as opposed to the general welfare when those interested in a special branch of trade combine with the view to averting or modifying the effects of unbridled competition. On the contrary, when values really drop so low as to threaten disaster to an industry, such combinations are not only justified but they are a wise provision in the interest of the whole community. For many reasons consequently the formation of syndicates and trusts must be looked upon with favor as a means calculated, when reasonably applied, to promote the industrial welfare, such agencies being peculiarly adapted for preventing over-production, with the losses and other disasters involved in the same.

Mr. König in sending us this extract, which we have translated as above, adds that there is some feeling of antagonism against capital in Germany, the same as in this country. This feeling, however, he says, does not prevail among the laboring or farming classes, or rather among the peasantry. It is confined mainly to the party designated as Social Democrats. The real enemies of capital, though, he observes, are the great landowners whose estates are heavily mortgaged. In addition, he thinks that some of the highly intelligent and highly educated officers of the Government who are poorly paid, and who have no private means, sympathize with the "Social Demokraten." The heavily mortgaged landowners, he states, are against the gold standard and wish to go hand in hand with the silver Senators and mine owners in the United States.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned at the Stock Exchange this week at 1 and 1½ per cent, averaging about 1½ per cent, and the supply has been liberal, while at the same time there has been a good inquiry from the commission houses, the majority of whom are wholly relying upon the call loan branch of the market. The banks and trust companies loan generally at the current Stock Exchange rates. Lenders on time are disposed to make slight concessions as to rates, but the business reported is small. Quotations are 2 per cent for sixty to ninety days, 2½ per cent for four months, and 3 per cent for five to seven months on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral. There is a better supply of commercial paper, principally from the dry goods merchants; the demand is good and rates are easier at 3 per cent for sixty to ninety-day endorsed bills receivable, 3@3½ per cent for first-class and 4@4½ per cent for good four to six months' single names. Banks having large correspondence with institutions in the interior report that re-discounting for banks in the cotton-growing States has begun, though the amount of money moving is as yet comparatively moderate. The indications still point to a larger business later on, and the Southern bankers are looking for a large crop of cotton, even in the regions which were recently overflowed. Paper previously re-discounted for banks in the grain sections of the West and Northwest is being paid off, and reports from Chicago and St. Paul show that money is very plentiful at those centres, ruling at 3 per cent on call at Chicago. Boston is well supplied with money and larger balances than usual are being carried in this city for the account of Boston banks. Deposits of gold in the New York Clearing House vaults have this week increased the total to $55,180,000.

There was some slight political tension in Europe on Monday due to the attitude of the Porte regarding the retention of Thessaly, and also to the attempted assassination of President Faure of the French Republic; but these matters had little influence upon the markets at London or Paris. The news on Tuesday of the suicide of Barnato, the South African diamond and gold-mining king, caused a slight flurry in what are known as the "Kaffir stocks" at Paris and London, but no other securities were affected. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 2 per cent. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety-day bank bills in London ½ of 1 per cent. The open market rate at Paris is 1½ per cent and at Berlin and Frankfurt it is 2½@3 per cent. According to our special cable from London the Bank of England gained £508,691 bullion during the week and held £36,320,851 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due to the import of £93,000 (of which £63,000 were from Australia and £30,000 from the Cape), to receipts of £551,000 net from the interior of Great Britain and to the export of £135,000, of which £75,000 went to Russia and £60,000 were sold in the open market.

The foreign exchange market was dull and steady on Monday, but it grew firmer on the following day without any change in rates. The dealings were chiefly in long sterling and on Wednesday rates for actual business in these bills were advanced one quarter of a cent because of easier discount rates in London, and on Thursday there was an advance of one quarter of a cent in short sterling and in cable transfers, while on Friday there was another advance of a quarter of a cent in long sterling. Bankers report offerings of and some business in grain futures on the basis of 4 83½ for September delivery and there was a round amount of choice documentary grain bills sold on Wednesday, deliverable either in August or September at the option of the purchaser, at 4 84. Some of the Canadian banks and American bankers have made sterling loans during the week on municipal securities. With these exceptions the supply of exchange has been confined to commercial bills and also to those drafts resulting from current counter business. The demand for remittance has increased and it is expected to grow larger toward the end of the month, when there will be an inquiry for semi-annual settlements, and until about the middle of July there will also be a demand to remit for coupons. There was an export of $600,000 gold coin by Lazard Freres to the Continent on Thursday. The gold was taken from banks, where it had been on deposit for some time. Yesterday Heidelberg, Ickelheimer & Co. engaged $100,000 for shipment by steamer to-day. This was taken out of bank also. In addition Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co. took $250,000 from the Sub-Treasury for shipment to-day. This makes the exports for the week $950,000. Kidder, Peabody & Co. will ship $500,000 on Tuesday. The range for nominal rates for exchange has remained unaltered at 4 86½@4 87 for sixty day and 4 88 for sight. As noted above, there was no change in rates for actual business until Wednesday, when there was an advance of one-quarter of a cent in long sterling to 4 86@4 86½, short sterling remaining at 4 87@4 87½ and cable transfers at 4 87½@4 87½. On Thursday the market was firm and there was a rise in short to 4 87½@4 87½ and in cable transfers to 4 87½@4 87½. Yesterday there was a further advance of one quarter of a cent in long sterling, to 4 86½@4 86½, the market being strong. The following shows the daily posted rates for exchange by some of the leading drawers.

EXTREME FLUCTUATIONS IN OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

Not very long ago a saying was current in Manchester, England, that when America takes to wearing its old stockings it puts the whole world under tribute to it. We are reminded of the statement by the illustration of its truth which the foreign trade figures published this week afford. There never before has been a May when our exports of merchandise have been as large as they were last month ($77,762,000), and these were in no sense deferred exports, for it was the last of an eleven months which also show the largest exports ($977,692,000) of any similar period in the Government record. This year's (1896-7) total merchandise exports when the account is made up in July will in value exceed by nearly $150,000,000 any year's total except 1891-2, and will be larger than even the total in 1891-2, notwithstanding prices of almost all commodities and especially of food products have been materially lower. Of course no great surprise was felt the current year at free exports during the usual season for marketing our good crops, although the movement was of unusual size; but it is the late continuance of abnormal shipments which is the conspicuous feature. Why is this? The obvious reason is that the present excess has been mainly due to the fact that home consumption was small, our people economizing severely in every way during the year; as a consequence prices of commodities in most departments fell to so low a level that buyers were found not only to take the usual surplus, but also a considerable portion of the ordinary allotment for home wants of food and clothing which this year we could not afford to eat or wear.

Imports likewise illustrate the same truth. We do not need to say that, as the record stands, the May and April returns, and also in considerable measure those for March, have been affected by influences which fall outside our reckoning, the last two months especially being very largely swollen and the other month mentioned being to an important extent added to by a speculative movement hastened to avoid the higher duties anticipated under the new tariff. Omitting then those three months altogether and comparing the other eight months of the current fiscal year with the same months of the previous year, we find the total merchandise imports to have been only $422,515,000 in 1896-7, against $541,195,000 in 1895-6. Here we have a falling off in the purchases of the United States in foreign countries of nearly 25 per cent; which illustrates again how rapidly, when America really economizes—as it has been forced to do this year—how rapidly it brings Europe in debt to it. There is no country in the world other than this in which the extremes in consumption between a prosperous year and a liquidating year are so wide. A further citation from the foreign trade records will make this more marked, for 1895-6 was by no means a prosperous year. In 1892-3 our merchandise imports for the twelve months were valued at $866,400,922; whereas in 1896-97, were it not for the goods hastened forward to get them in under the old tariff, the imports would not reach for the entire 12 months over $630,000,000.

These wide fluctuations are due in part to our large population—seventy-one millions of people, who have desires to be gratified, and whose desires in times of prosperity are so varied as to be limited only by the earth's products. It is due also to the rapidity with which wealth is accumulated in an active period—the gains come easily and are spent easily. Allied to this likewise are our thriftless habits; we waste what older nations grow rich in saving. Then there is a kernel of truth in the claim that a protective tariff system with its broadened margin of profit encourages the unskilled and wasteful manufacturer until it has served to multiply producers and greatly increase productions beyond home requirement; when all prices have risen and, as a consequence, the profit from manufacture has materially narrowed or vanished altogether, the collapse comes; a crisis under such circumstances means that the number of failures and the contraction in consumption and production must be enlarged in proportion to the extent industries have been overstimulated. But there are still other influences, one especially often producing wide, long and recurring distress, more trying than any other—we refer to legislation which endangers the standard of values.

In all these ways the Manchester proverb is proved to be true and reasonable. To sum up the situation the facts are about as follows. We invariably raise in large amounts food products, cotton, &c., which to the world are a constant need, and it takes them from us yearly; while prospering, we also purchase very freely foreign products, and this is the experience even with a high protective tariff in operation, as the imports for each of the years ending with June 30 1891, 1892 and 1893 (the largest ever recorded) fully prove. On the other hand, in a period of severe and prolonged liquidation consumption contracts so materially that the United States buys very much less and sells much more, and hence the natural outcome is that when we are down to a strictly economical and recuperative regimen, we put the world largely and rapidly in debt to us. The present year's foreign trade figures are, as we have seen, a good illustration of this condition; they show a source of strength under adverse circumstances. Do they not also disclose a very decided weakness in our financial and business methods. That we should commit excesses that from time to time call for such radical restorative action is very shortsighted. In the present case too the restorative process has not established a cure; it has only fortified the country against present harm and given us another chance to correct the defect.

With time we shall probably grow wiser and more conservative, and moderate these extreme fluctuations. Experience is a hard school-master, and yet a people with such a rich patrimony as we enjoy are slow learners. We doubt whether there exists where the child is so loath as here to profit by his father's experience, and consequently there can be no surprise at his unwillingness to take the world's experience for his guide. Our boys, rather than acquire their practical knowledge second hand, prefer to suffer from the blows that knock it into them.

THE RISE IN STOCKS.

The advance in stocks which has now been in progress, with occasional interruption or reaction, during nearly five weeks past, is an incident which deserves attention. At ordinary times the fractional rise and fall in prices of securities means little more than the passing whim of speculators, the "sentiment," in Wall Street phrase, which prevails on the Stock Exchange. At best such routine movements merely discount the influence which, in the judgment of the financial community, some single political or commercial development will exert on future values. So long as a market thus reflects merely the passing incidents of a day, its movements are necessarily brief and contradictory. Conflicting factors take their turn in dominating sentiment; prices move therefore with an almost mechanical ebb and flow. Only through survey of the change in general price level, during a more or less extended period, can conclusions as to the underlying situation be drawn from such a market.

When, however, the movement of security values sets decidedly in one direction and continues in the face of developments which would ordinarily check or counteract it, the stock market becomes an interesting study. Broadly speaking, it may be said that an advance in prices must be caused by transactions on the part of one or more of these four interests: re-purchases by previous operators for the decline, buying by professional speculators for the rise, purchase by banking interests whose funds are always accumulating in search of profitable investment, and purchase by the still larger community of outside investors. A long-continued and violent advance in prices is usually explained by the presence of all four of these market factors; indeed, it will be at once observed that each of the two first-named propelling influences must have been invoked by at least an expectation that the other factors of heavy outside buying will be present. The bear trader who covers his "shorts" reasons that to obtain at current prices the shares requisite to complete his contract would be difficult or impossible. The professional speculator for the rise has no other end in view than to sell at higher prices later on to some one else. Now it is clear enough that unless some actual investment buying supervenes, unless some buyer not only bids for stocks but takes them out of the immediate field of floating speculation, the professional speculator will be disappointed in his market. He does not usually wish to keep the stocks; as a rule he cannot afford to do so; when, therefore, he finds his expectations of an outside movement from investors cheated, he must sell for what his fellow-speculators are disposed to pay. The result, of course, will be abrupt and probably continuous reaction.

All these are very elementary propositions in the theory of markets. Their application to the existing situation is, however, obvious. It has been already manifest that some influence other than the floating professional speculation of the Stock Exchange has been at work this season. The advancing movement opened in the middle of last month; until the present week it hardly received a check. Within this period, down to last week's close, such net advances had been attained as 8½ points in Burlington & Quincy stock; 7 in Louisville & Nashville, 6½ in Rock Island, 7½ in Delaware & Hudson, 5½ in St. Paul, 5 in Western Union, 4½ in Reading, and so on through the active list. What made the movement the more noteworthy was the fact that Europe took no active part in it. During several years it has been the habit of the Stock Exchange to look to London as the necessary source from which the impulse to a heavy buying movement must be derived. This belief has seemingly been justified by events. It was London which carried through the early autumn recovery in prices after the panic of 1893; London orders played a leading part in the sharp advance immediately before and after the Presidential vote of last November. In particular, it was the enormous London buying which started the extraordinary rise in May of 1895. For nearly two weeks in that month of speculation the daily purchases for London on the New York Stock Exchange ran as high as forty or fifty thousand shares a day, and the amount of stocks and bonds actually shipped by European steamers was large enough to reduce materially the available supply upon the market, and thus automatically to force a higher level so long as home demand continued.

But the episode of 1895 has in no respect been repeated. At last week's fortnightly settlement on the London Stock Exchange, the foreign houses bought only sparingly, London quotations for our stocks frequently ruling under New York parity. A moderate amount of stocks shipped on balance to the European houses by their New York agents, merely by way of following the New York market, has summed up the contribution of Europe to the New York rise. It may be readily argued that it was better that the movement should as yet receive no violent speculative stimulus from Europe; certainly the result in 1895 was not entirely fortunate, for the London buyers sold again within a month at handsome profits, shipped back to New York City their holdings of American securities, and then resumed their pessimistic attitude towards our market. This may be true; yet the absence, at a moment when our market was advancing, of an influence which has so long been regarded as indispensable, could hardly fail to cause some discouragement. Therefore the fact that the New York advance continued with increased rapidity, even after the disappointing outcome of the London settlement, was a rather remarkable proof of underlying strength.

It is not our wish to prophesy the probable outcome of this spring advance. All people with any experience in business have seen "bull markets" with the fairest seeming promise upset completely by some unlucky miscalculation of the optimists, so that the buyer at top prices will look back a month or two later and wonder what insanity could have possessed him. But all of us have seen, too, markets where every cautious critic insisted that the culmination had been reached, and which, nevertheless, continued to broaden into a demonstration which lasted through entire seasons. The outlook for any security market depends, indeed, as does the outlook in every other trade, on influences which at the time have not unfolded. Preliminary advances, whether they prove to be judicious or abortive, are based on conjecture regarding these undeveloped factors. It will be worth while, therefore, to sum up again the influences which have been most potent in the recent rise in prices.

Two developments of very immediate and obvious importance came to light at the time this upward movement started. One was the virtual suspension of gold exports; the other was the speech of Secretary Gage. The better-informed part of the financial community has, it is true, entertained no great dread of the gold export movement. As we have pointed out in these columns, the shipments followed the precedent familiar in this season of the year. If anything, the outward movement to this date in 1897 has been below the average, even as compared with years before the Treasury-note inflation. Moreover, it had become already evident a month ago that the Treasury gold reserve could not possibly be depleted by such shipments before the harvest movement would turn the sterling market, while the further interesting facts had been developed, first that a good share of the later export gold was obtained, not from the Treasury but from the open market, and second that a steady and continuous flow of new gold into the Treasury through the Assay Office was in a considerable measure counterbalancing the export drain. But for all this, the nerves of the community have been seriously shaken by the sterling market incidents of the past six years, and the mere fact that gold was going out remained an element of distrust. When therefore the shipments fell from $6,500,000 in the week ending May 1 to $1,200,000 three weeks later, and to barely a quarter of a million in the second week of June, a factor of real discouragement which had at least held back the market was removed.

Mr. Gage's promise that the Administration would promptly undertake the work of currency reform was made in the closing days of May, and it will be observed that the most decided upward movement in the prices of securities followed that announcement. Connected with this promise, and in some degree interdependent with it, has been the assurance that the tariff bill will be brought to an early and harmonious settlement in Congress—a result for which the whole commercial community, irrespective of personal theories or political affiliations, entertains anxious hopes. Such incidents as the favorable show of earnings by several Eastern and Western railway companies, the exceptionally heavy movement of grain and produce to interior markets and by the trunk lines to the seaboard, and, still more important, the promise, so far as events have yet made forecast possible, of an abundant spring-wheat harvest—all these factors have done their part in stimulating confidence. Judged in the light of these developments, the upward movement in securities, since the middle of last month, is at least not illogical.

Whether the market continues to advance, or whether a still more decided reaction is in store for prices, it will be prudent to remember that the upward movement thus far, even on the basis which we have described, depends on expectations which have not yet reached fulfillment. The course of stocks under the circumstances is, however, an unerring witness to the sure results, if all the expectations thus outlined should be realized. As we have pointed out already, the speculative buyers—who probably have provided most of the support to the recent market—have bought on the belief that outside buying of a stable character will presently be attracted. Such buying is of course unlikely to begin in any quantity until general trade has brightened and business profits have increased; therefore it may be said that the recent movement points out possibilities in the future which, in the judgment of the most experienced financiers, would become certainties if nature were to favor this country in the harvest season, and if our law-makers were to give its business enterprise a chance to make the most of Nature's bounty.

Nor is it a fact to be ignored that the country's situation is, so to speak, intrinsically stronger than it has been in many years. We have passed through a protracted period of liquidation; if our industries are not thriving, they are at least on a "hard-pan" basis, where inflated credit is no longer a menace to safety. How severely the nation has been economizing, the immense decrease in importations during the greater part of the current fiscal year is witness. Simultaneously the United States has been doing what t has always done in its preliminary struggle to recover from hard times—it has found the markets of the world and has met competitors on even terms. With the heavy reduction of our foreign debits resulting from this double process, and with the corresponding contraction of our liabilities at home, the nation as a whole has unquestionably gained the strong position which an individual would gain by a similar process. It may be surmised that the advantage thus acquired, even in advance of any general trade revival, has had its part in the rise in stocks.

ST. JOSEPH'S ATTEMPT AT THE COMPULSORY RETIREMENT OF ITS BONDS.

During the last few weeks we have received quite a number of letters and have also had some visits in person from parties interested in the bonds of the city of St. Joseph, Mo., asking us to raise our voice in protest against the action of the city in attempting to compel holders of the bonds to accept payment of them now, when, according to their terms, they have several years to run yet. We have given the matter a good deal of attention, and it seems to us that the criticisms on the course of the city are well founded. In our estimation the action of the city authorities on this question is ill-conceived and ill-advised, and detrimental to the interests both of the bondholders and the city.

The facts of the case may be stated very briefly. The city of St. Joseph on August 1 1883 issued $900,000 of 6 per cent funding bonds, of which $823,400 are outstanding at the present time. By their terms these bonds mature August 1 1903, and there is nothing to indicate that they can be retired in advance of maturity or that any right has been reserved to that effect. The city now purposes to replace these 6 per cent bonds with new bonds bearing only 4 per cent interest. Accordingly holders of the sixes have been offered the right to exchange them on or before June 19 for the renewal fours to run twenty years, and the old bonds have been peremptorily called for payment on the 1st of next August, interest to cease after that date.

To say that the holders of the bonds are astounded over the action taken is to speak mildly. Neither on legal nor on moral grounds does it appear justified. The city rests its claim of a right to redeem the bonds on a clause in an amendment to the charter of the city passed back in 1855. Section 3 of that amendment closes as follows: "Provided that nothing herein shall be so construed as to prevent said Mayor and Councilmen from calling in and paying off, at any time they may deem proper, the whole or any part of said bonds, and if the principal of any such bonds or any part thereof shall be tendered to the holders of the same, and they shall neglect or refuse to receive it, all interest shall cease on the sum so tendered from the date of said tender." The city authorities have obtained an opinion from Messrs. Huston, Ramey and Vineyard, of the Buchanan County bar, concurred in by the City Counsellor, Mr. B. J. Casteel, saying that this provision of the charter remained unchanged and was in full force in 1883 when the 6 per cent bonds were issued. In support of these views they cite the case of National Bank of the Republic of New York vs. city of St. Joseph (31 Fed. Rep., 216), where the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York held the provision referred to effective in giving St. Joseph the right to call in and pay off bonds, issued by it in 1871, in advance of the time when by their terms they fell due.

Notwithstanding this opinion, we must say that the legality of the course pursued by the city seems by no means entirely free from doubt. A new Constitution for the State of Missouri was adopted in 1875 which prescribes specifically the powers of municipalities regarding the issue and redemption of bonds (containing some entirely new provisions), and nowhere is there any reference to a right to redeem bonds in advance of maturity. It appears, too, that subsequently the Legislature of the State passed general laws dealing with the subject of municipal bond issues based on these provisions in the new Constitution. Thus the circumstances affecting the bonds issued in 1883 are not in an essential respect the same as those relating to the bonds issued in 1871 and on which the ruling above referred to was obtained in the Circuit Court. The bonds of 1883 purport to be "issued in pursuance of Article 2, Chapter 83, of the Revised Statutes of Missouri." Messrs. Huston, Ramey and Vineyard admit that there might be something in the general law which would have the effect by necessary implication to repeal or modify the provision in the charter amendment of 1855, but they say they find nothing in the general law inconsistent with the right claimed.

Careful reading of the statute, however, makes it evident that the general law as it now stands is in conflict with this special right. The provisions are found in the Revised Statutes of 1889, Section 835. These provisions, after conferring upon the "various counties" in the State and the "several cities, villages, incorporated towns and school districts" the right "to fund any part or all of their existing bonded indebtedness * * * at a lower rate of interest", and for that purpose to "issue, negotiate and deliver renewal or funding bonds on the surrender and cancellation of the old bonds", in express words indicate the course to be pursued in cases where bondholders may refuse to make the exchange. On such refusal the proper municipal officials or bodies "shall have power and authority in their discretion to sell the funding bonds" at not less than par, "and with the proceeds thereof redeem as they mature all such bonds in the hands of parties refusing to exchange their old bonds for new funding bonds." Must not the presumption be that this general statute was intended to supersede the special charter provision of 1855.

But that is not all. The city is not now operating under the 1855 charter. It was reorganized in 1885 into a city of the second class, and at that time adopted the entirely new charter provided by the statute for cities of that class. Assuming that the right of redemption granted by the charter amendment of 1855 was not previously extinguished, did it not lapse with the going out of the old charter and the adoption of a new one? Messrs. Huston, Ramey and Vineyard attempt to answer that question by saying that under the statute providing for the incorporation of cities according to classes, all vested rights held by a city thus changing are retained, and they claim that the right of redemption is a vested right of that description. Whether the Courts would take this view remains to be seen. It appears too that the Legislature at the late session (by act approved March 11 1897) further amended the section relating to the issue of renewal or funding bonds—we mean Section 835, quoted above. This last amendment, however, does not go into effect until the 20th of the present month. To meet the objection that after that date the right to exchange old bonds for new will cease, June 19 has been fixed as the limit of time within which such exchanges must be made.

Perhaps the best answer of all to the question whether the charter amendment right of 1855 still survives so far as the 6s of 1883 are concerned is found in the action of the city itself, in the past, regarding these bonds. The city officials have never proceeded on the assumption that the right existed. They have been buying the bonds for the sinking fund and been paying a premium for them. We know of a block of $25,000 sold to them last year by a Boston house at 109. Now as the charter amendment referred to by its language applies to "the whole or any part" of the bonds, have not the city authorities (assuming the right survives to the present time) been strangely derelict in their duty and wasteful of the city's moneys in paying 109 for bonds that they could have called at 100.

But even supposing the proposed redemption of the bonds could be justified from a legal standpoint, can the action be defended on moral and fiscal grounds? Is it fair and equitable? Is it good policy? The holders of the bonds were certainly ignorant of the existence of the redemption right claimed in the case of this issue. The city, as we have seen, encouraged them in the belief that no such right existed by itself buying the bonds at a large premium. Only last year the bonds commanded over 12 per cent premium. They were considered a desirable investment even at that figure, for they bear 6 per cent interest, and by their terms have until 1903 to run. The purchasers included the best class of investors. A good many of the bonds are held by savings institutions in the East. One New England savings bank has $40,000 of them. The loss inflicted on this institution by the act of the city in compelling it to take 100 for the bonds instead of the 112½ it might have got last year would amount to almost $5,000. On the entire $823,400 of 6s outstanding, the extinction of the 12½ per cent premium represents a loss of nearly one hundred thousand dollars. And what does the city gain by the operation? It saves a few paltry thousands a year and loses its credit and good repute through the taking of what everyone will consider an unfair advantage of the bondholders.

It seems obvious, therefore, that merely as a matter of policy the city has made a grave mistake. It must be remembered that St. Joseph can not lay claim to an absolutely clean financial bill of health. Early in the eighties it defaulted on its obligations, and later it practically forced the holders of its 10 per cent bonds to accept the present 6 per cent bonds in exchange. It has had rather a large debt for a city of its size, but it had almost outlived the recollection of this earlier misfortune, and its credit was again good and improving when this latest act came to injure it anew in the eyes of the world. The city authorities do not seem to have measured the consequences of the step in the loss of financial prestige and credit involved.

It may well be questioned, too, whether the operation is feasible—that is, whether as a financial undertaking it can be carried out. The bondholders are certain to resist the attempt to deprive them of a portion of the consideration for their bonds. The action of the holders at St. Louis makes this perfectly clear, for $500,000 of bonds, according to the press dispatches, were represented at the meeting there. But entirely apart from that, it is a question of grave concern whether under existing circumstances the new bonds can be successfully floated. To negotiate an issue of eight hundred thousand dollars of bonds is by no means a small undertaking at the best. In this case the legality or illegality of the attempt to pay off the old bonds must affect the legality or illegality of the new bonds. Then also with the knowledge that in the eighties the city forced a reduction in interest on one issue of bonds, and now is attempting a reduction on another issue, is hardly calculated to make investors and moneyed institutions eager bidders. To be sure, the circular put out by the city expressly states that there is no option on the new bonds to pay before maturity and Messrs. Huston, Ramey and Vineyard go on record to the same effect, saying that "as the city is now operating as a city of the second class under a new charter, with no provision like that in the charter amendment of 1855", it "cannot in the future at its pleasure avail itself of the right conferred by that amendment in the redemption of such bonds as it may now issue." We suspect however that investors will require stronger assurances than this to allay their fears. Taking the opinion of the eminent legal gentlemen as a guide, they will most likely argue that a "vested right" which was maintained unimpaired through a change of Constitution, a change of charter and several changes in the statutes is a very difficult thing to get rid of.

But suppose the city fails in its effort to sell the new bonds, how will it get the means to redeem the old bonds, already called for payment August 1? The situation is evidently a complicated one. And we do not see how any party can derive any advantage from it. Every one must regret that the city did not continue to meet the 6 per cent interest for the few years longer that the old bonds have to run, thereby raising its credit to a high plane and making it possible in 1903 to refund the bonds at a low interest rate and on very much better terms than it can now hope to obtain.

THE IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY.

Mr. James M. Swank last week issued the usual annual report of the American Iron & Steel Association, giving statistics of the American and foreign iron trades for 1896. While these annual statistics are always interesting, treating as they do of an industry which ranks among the largest in the country and also one whose progress and advancement during the last quarter of a century has been especially marked, this year there is a further circumstance calculated to enhance interest in them. They come at a time when after long years of depression there are signs of a genuine revival in the iron and steel trades, and when, therefore, statistics regarding the past should prove helpful in drawing correct conclusions regarding the future.

The report is more than ordinarily replete with useful and instructive information, a large number of new comparative tables running back a great many years having been added. In no other country is it possible to obtain such comprehensive data, year by year, regarding all branches of the iron and steel trades. In no other country is such information furnished with the same degree of promptness, the more important figures, such as the yearly production of iron and steel, being given out as soon as ready in advance of the appearance of the present pamphlet report—usually in January or at the latest early in February. And all this we owe to the industry and enterprise of Mr. Swank, who for years has had charge of the collection and compilation of the statistics and who has brought them to their present state of completeness. One may not always be able to approve the extreme position on the tariff which Mr. Swank holds, but there can be no two opinions as to the excellence of his work in rendering accessible such a vast fund of information concerning these important trades and in presenting it, too, in such a convenient shape. As indicating the pride and satisfaction which Mr. Swank feels in his work and the long years of service he has given to it, as well as his gratification over the progress and expansion of the iron and steel industry, the following sentence taken from his letter in submitting the present report will, we are confident, appeal to every one: "If it should not be my lot to prepare another Annual Report, I leave to my friends in the Association this Statistical Abstract as a memento, which I feel sure they will preserve, of the wonderful achievements from year to year of the American iron trade from 1872 to 1897." We voice the general sentiment when we express the hope that Mr. Swank may be spared for many years of usefulness to the Iron & Steel Association and the public.

We have not the space to quote at length from the report, but as illustrating the great progress of the United States in recent years as an iron and steel producing country, we may refer again to a feature to which we made brief allusion last January in reviewing the figures showing our iron production for 1896. As will be remembered, the year was one of great depression in the United States and our output fell off over 823,000 tons as compared with the year preceding. In Great Britain, on the other hand, the year was one of exceptional activity and prosperity, and the output increased about 860,000 tons, making the production the largest in the entire history of the Kingdom. Yet our total thus reduced was nevertheless slightly the heavier, the figures being 8,623,127 tons for the United States and 8,563,209 tons for Great Britain. In brief then, in comparison with the nation which until 1890 (when for the first time it was excelled by the United States) held first place as the largest iron-producing country in the world, we have reached a position where in a year of most unfavorable conditions we turn out as much iron as that country does in a year of very favorable conditions. The following shows the changes in the yearly output of the United States, Great Britain and Germany since 1880.

FIG IRON PRODUCTION OF LEADING COUNTRIES.

Years—	United States, Gross tons.	Great Britain, Gross tons.	Germany, Metric tons.
1880.....	3,835,191	7,749,233	2,729,038
1885.....	4,044,526	7,415,469	3,687,434
1889.....	7,603,642	8,322,824	4,524,558
1890.....	9,262,703	7,904,214	4,658,450
1891.....	8,279,870	7,406,061	4,641,217
1892.....	9,157,000	6,709,255	4,937,461
1893.....	7,124,502	6,976,990	4,986,003
1894.....	6,657,388	7,427,342	5,380,038
1895.....	9,440,308	7,703,459	5,464,501
1896.....	8,623,127	8,563,209	6,374,816

In the foregoing the great strides forward made by Germany will attract hardly less attention than does our own progress. Since 1880 the production of the Fatherland has risen from 2,729,038 metric tons of 2,204 pounds to 6,374,816 tons, nearly a million tons of this increase having occurred in the latest year, namely 1896.

It deserves to be pointed out, too, that there has been during the last few years a very great expansion in the United States exports of iron and steel and of manufactures of iron and steel. The increase was particularly marked in the calendar years 1895 and 1896, and most persons no doubt will be surprised to hear that our exports of this description in 1895 reached over thirty-five million dollars in value ($35,071,563) and in 1896 over forty-eight million dollars ($48,670,218). Mr. Swank says that in each of the last four calendar years our exports of the articles mentioned have exceeded our imports, the aggregate exports in these years amounting to $143,844,873 and the aggregate imports amounting to $95,778,838. The imports declined partly as the result of the great falling off in the demand for foreign tin plates, owing to the fact that we now so largely produce tin plates ourselves. In 1896 our imports of plates footed up only 119,171 tons, being hardly more than one-third the imports for either 1889, 1890 or 1891, and less than in any year since 1878. At the same time the production of domestic tin plates has risen from 13,643,719 pounds in 1892 to 307,228,621 pounds in 1896. The expansion in our export trade in iron and steel of course has been mainly due to the low prices, which have enabled the United States to compete in foreign markets.

While on this subject of prices we wish to emphasize a fact to which we directed attention last week in our article on The Financial Situation in speaking of the advance in prices which has occurred during the current month. We refer to the circumstance that the upward movement starts from unprecedentedly low figures. There have been other eras of great depression in prices, but never previously have values touched such a low level as that reached in the period from which we appear to be now emerging. This is strikingly illustrated by a little table which Mr. Swank has incorporated in his report, showing the lowest quoted prices for six leading products in each of the four periods of particularly low prices which the country has experienced since the close of the Civil War. The first of these periods occurred after the panic of 1873, the second in 1884 and 1885, the third from 1891 to 1895, and the fourth in 1896 and 1897. The following is the table referred to. The prices are given per ton of 2,240 pounds, except for bar iron, which is quoted by the 100 pounds. As Mr. Swank's report is dated June 1 the table includes the declines in prices which occurred prior to that time.

LOWEST PRICES REACHED IN PERIODS OF DEPRESSION.

Articles—	1873-9.	1884-5.	1891-5.	1896-7.
No. 1 foundry pig iron, at Philadelphia.....	$16 50	$17 50	$12 00	$11 75
Gray forge pig iron, lake ore, at Pittsburg.....	16 00	14 00	8 90	8 50
Bessemer pig iron, at Pittsburg.....	19 50	17 00	9 95	9 25
Old iron T rails, at Philadelphia.....	18 00	16 50	11 00	11 50
Best bar iron, at Pittsburg.....	1 60	1 50	1 10	1 05
Steel rails, at mills, in Pennsylvania.....	40 00	26 00	22 00	17 00

It will be observed that in every case with one exception the previous low record was broken in 1896-7. Obviously, therefore, there was decided room for an improvement in prices, and the small rise which has now occurred is important chiefly so far as it may be accepted as evidence of a turn in the tide. Further recovery will be natural and seems likely, unless (as has happened so many times in the past) fresh depressing influences in the general situation should develop. Expectations of extremely high prices, however, must be modified by the knowledge that our producing capacity in every line is very large, and that each small addition to prevailing quotations will be an inducement to start up some plants now idle.

RAILWAY NET EARNINGS FOR APRIL.

Our compilation of the net earnings of United States railroads for the month of April accords with the early preliminary statement of the gross earnings for the same month in showing only comparatively small changes in the final results. In the gross the increase over last year amounts to no more than $141,883, equal to only a fraction of one per cent. In the net the improvement is more marked, and yet the gain amounts to less than five per cent—in exact figures $749,557, or 4.90 per cent.

The better result as to the net reveals the same feature noted in the returns for previous months, namely the practice of economy in the expense accounts. And this feature was really more noteworthy and general than appears from the face of the figures, since in the final result the influence of that factor is in part concealed by the effect of heavy expenses on three or four large systems where the outlays at the moment are unusually heavy. Thus the Baltimore & Ohio, while having added $28,381 to its gross receipts for the month, has lost $222,091 in the net; and the Atchison, though having $307,229 increase in gross, has $124,073 decrease in the net. In other words, on these two systems alone the addition to expenses has been nearly seven hundred thousand dollars, from which it follows that but for these exceptions to the rule the saving in expenses would have been correspondingly larger. Here are the comparative totals for the month and year to date.

	April. (134 roads.)			January 1 to April 30 (123 roads.)
	1897.	1896.	Inc. or Dec.	1897.	1896.	Inc. or Dec.

Oper. exp.	61,884,198	62,493,812	-609,614	180,256,041	185,280,574	-5,024,533
Net earn.	16,045,574	15,296,017	+749,557	61,932,686	62,462,068	+2,460,588

The leading conditions during the month were not favorable to large earnings. Trade continued depressed, and the movement of agricultural products was on the whole smaller than in the corresponding month of last year. There was an increase in the spring-wheat deliveries at Minneapolis and Duluth, but generally speaking the grain receipts (taking the statistics for the Western primary markets as a guide) fell behind those of a year ago. The cotton movement, too, in the South failed to come up to that of last year, while at Chicago the deliveries of hogs recorded quite a falling off. We are not comparing with earnings last year which were particularly good, the general exhibit then having been rather disappointing. The following shows the totals for six years for the month and four months.

As far as the individual roads are concerned, several of the systems running through the manufacturing and mining regions of the Middle and Middle Western States have sustained losses in gross earnings quite large in amount. We may mention particularly the decrease of $501,700 reported by the Pennsylvania (though this is much less than the loss for the same system in some other recent months) and the decrease of $396,520 by the Reading and of $174,702 by the Lehigh Valley, the figures of these two latter including the coal-mining operations. A few roads in other sections are distinguished in the same way, the St. Paul having $162,821 decrease, the Norfolk & Western $138,245 decrease and the Wabash $100,852. On the whole, however, the roads with large gains are much more numerous and much more conspicuous than those with large losses. In the net the losses in excess of $30,000 are limited to five roads, as will be seen by the following. As a noteworthy instance of economy in expenses we may refer to the Wabash, which, with $100,852 decrease in gross, has $17,161 increase in net.

When arranged in groups, those groups comprising lines east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio—namely, the Trunk Line group, the anthracite coal roads, the Eastern and Middle group and the Middle Western—all have fallen behind in their gross receipts, and the same groups also record losses in the net with the exception of the anthracite coal group, which has an increase. In the North-western group there is a small decrease in the gross attended by a small increase in the net. In the South and Southwest and also on the Pacific Coast there are gains in both gross and net, the showing for the Pacific group and the Southern being particularly gratifying, the one having 14.60 per cent gain in the net and the other 17.04 per cent. The Mexican group is again distinguished for its large ratios of improvement in gross and net alike, the latter amounting to over 41 per cent.

GOLD PRODUCTION IN UNITED STATES FOR 1896—MINT BUREAU ESTIMATE.

Mr. Robert E. Preston, Director of the United States Mint, issued on Saturday last his estimate of gold production in the United States for 1896. The production is given in values only, but for purposes of comparison we have reduced the figures to ounces and present them below in connection with the mint results for 1895 and 1894. It will be observed that there is an excess over 1895 in the aggregate of 313,376 ounces or $6,478,000, and that all the large producing States share in the gain. Colorado increased its output 77,686 ounces and fell only 15,718 ounces below California.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF GOLD AND SILVER AT SAN FRANCISCO.

We have received this week from the Collector of Customs at San Francisco the details of imports and exports of gold and silver through that port for the month of May, and they are presented below, together with the figures for the preceding months, thus completing the results for the eleven months of the scal year 1896-97. The imports of gold were unimportant, the amount received reaching only $44,682, of which $42,246 was in bullion, and of silver there came in $207,471, of which $174,011 was bullion. There has been received during the eleven months a total of $9,499,130 gold and $1,997,710 silver, which compares with $935,049 gold and $1,816,547 silver in 1895-96. The shipments of gold during May were $5,017 all coin, and the exports of silver have been $36,720 coin and $608,101 bullion. For the eleven months the exports of gold have been $977,391, against $381,929 in 1895-96 and $8,690,906 silver has been sent out, against $10,887,194 in 1895-96. The exhibit for May and the eleven months is as follows:

INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY OF ECONOMICS.—By CHARLES JESSER BULLOCK, Ph. D., Instructor in Economics, Cornell University. SILVER, BURDETT & COMPANY, Publishers, Boston, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia.

This volume treats of leading facts in the economic history of the United States. The subjects of consumption, value and distribution are treated with reference to the results of most recent economic discussions. Considerable attention is given to such practical problems as the money question, monopolies, the tariff and labor—all of which are discussed with reference to American conditions and experience. On all mooted questions Professor Bullock aims to present fairly the leading arguments on both sides. He arrives at his own conclusions and offers them, but not so as to offend or irritate those who by different processes of reasoning reach different conclusions.

Monetary-Commercial English News

LONDON, SATURDAY, June 5, 1897.

[From our own correspondent.]

The peace negotiations between Turkey and Greece drag slowly on. Only now has Turkey consented to prolong the armistice, and the peace negotiations proper are only just beginning. The opinion is very general in the best informed quarters that the negotiations will be very protracted, that in the end Turkey will give way, being contented with a rectification of the military frontier and a money indemnity.

The real fight is expected to be over the amount of the indemnity. Lord Salisbury has declared publicly in Parliament that the Powers will not consent to any of the Christian population being handed back to Turkish misrule, and all the other Powers are believed to be equally determined. But the Sultan is much in need of money, and he will haggle as long as possible to get as much as by any means Greece can pay. It is very evident that Greece can pay nothing unless the Powers, in some way or other, guarantee a loan; for Greek credit is utterly gone. If the Powers guarantee a loan, they will have to appoint an International Commission. At all events, Germany insists that there must be an International Commission if she is to join in the guarantee.

Respecting the negotiations with the Transvaal nothing is known. The impression is very general, not only in London, but in South Africa also, that the negotiations will end satisfactorily. But they seem to have been suspended for a while at all events. Dr. Leyds is at present in Paris. Meanwhile all the reports from Pretoria and Johannesburg are to the effect that the Commission which is now inquiring into the grievances of the mining industry is prepared to recommend very large concessions. There are rumors which find expression in the Paris Press that Dr. Leyds' object in visiting Paris, and by and by Berlin, is to negotiate a large loan. He will certainly not succeed in Paris, unless the loan is applied to buying out all the monopolies, and unless also guarantees are given that the grievances of the mine owners will be redressed. It will be recollected that France is almost as much interested in mining ventures in South Africa as we in this country are.

It is calculated by good French authorities that French investors hold mining shares for which they have paid a milliard of francs, or 40 millions sterling. The estimate appears to be extravagant, for it is well known in London that French holders have been selling here for the past year and a-half. But undoubtedly the French holdings are very great. In the case of the Chartered Company, for instance, Continental investors hold more than a third of all the shares.

The monsoon has begun in Ceylon, and we are anxiously expecting to hear that it will soon break on the Indian Coast. Usually it breaks in the neighborhood of Bombay about ten or twelve days after it first begins in Ceylon. If the rains are plentiful, and continue the usual time, there is every ground for hope that the difficulties of India will soon disappear. If the rains are deficient, the outlook will become exceedingly serious.

It is reported from New South Wales that in the centre of the colony the long drought has at length been broken, but unfortunately no rain has fallen either along the coast or along the internal border, and it is the latter especially that has suffered from the drought.

The Spanish Cabinet has at length resigned. In Germany the Reichstag has been prorogued, and the state of parties is such that many careful observers are becoming anxious for the future of the country. In Austria-Hungary it seems impossible to renew for the usual ten years the union between Austria and Hungary, while in the Austrian half of the monarchy, the bitterness of feeling between the Germans and the Slavs, especially the Bohemian Czechs, is causing much apprehension.

The speech of Mr. Lyman Gage at Cincinnati the other day has given great pleasure in London. Mr. Gage's high character and great ability are fully appreciated here, and his words, therefore, carry due weight. Since his statement the American market has been more active, and undoubtedly, if he is able to induce Congress to adopt a wise currency policy there will be a very great investment of European money in the United States. As yet, however, the buying is confined to members of the Stock Exchange and professional operators. During the week business has been almost at a standstill, mainly because so many great operators have been attending the Epsom races. To-day the Stock Exchange is closed and Monday will be a Bank holiday and a Stock Exchange holiday. On account of all this scarcely anything has been doing. International securities have been well supported by Paris. Consols, British railway stocks and the like retain their high prices, but there has been a decline in the mining market, more particularly in South African shares, due mainly to the mere absence of business and the desire of many people to realize before the holidays.

As already said, Monday will be a Bank holiday. Tuesday, the 22d, will be Jubilee Day, and on the following Saturday will take place the great naval review, so that most operators are of opinion that for the next two or three weeks there will be scarcely any business.

Money continues cheap and abundant, and is likely to remain so for some months. The Continental demand for gold is by no means as strong as it was. On the other hand the Japanese loan has been a great success and will enable Japan to take a considerable amount of the metal.

There is much talk of a Chinese Government loan, but it seems unlikely. A Belgian syndicate has obtained a contract for the construction of a railway for which it is bound to raise two millions sterling, the remaining two millions being raised in China itself. As, however, the whole of the control is to be in Chinese hands, it seems unlikely that either French or Belgian investors will supply the funds; certainly British capitalists will have nothing to do with it. Apart from this loan, it is said that a Mr. Wilson is negotiating for a loan of sixteen millions sterling. As the free Customs revenue is not sufficient, it is alleged that the Chinese Government offers in addition the Lekin Tax of the province in which Shanghai is situated. It is hardly creditable that such a loan could succeed, supposing it were arranged for, because the Lekin tax is an internal impost. If European collectors were appointed they would have to reside where there are no consuls, and where, therefore, their lives would be unsafe. Besides, if China raises so large a sum for the purchase of ships, munitions of war, etc., how is she to provide for the payment of the remainder of the indemnity due to Japan, and if she does not provide for it, what will be the consequences?

The silver market is very weak, but the India Council has sold its drafts better this week. It offered for tender on Wednesday 30 lacs, and disposed of the whole amount at a trifle under 1s. 2½d. per rupee, and it subsequently sold by private contract. The demand is due to increased stringency in the Indian money market. The Bank of Bombay reduced its rate of discount from 10 per cent to 9 per cent a little while ago, but last week it put it back again to 10 per cent. It is hoped that the large amount of Council drafts bought last week and this week will relieve the tension, and that as trade is so greatly depressed and the slack season has set in, we may hope for a gradual easing of the market.

The "Railway News" of London reports the traffic receipts for the week ending May 30 of 55 railways of the United Kingdom which make weekly returns at £1,651,853, against £1,720,005 in the corresponding week of last year, a decrease of £68,153. For the twenty-two weeks of the current half-year receipts were £34,127,821, an increase of £788,115.

WALL STREET, FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1897—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Evidence that the general business situation is expected to improve is found in a review of the transactions of the week in Wall Street. Well-directed and persistent efforts to bring about a reaction in prices was temporary and only partially successful, followed by a further upward movement, which is the result of the more hopeful feeling that now so generally prevails. There has been a fair amount of purchasing for investment this week, including railway and Government securities. Of the latter the 4s of 1925 have made a new high record, selling at 125 1/4.

Railway securities were favorably affected by another Supreme Court decision in favor of the management of railroad traffic rates by the duly authorized officers of the companies. Reports of earnings by some of the granger roads and prospects of the spring wheat crop were also favorable factors of considerable importance.

The demand for foreign exchange has increased as the week draws to a close, stimulated no doubt by the approaching July first settlements of interest and dividends maturing abroad. Under this increased demand rates have advanced. In addition to a shipment of $600,000 on Thursday, $350,000 of gold has been engaged for export to-morrow and more is expected to go out next week.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1 to 1 1/4 per cent. To-day's rates on call were 1 to 1 1/4 per cent. Prime commercial paper quoted at 8 to 3 1/2 per cent.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £508,691 and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 51.29 against 50.55 last week; the discount rate remains unchanged at 2 per cent. The Bank of France shows an increase of 8,525,000 francs in gold and 1,625,000 francs in silver.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $3,000 Virginia fund. debt 2-8s of 1891 at 64 1/2, $2,000 North Carolina 6s, 1919, at 127 and $2,000 North Carolina 4s at 105 1/4.

There has been very little tendency to reaction in the market for railway bonds and in some cases prices have steadily advanced through the week. The investment demand for this class of securities continues and offerings are readily absorbed. The Texas & Pacific issues have been conspicuous for activity and strength. Columbus H. V. & Toledo 5s, Duluth & Iron Range, Kansas Pacific and Wisconsin Central have advanced from 1 to 4 per cent. The active list includes Atchison, Chicago & Northern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Rock Island, Fort Worth & Denver City, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Minneapolis & St. Louis, Missouri Kansas & Texas, Mobile & Ohio, Northern Pacific, Oregon Railroad & Navigation, Oregon Short Line, Reading, St. Paul Minn. & Manitoba, San Antonio & Aransas Pass, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Union Pacific Denver & Gulf, Wisconsin Central and Wash bonds.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The unusual advance in prices which was the principal feature of the stock market last week was followed by profit-taking and a temporary reaction during the early part of this week.

The bear element met with little encouragement however, and in a majority of cases the active list closes higher than our last quotations. The grangers have been leaders of the railroad list, both in strength and activity, on reports of increasing traffic and excellent crop prospects. The advance in this group averages about 1 1/4 per cent. Central of New Jersey has made a further recovery from its recent heavy decline, selling at 85 on Wednesday, an advance of nearly 10 points within a week. The shares with an international market have been under the influence of arbitrage operations, which in some cases has resulted in fractional declines. Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis common has advanced a point, while the preferred, owing to a suspension of dividends, declined 7 points on the offering of a few shares.

Announcement of the date of payment for the dividend of 2 per cent on St. Louis & San Francisco first preferred directed attention to all the issues of the company and better prices were made for the first and second preferred.

American Sugar continues the prominent feature of the miscellaneous list. It sold ex-dividend on Wednesday and closes at 124 1/2. Chicago Gas has also been in favor and advanced to the highest quotations recorded for it in recent years. Consolidated Gas shows a net gain of 6 1/2 points. American Tobacco, Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railway, Western Union and United States Leather preferred are higher than last week.

Net Earnings Monthly to Latest Dates.—The following shows the gross and net earnings to latest dates of all STEAM railroads furnishing monthly statements. The compilation includes every road from which we can get returns of this character and in that form is given once a month. Early returns are published from week to week, as soon as issued, but for the convenience of our readers all the roads making returns are brought together here in the week in which we publish our monthly article on net earnings—say on or about the 20th of the month.

The returns of the street railways we give by themselves under a separate head at the extreme end of these tabulations—see page 1178.

c Deducting other expenditures for repairs, replacements and general expenses, net income applicable to interest on bonds in April was $120,380, against $94,424 last year, and from January 1 to April 30 $537,784, against $417,438. This is the result in Mexican dollars treated (according to the company's method of keeping its accounts) as equivalent to 80 cents in United States money—that is, all depreciation beyond 20 per cent has already been allowed for.
d Expenses for April, 1897, include $14,300 for flood damages.
e Results of coal mining operations only.
f After deducting taxes of $9,250, net earnings for April, 1897, were $8,204. In 1896 taxes were not deducted until the end of the year.
g After allowing for other income received, net for April was $5,892, against $85,644, and from July 1 to April 30 was $532,387, against $481,972.
h Increase in expense due largely to floods in March and April.
i Includes besides Atlantic System the Houston & Texas Central, Austin & Northwestern, Central Texas & Northwestern and Ft. Worth & New Orleans.
j Includes Chicago Burlington & Northern for both years.
k For April, 1897, taxes and rentals amounted to $145,742, against $162,387, and from July 1 to April 30, 1897, $1,571,333, against $1,616,182, after deducting which net for April, 1897, was $288,506, against $395,934, and from July 1 to April 30, 1897, $5,319,111, against $4,402,629.
l Figures are given exclusive of results on Oregon Railway & Navigation, Oregon Short Line & Utah North'n, St. Jos. & Gr. Island, Union Pacific Denver & Gulf, Fort Worth & Denver City, Leavenworth Topeka & Southwestern, Montana Union and Kansas City & Omaha.

† St. Louis Alton & Terra Haute included in all periods, except that for the three months from July 1 to September 30 that road's results are not included for 1895.

§ Results on Albany Florida & Northern are included only for July and August, 1895.

¶ Including income from ferries, &c.

STREET RAILWAYS AND TRACTION COMPANIES.

The following table shows the gross earnings for the latest period of all STREET railways from which we are able to obtain weekly or monthly returns. The arrangement of the table is the same as that for the steam roads—that is, the first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the calendar year from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—In the following we show both the gross and the net earnings to latest dates of all STREET railways from which we have been able to procure monthly returns. As in the case of the steam roads, the returns of the different roads are published by us each week as soon as received, and once a month (on the third or the fourth Saturday of the month) we bring all the roads reporting together, as is done to-day.

Allegheny Valley Railway.

(Report for year ending December 31, 1896.)

President W. H. Barnes says in part:

General.—"Your Board regrets to have to report a large decrease in net earnings. The fall-off in traffic incident to the general depression in all business interests affected the volume of traffic seriously, especially in coal, minerals and raw products incident to manufacturing industries. Also a relative reduction in passenger traffic resulted."

Improvements.—"It was imperative during the year to rebuild two important bridges and complete the large bridge at Oil City commenced in 1895; also to make necessary repairs and renewals to station properties and build additional side tracks. Most of these expenditures were commenced early in the year, before the fall-off in traffic was realized, and it was not possible to stop the work then in progress."

"The total outlay for bridges, structures, etc., was $136,992, of which $76,018 was charged to expenses and $60,974 to construction and equipment, out of the Special Fund Account.

"This account is now closed, the entire fund having been applied under the terms of the reorganization agreement of October 1st, 1891."

New Road.—On December 10 the Brookville Rr. was completed, running from a point near Brookville Station, on the Low Grade Division, up Red Bank Creek, north thirteen miles, to a valuable and extensive lumber tract belonging to Heldrick, Matson & Co. Its capital stock is $130,000, of which $52,000 is issued; your company owns $32,000 and is represented by a majority in the board of directors.

Financial.—Of the $4,000,000 first mortgage 73.10 per cent bonds of the river division, due March 1, 1896, all but $6,000 have been paid.

The substitution of 4 per cent general mortgage bonds for these 73.10 per cent bonds has decreased the interest charge on funded debt $143,639 for the year.

Preferred stock for $252,500 was issued, of which $244,550 to the Pennsylvania Railroad in payment for $34,950 coupons from the first mortgage 7 per cent low grade division bonds and $210,500 coupons from the general mortgage bonds paid by that company; $7,950 was issued in settlement for income bonds of the old company and the conversion of stock scrip.

General mortgage bonds for $100,000 were sold to pay the State of Pennsylvania for bond No. 23 for $100,000, due January 1, 1897, of the second mortgage 4 per cent loan of the low grade division.

Consolidated Ice Company.

(Report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1896.)

This company was organized in May, 1895, under a Maine charter.

President C. W. Morse, in his report for the late year, says in part:

Property.—The business of the company for the twelve months has been prosperous. During that period considerable purchases of property have been made, so that at the close of the year the plant comprised the following: 87 ice plants, on the Kennebec and Hudson rivers; 37 depots, 24 stables, 2 shops, etc., in New York and Brooklyn; 101 refrigerator barges; 1,261 horses; 760 wagons, harness, etc. All the properties of the company, without exception, were acquired by direct purchase, and titles conveyed by deed in the regular way. The houses of the company have a capacity exceeding 2,300,000 tons.

Stock and Bonds.—The capital stock outstanding at the close of the year was $9,408,300, consisting of $2,903,300 preferred stock, and $6,505,000 common stock. The company has no direct bonded debt, the only bonds outstanding being $1,255,000, consisting of three small issues previously existing on properties purchased by this company as follows: Knickerbocker Ice Company, $1,005,000; Ridgewood Ice Company, $200,000; Consumers' Ice Company, $50,000.

Sales.—The tonnage of ice sold during the twelve months was 1,983,520 tons, house measurement, which was reduced by waste in transportation and delivery to 1,139,659 tons delivered weight, showing a shrinkage of about 43 per cent.

Earnings.—The operations of the company were as follows:

Year End, Dec. 31—	1896.	Charges and Dividends—
Sales of ice.....	$3,534,723	Interest on bonds.....	$69,221

North American Company.

(Report for the year ending May 31, 1897.)

President Charles W. Wetmore says in part:

General Conditions.—A strike of the employees of the company was inaugurated on May 3, 1895, and succeeded by a boycott of the railway, organized by the strikers with the assistance of the various trades unions of the city. The boycott continued until about the 1st of July, with the result that the gross earnings of the railway for the months of May and June were at least $125,000 less than they would have been under normal circumstances. The striking force of motormen and conductors was almost wholly replaced with new men, and the resulting disturbances of the service and the lingering effects of the boycott undoubtedly tended for some months later to increase the operating expenses and diminish the receipts of the railway.

An ordinance was adopted on the 8th day of June, 1896, requiring the sale by the company of tickets, 25 for one dollar, 12 for 50 cents and 6 for 25 cents. An injunction against the enforcement of the ordinance was obtained, and it is expected that the case will be brought to a final hearing before the court during the coming winter. Counsel are confident of success, and if the principles contended for are firmly established the result will be of manifest permanent advantage to the company.

Properties Purchased.—In February last the purchase of the Pabst light, heat and power plant, and of the property of the Milwaukee & Wauwatosa Electric Railway, owning an electric railway, running from the city to the important suburb of Wauwatosa, and an electric lighting plant there, was consummated through the medium of the Milwaukee, Light, Heat & Traction Company, organized for the purpose. The entire capital stock of this company was acquired by The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company, which now owns all the electric street railways in the city of Milwaukee and its immediate suburbs, and all the central station lighting plants in the city and in the village of Wauwatosa.

Milwaukee Electric Ry. and Light Co.—The fiscal year of this company ends Dec. 31. The strike and boycott, with their incidental expenses and loss of earnings, make it impossible to draw accurate conclusions from the business of the company, but these disturbing influences had lost their effect before the beginning of the present fiscal and calendar year, and the operations of the first five months of this year afford a reliable basis for estimates of the earning capacity of the property. The gross earnings from January 1, 1896, to May 1, 1896 (the time of the strike) were the largest in its history to that date, amounting for the four months to $502,392. For the corresponding four months of this year they have been $503,437. Further comparisons with last year are, on account of the strike, of course without significance. The earnings for the first five months of this year to June 1 have been $532,231, as against $563,767 for the corresponding period of 1895, being an increase of $68,464. The earnings of the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Company are not included in the foregoing statement, and they will add substantially to the results for the year.

Cincinnati Edison Co.—The Cincinnati Edison Electric Company has made satisfactory progress during the past year; its earnings, both gross and net, have increased. A financial plan has been concluded, which provides for the retirement of the existing mortgages upon the property and the creation of a new first mortgage, to provide capital for immediate requirements, and also for the possible development of the business for many years to come. A sufficient amount of these bonds has been sold to a syndicate, in which your company participates, to retire all the indebtedness of the company, construct a new station, and make the installation required for the additional business immediately in prospect.

Reduction of Stock Proposed.—The nominal capital of your company is so large that, at the present time, a plan for the reduction of its capital stock to an amount better proportioned to its earning capacity will be submitted for your consideration.

Treasurer's Statement.—The Treasurer on June 1, 1897, reports the following assets and liabilities:

Southern Cotton Oil.

(Report for the year ending April 30, 1897.)

The President says in his report that greases and fats which enter into competition with cotton seed oil sold lower during the year than ever before. The competition in the buying of seeds has been very keen, particularly in Texas, the Carolinas, Georgia and Alabama, and hence the profit in manufacturing has been cut both ways.

Net profits were $68,025, against $30,820 for the previous year, and $210,462 in 1895. A dividend of 4 per cent, payable June 15, was declared, calling for $80,000.

Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis Ry.—No Preferred Quarterly Dividend in July.—The directors on Monday failed to declare the usual quarterly dividend of  $1\frac{1}{4}$  per cent due July 1 on the preferred stock. Dividends of  $1\frac{1}{4}$  per cent each have been paid quarterly on the preferred stock since 1890 but no dividend has been paid on the common since August, 1893, when  $1\frac{1}{2}$  per cent was paid.

A director of the company is reported as saying that "the company has not earned enough to pay full 5 per cent (for the fiscal year ending June 30), but this does not signify that the next dividend will not be paid."—V. 64, p. 233.

Colorado Midland RR.—Plan Agreed Upon by Majority Interest.—The Reorganization Committee have matured a plan of reorganization which has received the assents, it is said, of a majority of the bondholders. It is thought the plan will be ready for public announcement within the next fortnight, and the sale will take place about August.—V. 64, p. 888.

Concord & Montreal RR.—New Bonds Authorized.—The stockholders at a special meeting on Tuesday authorized the issue of $650,000 of bonds to reimburse the Boston & Maine for money advanced in 1895 to pay the claims of the Manchester & Lawrence against the Concord & Montreal. De Moines & Fort Dodge RR.—Statement for Year.—For the year ending Dec. 31, 1896, this company reports rental received from the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific (30 per cent of gross), $153,690; other income, $1,982; total income, $155,642. Interest charges, etc., $106,029. Balance for dividends, $49,613; from which a dividend of 6 per cent on the preferred stock has been declared, payable Aug. 2, calling for $45,756. In 1895 the rental was $144,523.—V. 63, p. 29.

Illinois Central RR.—St. L. A. & T. H. Terminal Bonds Called.—The St. Louis Alton & Terre Haute first mortgage and terminal 5s of 1894 for \$2,275,000 have been called for payment at 105 on June 1, 1898. New St. Louis Division  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent bonds of the Illinois Central, of which \$15,000,000 were recently authorized (see v. 64, p. 952), will be issued.—V. 64, 1137.

Iowa Central Ry.—Opposition to Call for Proxies.—On Thursday stockholders received a circular from President Sage's office, asking that proxies for the annual meeting in September be sent to E. C. M. Rand, care of Russell Sage. Later in the day the following circular was also sent to stockholders:

To the Stockholders of the Iowa Central Railway Company:

A circular signed by E. C. M. Rand, in care of Russell Sage, prematurely issued, inasmuch as the election does not occur until September, has been sent out asking for your proxies. It does not represent any action of the board of directors. The undersigned, in behalf of many large stockholders, beg to notify you that in their opinion it is not for your interest to send your proxies in this direction and request you to withhold them for further communication with us. (Signed), A. M. Kidder & Co., Strong, Sturgis & Co., Clark, Dodge & Co., Taintor & Holt, R. J. Kimball & Co.

The annual report of the company for the year ending June 30, 1896, was given in the CHRONICLE of Oct. 3, page 598.—V. 63, p. 598.

Kansas Central RR.—Sale Postponed.—On Tuesday the postponed sale of this road (see V. 64, p. 799) was again postponed until June 25.—V. 64, p. 1041.

Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry.—Abstract of the New 100-Year Mortgage.—The investing public here and abroad will be interested in the abstract of the new Lake Shore refunding mortgage, which is printed on other pages of this issue. From a study of the same it will be observed that all the most approved provisions for the protection of the bondholders are incorporated in this mortgage. The bonds of course rank as a very choice investment. They will be listed this coming week on the New York Stock Exchange. The current quotation is 103-103 $\frac{1}{2}$ .—V. 64, p. 1088.

Little Rock & Memphis RR.—Sale Postponed.—The sale of this road was postponed last week to December 11, 1897.—V. 64, p. 567.

The money to be raised by this conversion ($250,000) is required for improvements, for equipping the last 14 miles of line with electricity and for new cars.—V. 64, p. 466.

Maine Central RR.—Dexter & Newport RR. Refunding.—The Dexter & Newport directors announce that arrangements have been made with the Maine Central to take up the $125,000 town of Dexter and $50,000 town of Corinna bonds (issued for the D. & N. in 1867) falling due Sept. 2, and to issue a new mortgage on the Dexter road to the Portland Trust Co. of Portland, Maine; the new bonds to be guaranteed by the Maine Central bear interest, it is said, at 4 per cent and run 30 years.—V. 64, p. 234.

Metropolitan Street Ry. Norwich & Worcester RR.—Meeting to Authorize Bonds.—A special meeting of the stockholders will be held on Tuesday next to act on the proposition to issue bonds from time to time to an amount not exceeding $2,000,000 and to authorize the building of an extension to connect with the New York New Haven & Hartford RR. at Groton, Connecticut, in accordance with the terms of the lease to the New England RR. as revised last April.—V. 64, p. 664.

Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain RR.—Directors Elected by Bondholders.—At the annual meeting held on Wednesday at Ogdensburg, a motion to postpone the election to February next was made by Louis Hasbrouck and declared carried by the Chairman, B. B. Smalley (oath interested in the Central Vermont Railroad), $1,600,000 stock voting in favor. The stock is chiefly held by the Central Vermont Railroad Company. William Lummis offered the vote of $3,435,000 mortgage bondholders in opposition, but the chairman refused it on the ground that while the bondholders were entitled to vote for directors, they could not vote on any other motion.

The three or four Central Vermont representatives, including E. C. Smith, president and receiver of the company, then withdrew, but the meeting was continued, Charles R. Batt, of the National Security Bank of Boston, in the chair, and the following directors were elected by the bondholders without opposition: Charles Parsons, Charles R. Batt, William Lummis, George Parsons, Thomas Denny, Jr., Charles N. Chevalier, Henry Parsons, Philip V. R. Ely, Hiram A. Dodge, Edwin Parsons, Clarence S. Day, Walton Ferguson and Daniel Magone.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Charles Parsons was elected President; Charles G. Burnham, Treasurer, and Henry Parsons, Secretary. Charles Parsons is the present receiver of the Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain Railroad Company, appointed by United States Judge Wallace.

At the foreclosure sale, which will probably soon take place, the property will, it is expected, be purchased by the bondholders' committee, of which Mr. Parsons is chairman, and it will then become an independent road.—V. 64, p. 1039.

St. Louis & San Francisco RR.—Atlantic & Pacific RR.—Negotiation for Sale of A. & P. Central Division.—Negotiations are pending for the sale to the St. Louis & San Francisco of the Atlantic & Pacific Central division first mortgage bonds held by the Bangs Committee. The bonds cover the road from Seneca, Mo., to Sapulpa, I. T., 112 miles. The Frisco has been operating the road.—V. 64, p. 1089, 950.

San Diego Land & Town Co.—Sold.—The property of this company was sold at National City, Cal., on Monday, to B. P. Cheney of Boston, for the Reorganization Committee.—V. 64, p. 708.

United States Car Co.—Non-Assenting Stock.—The non-assenting shareholders are said to be taking steps to protect their interests. The reorganization plan was published in the CHRONICLE of December 26, 1896, page 1160, and under it the old common and preferred stocks are each asked to pay an assessment of  $6\frac{1}{4}$  per cent. Stockholders paying the assessment are to receive new first mortgage bonds therefor, and 15 per cent of their holdings in new common stock in exchange for their old shares.—V. 64, p. 236.

United Traction.—The Second Avenue Traction.—Pittsburg Allegheny & Manchester Traction.—North Side Traction.—Proposed Consolidation.—A meeting of the stockholders of the three last-named companies has been called for June 26 to ratify the proposition for a lease and sale of those properties to the United Traction Co. Messrs. Brown Bros. & Co., and Alexander Brown & Sons have agreed to purchase upon certain conditions $4,000,000 bonds of the United Traction.

The United Traction, through purchase of the stock and by 950-year leases, has secured control of these three companies (aggregating 116.68 miles) and receives the entire earnings, subject only to the following annual charges:

The 2d Ave. Traction, $2,500,000 bonds.....	$125,900
Federal St. & Pleasant Val., $1,275,000 bonds.....	64,500
Do do $650,000 stock.....	32,500
Pitts. Allegheny & Manchester Trac., $1,500,000 bonds.....	75,000
	$297,900

The gross earnings of the three companies for the year ending Dec. 31, 1896, were $1,438,292; operating expenses, including taxes and insurance, $783,241; net earnings, $655,051; and deducting charges as above, $297,900, leaves $357,151 surplus for year over all charges which would be applicable to interest (amounting to $200,000) on the $4,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds which the United Traction proposes to sell at this time.

New Bonds.—The new United Traction mortgage is limited to $10,000,000 securing 100-year 5 per cent gold bonds; the Maryland Trust Co. of Baltimore is trustee. Of these, $5,275,000 are to be reserved to retire the divisional bonds (above mentioned); $725,000 reserved for betterments and improvements after January, 1898, and $4,000,000 to be sold to the syndicate, and the proceeds, in addition to proceeds from the preferred stock, used to provide the purchase money paid for the several roads.

Stock.—The capital stock of the United Traction is $10,000,000, of which $7,000,000 is common and $3,000,000 preferred.

Application will be made to have the bonds listed on the Philadelphia and Baltimore Exchanges.—V. 63, p. 269; V. 64, p. 235, 1138, 664.

Western Gas (Milwaukee).—Listing.—From the application of this company to list its collateral trust gold bonds and stock on the New York Stock Exchange, as noted in the CHRONICLE of May 29 the following facts are taken:

Organization.—The Western Gas Company was organized on March 8, 1893, under the General Laws of the State of New York. It has acquired by purchase all of the stock of the Milwaukee Gas Light Company of Milwaukee, Wis., except the non-voting shares necessary to qualify directors, and on these nine shares it holds adoption to purchase at any time.

Plant.—The Milwaukee Gas Light Company controls the entire gas light system of the city of Milwaukee, Wis., under its charter, which is perpetual and exclusive; the language of the Supreme Court of the State of Wisconsin, in the case State vs. Milwaukee Gas Light Company (29 Wis., 458), being as follows:

"It appears to us that this section confers upon the defendant in the most clear and unambiguous language, the exclusive right and authority to manufacture and sell gas in the city of Milwaukee."

The Milwaukee Gas Light Company has no mortgage or lien of any kind on its property, which consists of the gas works at Milwaukee. The company also owns valuable pieces of real estate in the city of Milwaukee. Its plant has a capacity of 5,000,000 cubic feet per day. It has over 225 miles of mains, and had over 18,000 services in use on April 30, 1897. It has 2,587 street lamps and 30,461 meters in use. The price at which it furnishes gas is $1 per 1,000 cubic feet for illuminating purposes and 80 cents when sold for fuel purposes. The following table shows the growth of business of the Milwaukee Gas Light Company from December 31, 1892, to date:

	On Dec. 31—	1892.	1893.	1894.	1895, Apr. 30 '97
Pipe mileage .....	172	142	201	216	225
Meters in service.....	17,100	20,487	22,573	26,950	30,461

The percentage of increase in sales of gas over the previous year was, in 1893, 16.05 per cent; 1894, 6.13 per cent; 1895, 9.8 per cent; 1896, 8.85 per cent, and for the first four months of 1897, 4.16 per cent.

Bonds.—The collateral trust first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds are dated May 1, 1893, and are due May 1, 1933; Central Trust Co. of New York, Trustee; they are redeemable at 110 and interest upon any interest date, in whole or in part, on notice advertised once a week, for at least eight weeks before the date selected for payment, in one daily newspaper published in the city of New York and one published to the city of Milwaukee. These bonds are also convertible at any time before maturity, at the option of the Western Gas Company, into a bond of like tenor and amount, bearing the same rate of interest and falling due on same date, secured by a first mortgage upon all the property and franchises of the Milwaukee Gas Light Company. Bonds for $3,999,500 have been certified by the Trustee, but only $3,805,500 have been sold, there remaining in the treasury $ 93,375 for improvements. The above-named bonds are part of an issue of $4,000,000, and are secured by a deposit with the Trustee of the entire capital stock (26,136 shares, par value $50 each), of the Milwaukee Gas Light Company. There has also been deposited with the Central Trust Company of New York a certified copy of the vote of the stockholders of the Milwaukee Gas Light Company, limiting the power of the directors of said company to borrow money to $250,000, except from the Western Gas Company. The stock of the Milwaukee Gas Light Company is registered in the name of the Central Trust Company of New York, Trustee, and this vote of the stockholders cannot be altered without the consent of said Trustee. The object of this vote is to limit the creation of obligations of the Milwaukee Gas Light Company taking precedence of the stock.

Earnings.—The earnings over fixed charges of Western Gas Company for the last two years are shown as follows:

Net earnings, after all deductions .....	$134,567	$412,343

All cash received by the Trustee under this sub-division of this section shall be applied by it to the purchase or payment at par of an equivalent amount of the outstanding old bonds then unpaid.

(c) Every outstanding old bond received by the Trustee shall by it be stamped with the words "Not negotiable. Held in trust for the purposes declared in the Three and One-half per cent Gold Bond Mortgage of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway Company, dated June 1, 1897," and shall be held by the said Trustee as purchaser, without extinguishment or impairment of lien, as additional security for the payment of the bonds hereby secured until not less than 97 per cent of all such outstanding old bonds, either shall have been paid and canceled, or shall have been received hereunder by the said Trustee, whereupon, on the written request of the Railway Company, the said Trustee shall cancel and surrender to the Railway Company all outstanding old bonds then in its possession.

(d) If, after providing as above prescribed for the purchase or payment of all such outstanding old bonds, there shall still remain unissued hereunder bonds hereby secured, then, and in that event, upon being satisfied that sufficient provision has been made for every outstanding old bond, the said Trustee shall deliver upon the order of the Railway Company the whole amount of the bonds by this indenture authorized and secured, and then remaining unissued.

REGISTERED BONDS WITHOUT COUPONS.

SEC. 5. Whenever any coupon bond secured by this indenture shall be surrendered for exchange for registered bonds, the Railway Company shall issue a like amount of registered bonds, without coupons. Such registered bonds shall be for $1,000, or for such multiples thereof as from

For any exchange of coupon bonds for registered bonds, and for any transfer of registered bonds without coupons, the Railway Company, at its option, may make a charge not exceeding one dollar for each new registered bond issued upon such exchange or transfer.

BONDS MUTILATED OR DESTROYED MAY BE REPLACED.

SEC. 6. In case any bond issued hereunder shall become mutilated or shall be destroyed, the Railway Company, in its discretion, may issue, and the Trustee thereupon shall deliver, a new bond of like tenor and date, bearing the same serial number, either upon cancellation of the mutilated bond and its coupons or upon receipt of satisfactory evidence of the destruction of such bond and its coupons, and upon receipt also of satisfactory indemnity.

ARTICLE TWO.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST TO BE PAID PUNCTUALLY, TAX FREE.

SECTION 1.—The Railway Company will punctually pay the principal and interest of every bond secured hereunder, without deduction from either principal or interest for any tax or taxes imposed by the United States or any State or county or municipality thereof, which the Railway Company may be required to pay or to retain therefrom under or by reason of any present or future law. When and as paid all coupons shall forthwith be canceled.

DEEDS OF FURTHER ASSURANCE.

SEC. 2. But nothing in this indenture expressed or implied shall be construed to limit the power of the Railway Company, hereby expressly reserved, to own and hold or to construct or to acquire other lines of railway or branches or extensions or interest therein or other property free from the lien hereof.

OFFICE FOR REGISTRATION OF BONDS IN NEW YORK CITY

SEC. 3. The Railway Company will maintain in New York City a registry office for the registering, upon presentation, of coupon bonds and registered bonds issued hereunder.

Upon presentation of any registered coupon bond bearing a written power to transfer the same executed in a form approved by the Railway Company by the registered holder, for the time being, such bond shall be transferred upon such register. The registered holder of any such registered coupon bond also shall have the right to cause the same to be registered as payable to bearer, in which case transferability by delivery shall be restored, and thereafter the principal of such bond shall be payable to any person presenting the same. Successive registrations and transfers as aforesaid may be made from time to time as desired; and each registration shall be noted by the bond registrar on the bond.

Any registered bond without coupons may be transferred by instrument in writing executed by the registered holder, upon the surrender of such bond and the payment of the charge for such transfer, in which case new registered bonds for an equivalent amount will be issued to the transferee or transferees, as provided in Section 5 of Article One hereof.

As to all bonds so registered, the person in whose name the same shall be registered shall, for all purposes of this indenture, be deemed and be regarded as the owner thereof, and thereafter payment of, or on account of, the principal of such bond, if it be a registered coupon bond, and of the principal and interest, if it be a registered bond without coupons, shall be made only to, or upon the order of, such registered holder thereof; but such registration may be changed as above provided.

Registration of any coupon bond shall, however, not restrain the negotiability of any coupon thereto belonging, but every such coupon shall continue to pass by delivery and shall remain payable to bearer.

OUTSTANDING OLD BONDS TO BE RETIRED AT OR BEFORE MATURITY.

SEC. 4. The Railway Company will pay or will deposit with the Trust Company, Trustee hereunder, on or before their respective dates of maturity, all the outstanding old bonds of the four issues above mentioned. And punctually it will pay the interest on all such outstanding bonds of said four issues, not acquired and deposited hereunder. The Railway Company will not extend the time for payment of the principal of any of such outstanding old bonds.

THE RAILWAY COMPANY WILL NOT SUFFER PRIOR CHARGES TO BE CREATED.

SEC. 5. The Railway Company will not voluntarily suffer to be created any lien or charge having priority to the lien of these presents, and, within three months after the same shall accrue, it will make adequate provision for the discharge of all lawful claims and demands of mechanics, laborers and others, which, if unpaid, might by law be given precedence to this indenture as a lien or charge upon the mortgaged premises or any part thereof, or the income thereof.

TAXES, ASSESSMENTS, ETC., TO BE PROMPTLY PAID.

SEC. 6. The Railway Company will also from time to time pay all taxes, assessments and governmental charges lawfully imposed, the lien of which would be prior hereto.

ALL THE BONDS AND THEIR PROCEEDS TO BE APPLIED AS HEREIN PROVIDED.

SEC. 7. The Railway Company will not dispose of any bonds hereby secured in any manner other than in accordance with the provisions of this indenture, and it will apply the proceeds thereof for purposes herein prescribed, and for no other or different purpose.

ARTICLE THREE.

COUPONS PLEDGED APART FROM BONDS TO HAVE SUBORDINATE LIEN.

SEC. 1. No interest obligation belonging to any bond hereby secured which on and after maturity shall be transferred or pledged apart from its bond shall be entitled to any benefit from this indenture, except after the prior payment in full of the principal of all bonds issued hereunder, and of all interest obligations not so transferred or pledged.

DEFAULT FOR SIX MONTHS, TRUSTEES MAY TAKE POSSESSION.

SEC. 2. In case (1) of default for six months in the payment of any interest on any bond secured by this indenture, or in the performance of any of the covenants of the Railway Company contained in Section 5 of Article Two hereof, or (2) of default in the due and punctual payment of the principal of any bond hereby secured; or (3) of default for six months in the due performance of any other covenant or condition herein required to be kept by the Railway Company after written notice thereof from the Trustees or from the holders of 5 per cent in amount of the bonds hereby secured; then in every such case the Trustees personally, or by their agents, may enter upon all or any part of the railways, lands and franchises hereby conveyed, and operate the same. Upon every such entry the Trustees, at the expense of the trust estate, may maintain and restore and insure the rolling stock, tools and machinery and other property, in connection with said railways, to the same extent as is usual with railway companies, and likewise may make all necessary repairs and useful alterations as to them may seem judicious.

APPLICATION BY TRUSTEE OF PROCEEDS FROM OPERATING THE PROPERTY.

After deducting the expenses of operating said railways, and of all renewals, additions, betterments and improvements, and all taxes, assessments and prior charges, as well as compensation for their own services, the Trustees shall apply the income of the railway as follows:

In case the principal of the bonds hereby secured shall not have become due, to the payment of the interest remaining in default in the order of the maturity of the instalments of such interest, with interest thereon at the rate of 3½ per cent per annum; such payments to be made ratably to the persons or parties entitled thereto, without discrimination or preference.

In case the principal of the bonds hereby secured shall have become due by declaration or otherwise, first to the payment of the accrued interest (with interest thereon at the rate of 3½ per cent per annum) in the order of the maturity of the instalments thereof, and next to the payment of the principal of all bonds hereby secured. In every instance such payments shall be made ratably to the persons or parties entitled to such payment without any discrimination.

UPON DEFAULT FOR SIX MONTHS IN THE PAYMENT OF INTEREST, THE TRUSTEE, ON REQUEST OF A MAJORITY OF THE BONDS, SHALL DECLARE THE PRINCIPAL DUE.

SEC. 3. In case of default for six months in the payment of any interest on any bond hereby secured, or in the performance of any of the covenants of the Railway Company contained in Section 5 of Article Two hereof, then, upon the written request of the holders of a majority in amount of the bonds then outstanding, the Trustee, by notice in writing delivered to the Railway Company, shall declare the principal of all bonds hereby secured to be due and payable immediately. But if subsequently all arrears of interest, with interest at the rate of 3½ per cent per annum on overdue instalments of interest, shall either be paid by the Railway Company or be collected out of the mortgaged premises before any sale of the mortgaged premises, then the holders of a majority in amount of the bonds hereby secured then outstanding, by written notice to the Railway Company and to the Trustee, may waive such default and its consequences.

UPON DEFAULT FOR SIX MONTHS THE TRUSTEE MAY SELL THE PROPERTY AT AUCTION OR INSTITUTE FORECLOSURE OR OTHER SUITS.

SEC. 4. In case of default made and continued as specified in Section 2 of this article, the Trustees (a) may sell to the highest and best bidder, all and singular the mortgaged property and premises, franchises, interests and property of every kind, in one lot and as an entirety, unless a sale in parcels shall be required under the provisions of Section 6 of this Article, in which case such sale may be made in parcels as in said Section provided. Said sale or sales shall be made at public auction at such place in the city of Cleveland, in the State of Ohio, or at such other place, and at such time and upon such terms, as the Trustees may fix and briefly specify in the notice of sale to be given as herein provided. Or (b) immediately upon the expiration of the six months in the two cases so indicated, and immediately upon default in payment of principal, in the other case, the Trustees may proceed to protect and enforce their rights and the rights of bondholders under this indenture, by a suit or suits in equity or at law, whether for the specific performance of any covenant or agreement contained herein, or in aid of the execution of any power herein granted, or for the foreclosure of this indenture, or for the enforcement of any other appropriate legal or equitable remedy, as the Trustees, being advised by counsel learned in the law, shall deem most effectual to protect and enforce any of their rights or duties hereunder.

TRUSTEES MUST TAKE ACTION WHEN REQUESTED BY 25 PER CENT IN INTEREST OF THE BONDHOLDERS.

Upon the written request of the holders of 25 per cent in amount of the bonds hereby secured, it shall be the duty of the Trustee, when indemnified as hereinafter provided, to enforce the rights of the bondholders as aforesaid.

HOLDERS OF 75 PER CENT OF THE OUTSTANDING BONDS SHALL HAVE THE RIGHT TO DIRECT THE METHODS OF FORECLOSURE AND OTHER PROCEEDINGS.

SEC. 5. The holders of 75 per cent in amount of the bonds hereby secured and then outstanding shall have the right to direct and control the method and place of conducting all proceedings for any sale of the premises, or for the foreclosure of this indenture, or for the appointment of a receiver, or of any other proceedings hereunder.

SUNDRY PROVISIONS REGARDING FORECLOSURE SALE.

SECS. 6 TO 12. The property hereby mortgaged shall be sold in one parcel unless the holders of a majority in amount of the bonds hereby secured then outstanding shall in writing request the Trustees to cause said premises to be sold in parcels, in which case the sale shall be made in such parcels as may be specified in such request or petition, or unless such sale as an entirety is impracticable by reason of some statute or other cause; and this provision shall bind the parties hereto and each and every of the holders of the bonds and coupons hereby secured or intended so to be.

Notice of any such sale shall be sufficiently given if advertised in a newspaper once a week for four successive weeks in New York, Buffalo, Erie, Detroit, Cleveland, Elkhart and Chicago.

The proceeds of any such sale shall be applied as follows:

First—To the payment of the expenses of such sale, including a reasonable compensation to the Trustees and of all expenses incurred by them in managing the property, and all taxes or prior liens, except those to which such sale shall have been made subject.

Second—To the payment of the whole amount then owing upon the bonds hereby secured for principal and interest, with interest at the rate of 3½ per cent per annum on the overdue instalments of interest. In case such proceeds shall be insufficient to pay in full the whole amount so due, then to the payment of such principal and interest, without preference or priority of principal over interest, or of interest over principal, or of any instalment of interest over any other instalment of interest, ratably, to the aggregate of such principal and interest; subject, however, to the provisions of Section 1 of this article.

BONDS AND COUPONS MAY BE USED IN SETTLEMENT.

SEC. 13. At any sale hereunder the purchasers in making payment shall be entitled to turn in any bonds and any matured and unpaid coupons hereby secured, estimating the value of such bonds and coupons at the sum payable out of the net proceeds of such sale to the holders thereof as their ratable share of such net proceeds.

THE TRUSTEES MAY RECOVER JUDGMENT ON BEHALF OF ALL THE BONDHOLDERS.

SEC. 14. In case of default in the payment of principal or interest when due, the company covenants on demand to pay the full amount so owing, with interest thereon at 3½ per cent, and in case of failure so to do the Trustees shall be entitled to recover judgment.

COMPANY WAIVES ALL RIGHTS UNDER EXTENSION, VALUATION AND REDEMPTION LAWS.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME

FRIDAY NIGHT, June 18, 1897.

There have been no really new developments in the general business situation the past week. As midsummer approaches the tendency in many lines of trade is toward dullness; still the confidence among merchants has continued to steadily grow, following in the lead of the improvement in financial circles. The advices from Washington have continued to report rapid progress in the legislation on the tariff bill in the Senate and the prospects of an early settlement of this question has been no small factor in bringing about the improved feeling. The proposed treaty for the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to this country sent to the Senate by the President has been the subject of much comment. Indications are, however, that no final action will be taken on the subject at the present session of Congress. Advices from the English markets reporting an improved demand for actual cotton have been instrumental in bringing about a slight advance in futures.

Lard on the spot has been in increased demand from exporters, and local refiners have been limited buyers; prices have advanced, closing steady at 3 85c. for prime Western. Prime City has had only a limited sale, but prices have held steady, closing at 3 37½c. Refined for the Continent has advanced and the close was firm at 4 25c. There has been no trading in the local market for lard futures, but at the West there has been a demand from shorts to cover contracts, despite large receipts of swine, and prices have advanced, closing steady.

Beet has been quiet and unchanged at $7@8 for mess, $7 50@8 50 for packet, $8 50@9 50 for family and $12@14 for extra India mess. Beef hams have been steady at $23. Cheese has been in fair export demand and firmer at 7@8¾c. for State factory, full cream. Fresh eggs closed easy at 11¼@11½c. for choice Western.

Business in the market for Brazil grades of coffee has been dull, and as there has been more pressure to sell prices have weakened slightly, closing at 7½c. for Rio No. 7. Mild grades have also sold slowly and there has been an easier turn to values, closing at 13¾c. for good Cucura and 25c. for standard Java. The market for contracts has been quiet and prices have declined under selling by local operators and in sympathy with weaker foreign advices. The close was dull and easier. Following were final asking prices:

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been quiet although prices have advanced slightly in response to improved accounts of spot business in the Liverpool market. Saturday prices were slightly lower during early change, reflecting easier foreign advices and favorable crop accounts from the South. Toward the close, however, there was some buying to cover contracts and prices advanced, closing unchanged to 1 point higher for the day. Monday prices weakened slightly as foreign advices were again easier, and advices from the South reported prospects for the crop as favorable. The close showed prices unchanged to 2 points lower. Tuesday the market turned stronger. Advices from the English markets were decidedly better. Manchester was a more active buyer in the spot market, stimulated in part by the favorable opening of the monsoon in India, and despite the fact that the weekly report of the Government's Weather Bureau noted favorable progress of the crop, prices showed an advance of 8 to 11 points for the day. Wednesday the market opened slightly higher, as advices from Liverpool again come stronger and reported an active business in the spot market there. Subsequently, however, realizing sales, prompted by the favorable crop prospects induced selling to realize profits, and prices weakened, closing 1 point lower to 2 points higher. Thursday there was a dull market, but on continued firm advices from Liverpool prices advanced, closing 3 to 4 points higher. Private advices received from Liverpool stated that while the bulk of the recent demand in the spot market has come from Manchester spinners, some of the purchases have been of Egyptian and Peruvian cotton for shipment to this country in anticipation of the 20 per cent import duty as proposed by the tariff bill now pending. To-day the market opened steady and gradually advanced throughout the day, largely on a demand from local shorts to cover contracts, stimulated by the small movement of the crop, which is taken as an indication of an early exhaustion of supplies. The general feeling over the market appeared to be turning for the better and this too had a strengthening influence. The close showed prices 4 to 6 points higher. Cotton on the spot has been in moderate demand, principally from spinners, and prices were advanced 1-16c. on Wednesday. To-day the market was steady, closing at 7 3/4c. for middling uplands.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 250,100 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 8,821 bales, including 2,706 for export, 4,115 for consumption, — for speculation and 2,000 on contract. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week—June 12 to June 18.

On the basis of the rates on and off middling as established by the Revision Committee, the prices for a few of the grades would be as follows:

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY COTTON REPORT.—Mr. W. L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the following telegraphic reports on the crop in the Southern States for the week ending June 14:

VIRGINIA.—Weather more favorable and slight improvement in cotton.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Generous rains followed by much warmer, sunny weather, very favorable, improving cotton; cotton forming squares in south portion.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Some damage by hail, which washed and flooded lands; cotton showing marked improvement, squares plentiful.

GEORGIA.—High temperature, abundant sunshine and occasional showers characterized the week and were beneficial to growing crops; cotton looking much better and is taking on forms and limbs; it is now free from lice.

FLORIDA.—Conditions more favorable in northern, central and southern districts; cotton, though small, generally healthy.

ALABAMA.—Extremely hot week, with partial showers; warm nights improving cotton which is forming squares and beginning to bloom; all crops need a good rain.

MISSISSIPPI.—Temperature about normal; local showers at scattered points greatly benefited crops; cotton taking on a more vigorous growth, owing to warmer weather, and fruiting well.

LOUISIANA.—Warm and showery weather improved the condition of all crops, particularly cotton and corn, though former continues small, with uneven stands.

ARKANSAS.—Warmer weather has resulted in improvement in all crops; cotton clean and well cultivated and commencing to grow.

TENNESSEE.—Showers in eastern counties and portions of middle section improved condition; elsewhere drought is becoming serious; cotton benefited by warmer weather, clean and well cultivated, but small.

TEXAS.—Cotton improved and fruiting general, except over north-west portion, where growth is slow, and some replanting continues; lice not so numerous but still inflicting crop in scattered localities; cotton needs warm, dry weather over northern, while showers would be beneficial over other portions.

OKLAHOMA.—Cotton is improving.

STATE WEEKLY COTTON REPORTS.—We give below summaries of the report for a week ending June 14 issued by the various States under the auspices of the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, so far as they apply to cotton.

VIRGINIA.—Cotton has improved some and has been cleaned.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The week has been very favorable. Fine rains occurred first of the week, and local showers a throughout, followed by fair and much warmer weather, causing general improvement in crops. Cotton is forming squares in southern portion.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Cotton made fair and altogether satisfactory progress during the week. Grass threatens the crop in some localities, but the plant is of sufficient size, and the prevailing hot weather will enable farmers to kill grass readily, and also the weather best suited for the development of cotton.

GEORGIA.—The reports received for the past week show a general improvement in crops through the State; especially is this true of the southern division, where showers have been most frequent. The warm nights have had a most beneficial influence on cotton, which has improved very much, and in some sections is taking on limbs and squares. No complaints of lice on the plants received, and out-worms, which have been so damaging to corn, have almost entirely disappeared. Farmers were well up with their work, the fields were clean, and as a consequence the rains have done the most possible good. On the whole the general outlook is much more encouraging than it was a week ago.

FLORIDA.—Normal temperatures with deficient moisture over greater portion of west and central districts. Conditions more favorable in northern, central and southern districts. Cotton, though small, generally healthy.

ALABAMA.—The week was generally dry and hot over this section. Scattered showers occurred in many portions of the State and in some localities heavy rains fell; but there are still many portions of the State where the drought remains unbroken; this area would approximate about one fifth of the State, where crops are suffering for moisture. Cotton has been in good where favored by showers, and as a whole is very clean and healthy, and only needs favorable rains to make an excellent showing; the crop has been worked, so far, cheaper than for years, very little extra help being required; squares are forming and a few blooms reported.

MISSISSIPPI.—The week gave a temperature well up to the normal. Rainfall occurred in the form of local showers at scattered points over the State, which were very beneficial to all crops receiving them. In nearly all localities where rain fell crops are reported to be in good condition; elsewhere they are suffering for want of rain. Cotton has taken on a more vigorous growth, owing to the return of warm weather, and "squares" are rapidly forming. In the river counties which were overflowed, good progress is being made in cultivating crops just coming up, and the outlook there is generally favorable.

LOUISIANA.—The increased warmth, with the showers, were highly favorable conditions to a rapid growth of the cotton and corn crops, which show a general and marked improvement during past seven days, although the cotton continues small and backward, with uneven stands over large areas. The rapid fall in the backward over the northeastern parishes permitted of planting the overflowed lands, and crops on such overflowed lands airily give good promise. Cotton, in particular, is doing well.

TEXAS.—The weather was generally favorable for all farming operations except that showers during the latter part of the week delayed farm work over North and Central Texas. The weather has been favorable for cotton over East Texas and the southern half of the State, where the correspondents generally report that the condition of the crop is improved and the crop is doing fairly well in other sections. The cool nights during the early part of the week had a tendency to check the growth of the plant, but the warm weather toward the latter part started it to growing nicely. Some lice and other cotton pests are reported from a few sections, but they are not as numerous as they were at last report, especially over the southern half of the State. Warm and dry weather would greatly improve the crop over North and Central Texas and would enable farmers to clean out the weeds and grass; some fields in this section needing work badly. Some are still re-planting over the northern portion of the State, but seed for this purpose is scarce in some localities. Early cotton is doing very well and fruiting nicely over the southern and central portions of the State, and is beginning to show signs of fruit in many places over North Texas.

ARKANSAS.—Notwithstanding the deficiency of rainfall crops are not suffering except in localities in the uplands. All crops are clean and well cultivated. Cotton has improved—is not so lousy, and has started growing; and is a healthy color and promising well.

TENNESSEE.—During the week good rains fell in the upper counties of the eastern section, which greatly improved the condition of growing crops in that portion of the State. In the southern and eastern portions of the middle section beneficial showers revived to a certain extent failing conditions, but were not sufficient for material or lasting good. In the more northern and western counties of this section, and in the greater portion of the western section, little or no rain fell, and the drought is becoming quite serious on young and growing crops. The warm weather of the latter part of the week was beneficial to the growth of corn and cotton, particularly the latter. These crops have been well cultivated, and, although quite small for the season, are clean, and as a rule thrifty.

MISSOURI.—The fore part of the past week was cool but the latter part was quite warm and, except for a lack of moisture in some sections, was the best growing weather of the season. The rainfall, however, was generally light and poorly distributed. Showers have fallen in most of the southern and western counties but they have been very local and in many places in those sections rain is badly needed.

OKLAHOMA AND INDIAN TERRITORY.—Local showers prevailed during early part of the week, keeping the ground moist and in fine condition for the growing crops. A decided improvement is generally reported in cotton. It is yet small and much later than usual, but during the week it has made a fair growth and has taken on a better color.

SHIPPING NEWS.—The exports of cotton from the United States the past week, as per latest mail returns, have reached 41,547 bales. So far as the Southern ports are concerned these are the same exports reported by telegraph and published in the CHRONICLE last Friday. With regard to New York we include the manifests of all vessels cleared up to Thursday.

BREADSTUFFS.

The home trade has been only a limited buyer of wheat flour, its purchases having been confined almost exclusively to jobbing orders, as few buyers have shown a disposition to purchase beyond immediate requirements. For spot holdings, however, sellers have held steady, but winter-wheat flour to arrive has been offered with more freedom. Exporters have been slightly better buyers of the low grades for shipment to the United Kingdom. City mills have been quiet but steady. Rye flour has sold slowly, but prices have been without change, closing at $2 10@2 50. Corn meal has been in fairly active demand; exporters have been buyers and prices have advanced slightly, closing steady.

There has been a moderately active speculation in the market for wheat futures, but the course of values has been somewhat irregular, although at the close prices show a slight advance for the week, largely due to the tenor of the crop advices received from the West. Saturday prices advanced slightly, principally on a demand from local shorts to cover contracts. Monday the market was fairly active and prices advanced rather sharply, as crop advices, particularly from the Southwest, were unfavorable and the crop movement at the West was small; this stimulated general buying and the close showed prices  $\frac{1}{8}$  to  $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ up for the day. Tuesday the market turned easier. Cable advices were disappointing and crop advices from the West were more favorable; this induced selling by longs to realize profits and prices for the day showed a loss of  $\frac{1}{8}$ ¢. Wednesday the market was unsettled. The opening was at a decline under favorable crop accounts from the interior; then came an advance in response to stronger foreign advices. Subsequently, however, free selling by longs resulted in a decline and prices closed  $\frac{1}{8}$ ¢ to  $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ lower for the day. Thursday the opening was lower on crop news. Later in the day, however, large export clearances from the seaboard, together with a more active export demand and indications that next week's statement of the American visible supply would show a large decrease, stimulated a demand from shorts to cover contracts and prices advanced. At the close values eased off a trifle showing a decline of  $\frac{1}{8}$ ¢ for near-by deliveries and an advance of  $\frac{1}{8}$ ¢ to  $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ for the distant months. To-day there was a quiet market but prices advanced  $\frac{1}{8}$ ¢ to  $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢. In response to stronger foreign advices. In the spot market shippers were moderate buyers during the latter part of the week and to-day sales were reported of 120,000 bushels No. 1 hard Manitoba and No. 1 Northern Duluth, closing at 78 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ f. o. b. afloat for No. 1 hard Duluth; 78 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ f. o. b. afloat for No. 1 hard Manitoba; 77 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ for No. 1 Northern Duluth and 76¢ f. o. b. for No. 2 red winter August delivery.

There has been a limited amount of activity to the speculative dealings in the market for Indian corn futures and prices have gradually worked higher on the advices from the West reporting prospects for the new crops as less favorable and an active export business; this has induced some buying for investment account, and has also stimulated a limited demand from shorts to cover contracts. Reports from abroad reporting unfavorable prospects for feed crops has also had a strengthening influence. To-day the market was quiet but steady. In the spot market a large export business has been transacted here and at out-ports, the sales for the week amounting to about 1,400,000 bushels. To-day the demand was less active. The sales included No. 2 mixed at 30 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢@32¢ f. o. b. afloat for old and new and 29 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢@31 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ in elevator.

Oats for future delivery have been quiet, and the fluctuations in price have been within narrow limits, prices for the week showing a slight improvement in sympathy with the advance in wheat and corn and also on crop talk. To-day the market was dull and no change was made in prices. In the spot market business has been fairly active, as both shippers and the home trade have been buyers. At the close the export demand was active, the sales reported amounting to 220,000 bushels. No. 2 mixed closed at 22 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ in elevator and No. 2 white at 23 $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ in elevator.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., June 18, 1897.

Although very little can be reported in the way of positive improvement in the market here during the past week, it has not been difficult to detect a better under-current of sentiment and a more hopeful view taken of the future. The reports which come to hand from various outside distributing points are on the whole quite encouraging. Better weather than at any previous time since warm weather was due is having its natural result in accelerating the movement of summer merchandise from the hands of retailers and of jobbers, and this has been reflected in a somewhat more liberal supplementary demand for suitable goods. In the more staple lines of cottons conditions have not changed, buyers still maintaining towards these an attitude of conservatism. As a matter of fact there is no reason why they should at the present time buy these freely, as supplies in first hands are full enough to warrant the belief that prices are not likely to move against buyers for some little time to come at all events. On the other hand, the general run of sellers are not pressing their stocks upon the market. A weak holder is occasionally met with, but as a rule previous prices are steadily held for. The woolen goods division has shown on the whole satisfactory results; the re-order demand has been fair and prices firm. Collections have been rather more satisfactory during the past ten days.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending June 14 were 8,661 packages, valued at $289,905, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

Both the home and export demand for heavy-weight brown sheetings and drills has again been on a quiet scale. Small orders for quick deliveries have been the rule, and for these previous prices have been paid. Little has been done for forward delivery. In light-weight coarse yarn gray goods some good sales were recorded early in the week, with an upward tendency in prices, but the market is quieter again at the close. Denims have been in rather better request at the hands of the cutting up trades at steady prices; other coarse, colored cottons dull and easy to buy. Bleached cottons are selling to a large extent at the close of the week, but only in the way of small individual transactions; prices are without change. Wide sheetings, quilts, cotton flannels and blankets, and white goods, have all been quiet and featureless. Kid finished cambrics are firm at 3c. for 64 squares. Dark fancy prints continue to sell well. In regular calicoes there has been a reduction of  $\frac{1}{4}$ c. in American indigo blues to  $4\frac{1}{2}$ c., and in American black and gray prints to  $4\frac{1}{4}$ c. per yard, more in the nature of a revision than an actual decline in the latter. Gingham have continued dull throughout. Print cloths have advanced to the basis of  $2\frac{1}{2}$ c. for extras, with good sales, and are firm at the close.

WOOLEN GOODS—There has been a fair amount of business reported this week in men's wear woolen and worsted fabrics in the way of reorders from out of town markets but the local demand has again been limited. Buyers do not find the market an easy one to duplicate early business in. Many agents are well sold ahead on their heavy-weights and have no difficulty in securing the full advances in prices made some time ago on both plain and fancy goods. Some business has also been done for next spring at full prices, but few sellers are out for that season yet, preferring to await the passage of the tariff bill. Satinets continue slow, and there has been but an indifferent business in either cotton warp cassimeres or doekin jeans. Overcoatings are being reordered somewhat more freely, and cloakings still sell fairly, both at steady prices. Flannels are quiet but steady; blankets firm, with a moderate demand. Dress goods have continued quiet and without special feature.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS—Warmer weather has helped the cleaning-up business in seasonable lines, with prices showing considerable irregularity. Fall business has continued quiet throughout pending the disposal of the tariff.

PROPOSALS FOR

Township Sewer Bonds

The township of Cranford, Union County, New Jersey, is about to issue coupon or registered bonds, as purchasers may desire, to the amount of $50,000, payable in thirty years from the 1st of July next, with interest at 4 or 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually; the amount of each bond to be $1,000.

Said township will also issue coupon or registered bonds to the amount of $5,000,00, bearing interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, said bonds to be of the denomination of $1,000 each; five of said bonds shall be payable at the expiration of each year from and after the 1st day of July next.

All of said proposed bonds are to be issued to pay the cost of a sewer system recently constructed said township. The cost of said sewer system was $120,000, of which $80,000 has been assessed on property specially benefited, and the assessment confirmed. The principal and interest of said bonds will be payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness.

The Township of Cranford is one of the most beautiful and prosperous in New Jersey. It is located in the centre of Union County, on the line of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and is intersected by one of the famous Union County telford roads. It has an excellent supply of pure and wholesome water, and abundant hydrants for protection against fire. The township is also supplied with gas and electricity. Twenty-five passenger trains run from Cranford to Communipaw and return each day, connecting with the ferry for New York. The distance from New York is 16½ miles. The time from Cranford to the foot of Liberty Street is 15 minutes. The township has a population of 2,700; the assessed value of property in the township for purposes of taxation in 1896 was $900,000, an increase of $110,000 over the assessed value in 1895. The township at present is entirely free from debt, except the cost of the sewer system.

Sealed bids will be opened at the Town Rooms in Cranford on June 15th instant, at 10 o'clock P. M., by the Township Committee; all bids to be accompanied by a certified check for 5 per cent of par value of amount bid for.

Wauseon, Ohio.—Sale Postponed.—The sale of the $22,000 of 6 per cent water-works bonds of the village of Wauseon, was postponed from June 7 to July 12, 1897. The securities will be of the denomination of $1,000 each; interest will be payable annually on the first day of September and the principal will mature at the rate of $1,000 per annum, beginning with September 1, 1903.

Westerly, R. I.—Bond News.—J. M. Pendleton, Treasurer of the town of Westerly, reports to the CHRONICLE that owing to a good deal of conflict between contending parties in Westerly over the purchase of the water-works, he has declined to serve longer as Town Treasurer, and Mr. A. H. Langworthy has been appointed his successor. In regard to the proposed issue of $200,000 of water-works bonds, it was voted to leave the entire matter to the Town Council and to accept the privilege granted by the Legislature to issue the same. The Legislature, however, it is claimed, did not grant the town the right to exceed the 3 per cent limit of debt, which, among other things is necessary, and hence it is thought that the whole matter is therefore delayed for a time until more careful legislation can be procured and more explicit votes passed by the town.

The notes to the amount of $150,000 which were authorized for water-works purposes, pending the sale of bonds to retire them, have not all been issued. Mr. Pendleton sold one block of $25,000, notice of which has already been recorded; the balance will probably be issued soon. The town has voted to buy the present water-works at $175,000.

Whitefield, N. H.—Bonds Proposed.—The people of this municipality have under consideration a proposition to issue water bonds to the amount of $10,000.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The world has never before witnessed a demonstration like that which occurred in London this week. There have of course been many other brilliant ovations to royal personages and military heroes, but on no occasion has there been such reverential regard so prominently in evidence toward a reigning monarch as among the British people at the celebration on Tuesday. It was an instance of sincere homage paid to character, for Queen Victoria has proved herself one of the wisest of rulers as well as one of the truest and best that ever wore a crown. The large body of our people most heartily join in the deep and warm tribute the Queen's world-wide empire has this week so impressively rendered to her.

Usually such a prolonged holiday as London has observed, with business at that centre greatly restricted in all departments, would have had a marked effect in checking operations in Wall Street markets. The thought which at such a time has generally been uppermost among traders is how, after the holiday, will the London operators act in relation to the conditions prevalent here? Incertitude on that point would naturally lead to caution and consequently arrest any upward movement and restrict transactions. Nothing of the kind has marked the course of affairs at the New York Stock Exchange this week. On the contrary, a notable indication of the real strength of the controlling sentiment is the fact that values, instead of declining or standing still, advanced materially, while in London business has been much as if the Exchange was closed continuously the early half of the week.

Foreign markets are not just now so situated as to have the maximum of influence on prices here, for they have no large speculative holdings of our securities to sell. Even investment holdings are smaller than they were a year and two years ago, but they are still large, and will under any conditions to-day conceivable continue to be large. Present holdings were not as a rule bought to sell; they have been carried through uncertainties which presumably will not exist again; and since the judgment in retaining them while others sold has been proved sound, the holders are not likely under the existing conditions to let them go. Foreign investors who use the same caution in buying American securities as in buying their home offerings lose no more in the one case than in the other, and yet can safely realize about one per cent more income from American holdings. But when one puts all his money into 4 or 5 per cent bonds at 80, he takes risks; if he has any wisdom he will have scattered his investments and watched them too, and so may make the venture profitable. Loss though in such a case is not an uncommon experience, no matter in what financial centre of the world the securities are purchased.

The reasons for the improving sentiment in the United States we have many times referred to. Indeed, if we sum up the existing situation there seems to be at the moment very little of a disturbing character to hinder improvement. Confidence, enterprise, activity, represent the natural trend of affairs when conditions are in a normal state. Some influence must be cited interrupting this order of things to disprove its coming after a long and severe depression. During late years the fundamental principle, a precedent condition for healthy development, has been wanting. Confidence cannot exist when the standard of values is threatened; in 1894 and 1895 it was in constant jeopardy because of the serious difficulty experienced in keeping the Government gold reserve from depletion, and the doubt felt of the continuance of the power of the Government in the face of a hostile Congress to carry on the struggle much longer; in 1896 to this was added the direct effort of a party to elect a President pledged to change the measure of values and to enforce by legislation Populistic ideas. These are all familiar facts and we only cite them to say that for the time being their adverse force is suspended; and if Secretary Gage's forecast of the Government action is correct, business interests need never suffer from them again. In the meantime the Treasury gold reserve is in such a state as to remove the fear of depletion, the stock in banks is also large, while production is on the increase.

Just at this juncture, too, crops, the leading recuperative force in this country, are weekly making favorable progress; especially is it true that spring wheat and corn in the surplus States give promise of an abundant yield. It may be said that crops not only promised well but were good last year, and yet they did not save us from experiencing the most disastrous season of this depressed cycle; so also were the crops large, with an active European demand for wheat and corn at good prices, in 1893 and 1895, without securing prosperity. The reason the natural influence of abundant farm products was lost in the years named is fully explained by the facts we have stated above. Those facts likewise show that the financial strength of the Government to-day has so far removed or modified the danger, which has of late years constantly threatened the stability of values, that such a catastrophe is no longer imminent. No one can affirm as yet that the danger is wholly a feature of the past. This, however, can be asserted: if industrial affairs can be relieved from that irreconcilable foe to enterprise—a currency which tends to undermine our gold standard—the term of prosperity which is opening and now looks so encouraging will only be the harbinger of a long future uninterrupted cycle of progress. The promise is that this relief too is to be secured; we are glad to be able to feel that there is good reason for the belief that the promise will be fulfilled.

In publishing last March (CHRONICLE of March 13 1897, pages 492 and 493 and pages 499 and 500,) very extensive tabulations to show the possibilities of saving to be effected by the railroads of the United States through refunding their maturing bond issues at lower rates of interest, we took occasion to point out that the movement then just inaugurated by the Lake Shore was likely to extend to other companies, and that as a consequence these re-funding operations were certain to play an important part in affairs in the immediate future. We also suggested the possibility that the country as a result of these operations was about to witness a new era in its railroad history to be known as the Refunding Era, in its way possibly exercising as marked an influence on the situation as the Consolidation Era which followed the resumption of gold payments in 1879. The course of events since then has been strikingly in accord with these views. The Lake Shore plan was soon followed by that of the New York Central, both proving notably successful, and now we are able to state that it is a matter of only a short time when the Chicago & North Western will be added to the list. The stock market, too, has given evidence that the public appreciates the significance of these operations, with others which are sure to follow sooner or later, for the stocks of properties likely to be favorably affected in this way have been especially prominent in the rise now under way—North Western common shares, for instance, having risen  $6\frac{3}{4}$  points during the past week after a substantial rise in previous weeks.

The North West. Company has nearly twenty millions of bonds which fall due between now and the close of 1902. These mostly bear 6 and 7 per cent interest, and one issue even bears 8 per cent interest. The question of refunding them has been under consideration for some time, and it is now expected that a plan will be ready for submission at a meeting of the directors to be held early in July. As we understand it, the proposition is to authorize a long-time mortgage under which bonds may be issued at varying rates of interest to take up the entire bonded debt of the company as it matures. The first amounts to be put out under this proposed mortgage, it is expected, will be  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cents. The rate in the old bonds being, as has already been stated, 6 to 8 per cent, it is obvious that the saving in yearly fixed charges to be effected through the refunding will be important.

Returns of earnings do not as yet show general improvement. The Milwaukee & St. Paul is presenting very satisfactory exhibits and so is the Canadian Pacific, the Mexican roads and a few others. But the gains here are in large part offset by losses by various other roads in different parts of the country, and in the final result the improvement over last year is found to be quite small as yet. It is noticeable that the more comprehensive the weekly compilations are (that is the greater the number of roads included) the smaller the percentage of gain. The statement for the second week of the present month is an excellent illustration of this. The preliminary footing for that week which we published last Saturday showed 5.60 per cent gain but covered only 29 roads. To-day we complete the tabulation, increasing the number of roads to 75, but at the same time reducing the ratio of gain to only 2.54 per cent.

It is proper to say that the returns of net earnings frequently prove better than the returns of gross. This follows from the general policy of retrenchment which is being pursued. A number of the returns for the month of May received this week illustrate the tendency. The Central of New Jersey with $12,008 decrease in gross has $27,190 increase in net, the Georgia Southern & Florida with $6,980 decrease in gross has $14,984 increase in net, the Northern Central with $6,741 decrease in gross has $22,086 increase in net and the New York Susquehanna & Western with $9,071 decrease in gross has only $868 decrease in net. The Allegheny Valley, with $7,450 increase in gross, has reduced its expenses $1,452, giving $8,903 increase in the net. The Southern Railway added $109,842 to its gross, with an augmentation of only $36,233 in expenses, thus producing a gain of $73,609 in net.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, has loaned generally at 1 per cent at the Stock Exchange this week, with some loans at  $1\frac{1}{2}$  and small lots on Thursday at 2 per cent; the average has been about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. Some of the banks have been freely offering their money at 1 per cent and the trust companies have not been able to secure better rates. A few banks have made call loans on warehouse receipts representing sugar, tobacco, wool and other merchandise, obtaining about 4 per cent for the accommodation. The demand for time contracts is light for short dates and but little business is done for long periods. Rates are 2 per cent for 60 to 90 days,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for four months and 3 per cent for five to seven months on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral. Some tax certificates, running until October, issued by Massachusetts cities, have been discounted at  $2\frac{1}{4}$  to  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. The banks have bought all the choice commercial paper offered, and they have increased their loan lines in anticipation of the close of the first half of the year, while the trust companies have also been large buyers of paper. Quotations remain at 3 per cent for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable,  $3@3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for first class and  $4@4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for good four to six month's single names. Banks having the largest correspondence with institutions in the interior note continued inquiry regarding re-discounting from Southern banks, but as the cotton crop will be from two to three weeks late this season, there is no present need of money. Some of the banks in the West are still re-paying loans previously made and money is moving to this centre from Chicago, though banks there are getting from 3 to  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent for loans upon grain warehouse receipts.

The event of the week in Europe has been the celebration in London of the Queen's Jubilee, which has largely interrupted business at that centre. It was reported early in the week that Turkey had consented to reduce the amount of the indemnity to be paid by Greece to £6,000,000, and also that the evacuation of Thessaly had been agreed upon, but those reports have not been fully confirmed. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remains unchanged at 2 per cent. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London 15-16 of 1 per cent. The open market rate at Paris is  $1\frac{1}{4}$  per cent and at Berlin and Frankfurt it is  $2\frac{3}{4}@3$  per cent. According to our special cable from London the Bank of England gained £283,158 gold during the week and held £36,604,009 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due to the receipt of £108,000 net from the interior of Great Britain and to imports of £175,000, of which £153,000 were from the Cape, £11,000 from Australia and £11,000 from Portugal.

The foreign exchange market has been generally strong this week. There was no change in the range for nominal rates until Wednesday, when Brown Bros. advanced their figures to 4.87 for sixty day and  $4.88\frac{1}{2}$  for sight, making the former uniform by all the drawers and the range for the latter from 4.88 to  $4.88\frac{1}{2}$ . There was no change in rates for actual business during the week, these remaining at  $4.86\frac{1}{4}@4.86\frac{1}{2}$  for long,  $4.87\frac{1}{4}@4.87\frac{1}{2}$  for short and  $4.87\frac{1}{2}@4.87\frac{3}{4}$  for cable transfers. The demand for remittance was good throughout the week, chiefly for settlements, but there appeared to be a smaller inquiry for bills to remit for sugar. The supply consisted principally of spot commercial bills against grain, provisions and silver, and these and the offerings of drafts made against gold exports were promptly absorbed. Gold to the amount of \$1,350,000 was shipped to the Continent on Tuesday, \$750,000 by Kidder, Peabody & Co. through Baring, Magonn & Co. and \$600,000 by Lazard Freres. The shipments on Thursday were \$1,150,000—\$650,000 by Lazard Freres and \$500,000 by Baring, Magoun & Co. for Kidder, Peabody & Co. Withdrawals yesterday for shipment to-day were \$500,000 by Heidelberg, Ickelheimer & Co., \$800,000 by Lazard Freres and \$1,000,000 by L. Von Hoffman & Co. This makes the total exports of gold for the week \$4,800,000. The following shows the daily posted rates for exchange by some of the leading drawers.

* The division (between gold and silver) given in our table of coin and bullion in the Bank of Germany and the Bank of Belgium is made from the best estimate we are able to obtain; in neither case is it claimed to be accurate, as those banks make no distinction in their weekly returns, merely reporting the total gold and silver, but we believe the division we make is a close approximation.

NEW YORK CENTRAL'S SHOWING FOR THE FISCAL YEAR.

The statement which the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company submits for the fiscal year ending June 30 1897 serves to illustrate the strength of this important property. In a year of what must be considered very unfavorable conditions the company is seen to have earned its 4 per cent dividends in full, with a small surplus left over to be carried to the credit of profit and loss. The requirements for the dividends were $4,000,000, and the amount available in payment of the same out of the earnings of the year was $4,047,000. The result possesses added significance because under the refunding scheme there will be a considerable saving in the yearly fixed charges. This saving as we showed in our issue of April 17 will be about $1,178,000 per annum, equal to over 1½ per cent on the company's stock, none of which saving figures in the accounts for the year under review; in addition the prospects for the coming year appear at the moment quite bright by reason of the favorable agricultural outlook and the probability of an early revival in trade.

Of course as the year has not entirely expired yet, the statement is in part estimated, and the figures are subject to change when the accounts for the twelve months shall have been audited. Judging from the past, however, these changes are not likely to alter the results materially. We have said that the year was one of unfavorable conditions. This is shown by the fact that the gross earnings for the twelve months record a falling off as compared with the twelve months preceding of a little over a million dollars—$1,018,000. We all know how deeply disturbed our industries were from July to November last year as a result of the silver agitation and the electoral campaign fought out on that issue (business coming almost to a standstill towards the close of the canvass), and we also know that the expectations of a sustained revival in trade of large dimensions after that date have not as yet been realized. The whole range of manufacturing industries suffered from this depression, as well as from the coincident prevalence of low prices, and the effect must have been to cause a material shrinkage in many items of the Central's tonnage. In the iron trade, production very materially increased when it was seen that the sound money cause had triumphed, and the same is true also of other lines of trade; but as the Central lies outside the iron districts it was not in position to benefit much from the improvement there, and besides the iron output later on was again reduced and even at its highest point fell below the heavy out-turn of the previous year.

In view of all this, it must be regarded as gratifying that the company did not suffer a much heavier contraction of its revenues. The Central of course is a property of great size, and in ratio this loss of a million dollars is only about 2½ per cent. Relatively, therefore, the falling off has been quite small. The explanation no doubt must be sought in last year's excellent crops, enlarging the volume of the company's grain tonnage. There had been a considerable increase already in the grain tonnage in the previous fiscal year; but we showed in reviewing the report for that year that even after this increase the amount of the grain tonnage was not as heavy as it had been in some years in the past. Undoubtedly, then, there was a further expansion in the volume of the grain traffic in the late year, and thus this circumstance came in to offset in part the losses from the depression in trade. In other respects the benefits from last season's excellent harvests were comparatively small, as prices in most cases were low, so that the position of the farming classes was not improved to the extent that might otherwise have been the case.

It deserves to be noted that towards the close of the year the returns of earnings began to improve—a hopeful sign for the future. In the September quarter the gross fell $330,606 behind and in the December quarter $739,332 behind, making $1,069,938 for the half-year, which is thus more than the loss for the entire twelve months to June 30. In the March quarter there was also a loss, but it amounted to only $150,486, and was entirely due to a heavy decrease in January—February and March both recording an increase. For the June quarter there was $203,000 increase, and each of the three months included in that quarter contributed to the gain. In brief, then, up to and including January the monthly gross earnings each month showed a loss; since then the returns have each month indicated a gain.

These remarks relate entirely to the gross receipts. In the net the results for the year show very little change, notwithstanding the falling off of over a million dollars in the gross. In other words, the reduction in the gross was met by a large contraction in expenses. In exact figures there was a decrease of $1,018,000 in gross earnings and a decrease of $916,000 in expenses, leaving only $102,000 decrease in the net. It is because the loss in the net was so small that the final result for the twelve months has been so satisfactory, enabling the company to show its 4 per cent dividends earned in face of the adverse conditions enumerated above. It becomes important therefore to look into the character of this reduction and see whether it is merely the result of unusual economies in operating, or whether there was a basis for it in exceptionally heavy expenditures in the previous year.

The latter would appear to be the true explanation. In fact a contraction in the expense accounts for 1896-7 was clearly foreshadowed in our analysis of the expenditures for 1895-6, as made in an article printed in the CHRONICLE of October 3, 1896, pages 580 and 581. We found in this analysis that expenses in 1895-6 had increased $1,645,127 as compared with 1894-5, but that of that amount only $6,286 was under the head of traffic expenses, notwithstanding the volume of the company's business had greatly expanded. On the other hand, under the head of maintenance of way there was an addition of $930,706, and under the head of maintenance of equipment an addition of $387,549. Proceeding further it was found that the company had spent $867,461 on rail renewals in 1895-6, against only $207,557 in 1894-5, and that the outlays for repairs of track and roadway had been $1,968,818 in 1896, against $1,630,077 in 1895. After setting out these facts, we added: "One of the company's officials informs us that during the last three years 150,000 tons of new steel rails have been put in the track, mainly 80 lbs. to the yard, and that the entire two freight tracks from Albany to Buffalo are now laid with 80-lb. steel rails. This is very important in its bearing on the future, for the work of putting down heavier rails has now been substantially completed, so that the outlays on that account will be materially reduced hereafter."

In the light of this analysis and these remarks, there is nothing surprising about the reduction in expenses in the year under review. The volume of business in the first place must have been smaller (diminishing the cost of transporting the same) and in the second place the operating cost in 1895-6, as we see, included certain unusually large outlays, clearly exceptional in character, and which it was seen at the time would not be repeated in 1896-7.

We append the following table showing the yearly results of the Central's operations since 1871. No comment is necessary, as we have often in the past noted the changes disclosed as well as the reasons for them.

* Beginning with 1890 fiscal year covers the twelve months ending June 30; previously the twelve months ending Sept. 30. Operations of the Rome Waterworks & Ordensburg are included since March 14, 1891. † In this year the method of charging dividends was changed. The October, 1891, dividend of 1 1/2 per cent, which under the old arrangement would have come out of the 1884-85 earnings, being charged to accumulated income, and the next four quarterly dividends, aggregating 3 1/2 per cent, charged to the 1884-85 earnings, this plan having since then been regularly pursued.

HAWAIIAN ANNEXATION.

The treaty between our Government and the Government of Hawaii by which the Hawaiian Islands agree to become a territory of the United States was submitted to the Senate last week Wednesday. We commented briefly on the proposition in our "Financial Situation" of last Saturday. Since then the treaty has been referred to the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, and it has been publicly stated by the Chairman of that committee and by other Senators that no effort towards ratification will be made in the pending session. The matter will go over, apparently with the agreement of the Executive, until next year. Since the text of the treaty was submitted thus far in advance of the period set for final consideration, we assume that its authors have purposely invited fair and free public discussion of the question. It is our present purpose to set forth, as impartially as possible, both sides of the problem; to inquire what advantage we should actually gain by annexing these Sandwich Islands and what risks, if any, we should incur by it.

The arguments in favor of annexation are clearly stated in President McKinley's message of transmittal to the Senate, and in Secretary Sherman's accompanying report to the President. Annexation, Mr. McKinley affirms, is "the necessary and fitting sequel to the chain of events which, from a very early period of our history, has controlled the intercourse and prescribed the association of the United States and the Hawaiian Islands." The President mentions the treaty of friendship and commerce between the two States in 1826, the intervention of this country against a British naval seizure (never, however, authorized by the British Government) in 1843, the offer of annexation by the Hawaiian authorities in 1851, the reciprocity treaty of 1875, and the cession of Pearl Harbor to the United States in 1884. From these various episodes in history the President concludes that annexation, "despite successive denials and postponements, has been merely a question of time."

Mr. Sherman's argument is more elaborate. The Secretary assumes that existing conditions in the Ha-

Hawaiian Islands and in the relations of these islands to the United States are of a character which can hardly be permanent. The reciprocity treaty, for example, though it "has outlived other less favored reciprocity schemes", has at times "been gravely imperiled." To enter on complete commercial union under such conditions, "without assurance of permanency and with perpetual subjection to the vicissitudes of public sentiment in the two countries, was not to be thought of." A formal protectorate, on the other hand, was likely to be unduly burdensome to the protecting State, while an attempt to introduce tributary relations "would be a retrograde movement towards feudal or colonial establishment." Therefore a treaty of complete absorption of governmental functions by the United States, under the general practice of our territorial domains, has been prepared.

From this summary of the two State papers explaining the need for an annexation treaty, it will be seen that the fundamental argument advanced is that Hawaii is certain to come under our control and that therefore the single question is, how best to adjust the future relations of the countries. Neither the President nor Mr. Sherman makes any reference to the argument most used in popular discussion of the question—the strategic value of the islands in the conceivable event of naval war. We presume this argument was deliberately omitted in view of the semi-diplomatic nature of the documents. It was equally omitted in the State papers laid before the Senate February 16 1893, when the first Hawaiian annexation treaty was proposed. The argument ought nevertheless to be carefully considered; it will, beyond any question, be the pivot of next winter's Senatorial debate. It has, moreover, been somewhat emphasized by another passage in Mr. Harrison's annexation message of 1893. "It is essential", the President then declared, "that none of the other great powers shall secure these islands"; and he added that "such a possession would not consist with our safety and with the peace of the world." This point, too, will undoubtedly be revived in subsequent debate this year; it is already a favorite theme in newspaper comment on the subject.

Summing up, then, the points advanced in favor of Hawaiian annexation, we find them to be four in number: first, the gravitation of the islands towards our Government, a movement which, it is assumed, must end in closer union; second, the danger, real or imaginary, of annexation by some other foreign power; third, the value of Hawaii as a "naval key" to the Pacific; and, fourth, the impracticability of any permanent control by the United States except through actual absorption.

Granting the full force of these various arguments, which we believe we have presented fully and fairly, it remains to state the arguments advanced by the opponents of annexation. On that side of the question it is alleged, to begin with, that both the State papers submitted last week, Wednesday, assume instead of prove the main question at issue, that annexation is "the necessary and fitting sequel to the chain of events" which preceded the submission of the treaty. As regards the danger of seizure of the islands by another power, a matter of considerable interest, opponents of annexation do not agree with President Harrison's declaration that foreign possession of Hawaii "would not consist with our safety and with the peace of the world." Against this theory they point out Canada, Newfoundland, Cuba and Bermuda—all of them points of immense strategic value in a conceivable emergency, all of them for a century past controlled by foreign powers, and yet none of them; during the whole existence of our Government having become a menace to our safety, or to the peace of the world. Besides, even granting Mr. Harrison's contention, the anti-annexationist replies that possibility of foreign occupation in no respect involves necessity of occupation by our Government. If the Monroe Doctrine has any application in these days it would properly apply in case of seizure of the Hawaiian Islands. Diplomacy might therefore quite as readily ward off such foreign interference with the Island State as it would certainly ward off similar foreign occupation of a Central American republic.

Nor do opponents of the annexation plan accept the naval argument as by any means conclusive. In a war involving the supremacy of the Pacific, we have, to begin with, the immense advantage of our own well populated Western coast. We possess already, by a permanent concession, a coaling station in Hawaii sufficient for our purposes. It is perhaps contended that unless the United States takes actual possession of the islands as a whole, both they and the Pearl Harbor station would be seized by a naval antagonist. But to this the anti-annexationist replies that absorption by the United States would in no respect alter the problem. A naval State at war with us would certainly not hesitate to seize and occupy the Sandwich Islands merely because they had become a part of the United States. Annexed or unannexed, possession of the islands in such conceivable emergency would depend entirely on the success or failure of the Pacific navy. More than this, it is affirmed by opponents of the plan that with Hawaii an integral part of the United States, our problems in the case of war on the Pacific would be much more serious than they would be under existing conditions. With Hawaii independent, we should merely have to do our best for an ally; with annexation formally completed we should be face to face with the very serious problem of protecting our own territory from invasion. Finally it is urged in opposition that annexation in this case involves a new departure in the policy of the Government, the acquisition of an island 2,000 miles distant from our coast, and consequently a precedent which may prove troublesome.

Such are the arguments for and against the annexation treaty. We are content to leave to our readers judgment as to the relative merits of the annexationists and of the opposition. What is of the highest actual consequence is the honest study of this question by the people. If they make up their minds between now and the regular session next November that Hawaiian annexation would be rash and unwise, the islands will not be annexed. If sober and intelligent public judgment, on the other hand, approves the absorption of these islands, the Senate will undoubtedly ratify the treaty. Indeed, the deliberate postponement of their action for six months or more is, as we suggested to begin with, equivalent to formal invitation for the expression of honest popular opinion.

We wish, however, before dismissing the subject, to point out one other phase of the annexation plan which ought to receive especially serious consideration. Secretary Sherman's report has justly indicated the impracticability of converting Hawaii into a colony. We are utterly unfitted, from the nature of our Government, to maintain such dependencies, whether in tributary relations, such as Cuba holds to Spain, or under the less exacting but still formal bonds connecting Newfoundland, for example, with Great Britain. The Administration is therefore right in arguing that if there is to be an actual bond of formal union between Hawaii and the United States, it cannot logically be any union short of actual absorption.

But this conclusion does not end the problem. The treaty as submitted merely states (Article III.) that "until Congress shall provide for the government of such islands, all the civil, judicial and military powers exercised by the officers of the existing Government in said island shall be vested in such person or persons, and shall be exercised in such manner as the President of the United States shall direct." This clause contemplates obviously enough a form of government such as is now applied in what we call our territories. But is such a form of government, when applied to such a community as Hawaii, any more practicable as a permanent institution than the colonial establishment would be? Would the territorial administration of a group of islands so far distant from the American Continent be different in any actual regard from an English colonial administration? Or to put the question more directly, would it be possible to keep Hawaii, during any considerable length of time, part of the Union without the privileges of a sovereign State?

No one, we think, will question the statement that during the decade past our national tendency has been altogether away from the maintenance of territories. Rightly or wrongly, wisely or unwisely, the seven or eight communities which existed under a territorial government nine years ago have been, one after another, admitted to the equal powers and privileges of States. Both political parties have sanctioned, by their action when in power, this disposition of the matter. The few communities which still remain outside the group of States are pressing for admission; apparently, the sparseness of their population is the only argument which at Washington has weight against them.

Could Hawaii, in the face of such recent and suggestive precedent, be kept for any length of time under a territorial government? We cannot help regarding such continuance as very doubtful. The Hawaiian Islands number to-day a population of some 90,000, a larger population than that of Wyoming, Idaho or Nevada. Having, moreover, exercised self-government with more or less success during four years past, it would surely show a curious change in human nature if the dominant party at Honolulu, having once obtained admission to the Union, were to give up hope of further promotion to the rights of Statehood. The case of Louisiana, Florida and Alaska, cited as instances in point, is in reality not at all analogous. The two first-mentioned States were geographically integral parts of the United States domain; when the nation acquired them they were almost as sparsely settled as Alaska is to-day; they had in fact been unimportant colonies of foreign powers; the territorial government was therefore properly adapted to their needs, pending their growth in homogeneous population. Conditions in Hawaii are as different as can be imagined.

If, then, the problem of admitting Hawaii, after due delay and consideration, as a State, with all the powers of Statehood, is a certain sequel to the annexation movement, the annexation problem must to some extent be judged in the light of such a certainty. Do we wish Hawaii as a State, with two Senators in the Upper House and at least one Representative in the other branch of Congress? Of the country's 89,990 population in 1890, 34,436 were native Hawaiians, and hence an alien race, 6,186 were half-breeds, 15,301 Chinese, 12,360 Japanese, 8,602 Portuguese and only 1,928 Americans. We confess that such a showing does not predispose us to look with satisfaction on the possibility of Statehood. It is well known that the present Government at Honolulu has maintained itself only through absolute denial of the suffrage to a vast majority of the inhabitants. Could such exclusion be maintained under the precedents of the United States?

This view of the question arouses misgivings so serious that we trust it will receive the disinterested thought, both of our public men and of our private citizens, before the Senate passes finally on the annexation question. The problem has been honestly and ably stated by a public man whose present position gives his words peculiar weight. Secretary Sherman wrote in 1895, in concluding the second volume of his "Recollections": "I hope that our people will be content with internal growth and avoid the complications of foreign acquisitions. Our family of States is already large enough to create embarrassment in the Senate, and a republic should not hold dependent provinces or possessions. Every new acquisition will create embarrassments. * * * The Union already embraces discordant elements enough without adding others." Certainly the discordant elements which would come with the progress of Hawaii towards Statehood rights is a factor worth considering.

RIGHT OF NATIONAL BANKS TO DEAL OR INVEST IN STOCKS.

One of our readers has called our attention to an important decision handed down by the United States Supreme Court last month, touching upon the right of national banks to deal in stocks or to acquire ownership in the shares of other corporations. The opinion was delivered in the case of a California bank, where it was sought to hold the bank liable as the owner of a certain number of shares of a failed savings institution. In its defense the bank set up the plea that the acquisition of these shares had been without authority, and that under the national banking law a national bank has no power to become a stockholder in another corporation. This plea was overruled in the State courts, but is now sustained by the Federal Supreme Court.

We cannot believe that instances where national banks make it a practice to deal in stocks by purchase and sale are very common. Nevertheless, it is important to know how the courts would look upon transactions of that character. The case under consideration was that of the California National Bank versus Kennedy. The action was commenced in the Superior Court of the County of San Diego, State of California, against the California Savings Bank and other defendants, including the California National Bank. A judgment was sought against the savings bank for the amount of certain deposits of money alleged to have been made with it on specified dates, and a recovery was asked against the other defendants upon the ground that they were stockholders in the savings bank on the dates of the various deposits, and in consequence liable under the laws of California to pay the debts of the savings bank in proportion to the amount of stock held and owned by each stockholder.

The circumstances of the case were peculiar. It appears that the savings bank began business in January 1890, and that its stock was originally distributed among five persons, of whom all but one were directors of the national bank, three of them also being officers of the bank. These persons evidently were not acting in their individual capacity, and subsequently transfers were made and a certificate issued in the name of the bank. In December 1890 and January 1891 dividends of 5 per cent were declared and paid on the stock of the savings bank, the California National Bank upon each occasion receiving its dividends the same as other shareholders. Towards the close of 1891 both institutions suspended—the savings bank November 12 1891, the national bank December 29 1891. The Court sustained the averments of the complaint and adjudged the national bank to be the holder of 990 shares of the stock of the savings bank and responsible to the creditors of the same in that proportion.

It was contended on behalf of the national bank that the issue of the stock to it was void, because not shown to have been acquired pursuant to authority of its board of directors, and also because the stock was not taken in the ordinary course of the business of the bank as security for the payment of a debt or otherwise. It was also contended that error had been committed in admitting the certificate of stock in evidence and holding the national bank liable, because the latter, being a corporation under the banking laws of the United States, could "not in law become a stockholder or incorporator in any other corporation." The motion for a new trial having been overruled, an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the State, by which the judgment was affirmed, and then the appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court followed, where the whole case has now been reviewed.

Justice White, in delivering the opinion of the Court, after stating that the suggestion as to a want of jurisdiction was without merit, said that the case involved two questions: (1) Do the statutes of the United States relating to the organization and powers of national banks prohibit them from purchasing or subscribing to the stock of another corporation? And (2) if a national bank does not possess such power, can the want of authority be urged by the bank to defeat an attempt to enforce against it the liability of a stockholder? As to the first question the Court says it is settled that the United States statutes constitute the measure of the authority of the national banks and that these institutions can not rightfully exercise any powers except those expressly granted or which are incidental to carrying on the business for which they are established. No express power to acquire the stock of another corporation is conferred upon national banks. It has been held, though, that as incidental to the power to loan money on personal security a bank may, in the usual course of doing such business, accept stock of another corporation as collateral, and by the enforcement of its rights as pledgee it may become the owner of the collateral and be subject to liability as other stockholders. So also a national bank may be conceded to possess the incidental power of accepting in good faith stock of another corporation as security for a previous indebtedness. It is clear, however, the Court asserts, that a national bank does not possess the power to deal in stocks. The prohibition is implied from the failure to grant the power. It was admitted at the trial that the stock of the savings bank was not "taken as security or anything of the kind" and it is not disputed in the argument at bar, Justice White says, that the transaction by which the stock was placed in the name of the bank was one not in the course of the business of banking, for which the bank was organized.

It being thus obvious that the transfer of the stock to the bank was unauthorized by law, the second question comes up, namely whether the fact that under some circumstances the bank might have legally acquired stock in the corporation—whether this fact estops the bank from setting up the illegality of the transaction? Justice White shows that whatever divergence of opinion may arise regarding that point from conflicting adjudications in some of the State courts, in the U. S. Supreme Court the question has been settled in favor of the right of the corporation to plead its want of power—that is to say, to assert the nullity of an act which is an ultra vires act. After citing a long line of cases which recognize as sound doctrine that the powers of corporations are such only as are conferred upon them by statute, he quotes the following paragraph from the opinion of the Court in the case of the Central Transportation Company versus Pullman's Palace Car Company: "A contract of a corporation, which is ultra vires in the proper sense (that is to say, outside the object of its creation as defined in the law of its organization, and therefore beyond the powers conferred upon it by the legislature), is not voidable only, but wholly void and of no legal effect. The objection to the contract is not merely that the corporation ought not to have made it, but that it could not make it. The contract cannot be ratified by either party because it could not have been authorized by either. No performance on either side can give the unlawful contract any validity or be the foundation of any right of action upon it." The subjoined extract from McCormick vs. Bank is also given, explaining the doctrine of ultra vires: "The doctrine of ultra vires, by which a contract made by a corporation beyond the scope of its corporate powers is unlawful and void, and will not support an action, rests, as this Court has often recognized and affirmed, upon three distinct grounds: The obligation of any one contracting with a corporation to take notice of the legal limits of its powers; the interest of the stockholders not to be subject to risks which they have never undertaken; and, above all, the interest of the public, that the corporation shall not transcend the powers conferred upon it by law."

The doctrine here enunciated Justice White points out is the same as that which obtains in England. Hence, applying these principles to the case under review the result is free from doubt. The power to purchase or deal in the stock of another corporation, as already said, is not expressly conferred upon national banks, nor is it an act which may be exercised as incidental to the powers expressly conferred. A dealing in stocks is consequently an ultra vires act. Being such, it is without efficacy. Stock so acquired creates no liability to the creditors of the corporation whose stock was attempted to be transferred. In conclusion the Court says the claim that the bank, in consequence of the receipt by it of dividends on the stock of the savings bank, is estopped from questioning its ownership and consequent liability, is but a reiteration of the contention that the acquiring of stock by the bank under the circumstances disclosed was not void, but merely voidable. It would be a contradiction in terms, declares Justice White, to assert that there was a total want of power by any act to assume the liability, and yet to say that by a particular act the liability resulted. The transaction being absolutely void, could not be confirmed or ratified.

THE HALF-YEARLY STATEMENTS OF THE VANDERBILT WESTERN ROADS.

The half-yearly exhibits (in part estimated, of course,) of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern and the Michigan Central both show smaller gross earnings than for the corresponding six months of last year, and in this reflect on the whole pretty accurately the conditions which prevailed as far as this class of roads is concerned. The trade situation was satisfactory in neither year. Last year, as will be remembered, while there was still considerable activity in January (the revival caused by the Morgan-Belmont contract in 1895 with the Government not yet having spent its force), after that the situation grew steadily worse, owing to a variety of causes, but mainly to the progress of the free silver movement in the political world. This year it would be difficult to say whether the trade situation had grown better or worse during the six months, but this much is certain, the country all through has been on a much lower plane of activity.

The Lake Shore, on some of its branches, is affected by the state of things in the iron trade. The conditions in that industry will serve as a guide to the situation generally. Taking the reports of the "Iron Age" of this city as a basis, the production of pig iron last year was 207,481 tons per week on January 1 and 180,532 tons per week on July 1. This year the capacity of the active furnaces on January 1 was only 159,720 tons per week, on April 1 it had increased to 173,279 tons, and on June 1 it was down again to 168,380 tons. It will be observed that at the highest figure in 1897 the production was very much smaller than at the lowest figure in 1896 during these six months. And speaking of our industries generally it may be affirmed that business the present year, through the whole six months, was at an exceedingly low ebb.

Nor was the situation as to rates altogether satisfactory. This year, as last year, the Joint Traffic Association proved a powerful agency for good. The decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Trans-Missouri freight cases exercised only a momentary unsettling influence as far as this Association was concerned; after taking time for reflection it was decided to continue work along the old lines until the Court should have an opportunity to pass upon the legality of this particular Association. Thus what might have become a serious disturbing element (for in the event of the dissolution of the Association it would have been practically impossible to prevent general demoralization in rates) was averted. On the other hand, complaints of the surreptitious cutting of rates below the schedules fixed by the Association have been this year much more numerous than they were last year, and for these complaints there is reason to believe there was some foundation—the result being that the lines which maintained schedule tariffs suffered because of the acts of those which did not.

The one favorable factor of large importance was the crop situation. By this we mean that the country had an abundant harvest in 1896 following an equally abundant harvest in 1895, though all sections were by no means equally favored in this respect. These large crops did not bring general prosperity to the agricultural community, for prices in many instances were extraordinarily low. But the excellent harvest had at least one beneficial effect as far as the railroads were concerned: it gave them a large grain tonnage. The influence of that factor in the case of the trunk lines may be judged from the grain deliveries at the seaboard. There had been a very substantial increase in these seaboard receipts last year, the total for the period from January 1 to June 20 having risen from 51 million bushels in 1895 to nearly 88½ million bushels in 1896. The present year there was a further increase to 154½ million bushels. To this further increase in 1897 wheat did not contribute, the receipts of that cereal having fallen off somewhat, thus reflecting the smaller wheat crop. But there was an augmentation in the receipts of flour (the total rising from 5,883,980 bbls. in 1896 to 7,465,655 bbls. in 1897) against a falling off in the previous year.

Obviously, therefore, this larger grain tonnage has played an important part in maintaining the revenues of the roads in face of the falling off in the merchandise and manufacturing tonnage on account of the hard times. On the Michigan Central, which road is very little dependent on the condition of the iron trade, the gross revenues have been nearly equal to those for the six months of last year, when there was a fair increase over the year preceding—that is to say, the gross for 1897 is $6,554,000 and in 1896 was $6,620,000; on the other hand, in the case of the Lake Shore, where the mining and manufacturing tonnage is quite prominent, the falling off has been more marked, the total of the gross for 1897 being only $9,619,214 against $10,125,890 for 1896, the decrease thus being over half a million dollars or about 5 per cent. The following furnishes a comparison of the Lake Shore half-yearly returns back to 1871.

There is no occasion to say much as to the changes in the net earnings, since these have in recent years been kept within narrow limits, and it is so plainly the policy of the management to vary the expenses according to the size of the gross receipts—spending liberally when earnings are good and restricting outlays when earnings are poor, and always putting all earnings in excess of the amounts required for the customary dividends back into the property in the shape of improvements. For the six years from 1892 to 1897 inclusive the gross earnings of the Lake Shore for the period from January to June have varied between $9,396,328 and $11,816,580 as the extremes—a difference of nearly 2½ million dollars. During the same six years the variation in the net has been but a trifle over a quarter of a million dollars, the totals having been $3,260,766 for 1892, $3,437,910 for 1893, $3,201,242 for 1894, $3,231,716 for 1895, $3,196,652 for 1896 and $3,174,039 for 1897.

In the case of the Michigan Central, the net during the last five years has been almost stationary having been $1,765,000 for 1893, $1,740,000 for 1894, $1,730,000 for 1895, $1,716,000 for 1896 and $1,749,000 for 1897. The fact, too, that under the policy in force the course of the net is a matter of no very great moment was emphasized by the action of the Boards of Directors of the several companies in declaring the regular dividends last week without waiting for the submission of the usual semi-annual statements, as was the custom in other years. The results for the Michigan Central are shown in the following back to 1880. For the years prior to the consolidation of the Michigan Central and the Canada Southern we have combined the statements of the two companies.

With reference to the Lake Shore, it will be observed that the fixed charges for 1897 are given precisely the same as for 1896 and the years immediately preceding. From this it is evident that the saving to be effected through refunding the outstanding issues of bonds at 3½ per cent has not entered into the results for these six months.

Monetary and Commercial English News

LONDON, SATURDAY, June 12, 1897.

[From our own correspondent.]

Business has been very quiet upon the Stock Exchange all the week, partly because the social celebrations of the Queen's Jubilee have practically begun. On Saturday and Monday last the Stock Exchange was closed. Most of the Premiers of the self-governing colonies are already in London. They are being entertained in various ways, and the various gatherings, social and political, are attracting away attention from the Stock Exchange. Brokers report constantly that when they recommend a stock to a client his answer usually is, I shall wait till after the Jubilee.

But while trading is exceedingly slack, the markets are remarkably strong. On Tuesday, when business re-commenced after the Whitsuntide holidays, there was some attempt on the part of bears to put down the prices of British railway stocks, mining shares, and so on, but the success was very short-lived, and upon the following day there was a very general recovery. On Thursday there was a still further recovery and there was a little boom in Argentine securities.

There is nothing new to account for the rise in Argentine. It has been known for months that the Government had resolved to pay the interest in full from the 1st of July, and certainly the state of trade is not very reassuring. Commercial failures have been numerous for the past few months in consequence of the shortage of the crops last year. Presumably the near approach of the time when the full payment is to be made has had some influence on the market; but the chief reason no doubt is that people are in a very sanguine mood just now.

In the American Department there has been, allowing for the exceeding slackness everywhere, a fair amount of speculative business, but the public is still holding aloof.

Regarding politics there is absolutely nothing fresh to report this week. No Government anywhere has made a new announcement, and the newspaper reporters are not able to obtain very much information in Constantinople. Still, the belief is universal that the negotiations will drag on slowly and that in the long run Turkey will give way. In Constantinople, Vienna and Berlin it is reported that the British Ambassador made a very strong declaration at the meeting of the Ambassadors with the Turkish Foreign Minister when the latter demanded the retrocession of Thessaly to Turkey. Sir Philip Currie is reported to have said that never would England consent to hand back Christians to Turkish misrule. It is also understood that the Russian Government is in full accord with England, and so of course are the French and Italian governments. Austria-Hungary is mainly anxious to prevent disturbances everywhere and will agree to anything the other Powers decide upon. But Germany is still making difficulties, so, at least, all the telegrams from every part of Europe report.

In the Transvaal the Industrial Commission has finished taking evidence, and its report is now anxiously expected. The belief is that considerable concessions will be made and that all disputes between the British and the Transvaal governments will be peacefully arranged.

Upon the Continent the bourses are fairly steady, but rather slack. The finances of Spain are in a deplorable way and if the military operations in Cuba and the Philippine Islands are continued, it is difficult to see how utter bankruptcy can be avoided. Still there is not the fall in the bonds that one would naturally expect.

There is a report in Paris that we are likely to see a settlement of the Portuguese debt. A French company has made an offer of money to the Portuguese Government on condition that it settles with its creditors. The settlement will take some time to negotiate, but if the Government is in earnest there ought to be no real difficulty in the matter. Italian credit is decidedly better and Italian bonds are rising, mainly because Italy is acting with England and France in the cause of Greece, and also because the Italian Government has decided upon withdrawing from a large part of the Abyssinian territory now held. On the other hand, it is noteworthy that the Minister for Marine has already demanded further grants for the navy.

Here at home, as already said, business upon the Stock Exchange is very slack, and it is likely to continue so for the remainder of the month. Next week the Ascot races take place, and they usually attract large numbers of operators from the city. The following week will be occupied by the Jubilee celebrations; especially, the Queen's procession will take place on Tuesday and the naval review on the following Saturday. The week after that again there will be other celebrations; so it does not look as if very much actual business will take place. Still, the Stock Exchange is very hopeful and prices are well maintained. In some cases they have risen considerably during the week.

Trade throughout the country is very good and is steadily improving, the most hopeful sign being the utter absence of speculation. Money continues easy and abundant. About the end of the month when the half-year will be drawing to a close there may be some temporary rise in rates, but it will be very temporary. There is no speculation, there is no lending to other countries; neither is there any large investment going on abroad; consequently there is nothing to lead to much advance in rates.

The Continental demand for gold is not actually ended, but it is smaller this week, and Japan, for the time being, is not taking much. On the other hand, gold is coming in from abroad, and of course the production of gold is enormously increasing. Until, therefore, harvest operations begin, at all events in the United States, there seems little probability of any change in the money market.

The silver demand is as quiet as before; practically, for the time being there is no demand. On the other hand the India Council continues to sell its drafts fairly well. It offered for tender on Wednesday 30 lacs, and the applications were for six or seven times as much. The whole amount offered, therefore, was disposed of at an average price of 1s 2 9-16d. per rupee. The stringency in the Indian money market is as great as ever, but as the purchases of council drafts during the past three weeks have been large, the expectation here is that in about a week or two the market will be somewhat relieved.

In the meanwhile attention, as far as India is concerned, is now mainly directed to the monsoon. The rains have already begun in Ceylon and they are gradually and slowly creeping up northwards; but they are still a long way from Bombay. If they prove abundant the end of the troubles will be soon.

In Australia there was reported two or three weeks ago a favorable fall of rain in Central New South Wales. Unfortunately, it did not last long and it has not been renewed. Outside the centre of the Colony no rain has fallen and the position is becoming most deplorable. The autumn is over, we are almost in midwinter, and yet no rain has come. It seems inevitable, therefore, that the new year must be exceedingly hard if it deed. If rains do not come in the spring the position will become utterly deplorable.

The "Railway News" of London reports the traffic receipts for the week ending June 6 of 55 railways of the United Kingdom which make weekly returns at £1,422,763, against £1,585,686 in the corresponding week of last year, an increase of £237,076. For the twenty-three weeks of the current half-year receipts were £35,950,593, an increase of £1,625,191.

Messrs. Pixley & Abell write as follows under date of June 10:

Gold.—The inquiry for export continues unabated, and most of the Australian sovereigns, in addition to the arrivals in bars, have been taken for the Continent. The Bank has received £400,000, chiefly from the Cape and South America, while £143,000 has been sold for export. Arrivals: River Plate, £82,000; South Africa, £347,000; West India, £30,000; total, £459,000. Shipments to Bombay, £7,000.

Silver.—The market remained without change in price from the 2nd inst. until to-day at 27 p.d., there being sufficient inquiry to absorb the amounts on offer; when, with New York a moderate seller, and an arrival by the West Indian Mail, a relapse to 27 1/2d. took place. At this rate the market closes "sellers". The Bombay price to-day is Rs. 77 1/4 per 100 tolas. Arrivals: New York, £174,000; River Plate, £2,000; West India, £32,000; total, £208,000. Shipments to Bombay, £298,500; Calcutta, £30,000; Hong Kong, £23,115; total, £151,615. Mexican Dollars.—With no business the nearest quotation is 27 1/4d.

WALL STREET, FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1897—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—A new outside interest and buying by well-known investors who have not recently taken a conspicuous part in Stock Exchange transactions have been a prominent feature of the week in Wall Street. While it is true that a large proportion of the business has been confined to a few prominent issues, there is nevertheless a strong tendency to expansion and some movement of securities hitherto inactive.

Various factors are contributing to confirm the opinion that the lowest prices of the year for railway securities have generally been recorded, and that the movement now in progress will continue with more or less irregularity for some time to come. The most important of these factors are not new, but to the prospect of a speedy settlement of the tariff bill and the hope of a plan for currency reform later on, as promised by Secretary Gage, may be added the improvement in railway traffic reports and clearing house returns. The crop prospects are growing more important day by day, and are already sufficiently promising to have stimulated the market for granger and trunk line securities.

Gold exports have increased this week, amounting to $4,300,000, including $1,800,000 which will be shipped to-morrow. These continue to be chiefly for the settlement of trade balances and interest payments. The great Jubilee has interfered with business operations at the London Stock Exchange this week, and that market has had practically no influence in Wall Street.

The money market continues extremely dull and weak.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1 to 2 per cent. To-day's rates on call were 1 to 1½ per cent. Prime commercial paper quoted at 3 to 3½ per cent.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £283,158 and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 50.88 against 51.29 last week; the discount rate remains unchanged at 2 per cent. The Bank of France shows an increase of 8,625,000 francs in gold and 3,623,000 francs in silver.

The New York City Clearing-House banks in their statement of June 19 showed an increase in the reserve held of $2,643,900 and a surplus over the required reserve of $18,390,950, against $47,601,475 the previous week.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $15,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts, stamped, at 3¼ to 3½, and $1,000 Alabama, Class B, at 107½.

The opinion seems generally to prevail that railway bonds are not likely to rule lower in the near future. This fact, together with the large amount of funds now seeking investment, has stimulated a demand for railway bonds, and the volume of business in this department is limited chiefly by the offerings.

As usual, the activity and fluctuation in prices is most marked in the low-priced speculative issues, but a relatively large proportion of the transactions this week has been in high-grade bonds, including Burlington & Quincy, Rock Island, North West., Central of New Jersey, Erie firsts, Lake Shore, Milwaukee & St. Paul, New York Central, New York Susquehanna & Western, St. Louis & San Francisco, Wabash and West Shore issues. Central of Georgia consol. 5s have attracted attention. They sold to-day at 89½, an advance of 2 points within the week. Special activity is noted in Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chicago & Northern Pacific, Missouri Kansas & Texas, Northern Pacific, San Antonio & Aransas Pass, Rio Grande Western, South Carolina & Georgia, Southern Railway, Texas & Pacific and Wisconsin Central bonds.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—New efforts were put forth early in the week to bring about a reaction in the stock market, but they were unavailing, and prices for almost the entire active list have advanced to a higher level. A report was circulated Monday that a scheme for refunding the early maturing North Western bonds was in progress, and all the grangers and stocks with which the North Western management is identified were in demand and have so continued. Lake Shore made a new high record, selling at 175 on Tuesday. North West. gained 8½ per cent and St. Paul & Omaha 4½ per cent. Several stocks have this week recorded the highest quotations of the year, including North West., St. Paul, Burlington & Quincy, Rock Island, New York Central, Lackawanna, Reading, Chicago Gas and Pacific Mail, Louisville & Nashville, Missouri Pacific and Delaware & Hudson advanced a point or more. The market weakened somewhat on sales to realize profits during the last hours to day, and closing prices are in some cases a point below the best.

Some features of the miscellaneous list have been unsteady. American Sugar dropped 4 points from its recent high selling price but recovered 2 points to-day. Consolidated Gas had lost 4½ points on Wednesday and General Electric has fractionally declined. The largest net gain in the active list has been made by American Tobacco, amounting to 2½. Chicago Gas has been in demand and closes at a gain of 1½. Bay State Gas advanced sharply on reports that a controlling interest has passed into the hands of parties representing the Standard Oil Company. United States Leather was weak to-day on reports that the new tariff will provide for a duty on hides.

STREET RAILWAYS AND TRACTION COMPANIES.

The following table shows the gross earnings for the latest period of all STREET RAILWAYS from which we are able to obtain weekly or monthly returns. The arrangement of the table is the same as that for the steam roads—that is, the first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the calendar year from January 1 to and including such latest week or month.

Street Railway Net Earnings.—The following table gives the returns of STREET railway gross and net earnings received this week. In reporting these net earnings for the street railways, we adopt the same plan as that for the steam roads—that is, we print each week all the returns received that week, but once a month (on the third or the fourth Saturday) we bring together all the roads furnishing returns, and the latest statement of this kind will be found in the CHRONICLE of June 19, 1897. The next will appear in the issue of July 24, 1897.

Lake Erie &amp; Western Railroad.

President Calvin S. Brice says in part:

General Results.—"While the operations of the company for the year past have been unsatisfactory, owing to conditions which are very generally understood and acknowledged, the property of the company has been fully maintained, and while the usual expenditures for improvements permanent way, etc., will have to be met during the coming year, the second mortgage bonds remaining in the treasury will furnish such sums as may be necessary in case the increased earnings hoped for through a revival of business be not realized."

Bonds Sold.—"Second mortgage bonds to the amount of $500,000 were sold from the company's treasury, the proceeds being required for the extraordinary improvements to the company's road and equipment, providing air brakes and automatic couplers, in compliance with the Inter-State Commerce law, and for the general purposes of the company."

Earnings.—"The gross earnings for the year suffered a decrease of $14,830, due entirely to the prevalent depressed condition of the transportation business. The net earnings show a corresponding decrease of $15,945, and the surplus, after paying charges and dividends, decreased $174,785."

Guaranteed Interest Payment.—"After deducting dividends of 5 per cent upon the preferred stock, there was left a surplus of $134,389, from which $125,000 was advanced to the Northern Ohio R. way, on account of interest on the bonds guaranteed, leaving a net surplus for the year of $9,389. This payment of guaranteed interest will constitute a charge against the future earnings of the Northern Ohio."

No Work on Northern Ohio Extension.—"It has not been thought proper to make any expenditure on account of the completion of the Northern Ohio to New Castle, during the conditions which prevailed in the fiscal year 1896, and negotiations now pending may make such extension unnecessary."

Maintenance.—"The General Manager reports that the condition of the track, permanent way, etc., was well cared for. Among other improvements, 289 miles of new sidings were built, 263,302 new cross-ties put in, 134 miles of standard wire fence built and 126 miles repaired."

Improvements Recommended.—"In addition to the regular maintenance of track, about 100 miles of the main line in Illinois should be gravel ballasted this year (1897) and an expenditure of about $90,000 made in the replacement of pile and trestle openings, with stone arches, steel girders and permanent embankment. About forty miles of light rail should be replaced with 75-pound steel."

Traffic.—"Of the total tons moved in 1895, grain furnished 21 per cent, coal and coke 17, lumber, etc., 11, stone, etc., 5; manufactures, (including petroleum, iron, cement, etc.) 26, and merchandise and miscellaneous, 20 per cent."

Statistics.—"For purposes of comparison the statements below have been compiled:

Jacksonville Tampa &amp; Key West Ry.

(Report for the year ending March 31, 1897.)

Receiver Joseph H. Durkee says in part:

General Results.—The gross earnings of the entire property for the year ending March 31, 1897, were $3,012,243, the expenses $1,857,419, showing net earnings $1,154,824. The gross earnings for 1895 were $3,177,278, the expenses $2,014,813, making a deficit of $3,867. While the almost economy has been enforced in all departments, no bill has been left unpaid in maintenance of way, structures or equipment which has been required to keep the property in good physical condition. The road, roadbed, trestles, bridges, engines and equipment are now in as good condition, if not better, than at any time since your receiver took possession of the same.

Right of Way in Jacksonville.—It appears that there is no record in the Receiver's office, or in the office of the County Clerk of Duval County, showing a conveyance of the right of way through certain lands lying in the city of Jacksonville through which the line of the road runs. The title to these lands appears of record to be in the Savannah Florida & Western Railway Company. The Receiver can not find that any arrangement was ever consummated with that company for any of this right of way. The Jacksonville Tampa & Key West has, however, occupied and maintained this right of way since the construction of the road, and is now in possession of the same. The Savannah Florida & Western has recently perfected a lease of the lands, embracing the right of way in question, for ninety-nine years, to the Jacksonville Terminal Company, without notice to the Jacksonville Tampa & Key West. This right of way extends in a southwesterly direction 1,041 feet. There are three sidings, cross-over track, etc., making a total trackage of 6,031 feet.

Receiver's Certificates.—Certificates for $25,000 were authorized in July, 1896, to pay taxes. The interest on receiver's certificates has been promptly paid on due dates.

Interest Defaulted.—During the year interest was not paid upon bonds of the constituent companies, viz.: Jacksonville Tampa & Key West, Sanford & Lake Eustis and Atlantic Coast St. Johns & Indian River. There are still outstanding $8,000 equipment trust bonds, series "B." These bonds became due, $4,000 on May 1 and $4,000 on November 1.

Financial.—The receiver on March 31, 1897, reports cash on hand $3,646 and cash assets (excluding supplies) $13,633; current liabilities (pay rolls, vouchers, etc.), $31,403; receiver's certificates outstanding, $141,300.

Traffic.—The following table shows the amount of business handled and the nature of the freight moved:

Westinghouse Electric &amp; Manufacturing Co.

(Report for the year ending March 31, 1897.)

The President's report was presented at the annual meeting of stockholders held in Pittsburgh on Wednesday. The report covers a period of two years as, on account of the removal of the shops to East Pittsburgh, no figures were given out last year.

Of the $5,000,000 new stock authorized in June, 1896, $3,000,000 was sold to the Securities Investment Co. of Pittsburgh for $2,489,000, of which $1,260,000 was cash, $329,000 patents, etc., and the balance notes, of which $300,000 has been paid, $310,000 will be due July 5, 1898, and $300,000 July 5, 1899.

Under the contract with General Electric for pooling patents made in March, 1896, the company bought for $316,000 the Tesla patents for multiphase current motors, and both companies will make them; also bought for $72,231 the entire stock ($118,000) of the R. D. Nuttall Co.; and for $53,540 purchased 12,433 shares (out of 20,000 shares) of Electro-Magnetic Traction stock.

The wisdom of the deal with General Electric has been fully established. Patents of the company are carried at $4,689,080, or less than 37½ per cent of the aggregate book value of the patents of both companies. The combined companies have control of the power transmission apparatus used in this country.

Earnings.—No figures of earnings are given, but the statement is made that in spite of business depression and the heavy charges for removal, making new patterns, etc., earnings (for the two years) have exceeded the amount required for dividends on the preferred stock.

General Balance Sheet.—Stocks, bonds and properties appear on the books at cost. In two years the surplus account has been reduced by $1,577,736 written off for depreciation, bad debts, etc. The balance sheet of March 31, 1897, compares with 1895 and 1894 as follows:

Electric Storage Battery Company.

(Report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1896.)

This company was organized in 1895. The report for the second year of the company's existence has been submitted to the stockholders.

President Isaac L. Rice says in part:

General Results.—The business of the company in 1896, although somewhat disappointing considered from the point of view of actual results, inasmuch as the surplus earnings were not sufficient to warrant a declaration of a dividend, is encouraging in its details. Thus, while in the month of January, shortly following the Venezuelan panic, the total amount of orders received was only $4,000 the six months from February 1st to August 1st averaged approximately $90,000 per month. The collection panic, however, effected a check on the five remaining months of the year, showing an average of approximately only $20,000 per month. But notwithstanding that financial and business conditions in general have not materially changed since the end of last year, the first five months of the current year show an average of business secured of approximately $30,000 per month, as against $20,000 per month of the last five months of the past year.

"It is apparent from the general nature of installations made by the company that the field for storage batteries is practically unlimited."

Capital stock is $8,500,000 of common and $5,000,000 of preferred.

Earnings.—Earnings and charges for the late year compare with previous year as follows:

Year ending Dec. 31—	1896.	1895.
Gross sales	$646,319	$328,231
Income outside of manufacturing	6,301	2,214
Total income	$652,620	$330,445

Total expenses	$518,058	$327,467
Net profit	$135,062	$2,982

Gross sales for 1896 have increased 96.90 per cent, while the manufacturing charges have only increased 46.06 per cent. The percentage of manufacturing cost to total output for 1895 was 75.54 per cent, while for 1896 it was 56.03 per cent.

Up to the 31st of December, 1896, there had been expended in various demonstrations and applications of the use of storage battery, the sum of $41,408 75 charged off to profit and loss. Expenses of this character are not likely to recur, as it is no longer necessary to demonstrate the value of the company's product experimentally.—V. 62, p. 1033.

William Cramp & Sons' Ship & Engine Building Co. (Statement for year ending April 30, 1897.)

This company reports gross income for the year of $4,500,000, from which was realized a profit on labor and material of $770,000; deducting $340,000 for general expenses, repairs, salaries, interest, taxes, insurance, new machinery, etc., leaves a profit for the year of $430,000, equal to 8.86 per cent on its $4,848,000 capital stock as a result of the year's operations. The debt of the company was reduced $995,000.

Annapolis Washington & Baltimore RR.—Baltimore & Annapolis Short Line RR.—To Be Operated Under One Management.—Control of the Short Line has been obtained by the owners of the Annapolis Washington & Baltimore road through the purchase of the stock and bonds of the Short Line, and the lines will be operated under one management. Both roads run to Annapolis and were competitors for business to that city.

Atlantic Coast Electric RR.—Asbury Park & Belmar Street Ry.—Sale of Asbury Park Line.—The Asbury Park & Belmar Street Railway has passed into the hands of the Atlantic Coast Electric RR. of Long Branch, which company will shortly begin running its cars over the newly acquired road, giving a continuous line from Pleasure Bay to Belmar. The company proposes to extend the lines as far south as Point Pleasant.—V. 63, p. 152; V. 61, p. 1012.

Baltimore & Ohio RR.—S. M. Felton Inspecting the System.—S. M. Felton, President and Receiver of the Queen & Crescent Railway system, left Baltimore on Monday on a special train, accompanied by several prominent officials of the B. & O., for a tour of inspection of the entire Baltimore & Ohio system, in the interest, it is said, of J. P. Morgan & Co. and other large bondholders. The main purpose of the trip, which is to last about ten days, is to make a thorough examination of the property, with a view of discovering whether the large expenditures made and contemplated in renewals and improvements are necessary and judicious.—V. 64, p. 1087.

Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Ry.—Extension of Ohio & Mississippi Firsts.—Arrangements have been made to extend the Ohio & Mississippi $3,350,000 first consol. currency 7s and the $83,000 gold 6s maturing January 1 next, for 50 years from January 1, 1897, at 4 per cent, principal and interest payable in gold. Bondholders are offered the privilege of extension, receiving in cash the adjustment of interest to January 1, 1898 (amounting to $3 per bond on the 7s and $20 on the 6s), less $15 per bond for extension fee.

Brown Brothers & Co. announce that they will purchase on or before July 15 at par and interest to January 1, 1898 (less discount at 3 per cent per annum), bonds with coupons of July, 1897, and after, of holders who may desire to sell rather than extend.—V. 64, p. 1087.

Boston Terminal Co.—Exchange of Short-Term Bonds.—This company has authorized the exchange of $6,000,000 short term 3½s due Aug. 1, 1898, for the new 3½s due Feb. 1, 1947. The exchange may be effected through Lee, Higginson & Co. of Boston.—V. 64, p. 1000.

Brooklyn City & Newtown RR.—Extensions Proposed.—This company has decided to extend its lines to Broadway (Brooklyn) for the purpose of securing good terminal facilities at the new East River Bridge entrance, and also from its present terminus at De Kalb and Wyckoff avenues to connect with a line to North Beach on Long Island Sound. The De Kalb Avenue & North Beach RR. has been incorporated to build the North Beach line.—V. 64, p. 798.

Brooklyn Union Gas.—Listing.—There were listed on the New York Stock Exchange this week $745,000 additional first consol. gold 5s, of which $245,000 were issued in exchange for underlying bonds and $500,000 for the acquisition of all the securities of the Equity Gas Co. of Brooklyn, consisting of $250,000 first mortgage bonds and $250,000 stock, which will be held as security for the consols. The total amount of consol. 5s now listed is $13,031,000.—V. 64, p. 897.

Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Ry.—To Be Sold as a Whole.—On Monday Judge Simonton, in the United States Circuit Court at Raleigh, N. C., rendered a decision in the case of the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company, again ordering the sale of the road as a whole, including the lease of the South Carolina Pacific. A similar order was made two months ago (see CHRONICLE of April 10, page 706), but the case was reopened at the request of counsel representing New York interests. The New York committee wanted the road sold in three sections, represented by series of A, B and C bonds. The sale is to take place at Fayetteville, N. C., at a date yet to be announced.—V. 64, p. 798.

Central National Bank, N. Y. City.—Dividend.—The Central National Bank on Tuesday declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 p. c., payable July 2. This is the first dividend since reducing the capital stock from $2,000,000 to $1,000,000 in January last. Before the reduction the semi-annual dividends were 3½ per cent each.—V. 64, p. 233.

Central Pacific RR.—Committee.—Early in the week it was announced that a committee consisting of Charles S. Fairchild, Chairman; Thomas F. Bayard, Silas B. Dutcher and Edward Morrison, Jr., of New York, and Lord Monks-well, Sir John Lubbock and Walter Morehead, of London, had been formed, and a plan of reorganization prepared. No plan, however, has yet been given out.—V. 64, page 1080.

Chicago Indianapolis & Louisville Ry.—Mortgage Filed.—The new refunding $15,000,000 mortgage was filed at Indianapolis on Tuesday. The $4,700,000 refunding bonds issued for the old consol. 6s carry 6 per cent interest; the balance of the issue carry 5 per cent.—V. 64, p. 1130.

Chicago & North Western Ry.—Refunding Plan.—This company has for some time been considering the question of refunding its maturing bonds, there being nearly $20,000,000 coming due between now and the close of 1902. At a meeting of the directors to be held early in July a report from a committee appointed to devise a refunding plan will be submitted. The proposition is to authorize a long time mortgage under which bonds may be issued at varying rates of interest to take up the entire bonded indebtedness of the company as it matures. The first issue of refunding bonds will probably be three and a-half per cents. The Maple River bonds maturing July 1, 1897, will be paid off.—V. 64, p. 1087.

Chicago & Northern Pacific RR.—Chicago Terminal Transfer Ry.—Northern Pacific Ry.—Reorganization Completed.—Northern Pacific Interest Sold.—The Northern Pacific Railway has sold to interests identified with the old Chicago & Northern Pacific the $5,000,000 certificates of proprietary interest in the securities of the Chicago Terminal Transfer Railroad received by it under the Chicago & Northern Pacific plan of reorganization, thus disposing of its entire interest in the Chicago terminals. This action is in accordance with the announced purpose of the Northern Pacific to have its eastern terminus at St. Paul.

All the steps necessary for carrying out the plan of reorganization have been accomplished, and the deed to the property has been delivered to the new company, the management of which has been vested in an executive committee consisting of Edward D. Adams, F. T. Gates, A. S. Heidelberg, A. L. Hopkins and Colgate Hoyt. At the first meeting of the executive committee Mr. Adams was elected chairman, and at the urgent request of those most largely interested in the property has accepted the office and has assumed the direction of the affairs of the new company. S. R. Ainslie, who has been General Manager of the C. & N. P., was elected President and General Manager of the new company. Fred. T. Gates was elected Vice-President, and George P. Butler, Secretary.

Holders of the United States Trust Company certificates for Chicago & Northern Pacific Railroad bonds are informed that in accordance with the plan of reorganization of the latter company, certificates of proprietary interest in the securities of the Chicago Terminal Transfer Railroad Company are now ready for delivery in exchange for United States Trust Company certificates for Chicago & Northern Pacific bonds on surrender of the same to the trust company.—V. 64, p. 1137, 1042.

Cleveland Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis Ry.—Listing.—There were listed on the New York Stock Exchange this week $2,574,000 additional general mortgage gold 4s, of which $374,000 were issued to retire prior lien bonds and $2,000,000 ($1,000,000 issued in fiscal year 1895-6 and $1,000,000 in the current fiscal year) to pay for new equipment, construction and betterments. The total amount of general 4s authorized is $50,000,000, and as a result of these issues the bonds reserved for the retirement of prior liens now amount to $28,678,000, and those reserved for equipment, construction and betterments to $12,748,000. The amount now listed on the exchange is $7,574,000.—V. 64, p. 1181.

Colorado Midland RR.—Reorganization Plan.—The plan of the reorganization committee was issued on Tuesday and is to be voted upon by the holders of Central Trust Co. certificates on July 15. Columbus Gas (Ohio).—Listing.—On the New York Stock Exchange were listed this week $1,175,000 first mortgage gold 5s of 1892, maturing 1932, and $1,072,800 capital stock. Authorized stock is $1,500,000.

"Said bonds recite upon their face that they are redeemable at 110 per centum and accrued interest at any time before maturity, at the option of the company, its successors or assigns, on the conditions and in the manner provided in the mortgage securing the same, but the mortgage fails to provide any such conditions and manner." The authorized issue is $1,500,000.

The stock and bonds were issued for the property and franchises acquired in 1892. The company owns about 127,000 square feet of land in the business centre of the city, and about 10¼ acres in the manufacturing section, on which it is beginning to erect a plant. The old plant has a capacity of 1,500,000 cubic feet per day. The company owns 115 miles of mains and had 8,041 meters in use March 31, 1897.

Year ending March 31—	Net Income.	Interest on bonds.	Dividends paid.	Balance, surplus.
1897.....	$134,735	$57,727	(8%) $67,341	$9,667

Directors.—The directors of the company are: President, Emerson McMillin, New York; Irvin Butterworth, D. E. Putnam, C. D. Firestone, N. B. Abbott, James Watson, Frank C. Hubbard and Philip H. Bruck, all of Columbus; W. H. Dyne, Cincinnati. Transfer agents, H. B. Hollins & Co., New York.

Columbus Hocking Valley & Toledo Ry.—Hocking Coal & RR. Committee.—Robert Maclay, Jules S. Bane, William D. Barbour, Charles C. Eley, and George H. Hilt have formed a bondholders' protective committee, and request deposits of C. H. V. & T. general mortgage 6 per cent bonds on the Hocking Coal & RR. lines, dated July 1, 1881, and maturing 1904. Depository is Knickerbocker Trust Co., N. Y. Secretary of the committee is William B. Randall, 66 Broadway.—V. 64, p. 1088.

Ft. Worth & Rio Grande Ry.—Listing.—On the New York Stock Exchange were listed this week $2,863,000 first mortgage gold 3 to 4 per cent bonds. These bonds were originally issued bearing five per cent interest, and as such were listed on the Stock Exchange; but under an agreement entered into between the company, the Central Trust Co. of New York and the bondholders, under date of March 27, 1897, the interest rate was reduced to 3 per cent until July 1, 1902 and 4 per cent thereafter.

Of the total issue of $2,923,000, holders of $2,863,000 have already assented to the reduction in interest, and have exchanged their coupons for new sheets bearing coupons at the reduced rates above mentioned, with the changed conditions printed upon the face of the bond in accordance with the agreement.—V. 64, p. 888.

General Electric Ry. (Chicago).—Injunction Denied.—The Illinois Supreme Court has denied the petition for an injunction to prevent the construction of this road and dismissed the bill. The company has franchises covering fifty-eight miles of streets on the south side of Chicago, and work is expected to begin shortly. The road will be built by the Love Electric Traction Co., which has offices in New York City, and will be operated by the underground trolley system.—V. 62, p. 988.

Illinois Central RR.—Bond Redemption.—It is announced that the Chicago St. Louis & Paducah $1,000,000 5 per cent first mortgage gold bonds dated Sept. 1, 1887, maturing Sept. 1, 1917, but redeemable at 105, will be paid at that rate on Sept. 1, 1897, at New York. The St. Louis Division 3½ per cent mortgage recently authorized provided for the redemption of these bonds.—V. 64, p. 1181.

Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf RR.—Completion to Lake Charles.—The Kansas City Pittsburg & Gulf is now complete from Kansas City to Lake Charles, La., and through freight and passenger service over its own track will be established July 1st between these points. There yet remains a link of 47 miles between De Quincy and Beaumont to build. This, it is expected, will be finished by August 1, when the K. C. P. & G. will have its own through line from Kansas City to Port Arthur on the Gulf of Mexico.—V. 64, p. 1041.

Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry.—Listing of New 3½ Per Cent Bonds.—The New York Stock Exchange this week listed $22,433,000 of the new 3½ per cent gold mortgage bonds of 1907. An abstract of the mortgage securing these bonds was printed in the CHRONICLE last week on pages 1182 to 1186. The total authorized issue is $50,000,000, of which $6,808,000 are to be issued and delivered to the railway company for use, so far as required, in funding the interest on the outstanding old bonds of the railway company before the maturity thereof; and, except as so required, may be used for the general purposes of the railway company. The remainder, $43,192,000, are to be issued from time to time for the express purpose of acquiring, by purchase or exchange, or of redeeming, the following 7 per cent bonds:

Buff. & Erie 1sts, due '99, $2,705,000 | L. S. 1st con. due 1900, $14,440,000
Lake S. div. b'nds, due '99 1,355,000 | L. S. 2d con., due 1903, 24,692,000

Of the bonds now listed $3,427,500 were issued as a part of $6,808,000 reserved for the uses of the railway company, and the balance, $19,005,500, in exchange for the following:

Buffalo & Erie 1sts..... $429,000 | Lake Shore div. bonds.. $220,500
Lake Shore 1st consols. 3,662,000 | Lake Shore 2d consols. 14,694,000

By the plan of refunding under the new mortgage, the interest charges of the railway company will be reduced as conversions are effected; and after December 1, 1903, the total annual saving in the interest charges of the company will amount to $1,273,440, as compared with the annual charges on account of the bonded debt upon December 31, 1896. The balance of the $50,000,000 will be added to the "list" from time to time as issued for the purposes above stated.

Six Months' Earnings.—Earnings for the six months ending June 30 have been reported as follows, 1897 being partly estimated:

6 mos.	Gross earnings.	Net earnings.	Fixed charges.	Dividends paid.	Bal., surplus.
1896-97.....	$9,619,214	$3,174,039	$1,680,000	$1,483,995	$10,044
1895-96.....	10,125,899	3,196,632	1,680,000	1,483,995	32,657

The company has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent payable August 2.—V. 64, p. 1131, 1183.

Lawson Consolidated Store Service.—No July Dividend.—The directors have decided to pay no dividend next month. A circular issued by the company states that it had been expected that the sale of the bonds (mentioned in the last annual report, see v. 64, p. 1087,) would allow the directors to recoup, prior to the intended declaration of the dividend in July, from payments made for properties purchased, but the unavoidable delay in placing the new bonds has necessitated the use of moneys in the treasury for this purpose, making payment of a dividend inadvisable.—V. 64, p. 1087.

Lebanon Springs RR.—Repairs Needed.—The New York Railroad Commissioners have informed Receiver Sweet that if repairs to the road are not commenced by July 15 they will begin an action in the Supreme Court to stop the operation of the road, on the ground that it is a menace to public safety. The road is 57 miles long, and runs from Chatham, N. Y., to Bennington, Vt. Receiver Sweet said that he had begun negotiations to raise $30,000, which he thought would be sufficient to make the necessary repairs.—V. 64, p. 889.

Lehigh Valley RR.—Maturing Bonds.—The $5,000,000 first mortgage bonds due June 1, 1898, it is thought, will probably be extended as four per cents.—V. 64, p. 1042.

Lexington (Georgia) Terminal RR.—Sold.—This road, 4½ miles long, between Lexington, Ga., and Crawford, was sold in foreclosure on June 1 to F. R. Smith and Judge Hamilton McWhorter of Lexington, Ga.—V. 64, p. 799.

Louisville (Street) Railway.—Conversion of $500,000 Common Stock.—On June 19th the stockholders authorized the directors to convert $500,000 of the common stock into preferred stock on payment of $50 for each $100 share so converted. Notice of desire to convert to be filed with the Secretary by June 30, accompanied by $25 per share in cash, the remaining $25 to be paid October 1, when the new preferred will be issued. If the stockholder so desires, he may pay in his $50 per share July 1, in which case he will be paid 5 per cent interest on the bonus up to October 1. The preferred is a 5 per cent cumulative stock, dividends payable April and October. The common has received dividends of 1½ per cent semi-annually since April, 1896.—V. 64, p. 1181.

Memphis & Charleston RR.—Interest Payment.—The holders of certificates issued under the plan of reorganization are informed by the reorganization committee that they expect to receive on July 1st partial payment of the coupons due Jan. 1, 1895, upon the 7 per cent bonds of the Memphis & Charleston Railroad Co., deposited under the plan of reorganization, and that they will on and after July 1, 1897, make payment at the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York to the depositors of Tennessee lien bonds, second mortgage extended bonds of 1867 and first and second mortgage extended (in 1890) bonds, of the sum of $24, and to the depositors of consolidated 7 per cent bonds of the sum of $16 for every bond deposited.—V. 64, p. 1137.

Michigan Central RR.—Canada Southern Ry.—Six Months' Earnings.—Earnings for the six months ending June 30 have been reported as follows, the June quarter in each year being partly estimated:

6 months	Gross earnings.	Net earnings.	Surp. over charges.	Mich. Cen. Prop'n.	Can. So. Prop'n.
ending June 30—
1896-97.....	$6,554,000	$1,740,000	$543,000	$391,000	$157,000
1895-96.....	6,620,000	1,716,000	516,000	375,000	141,000

The Michigan Central has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent, calling for $374,760, and the Canada Southern a dividend of 1 per cent calling for $150,000 (against 1½ per cent, $187,500, in 1896), both payable August 2.—V. 64, p. 885, 1046.

—V. 64, p. 1042.

New York & New Jersey Bridge.—Charter Not Forfeited.—The War Department yesterday decided that the charter of this company has not expired by lapse of time, and that the company can proceed with the work.—V. 64, p. 1089.

New York Susquehanna & Western RR.—Sale of Bonds.—This company has sold to a banking syndicate formed by Marquand & Parmlly the balance of the treasury holdings of general mortgage bonds not reserved. Northeastern RR. of Georgia.—No Bids at Sale June 21.—At the advertised sale of this road on June 21 no bids were received. The road is owned by the State, and the upset price, which is $287,000, was regarded as too high.—V. 64, p. 1001.

Of the $41,879,600 Northern Pacific general first mortgage 6s there are now outstanding only $15,392,000 (of which $5,750,000 are coupon and $9,642,000 are registered bonds), the balance having either been offered for exchange at 130 into prior lien bonds or drawn for payment at 110, reimbursable in prior liens at 130. The amount of prior lien 4s now on the list is $74,312,500.—V. 64, p. 1042.

Omaha Kansas City & Eastern RR.—Completion of Link.—This company has completed this week the link between Pattonburg and Trenton, Mo., 35 miles, which connects the Omaha & St. Louis with the Quincy Omaha & Kansas City. Omaha & St. Louis RR.—New Securities.—The Guaranty Trust Co. certificates for the Omaha & St. Louis bonds will be exchanged on July 1st or shortly thereafter for the new securities provided under the plan of reorganization, viz.: 75 per cent in first mortgage 4 per cent bonds and 25 per cent in voting trust stock certificates.  CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, DEPOSITARY.

To the Holders of the First Mortgage Bonds and of the Consolidated Mortgage Bonds of the Colorado Midland Railway Company:

After a careful investigation of the affairs of the Colorado Midland Railroad Company, this Committee has, in pursuance of the authority conferred by the agreement of January 28, 1895, prepared a plan for the reorganization of the affairs of the Railroad Company, a copy of which is appended to this circular. A copy of the plan has been heretofore delivered to the London Committee, as provided in Article IV. of the agreement of January 28, 1895.

Notice is hereby given that the said plan will be submitted to the certificate holders at a meeting which is hereby called to be held on the 15th day of July, 1897, at two o'clock P. M., at No. 54 Wall Street, in the city of New York, for the purpose of considering said plan. This notice is given in pursuance of the terms and provisions of Articles IV. and V. of the said agreement.

The attention of certificate holders is directed to the fact that the Hon. Henry C. Caldwell, United States Circuit Judge, before whom the foreclosure proceedings have been conducted, requires and insists that the foreclosure sale shall be had forthwith. Unless such sale be made, the receivership may be vacated and the rights and interests of the bondholders seriously impaired. We have been able to procure a short delay, but we cannot assure bondholders that a sale can be deferred beyond the present summer.

In order to adopt a plan, the assent of holders of a majority in amount of the outstanding Trust Company certificates is necessary. If the plan is disapproved by the vote of holders of certificates representing Consolidated bonds, or by such holders combining with holders of certificates representing First Mortgage bonds to the amount of less than $1,000,000, then the holders of First Mortgage bond certificates may require the holders of Consolidated bond certificates to withdraw their bonds and surrender their certificates, and thereupon the Committee is required to bid for the property and carry out the plan as if it had been approved and confirmed, or it may otherwise proceed as instructed by the holders of a majority of First Mortgage bond certificates.

The plan contains a provision for releasing any claim of Consolidated Mortgage bondholders upon the guaranty of the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company. This provision is made in pursuance of an agreement with the Atchison road by which, in consideration thereof, the Atchison road relinquishes all claims for advances made to the Colorado Midland Company, and withdraws a claim which it might make to certain valuable properties with respect to which it is doubtful whether or not your mortgages constitute a lien. In view of the sale and reorganization of the guarantor Company, and the improbability that any substantial result could be accomplished by an attempt to enforce the guaranty, your Committee considered that it was greatly to the interest of the certificate holders to enter into the arrangement looking to the release of such guaranty, in consideration of the substantial benefits to be acquired thereby.

The Committee is unanimously of the opinion that the plan submitted is as favorable to the bondholders as is practicable, and that unless it shall be adopted the consequences to bondholders will be disastrous. The plan has received the approval of the London Committee.

A close examination of the earnings of the last three years, as shown in the following comparative statement, will, it is believed, lead the bondholders to approve the conclusions of the Committee:

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF EARNINGS.

	Year Ended June 30th, 1895.	1896.	1895.
Gross earnings	$1,664,589	$1,306,280	$1,592,157
Operating expenses	1,343,415	1,318,213	1,223,509
Per cent of operating expenses	80.51	70.72	76.83
Net earnings	$325,174	$558,067	$368,648
Taxes and rentals	148,183	115,015	158,612
Surplus earnings	$176,991	$413,052	$210,036

In explanation of the decreased gross earnings of the current fiscal year, it may be said that the revival of the mining industry in the State of Colorado during 1896 was checked by the strike of the miners at Leadville and was followed by a state of general depression, which still continues. Under such conditions it would be natural that the percentage of operating expenses should increase, but in this instance the increase arises principally from the extraordinary expenditures which have been made for the improvement of the physical condition of the property. Roadbed and equipment are now in good condition, but requirements for renewal of rails will be heavy during the next five years, and additional rolling stock and terminal facilities are an absolute necessity for the economical handling of the traffic of the road.

The rehabilitation of the property cannot be accomplished without providing means for the following purposes:

REQUIREMENTS.

Receiver's Notes	$250,000
Holding Stock (5 locomotives, 150 box cars and 5 coaches)	167,500
Terminal facilities	55,000
Machine shops, round houses, etc.	75,000
Renewal of rails	115,000
Total	$692,500

In view of the concessions to be made by the First Mortgage Bondholders, who are asked to consent to a reduction of interest from 6 per cent to 4 per cent, it is incumbent upon the owners of the junior securities to furnish the needed fresh capital. The proposed cash assessment of 15 per cent on the par value of the Consolidated Four Per Cent Mortgage Bonds, for which assessment Four Per Cent First Mortgage Bonds will be given at par, will yield $732,900, a sum which is thought to be sufficient for the above-mentioned requirements and the cost of the reorganization.

PLAN OF REORGANIZATION OF THE #### COLORADO MIDLAND RAILROAD COMPANY.

The properties and assets of the Colorado Midland Railroad Company will be sold under the decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eighth Circuit, filed May 4, 1897, and if purchased by or in the interest of the Committee, will be conveyed to a new Company to be organized under the laws of Colorado.

The new Company shall issue the following
NEW SECURITIES.

1. $10,000,000 of Four Per Cent 100-Year First Mortgage Gold Bonds, in the denomination of $1,000 each, with coupons attached, secured by a mortgage to the Central Trust Company of New York covering all the property of the new Company. On $6,250,000 of these bonds interest shall be payable as follows: From July 1, 1897, to July 1, 1900, at 1 per cent in cash; from July 1, 1900, to July 1, 1902, 3 per cent in cash; and thereafter at 4 per cent in cash. If after making due allowance for necessary expenditures the earnings of the property will permit, such earnings shall, during the period of five years from July 1, 1897, be applied to make up the cash payment of interest to full 4 per cent. Holders of such bonds shall be entitled to receive scrip, convertible into Preferred Stock, for such part of the 4 per cent interest as shall not be paid in cash. On all the remaining bonds, interest shall be paid at full 4 per cent in cash.

In order to guard against a failure to secure by the assessments contemplated by this plan the funds necessary for the purposes of the reorganization, and to meet unforeseen emergencies, the mortgage shall reserve to the new Company the right to issue Prior Lien Four Per Cent Bonds, having priority over the First Mortgage Bonds, to the amount of not more than $500,000 of principal, such right to be exercised only by and with the approval of the Trustee of the First Mortgage, and in no event after July 1, 1903. If Prior Lien Bonds are issued, a like amount of the authorized First Mortgage Bonds shall be set aside for the redemption of the Prior Lien.

2. $6,000,000 Non-Cumulative Four Per Cent Preferred Stock divided into 60,000 shares of $100 each.

3. $4,000,000 Common Stock, divided into 40,000 shares of $100 each.

Both classes of stock shall be placed in a voting trust for six years, and thereafter, until the outstanding First Mortgage Bonds shall have received four per cent interest in cash for three successive years, the Trustees to have power during the existence of the Trust to sell the stock, subject to the approval of the holders of a majority in value of the Trust Certificates representing the stock.

† For 15 per cent cash assessment. These and all following 4 per cent First Mortgage Bonds bear full 4 per cent interest from July 1, 1897.

Pecos Valley Ry.—Pecos Valley & Northeastern RR.—Reorganization Plan.—Practically all the bonds and stock of the Pecos Valley Ry. Co. have been deposited with the Central Trust Co. under the reorganization plan. The original plan has been changed so that the old bondholders are to receive for each $1,000 bond $1,200 in preferred stock and $600 in common stock of a new company to be called the Pecos Valley & Northeastern. The new capitalization will be $3,162,000 each in first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, preferred stock and common stock. The plan contemplates an extension of the road from its present terminus at Roswell, N. M., to Washburn, Texas, a distance of 208 miles. At Washburn the road will connect with the Atchison and the Union Pacific Denver & Gulf systems. To build this extension $2,790,000 of the bonds will be issued, leaving $372,000 in the company's treasury for future requirements. The new bonds will cover the entire 373 miles from Pecos to Washburn, being at the rate of $8,500 per mile. The extension is to be built by the Pecos Railway Construction and Land Co., which is to receive $2,790,000 bonds, $343,800 preferred stock and $1,754,400 common stock. The Construction Co. has arranged to borrow $1,600,000, for which it will issue its two-year six per cent notes, secured by a deposit with the Central Trust Co. of $2,540,000 of the new bonds, and preferred stock and common stock. It is believed that when the road is completed the bonds pledged as collateral can be sold at a price which will realize a sum of money in excess of the cost of the road. Any such excess is to be turned into the treasury of the railroad company.—V. 62, p. 1088.

Reading Company.—Additional General 4s Listed.—There were added to the New York Stock Exchange "list" this week $6,874,000 general mortgage 4s, issued in exchange for old Coal & Iron bonds. The total 4s now on the list amount to $57,243,000, and additional bonds up to a total of $63,419,000 may be listed from time to time as issued.—V. 64, p. 1043.

Rio Grande Western Ry.—Utah Central Arrangement.—Regarding the dispatch from Salt Lake City on Thursday that the Utah Central RR (see CHRONICLE of April 10, page 713.) had been purchased by the Rio Grande Western for about $325,000, the Rio Grande officials say that the Utah Central was sold under foreclosure recently, and certain negotiations have since been going on between the purchasers at that sale and the Rio Grande Western which are expected to result among other things in an agreement as to mutual traffic interests for the remainder of the year. The Utah Central will meanwhile probably continue in charge of present Receiver, Mr. Carey of New York, and whether this arrangement will result in an ultimate ownership of the property by the Rio Grande Western is a matter to be determined.—V. 64, p. 954.

Savannah Florida & Western Ry.—Listing.—On the New York Stock Exchange were listed this week $1,780,000 first consolidated mortgage gold 5% issued to provide for a like amount of Atlantic & Gulf RR consol. 7% due July 1.

The first consolidated mortgage is for $6,500,000 and bonds to the amount of $1,055,000 were issued, bearing 6 per cent interest; the $1,780,000 just listed bear only 5 per cent interest, in accordance with a contract made with the mortgage trustee, and the bonds and coupons are so stamped. The balance of the total issue, $534,000, are held in trust to provide for a like amount of South Georgia & Florida bonds maturing in 1899.—V. 64, p. 954.

South Side Elevated RR (Chicago).—Bonds Authorized.—On Thursday the stockholders authorized a mortgage to cover $1,500,000 in year 4½ per cent bonds. But $750,000 of the bonds are to be issued and the money realized on their sale, together with the cash on hand and the $100,000 still held by the Master in Chancery, will be used to build the extension to the loop, erect the company's power house, and change the motive power from steam to electricity. The bonds have been sold, it is said, to the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank. The management hopes to save $100,000 a year in its operating expenses by the change to electricity.—V. 64, p. 843.

Tennessee Central Railway.—New Company.—The Tennessee Central Railroad was sold at Crossville on Thursday to Col. Jere Baxter for $125,000. The new company, the Tennessee Central Railway, has been granted a charter to construct its line from a point on the Clinch River, near Kingston, Tenn., to Nashville. The capital stock is announced to be $20,000 per mile on the completed road. The incorporators are Jere Baxter, of Nashville; R. L. Morris, W. E. Eastman, H. A. Henry and James Wood, Jr. The old road was partly built from Lebanon to Standing Stone and it is intended to complete a line between Knoxville and Nashville.—V. 64, p. 1002.

Union Pacific Ry.—Plan Declared Operative.—In accordance with the reorganization agreement limiting the time to June 30, 1897, within which the plan should be declared operative, the committee have announced that the plan is operative.—V. 64, p. 1043.

Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing.—Large Contract.—A contract has been awarded by the St. Lawrence Power Co. to the Westinghouse for the construction of fifteen 5,000 horse-power generators at Massena, N. Y. The contract is said to be worth nearly $1,000,000.

Dividend.—The usual quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the preferred stock is payable July 1.

Directors.—At the annual meeting on Wednesday the following directors were elected: Charles Francis Adams, Lemuel Bannister, August Belmont, N. W. Burns, Ead. A. M. Byers, Marcellus Hardy, George W. Hubbard, Henry B. Hyde, Brayton Ives, George Westinghouse, Jr. The President's report is given on a previous page.—V. 63, p. 31.

Wheeling & Lake Erie Ry.—Lake Erie Division Committee.—The following committee has been formed to protect the common interests of Lake Erie Division first mortgage bondholders: George Coppel, Edward N. Gibbs, Frederic Cromwell and Joel B. Erhardt.

The committee represents no interests in the property except the above bonds, and bondholders are invited to deposit their bonds with the Guaranty Trust Co., New York. See advertisement in another column.—V. 64, p. 1182.

Wilmington Newbern & Norfolk Ry.—Sale.—Foreclosure sale is announced to take place at Wilmington, N. C., on July 15. The upset price is $250,000 and each bidder must deposit 5 per cent of the amount of his bid in cash or $25,000 in certain mortgage bonds of the road. The road extends from Wilmington to Newbern, N. C., 87 miles. H. A. Whiting, of Wilmington, was appointed Receiver on March 15, 1897.—V. 64, p. 1044.

—N. W. Harris & Co., of New York, Chicago and Boston, in connection with the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Co. of Baltimore, offer to investors $1,150,000 5 per cent 50 year gold bonds of the Atlanta Gas Light Company. N. W. Harris & Co. state that these bonds were purchased after a personal examination into the condition of the property and the earning capacity of the company. The gross receipts of the company for 1896 were $237,825, and all expenses were $122,618, leaving a balance of $115,206 applicable to interest, which amounts to $57,500, giving surplus earnings of $57,706. Full particulars will be found in the advertisement.

—The Central National Bank declared its sixty-fifth semi-annual dividend this week and increased the rate from 3½ to 4 per cent, making the annual rate 8 instead of 7 per cent. The President, Mr. Edwin Langdon, is to be congratulated on the fine new home and increasing business of his bank.

—Messrs. Harvey Fisk & Sons have issued a circular this week giving many facts regarding the Central of Georgia Railway. A valuable feature of the circular is a double page map of the system, which indicates the lines on which the consol. mortgage five per cent bonds are a first lien.

—The Consolidated Trust Co. of the city of New York has opened an office at 320 Broadway for the purpose of conducting a general trust company business. Mr. Horatio L. Olcott is President and Hon. Elliot Danforth is Treasurer.

—Messrs. C. H. White & Co. advertise in this issue a list of city, county and railroad bonds, and will furnish descriptive lists and prices on application.

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME

FRIDAY NIGHT, June 25, 1897.

The general business situation has continued to steadily brighten. Merchants, with few exceptions, express hopefulness over the future prospects for trade. Advice received from Washington indicate that it is only a question of a few weeks before the tariff bill will be disposed of, and with this troublesome measure out of the way, at least for a time, the general business community feels as if a weight will have been lifted from its shoulders. Consequently the general apathy which has existed in business circles generally for a considerable period of time past is now steadily disappearing. Owing, however, to the season of midsummer dulness, and vacation time being at hand, there is comparatively little business activity at present, but the outlook for the fall trade is unmistakably for better business. Crop prospects have been reported as generally favorable from all sections, and they too have their beneficial influence upon the general situation. The engagements of gold for export this week have been moderately large but they have had little or no influence.

Large sales have been rumored to the Continent of prime Western lard. Offerings have been limited and prices have advanced, closing firm at 41½c. Prime City has also advanced and closed firm at 36½c. Refined for the Continent has been firmer but quiet, closing at 44½c. No business has been transacted in the local market for lard futures, but nominal quotations have advanced in response to stronger advices from the West, where shorts have been active buyers to cover contracts. The close was steady.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been slow, and at the close prices show a slight decline. Early in the week there was an advance, principally on a demand from shorts to cover contracts. Subsequently, however, favorable crop accounts and general selling resulted in a decline. Saturday the market advanced a few points in response to stronger foreign advices and buying by local operators to cover short sales. Monday the market was again stronger, particularly for August contracts, which showed an advance for the day of 9 pints, as the buying was center d largely in this month and appeared to come principally from shorts, to cover contracts; other months advanced in sympathy closing 1 to 5 points higher for the day. There was an easier turn to the market on Tuesday. The weekly report of the Government's Weather Bureau was favorable, and advices were received from Texas indicating an early movement of the new crop; this prompted selling, under which prices declined, closing 3 to 7 points lower for the day. The market on Wednesday was again lower. Advices from the English markets, which had been closed Monday and Tuesday in observance of the Queen's Jubilee holidays, were disappointing; in fact some selling orders were received from abroad. Crop accounts continued favorable, and there was selling by local operators, principally to liquidate holdings. The close showed a decline in prices of from 7 to 9 points for the day. Thursday the market opened at an advance of 2 to 4 points in response to slightly stronger advices from Liverpool due to a fairly active spot business, but as the crop news from the South continued favorable and the buying power lacked force, prices gradually sagged and the close was unchanged to 1 point lower. To-day the market was lower for the nearby deliveries, under liquidating sales by longs, but the distant deliveries held steady, closing at 6 to 7 points decline for this crop and unchanged to 1 point lower for the next. Cotton on the spot has had only a limited sale; prices advanced 1-16c. on Saturday and Monday, but declined 1-16c. on Wednesday and Thursday. The close was steady at 7 3/4c. for middling uplands.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 414,800 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 8,309 bales, including 3,791 for export, 3,418 for consumption, — for speculation and 1,100 on contract. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week—June 19 to June 25.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table indicates the actual movement each week from the plantations. The figures do not include overland receipts nor Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows: 1.—That the total receipts from the plantations since Sept. 1, 1896, are 6,598,308 bales; in 1895-96 were 5,255,192 bales; in 1894-95 were 7,849,030 bales.

2.—That although the receipts at the outports the past week were 6,054 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 2,195 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the week were 85 bales and for 1895 they were 2,195 bales.

OVERLAND MOVEMENT FOR THE WEEK AND SINCE SEPT. 1.—We give below a statement showing the overland movement for the week and since September 1. As the returns reach us by telegraph late Friday night it is impossible to enter so largely into detail as in our regular monthly report, but all the principal matters of interest are given. This weekly publication is of course supplementary to the more extended monthly statements. The results for the week ending June 25 and since Sept. 1 in the last two years are as follows.

A considerable portion of the Sea Island cotton shipped to foreign ports goes via New York, and some small amounts via Boston and Baltimore. Instead of including this cotton for the week in which it leaves the Southern outports, we follow the same plan as in our regular table of including it when actually exported from New York, &c. The details of the shipments of Sea Island cotton for the week will be found under the head "Shipping News," on a subsequent page.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY COTTON REPORT.—Mr. W. L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau of the Agricultural Department, made public on Tuesday the following telegraphic reports on the crop in the Southern States for the week ending June 21:

VIRGINIA.—Warmer weather and occasional showers have benefited all crops.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Hot, dry weather, followed by beneficial rains, caused material improvement everywhere; cotton doing well and blooming in southern portion.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Hot, with scattered showers, generally light; excellent growing weather; cotton continues small, is healthy, beginning to bloom, and squares numerous; condition satisfactory.

GEORGIA.—Good rains early part of week, followed by abundant sunshine, high temperature and occasional showers were beneficial to growing crops; corn and cotton doing well; cotton fruiting and taking on squares.

FLORIDA.—Week hot and rainfall unevenly distributed over western, northern and central districts, though showers during the last days of week relieved many sections suffering for moisture; corn, cotton, tobacco and potatoes need rain over greater portion of interior counties.

ALABAMA.—Very warm with unevenly distributed rains, and crops damaged locally by windstorm, though cotton improving steadily and beginning to fruit.

MISSISSIPPI.—Temperature above normal, greatly benefiting cotton; scattered showers beneficial to all crops; general rain needed in large majority of localities; all crops well worked and cotton and corn fruiting well.

LOUISIANA.—An excellent growing week, and all crops show marked progress; rains of early part of week covered all sections, except central and west coast districts, where rain is needed; cotton plant full of fruit.

TEXAS.—Favorable weather greatly improved cotton, except over southern portion, where plant needs rain; hot sunshine destroyed fleec, but boll weevil is appearing in southwest portion; fleec is clean, except on lowland over northern portion, where cotton is in grass.

ARKANSAS.—High temperature very beneficial, but deficient rainfall detrimental to growth of crops; cotton slightly improved and beginning to bloom, but small for the season.

TENNESSEE.—Good rain in east and in portions of middle section, with showers in western counties, greatly improved growing crops; warm weather induced growth of cotton, which, though small, is in good condition and clean.

MISSOURI.—Good showers in some localities; cotton doing well.

OKLAHOMA.—All spring crops excellent, except cotton, and this rapidly improving.

These reports are summarized as follows:

Cotton has made good growth during the week generally throughout the cotton belt, the interior of Florida and Southern Texas being the only sections in which the crop has not made satisfactory progress. The reports indicate a marked improvement over the central portion of the cotton belt and in Northern Texas.

STATE WEEKLY COTTON REPORTS.—We give below summaries of the reports for the week ending June 21 issued by the various States under the auspices of the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture so far as they apply to cotton.

VIRGINIA.—The weather conditions during the past week have been, on the whole, rather better for crop growth than the preceding one.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The week ending Monday was very favorable for farm work and for the growth of crops, which have improved materially. Cotton is beginning to bloom in extreme south portions.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Cotton continues small, is healthy, and the earliest is beginning to bloom. The plant made fair growth and its condition is generally satisfactory, except where injured by excessive rains in Berkeley, Chester and York. Some rust is noted in Fairfield and Lexington. Sea Island cotton in splendid condition, free from parasites, and blooming.

GEORGIA.—During the past seven days the general weather conditions have been favorable to farmers. There has not been sufficient rain to seriously interfere with work, while the frequent showers have combined with abundant sunshine and high temperature to give new life to growing crops. The prevalent conditions were especially favorable to cotton, and as a rule this crop has made marked improvement. It is still small and late, but is catching up. With a continuation of similar weather during the next few weeks crops will do well.

FLORIDA.—Week hot and rainfall not uniformly distributed over western, northern and central districts, though showers during the last days of week relieved many sections suffering for moisture. Cotton needs rain over greater portion of interior counties.

ALABAMA.—The week was excessively hot over this section, the temperature ranging as high as 102 at a number of stations, while the nights were warm and favorable to crop growth. Showers were quite general to nearly all portions of the State and some heavy rainfalls occurred. Windstorms occasioned damage to cotton locally, but as a whole there has been a decided improvement in all crops, though there are some localities where the drought remains practically unbroken. Cotton blooms are becoming general, and cotton is reported as fruiting in central counties and is clean, healthy and beginning to grow rapidly.

LOUISIANA.—While there is some continued complaint of cotton being rather small and late and uneven in stand, yet the crop shows a marked progress during the past seven days and is rapidly forging ahead. The plant is full of fruit and there is but one report of the boll worm having appeared. The crop is clean and free from grass. The late-planted cotton on overflowed lands is being worked and is promising.

MISSISSIPPI.—Reports from all parts of the State show that the week was all that could be desired for crops so far as the warmth of the weather is concerned. There was, however, a general deficiency of moisture, rains having fallen in the form of scattered showers in a comparatively few localities. These showers were accompanied by hail in one or two instances, but no serious damage to crops resulted. As a general rule all crops are well worked and with good rains they would take on a rapid growth, as has been the case in all these localities where rain has fallen during the past week. Cotton has been greatly benefited by the warm weather, and although there is some complaint that the plant is small, it continues to fruit well.

TEXAS.—The weather during the week was exceptionally favorable for farming operations and much farm work was done. Some report that rain will soon be needed again for general farming interests. The warm and dry weather has been very favorable for cotton, and it is almost a consensus of opinion among the correspondents that the crop is improving rapidly and will soon recover from the effects of the late wet and cool weather. The plant is small and backward in many sections, but appears to be growing nicely now. The crop is in the condition generally except some fields on lowlands are still needing work over northern portion of the State, but with favorable weather for farm work the crop will soon be cleaned out. Most of the crop is blooming over the southern portion of the State and early-planted cotton is beginning to fruit nicely over the northern portion. The boll weevil has made its appearance in Nueces and Duval counties, but lice and other cotton pests are disappearing with the dry and warm weather, and the crop prospects are improving.

TENNESSEE.—During the past week abnormally high temperature prevailed throughout the State. In the Eastern section and portions of the Middle Section good rains fell; also showers generally over the Western Section and elsewhere. These rains, together with the warm weather, were very beneficial to the young and growing crops, and in portions where the drought was beginning to assume a serious aspect they were particularly welcome. But at the close of the current week there is still, in many localities, a lack of sufficient moisture to restore falling conditions. In the Eastern counties, where most rain fell, crops are in fine state of growth. Cotton, also, has much improved since the advent of warm weather.

MISSOURI.—The past week has been characterized by high temperature, and over a large portion of the State an almost total absence of rainfall. Cotton is generally doing well but is needing rain in places.

ARKANSAS.—The temperature has been very favorable for the growth of all crops, but deficient rainfall has, to some extent, counterbalanced the good effect of high temperature. All crops are clean and well cultivated. Cotton is growing nicely, though still small, for the season, squares are numerous and first blooms reported during the week. A general rain with continued high temperature would insure most favorable results.

OKLAHOMA AND INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cotton shows a marked improvement, and has grown rapidly during the week, although there is considerable complaint of web worms working on the plant. The crop as a whole is much behind the season, and only from Lincoln and Putnam counties is any of it squaring.

This statement shows that up to May 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 1,491,133 bales more than in 1895-96 and 1,131,619 bales less than in 1894-95. By adding to the totals to May 31 the daily receipts since that time we shall be able to make an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

EGYPTIAN CROP.—Mr. Fr. Jsc. Andres of Boston has furnished us the report of the Alexandria General Produce Association for the month of May as follows:

"Great coolness and abrupt changes of temperature have taken place during the month. This was generally felt in the northern zone of the Delta, that is to say in a small portion of Lower Egypt, but the effects of this unseasonable weather gradually diminished in advancing to the south, so that practically in the greater number of provinces the temperature was normal, and even favorable to the cotton plants. From this it results that the information received from the southern provinces indicates a good growth in those plantations and they may be considered as far as in 1896. On the other hand complaints of a certain check to the cotton plants have come to the north of Lower Egypt and a slight backwardness is mentioned. Nevertheless taken altogether the fields have a healthy appearance and are in normal condition. Worms in small quantity have appeared in rare places, but have done no damage whatever. The water supply, with out being abundant in Lower Egypt, is sufficient. Our correspondents in Upper Egypt have sent us excellent reports. The temperature has been favorable, the water more than sufficient, and the fields look well. They appear rather more forward than last year at this time. There have been no traces of worms there."

THE EXPORTS OF COTTON FROM NEW YORK this week show a decrease compared with last week, the total reaching 5,403 bales, against 11,531 bales last week. Below we give our usual table, showing the exports of cotton from New York, and the direction, for each of the last four weeks; also the total exports and direction since Sept. 1, 1896, and in the last column the total for the same period of the previous year.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, June 25, 1897.

The volume of business transacted in the market for wheat flour has been limited. Demand from the home trade has been confined to peddling orders and the export business has been flat; prices have been irregular, the spring grades have been well held, some mills endeavoring to obtain slightly better prices, while winter-wheat flour has been offered at lower figures, the near approach of the new crop movement being the cause. City mills have had a limited sale at steady prices. Rye flour has had a fairly active jobbing sale at steady prices. Corn meal has had a fairly quick sale and values have been fairly well maintained, closing slightly higher.

The speculative dealings in the market for wheat futures have been moderately active, but the course of prices has been somewhat irregular, declining early in the week, but later more than recovering the loss on the near-by deliveries. Saturday there was a dull market but prices made fractional advances on covering by a few shorts over Sunday. Monday the market turned weaker; foreign advices were flat and reports from the West stated that conditions for the crop were favorable. There was some pressure to sell and prices at the close showed a decline of ½¢. There was a steadier turn to the market on Tuesday. Advices from the South-west reported rains in the harvesting district and the crop movement was small; this stimulated a demand from shorts to cover contracts, resulting in a fractional advance in prices, closing ½¢ higher for the day. Wednesday the market opened slightly higher, in response to stronger foreign advices and a favorable crop news from abroad. Reports from the West, however, stated that prospects for the crop were favorable and prices gradually sagged during the day, closing slightly lower. Thursday there was more or less talk of a possible deal in July contracts at the West, and there was fairly active buying by shorts to cover contracts in the near-by deliveries, and the close showed prices ¼¢ higher for the day. The distant months advanced ¼¢ in sympathy. To-day the market was slightly higher on continued buying by shorts to cover contracts. Exporters have been moderate buyers in the spot market, but the close was quiet. No. 1 hard Duluth was quoted at 80½¢. f. o. b. afloat, No. 1 Northern Duluth at 79½¢. No. 1 hard Manitoba at 80½¢. and No. 2 red winter for August delivery at 77½¢.

The speculative dealings in the market for Indian corn futures have been dull and prices have gradually weakened under liquidation by tired holders prompted by the favorable crop advices received from the West. The close was steadier in sympathy with the advance in wheat and on a demand from shorts to cover contracts. There has been a moderate amount of business transacted here and at outports for export but to-day the market was slow; the sales included No. 2 mixed at 30½¢. f. o. b. afloat.

DAILY CLOSING PRICES OF NO. 2 MIXED CORN.

Oats for future delivery have been dull, and the changes in prices have been of an unimportant nature. Early in the week the market was slightly easier, but the close was steadier. The volume of business transacted in the spot market has been only moderate, as demand has been limited both from shippers and the home trade. The close was steady, with No. 2 mixed at 22½¢. in elevator and No. 2 white at 25¢. in elevator.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, P. M., June 25, 1897.

Conditions in the primary market for dry goods have not undergone any radical change during the past week, but, nevertheless some improvement in the volume of general business passing can be reported. It is not the time of year to look for any marked expansion of buying, and the increase comes from a larger number of small to moderate-sized orders coming forward. The great bulk of these are for quick deliveries, which is satisfactory indication that the requirements of buyers are growing more peremptory. This is seen in both the cotton and woolen goods divisions. It does not bring with it any improvement in values, the demand being readily enough met at current quotations, but on the other hand sellers, with very few exceptions, hold well to these, the undertone of the market being, in fact, quite steady. Against prevailing quietude are set the reports which continue to come in from outside sources of good fall prospects, not in dry goods alone, but in other branches of business also, and the belief that a good all around business will develop here before next month is far advanced. Manufacturers of staple cotton goods are not at all disposed to commit themselves to forward engagements of any extent at prevailing prices, although they are ready enough to dispose of stocks on hand thereat.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The re-order demand from both the local and outside markets has shown further improvement during the week and a fair aggregate business has been done. Whilst the bulk of the orders is still for medium and low-priced piece-dyed and fancy fabrics, there is a fair sprinkling for the better grade goods. The tone of the market is firm, but no hardening tendency can be detected in heavy-weights in any direction. The spring situation is no better defined than a week ago, nor are any developments of importance looked for until after the passage of the tariff bill. Sales of over-coatings have been on a moderate scale and mainly in $1.00 to $1.25 grades of plain-faced goods. Cloakings have been in moderate request at previous prices. In dress goods both plain and fancy fabrics have been in better re-order demand and the tone of the market is steady. Flannels and blankets are quiet and unchanged.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending June 21 were 2,943 packages, valued at $127,892, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

* From New England mill points direct

The value of the New York exports for the year to date has been $5,506,332 in 1897 against $5,310,864 in 1896.

The market for brown sheetings and drills is steady, but the demand, although somewhat better than last week, is still indifferent on both home and export account. A number of bids for forward deliveries of quantities have been turned down by sellers at but a small difference between bid and asking prices. Bleached shirtings are still in indifferent request for both manufacturing and jobbing purposes, and the demand is readily met by sellers in all grades. Sales of wide sheetings have been on a limited scale, without change in price. Cotton flannels and blankets in good outward movement on existing orders, but new business slow. Denims are firm with moderate sales, other coarse colored cottons quiet and unchanged. Kid-finished cambrics steady but quiet at 3c. Silesias in rather better request. Dark fancy calicoes are in quieter request than of late, but agents have done well up to date. Indigo blues, black and whites, Turkey reds and other regular calicoes have been quiet without special feature. Dress style gingham continues inactive; staples in moderate request. Print cloths have ruled firm at 2½c. for extras with a fair demand for both regular and odd goods.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—There has been no material change in the foreign goods market; business in fall lines continues quiet but the tone is generally firm. Importers make little effort to secure orders for next spring in advance of the passage of the tariff bill.

"About twenty years ago the city issued bonds. They are now due. In order to prevent payment the constitutionality of the bonds was attacked. The Supreme Court held them invalid. The better class of the taxpayers opposed repudiation of the debt, and the Legislature passed an enabling act, by which the city could refund its indebtedness. Schmicht sought to erjoin this action."

Kentucky.—Bonds Declared Legal by the Court of Appeals.—On June 19, 1897, Judge Cantrill of the Circuit Court decided that the proposed issue of $500,000 of bonds of the State of Kentucky was unconstitutional. The Constitution provides that the State shall not issue in excess of $500,000 of bonds, and it was declared that as the interest warrants now outstanding, which are nothing more than bonds, amount to more than $500,000, the issuance of the bonds now under consideration would be illegal.

The case was immediately appealed to the Court of Appeals, where on June 23, 1897, the decision of the lower court was reversed and the bonds declared legal. The Court of Appeals' decision in substance was that the limitation as defined in the Constitution was intended to be a check upon the power of the State Legislature to provide for any casual deficit or failure of revenue, and did not refer to the debts heretofore created for that or other purposes.
